One of the Lords of His MAJESTY's Privy Council.

May it please Your Lordship;

H E following Book being the Hiftory of a Church that was never at any time under the Papal Yoke, and which when its Princes, inftead of being Nurfing Fathers, ftruggled hard of late years to have brought its Neck under it; never refted until it had both broke that infupportable Yoke afunder, and fecured it felf from ever having the like Attempts made again upon its Liberty: To whom can it fo naturally go for Patronage, as to a Noble and Great Prelate, who had the Courage, when Popery was in the heighth of its laft A 2 Triumph Triumph among us, in his own fingle Perfon to give if the firft Publick Check that it met with (a kindnefs the Church and State of England will, I hope, never forget, I am fure they ought not), and who has furthermore, for near thefe Twenty Years, made it his chief Study, by creating a right underftanding betwixt all Antipapal Churches, to unite them all into one Body; that fo they may be the better able to withftand their common Enemy, who is ftill indefatigable in his Endeavours to bring all Churches yet into bondage.

Which Confideration, together with the great Obligation the Compiler of this Hiftory is under, to neglect no opportunity of owning to the World how much he has been beholden to your Lordship; as they have put me upon dedicating it to You, fo I cannot but hope, that a Perfon of Your Lordship's High Birth, and admirable Benignity and sweetness of Temper, will both pardon my Presumption in fo doing, and pass by any weakness that may discover themselves in the Compofure; and also accept it as a small Testimony of my being,

Your Lordsbip's

Devoted, and most humble Servant,

Michael Geddes.

PREFACE.

HEN in the Preface to the Synod of Diamper, I promifed, from Portuguele Relations, to give some Account of the Churches which were never within the Bounds of the Roman Empire; I intended to have begun with the Church of Moful, or Babylon; but not having hitherto been able to procure those Informations of it which I had then some reason to expect; and having, during my nine Years Residence at Lisbon, furnished my self with all the Portuguele Books which do any ways treat of Ethiopia, I was perfouaded by some Friends to alter my mind, and to begin with That Church, which of all others, till within these Two hundred years, had had the least Communication with the Roman; and which, notwithstanding all the pains its Princes and the fefuits have been at of late, to bring her under the Bondage of the Papacy, has, tho with a terrible, struggle, maintained ber Primitive Liberty and Independency on that Ambitious and Usurping See; and does to this day, with greater Zeal than ever, allert them.

And that I may not seem Actum agere in publishing an History of Ethiopia after the Learned Mr. Ludolphus: I am to acquaint the Reader, That whereas the two great Splendid Roman Miffions into that Empire, are the most remarkable things that have come to our knowledge in the Hifory of that Church; so if some of my Learned Friends are not mistaken, Those Two Missions, with A 2 all their Steps and Circumstances, are here placed in a truer Light than they were ever seen in before.

And tho I will not promise that my Conjectures upon the dark and hidden things of those Miffions are all true; as who indeed that makes many, and especially in matters which have been industriously disguised by men of Art, will venture to promise? yet this I can safely say, that I have not made one but what I thought I had some ground for; And as to matters of fact, I do assure the Reader, that in the matter of the Miffions, I have set down few or none, but what I had out of Roman-Catholick Writers, and licensed by the Inquisition, and who for the most part were Jesuis.

There are Four things, whercof, if I am not miftaken, this Hiftory will abundantly satisfy the Impartial Reader.

The First is, That the Roman Missionaries, but especially the Jesuits, having neither the gift of Miracles, nor of Patience, to wait for the flow iffues of the old method of converting Nations by preaching the Faith to them, are every where (where they can come at them) for dispatching it with Dragoons, or by some other violent and languinary way. The Tefuits being all to a man of the same opinion with their great Apostle of the Indies, Francis Xaveir, whole Maxim, as Ravarette informs us, was: Mientras no effiuveron debaxo del Mosquete, no avia de ver Christiano de provecho; that is to fay, Miffionaries without Muskets do never make Converts to any purpose : The truth of which Maxim; John Bolunte, a Millionary Fefuit, tells us, is confirmed by universal Experience. Ni en el Brasil (laith he) Peru, Mexico, Florida, Philipinas, y Maluca, ha havido Christianidad,

The Preface.

ftianidad, ni Conversion, finla fombra de vel Poder Secular; that is, Neither in the Brasils, Peru, Mexico, Florida, the Philipins, or Maluca, have any Conversions been made, without the help of the Secular Power; affirming in another place of his Book, Que en nenguna parte se have done nothing any where, without Military Arms.

The Second is, That there is no Tyranny in the World equal to that which the Roman Prelates (where they have the Secular Arm at their command) do continually exercise, and that without the common relentings of humanity, upon all forts of people, that will not turn to their Religion.

The Third is, That Miffionaries, when ever they have infpired a Prince, the main Body of whofe Subjects are Anti-papifts, with a bigotry to introduce their Religion into his Country, do commonly before they have done with him, either run him out ofbreath, or make him run his head against a wall.

The Fourth is, That Ambition did very early take posseful of the Jesuits Order, that Society not being above ten years standing in the World, when it had engrossed a Million to it self, which did promise both greater and cheaper Honours to its Ministers than ever any Million had done before.

The clear discovery of which Truths, together with that of the true Spirit and Temper of Miffionaries, and the Precipices they put Princes upon, who are so unhappy as to be their Converts, must make This Hiftory to be of some use to all Protestant Countreys, which may therein, as in a glass see, what treatment they are to expect from Popery, when ever the Supream Power is in its hands.

I have

I have as an Appendix, given the Reader an Epitome of the Dominican History of Ethiopia; writ by a Friar of that Order, and printed at Valentia, in the Year 1610. and not only licenfed by the Inquisition, and all the other Regular and Secular Licenfers of the Diocefs, but recommended likewife by them to the World, as a true, ufeful, and edifying History: As also a Full Account of the Pra-Stiles and Conviction of Maria of the Annunciation, the Famous Lisbon Nun; which I take to be two such Originals in their several kinds, as are not eafily to be met with.

Habaffia, or Ethiopia Alta.

ABASSIA, or Ethiopia The Cli-Alta, or Ethiopia Super mate of Egyptum, which are all Ethiopia, the fame, according to the Newest and best Accounts we have of it, is 9 Degrees in length ; reaching from Bergamo in the 8th Degree of Northern Latitude, to Focay, which is in the 17th Degree of the fame Latitude; and about 140 Leagues in Breadth, taking it from the Shoar of the Red Sea to the Banks of Nile.

The King or Emperor of Habaffia, is cal- The true led the Naggali, that is, the Lord or Ruler, and Title of not Prester, Presbyter, nor Preto John, which Title was first given him by the Portugues, upon their imagining him, when they first discovered this Empire, to have been the great Christian Prester John, who had been so much talked of, and fo little known in Europe; not. conficonfidering, that all that had fpoke of that Great Prince, had placed his Empire in Afia, to the North of China, and not in Africa: And as to Zaga Zabi, calling him in his Relation published at Lisbon, Precious John, in that he play'd the Embassfador, rather than the Historian, not caring to undeceive Europe at the expence of a Title which made his Master's Name much greater in it, than it would have been otherwife.

Now though our Geographers have in their Maps been very liberal to this Emperor, having extended his Empire 30 or 40 Degreesfrom South to North, his Neighbours have not been fo kind to him, who within these 100 years have very much contracted it.

The Provinces of Ethiopia.

TheCountries he is at present in possession of, are Tigre, Gojam, Ambara, Dembya, Bagemeder, Enarea, part of Zoa, Mazaga, Salem, Ogara, Abergal, Holcait, Salgade, Cemen, Saloa, Ozeca, and Doba : The Countries that have been taken from him, are Anget, Doaro, Ogge, Balli, Adea, Alam-ale Oxela, Ganz, Betazamora, Gurague, Sugama, Baharguma, Catrbut, Boxa, Gumer, Couch, Damota, Mora-Aura, Habera, Oyfal, Guedem, Marabet, Manz, Beramo, with all the Ports he had formerly on the Coaft of the Red Sea. Tigre, which is the chief Kingdom in the Habaffian Empire, begins at Matzua, a small Island not far from Arkiko, a Seaport Town in the 15th Degree of the Northern Latitude; it is 90 Leagues in length, and 50 in breadth, and is by much the most Fertil and Trading Countrey in Ethiopia, for which reason the Jesuits fixed their first and greateft greatest refidence in a Town called Maegoga, or Fremona, which stands near the middle of its

The Kingdom of Bagemder lieth to the North of Tigre, and reacheth to Amhara, and to the Banks of Nile; it is about 60 Leagues in length, and at prefent not above 20 in breadth, feveral Provinces having lately been torn from it, which when united, made its breadth to be near equal to its length.

The Kingdom of Gojam is 50 Leagues in length, and 20 in breadth, and is in a manner encompassed by the River Nile, whole Head is near the middle of it, in a Countrey called Sacabala; it is either the Island of Meroe, fo much celebrated by the Ancients, or elfe there was never any fuch place.

The Head of Nile, which was folong reckoned among the Chief Secrets of Nature, is now ginal of known certainly to be in a Lake in this Kingdom of Gojam; the Lake which gives birth to it, is not above a Stones throw over, and fo full of Bushes, that in the Summer one may ftep upon them to two deep and clear Fountains, which are near the midde of it, and not 40 yards from one another; the Streams of which Fountains, as is visible from the Verdure of the Herbage, doth run under ground for near half a mile, where they break out; and being join'd, do make a good large Brook; and then bending Northward, after a Courfe of 15 Leagues, the River Fama runs into it; after which Conjunction it bends its course towards the East, and is presently joined by two Rivers more, whole names are Kelti; and B 2 Branti :

Branti; after this it runs directly Eaft, till it enters the great Lake of Dembea, which is about 20 Leagues diftant from its Head in a right Line; and without intermixing its water with those of the Lake, runs into the Channel it hath opened to it felf on the North fide of it.

A Defcription of the Lake of Dembea. This Lake, which the Habaffins call the Sea of Dembea, lieth in the Latitude of 13 Degrees and a half, and on its South-fhore is about 20 Leagues in length, and on its North 35, not reckoning its windings, which make it a great deal more; near its middle, and where it is deepeft, it may be about 10 or 12 Leagues over : Its Waters are very clear and wholfom; it abounds with Fifh of all forts, and has great herds of Sea-Horfes, which come afhore daily and graze on the Plains; but for Snakes and Crockodiles it is as free from them, as it is from Tritans and Mermaids, by which it has been reported to be inhabited.

Divers great Rivers befide the Nile difcharge themfelves into this Lake, which is the common Receptacle of all the Prodigious Flouds of Rain which in the Winter Months do tumble down from the high Mountains of Dembea; and this Lake having no other fource for this vaft body of Water but the Channel of the Nile, it makes bold with that, and thereby increafeth its Stream prodigioufly.

lilands in the Lake of Dembea. The Lake of Dembea is adorned with One and twenty Iflands, fome of which are pretty large, namely that of Dek, which contains as much Arable Land as 40 Yoke of Oxen can plough; there are feveral Monasteries in feven or eight of these Islands, which were anciently very great; they do all abound with Oranges, and other delicious Fruits. Even within Habaffia, the Nile has fome Cataracts, its first is near a place called Depegem, which is about 9 or 10 Leagues above the Lake of Dembea; the fecond is 6 or 7 Leagues below it in the Kingdom of Begamder, at which it makes a prodigious noife ; the fall of the first is about so Palms, and that of the fecond about twice or thrice as much.

The cause of the rising and falling of the The true Thames at Oxford, is not more certainly Caufe of known, than that of the Nile in Egypt is now; for the Winter in Ethiopia, which is one continued Storm of Rain, being in the Months of June, July and August, by fending a vaft body of water into the Lake of Dembea, which has no other vent for its Waters than the Channel of the Nile, doth fwell that River to a prodigious heighth, all which Torrent of water being kept together by fteep Mountains on both fides, until it comes down into Egypt, which is a flat open Countrey; it there expands it felf, impregnating the Land thereof with its Mud, which was hindred from fubliding before by the unconceivable rapidity of that River, while it was pent in on all fides by high Mountains.

This is the true Caule of the rifing of the It was Nile; which though the world would not, it known by leems, believe, was told by Nearchus, Pliny, Strabo, and others; neither is their calling them the Summer-Rains any Argument at all of those Learned Men having been ignorant lib. 5. c. 9.

of the time of the Year when they fell, but rather the contrary; for notwithstanding the Habaffins upon the account of those great Rains do reckon June, July, and August, their Winter Months, yet in Egypt and all other Places without the Northern Tropick, they are reckoned Summer.

Befides the Nile, there are feveral other great Rivers that rife in Habaffia; namely, Pacaza, whofe Head is in the Mountain of Axgua, in the Kingdom of Angot; and the River Zabee, which is much bigger and fwifter than the Nile; it rifeth in the Kingdom of Narea, and taking its Courfe Southward falls into the Sea at Momboca; Haoa is likewife bigger than the Nile; it rifeth in the Kingdom of Zaoa, and running North-East, doth the fame good office to the parched and thirfty Countries of Adeld and Zegla, that the Nile does to Egypt; and as the River Maceb, which rifeth within Two Leagues of Fremona in the Kingdom of Tigre, does to the dry Province of Derghem.

Now that Countries wherein it feldom or never rains, fhould have that great want thus fupplied by the overflowing of Rivers, is a clear evidence both of the Goodnels and Wifdom of Providence.

Habaffia is reported by the Jefuits to abound with pure Gold; which we have reafon to think was reprefented by them to be much finer and more plentiful than it really is, on purpofe to prevent the Kings of Portugal and Spain growing weary of the great Charges of their Miffions. Where the Land is Arable, it is faid to produce good Wheat and Barley; 20 and and in feveral places to have Three Harvefts in a year. It produceth likewife Silk, which is gathered off the Bulhes, as it is in India; and in fome places extraordinary Sugar Canes. Its Horfes and Cows, with which it is faid to be well ftock'd, are much larger than the Europeans. It has also great store of Lyons and Elephants, and those of the best Cast; but the Wild Beaft that is the most remarkable in it, is the Giratacabem, that is to fay, the Smoothbead, which is reported to be fo tall, that a Man on Horfeback may ride under its Belly.

There is a great mixture of People in Ha- There is baffia, from which the Countrey is faid by a great fome to have had its Name.

As Heathens, Jews, and Mahometans of fever Nations; but the Main Body of its People are Christians. The Jews Speak Hebrew, or rather Syriack; the Heathens as many different Languages as there are Kingdoms; but the Court-Language, and which is fpoke by all Perfons of any Quality, is the Amehara. The Empire does not defcend to the Eldeft Son, but to him whom the Emperor at his death is pleafed to Name for his Succession. The Emperors formerly kept their Court in the City of Axum, from which the African Ethiopians were commonly called Axumites; which is at prefent reduced to a Village of about a hundred Families. The Royal Arms of Habaffia are a Lyon holding a Crofs, with this Motto, The Lyon of the Tribe of Judah is Victorious. I do but just mention these things, my Intention in this Work being to write the Ecclefiaftical, and not the Natural or Civil Hiftory of Ethiopia. Of mixture of People in Ethiopia.

The Church-History

Of the Religion of the Habaffins.

The Queen of Sheba is reported to have been Emprefs of Ethjopia.

I T is a conftant Tradition among the Habaffins, That the Queen of Sheba that went to Vifit Solomon, was Empress of their Countrey, whose Name, they fay, was Maqueda; and who, within a few weeks after the returned home, was delivered of a Son, Begat by Solomon, whom the Named Menileber.

Menileher, fo foon as he was of Age to undertake fo long a Journey, was fent by his Mother to Jerusalem to receive his Father's Bleffing, and to be Instructed by him in the Law of Moses, and all other useful Sciences.

Solomon having received his Son when he arrived at Ferusalem, with great Tenderness and Affection, made him change the Name of Menileher, for that of David ; and havingthoroughly Instructed him in the Jewish Religion, and made him promife to introduce it into his Empire, he difinified him with Noble Prefents, giving him alfo feveral Priefts and Levites to take home with him to affifthim in fo good a Work. David being returned home, did with the help of the Priefts and Levites. fet immediately about introducing the Molaical Law into his Empire, and was fo fuccessful, that in a few years it was embraced by the whole Body of his People, and continued to be profested by them, until the Publication of the

Her Son by Solomon is faid to have introduced Judaifni into it. the Gofpel among them. Upon which Fable, for I cannot look upon it as any other, they have built an hundred more, which are much fitter for a Legend than an Hiftory.

Neither is the Habassian having used Circumcifion, any argument at all of their having been ever of the Jewish Law; fince there is nothing more certain, than that that Rite was the ancient usage of the Ethiopians, and divers other Nations, who were always Enemies both to the Jews and their Religion.

And as the Habaffins will have their Forefathers to have been of the fewifh Faith, from the days of Solomon till the Preaching of the Gofpel; fo they will have Christianity to have come among them early in the Apoftles time.

It being a Tradition among them, That T the Eunuch that was Baptized by Philip the m Deacon, was Steward to their Empress; and who returning home after he was Chriftened, Converted his Miftress and her whole fa Empire to the Christian Faith, in the Profeffion whereof they have ever fince continued ftedfaft. Which Story, notwithstanding I take it to be of a piece with that of the H Queen of Sheba and her Son, yet this may be tr faid for it, That it has a greater Air of probability than most of the Traditional Histoit ries of the first Conversions of Countries.

What is known from Hiftory of the first Introduction of Christianity into Ethiopia, is, That in the beginning of the Fourth Century, one Meropius, a Christian Philosopher, going into India with Two of his Scholars, whole Names

The Eunuch that was baptized by Philip, is faid to have been of this Countrey, and to have introduced Chriftianity into it. Bilhop of Axum, was the Apofile of Ethiopia.

Frumentins Names were Frumentius and Aedefius, had the misfortune to touch on the Coaft of Ethiopia; where Meropius was inhumanly Murthered by the Natives, but his Two Scholars having their Lives spared, and being found to be Youths of fine Parts, as well as Beauty, they were carried to Court, where Frumentius was put into the Secretaries Office, and Aedefius into the Buttery.

> When the Emperor, who had always been very kind to them, came to Die, he gave them both their Liberty; but as they were preparing to make use of it and return home, the Queen Regent was importunate with them to ftay, and to undertake the Tutelage of her Son till he was of Age, which they having confented to, did during that time, write to all the Roman Merchants refiding in the Ports of Ethiopia, that were Christians, to affemble together to Worship God, as they themfelves, and the Converts they had made at Court, did Daily.

> When their Pupil came to take the Administration of the Government upon himfelf, they both defired Leave to return home, which having obtained with great difficulty, they left Ethiopia; Aedesius went to Tire to live with his Relations; but Frumentius having a greater love for his Religion, repaired directly to Alexandria, with an intention to acquaint the Bishop thereof, who at that time was the Great Athanafius, with the footing Chriftianity had taken in Ethiopia.

> St. Athanafius, who was overjoyed at this good news, having confulted with his Clergy what what was fit to be done, perfuaded Frumentius, whom he observed to be a Person of great Zeal and Piety, to be Confectated a Bishop by him, and to return into Ethiopia with that Character, to accomplish a Work he had fo happily begun; and accordingly he was Confecrated a Bishop by St. Athanafius; and going back to Ethiopia, did in a short time Convert both the Emperor and the main Body of his People to the Christian Faith.

This Account of the Introduction of Christianity into Ethiopia, is to be met with in the 9th. Chapter of the 1st. Book of Ruffinus, who faith he had not this Story from the chat of the People, but from Aedefus's own mouth, who was Ordained a Presbyter at Tire.

And as Frumentius was undoubtedly Orthodox as to the Doctrine of our Lord's Divinity when he was Confecrated a Bishop by St. Athanafius; fo the World coming afterwards to complain of its being turned Arian, could not shake his Constancy in the True Faith, as appears from Constantius's Letters to the Princes of Axum, whole Names were Abra and Azba; which Letter I shall here fet down as I find it in St. Athanafus's Apology to that Emperor.

A S there is nothing we ftudy so much as the constan-knowledge of the Truth, so we reckon our tim's Letfelves obliged to recommend the same diligence and industry to all forts of people, that we may all think so of the Divinity, as to pass our lives in bope, and without diffention, concerning what is true and juft.

Wherefore

The Church-History

Wherefore fince we do think fit to extend this our Care to you no less than to the Romans, we do enjoin you to maintain the same Doctrines with them in your Churches; and to that end to fend Bishop Frumentius into Egypt with all possible expedition, there to be judged by the most Venerable George, and the other Egyptian Prelates, in whom is the Supreme Authority of Ordaining and Judging af Bishops. For unless you will pretend to be ignorant of what, all the world knows, you must be sensible that Frumentius was confecrated by Athanafius, a man made up of wickedness, and who not being able in the least to vindicate himself as to any of the Crimes be stands charged withal, was thereupon deposed, and has fince that turned a Vagabond, rowing from one Countrey to another, as if he hoped to lose his Guilt by hifting his dwelling.

In cale Frumentius should yield a ready obedience, and give a full account of the whole Conspiracy, so that it shall be certified that he does not diffent from the Ecclesiastical Laws, and the Faith that is now established, and it doth appear that he is a Person of a Good Life, he may then be ordained a Bishop; which at present be is not of Right.

Whereas if he shall seek delays, and decline coming to Judgment, that will be an undeniable Proof of his having been seduced by the words of the most Profligate Athanasius; as also of his acting impiously against God, and of his being involved in the same Crimes whereof Athanasius stands conwitted: In which case if he should be suffered to go on without controul, as he will do all that he can to corrupt your People with his Wicked and Impious Words, and not only disturb and destroy the Church, and belch out Blasphemies against the Supreme God; fo he will likewise bring Ruin and Destruction upon all Nations. Whereas if he could be persuaded to come and converse familiarly with Venerable George and other Learned Men, he would reap great Benefits thereby, and return to his Bishoprick well instructed in all Ecclesiastical Discipline. God preferve you, my most dear Brethren.

As this Letter is a clear demonstration of the greatness of the Arian Rage against the Orthodox, which not being fatisfied with having Perfecuted them with the utmost Barbarities in all parts of the Roman Empire, purfued them beyond its bounds; fo fuch a boundless Rage was never more confpicuous in Constantius, or any other Perfecutor of the Professors of the True Faith, than it was in a Modern Prince, who not being contented with having harafs'd and deftroyed feveral Thousands of Protestant Families within his own Kingdom, did within these Ten Years write to all his most dear Brethren, the Great Turk not excepted, to drive all his Protestant Subjects, if they did not prefently turn Roman Catholicks, out of their Territories; or which was worfe, did by Solemnly withdrawing his Protection from them in Popish Countries, leave them at the mercy of the Inquisition.

Baronius in his Roman Martyrology, according to his humour of multiplying Saints, has made Two of a fingle Frumentius; for whereas in the Martyrology, it is faid among the Indians, for fo the Habaffins were called anciently, of St. Frumentius, who was there first a Captive, and afterwards Ordained a Bishop by St. Atha-

St. Athanafus, and did propagate the Gofpel thorough that Countrey; the Cardinal in his Notes adds, At the fame time there lived another Frumentius, who was Bifhop of Axum in Egypt; whereas Axum is in Ethiopia, and not in Egypt; and was the City Frumentius mentioned in the Martyrology was Bifhop of.

Philostorgius, who was himself an Arian; fpeaking of Theophilus Indus, having been sen by Constantius on this Embassy, infinuates as if the Ethiopians had been turned by him to the Arian Sect. But Philostorgius being the only Historian that infinuates any such thing, we have little reason to believe it upon his bare word.

Nine Monks come into Ethiopia.

About the Year 480. Nine Monks are faid to have been fent from Rome into Ethiopia; their Names were Araguai or Michel, Alef, Gavi, Afe, Adimata, Cuba, Garima, Sabam, Lebanos, Pantaleon; the Patriarch Mendez; who quotes the Chronicon Axumen (e for this, truly observes, That by Rome here, is meant Greece; which after the Roman Emperors had fixed their Court in it, was called in these remote parts by that name; but the Dominicans in their Hiftory of Ethiopia, of which the Reader will meet with an Epitome in the Appendix, will have all these Monks, though dead near a Thousand Years before Dominick was born, to have been Friers of his Order fent from Old Rome, and having turned Adimata, whom they call Imata, into a Woman; they have made her likewife a Holy Sifter of their Order that accompanied the Eight Brothers in their Miffion.

Metaphrastes,

Metaphrastes, and after him the whole herd of Legendaries, do speak of one Elesbean a Christian King of Ethiopia in the time of Fultin the Emperor; of whom, and of his having Vanquished a Fewish Tyrantin Arabia, who had been a Cruel Perfecutor of his Chriftian Subjects, they have framed a tedious blind Story, that is not fit to be offered to any Reader that has not a Legendary Nofe.

But as most Fables have fomething of History for their foundation, fo if this of Elisbean has any, it must be the following History that is met with in Proceptus's Persian War.

Justinian the Emperor being engaged in a Justinian War with the Persians in the Year 530. fent sends an one Julian Embassador to the King of the Embassy Axumites, or the African Ethiopians, and to the King of the Homerites, a Nation Inhabiting the Asiatick Coast of the Red-Sea that is opposite to Ethiopia, to engage them, being Chriftians, to joyn with him against the Persians, the common Enemy of their Religion.

The King of Ethiopia's Name at that time was Hellesteus, who a few years before had out of Zeal for Christianity, the Christian Homerites having complained to him of their being miferably oppressed by the Jews and Heathens they lived among, croffed the Red-Sea with a Numerous Fleet and Army, and having in a pitch'd Battel Defeated and Killed the King of the Homerites, who had been a Cruel Perfecutor of Christians, he advanced one Esimetheus, an Homerite Christian to the Throne, into Ethiopid.

Throne, but upon Condition that he and his Succeffors for ever fhould pay a yearly Tribute to the Crown of Ethiopia.

The bufinefs of the Embaffy.

The main thing proposed by the Ambassador to the Ethiopian for the incommoding of the Persians, was to open a Trade for Silk to the Indies, which the Romans, who used to buy those Silks of the Persians, would promife to take off his Merhants hands : But for the Homerites, the Ambaffador defired Elimethus; who was their King at that time, to enter into a League Offensive and Defensive with their -Neighbours the Madaans, who were Sarazens; and having joined their Armies, for to invade Persia. The Kings did both promise to do what the Romans had defired of them; but when they came to execution, they found their parts not to be feafible ; the Silks that were brought by the Indians being all conftantly bought up by the Persian Merchants, who lay much nearer to them than the Ethiopians; and for the Homerites, the vaft Deferts they were to pass thorough before they could come at the Persians, discouraged them, at this time, from attempting it, though King Abraham did attempt it afterwards, but with no fuccefs.

The Homerites conquered by the Eshiopians, their Deliverers. But as it is the common Fate of Nations, that invite their Neighbours into their Countrey, to be conquered by their Deliverers, fo it fared with the Hemerites at this time; for the Servants, and Thieving part of the Ethicpian Army, finding Arabia a much better Country than their own, they refolved to remain where they were; and not being long contented to live among the Homerites as Inmates, they fet up to be their Masters; and having by force of Arms deposed Elimetheus, they beftowed the Crown upon one Abraham a Christian, but who had formerly been a Slave to a Roman Merchant that relided at the Port of Adel in Ethiopia.

Hellenesteus having received Advice of the Pranks his Subjects, that remained in Arabia, were playing, difpatched 2000 Soldiers thither to chaftife their Infolence, and reftore his Creature Elimetheus to his Royal Dignity; which those Troops were fo far from doing, that having been corrupted by fome Emiffaries fent among them by Abraham fo foon as they landed, when they came to engage the Rebels, after having flain their Chief Commander, who was a Prince of the Blood, they all went over to them, with a Refolution to ftand by Abraham to the laft.

Hellenesteus being much troubled at this Lofs, fent a greater Army than the former against Abraham, which coming to blows, was totally routed by him; after which Helleneftens growing weary of the Charge of the War gave it over, leaving the unfortunate Esimetheus to his unkind Stars.

Elmicinus, in his Sarazen Hiftory, reports, That in the 29th year of the Hegira, which pians fend is 659 of Our Lord, an Ambassador was sent from Ethiopia to Simon Syrus, the Facobite Patriarch of Alexandria, to intreat him to ordain them a Bishop, and some Presbyters; which lexandria. the Patriarch having, I know not for what reason, deny'd to do, the Ambassador complained plained of him to Adulmelius the Sarazen King of Egypt, who commanded the Patriarch to ordain him as many as he defired; but the Ambaffador did fo highly refent Symon's denial, that when he offered him his Service, he would not make use of him, but employed another Bishop; which was the cause of great Disturbances in the Church.

In the 561/t year of Diocletian, which is the 845th of our Lord, faith the fame Hiftorian, there was a Bishop in Ethiopia whose name was James, whom, the Queen, taking advantage of her Husband's absence in the Wars, banished Ethiopia, substituting another Bishop in his room, for which the Kingdom was plagued with a great Drought, and Peftilence; but the King returning home, and being much diffatisfied with the Queen for what she had done, fent to the Patriarch of Egypt, whither the deposed Prelate was retired, to command him back to his Province; which the Patriarch did, and the Bishop, when he return'd, was received with the general joy of the whole People.

A Tribute laid on the Patriarch of Alexandria by the Calif of Egypt. In the Eighth year of Chalifatus Mutamidi, or as others will have it, in his Seventh year, which was the 265th year of the Hegira, one Michael being Patriarch of the Alexandrian Jacobites, he had a Tribute of 20000 Crowns laid upon him; for the advancing of which Sum, he was obliged to fell to the Jews the fourth part of all the Churches in Alexandria, and the Lands belonging to him in Habaffia, as alfo the Church in the Neighbourhood of Malaca in Cofwim, in the City of Mifra, and and to tax every Chriftian at a Kirati yearly all which amounted to but half the Sum of the Tribute.

In the 807th year of the Martys, which is the 1165th of Christ, the Nile being extreamly low in Egypt, the King thereof, whofe name was Mustausirus, fent the Patriarch Michael with rich Prefents to the King of Ethiopia, who having received the Patriarch with great respect, did, at his request, order the Nile to be turned into its old Channel again, out of which he had diverted it; whereupon the Nile rofe in one night to its usual heighth in Egypt, to the great joy of the King and the whole Countrey, who, when the Patriarch returned home, did him great honours.

Paulus Venetus reports, that in the year 1258. an Habaffin King having been hindered by his Councellors from going in perfon to Feru- The King Jalem, did fend a Bishop thither, with rich Of- of Habaffia terings, who, was not only robbed of all he had as he paffed thorough the Kingdom of Aden, but upon his refusal to turn Mahometan, was fent home with a mark of infamy upon his Body ; at which barbarous Treatment the Habaffin was fo much incenfed, that having got together a great Army, he marched against that Sarazen Tyrant; and having beat him in a pitched Battel, and made great Defolations in his Countrey for fome Weeks, he returned home laden with Spoils and Honours.

Egypt with a numerous Army, which would divert the Sarazens from coming with their whole force against them into Syria.

When, or wherefoever the Arabick Canons, falfly attributed to the first Council of Nice, were made, the 36th of them relates wholly to the Bishop of Ethiopia, and runs as follows,

The 7th place in a General Council given to the Abuna of Ethiopia by the Arabick Canons of the Council of Nice.

THE Ethiopians have no power to create or chuse a Patriarch, whose Prelate must be rather under the Jurisdiction of the Patriarch of Alexandria; or in cafe they (hould come at any time to have one among them in the place of Patriarch, and who should be stiled Catholicus, he shall not, notwithstanding that, have a right to ordain Archbishops, as other Patriarchs bave, baving neither the Honour nor Authority of a Patriarch : And if it (hould fo happen that a Council fould be affembled in Greece, and this Prelate (hould be present at it, he shall have the seventh Place therein, next after the Bishop of Seleucia; and in case be (hould have at any time power given him to ordain Archbishops in his Province, it shall not be lawful for him to advance any of the Natives to that Dignity; whofoever does not yield obedience to this, is excommunicated by the Synod.

If there were nothing elfe to prove thefe Arabick Canons to be fpurious, this Canon alone would do it abundantly; it being plain from Ecclefiaftical Hiftory, that the Title of Patriarch was not known-in the Church for fome time after the Celebration of the Firft Niccore

Nicene Council; neither was there any Bishop or Chriftian in Ethiopia at that time : Frumentius, who was the Apostle, or first Bishop thereof, having been confecrated a Bifhop by Athanasius, when he was Primate of. Alexandria, which he was not till after the Nicene Council.

In the Year 1177. Pope Alexander the IIId, Pope Alexwhile he was at Venice, whither the Emperor III<sup>d</sup> pre-Frederick had driven him, either received, or tends to pretended to receive, a Meffage from the have re-Great Christian Emperor Prester John, desiring ceived an to fubmit himfelf to his obedience, and to Ambassahave a College at Rome, and an Altar at Fern- Prefter [alem for the use of his Subjects.

The Pope having made a noife with this Meffage, pretended to fend Philip a Phylician, who was faid to have brought it, back again with a Letter to Prefter Fobn; I shall not trouble the Reader with that Letter; forbesides that it contains little elfe than Hyperbolies of St. Peter and the Pope's Supremacy, it is probable that that whole Affair was a mere Fiction, invented on purpose to make the Roman Emperor ashamed of perfecuting the Pope, at the fame time, when fo remote a Christian Emperor was ready to throw himfelf at his feet. For had this Meffage of Philip's, whom fome call Peter, been a real thing, it would certainly have taught the Court of Rome in what part of the World Prester John's Empire lay, whether in Afia, near Tartary; or in Africk, beyond Egypt : Whereas, long after this, that Empire, though called Ethiopia, was still supposed to lie somewhere in the North ander the dor from John.

North of Afia; for which reason it was still joined in the fame Missions with the Tartars and Ruthens, and committed to the Charge of the Dominican Provincial of Poland, as being its next Neigbour.

Pope Clement pretended to have received an Embaffy from the fame Prince.

It is probable that there was never any fuch Emperor.

In the Year 1308. Prefter John was brought upon the stage again; Pope Clement the Vtb being faid to have received a most splendid Embaffy from him, confifting of 20 Ambaffadors, by whom he was affured, that their Mafter had no lefs than 74 Kings under him, and who, excepting five of the fmallest that were Mahometans, were all Chriftians; and that he had likewife within his Dominions an 127 Archbishops, every one of which had 20 Bishops under his Jurisdiction : Which pious Fraud was spread about at that time on purpose to encourage the Latins to undertake a new Expedition to the Holy Land, being affured of the Affiftance of this mighty Chriftian Emperor, whofe Dominions were still reported to lie convenient enough for the carrying on of a Holy War in Syria; infomuch. that I am apt to think, that the whole Story of this Enchanted Afiatick Christian Empire was invented and kept up by the Trumpeters of the Holy War for that very purpole; no fuch Empire having ever to this day been difcovered in Afia; what is reported by the Portuguele Millionaries of the Kingdom of Thybot, amounting to no more at most, than that those People were formerly Christians, but without the least Evidence of any Prester John, or Great Christian Empire having ever been in those Parts. But how they come to call a Coun-

Countrey which they fuppofed to lie towards Scythia, Ethiopia, is one of the unaccountable Blunders of those Ignorant, though Fraudulent Ages; unless we will fay, That they having heard fomething of a Christian Empire in Ethiopia, did either, for the foresaid Ends, industriously translate it into Asia; or were fo ignorant in Geography, as not to know what part of the World Ethiopia lay in.

In the Council of Florence (for fo low we must come before we meet with any thing more of the Ethiopick Church ) Eugenius the IVth, after he had difmiffed the Greeks, finding it neceffary for his Affairs to have the name of a Council still sitting, so long as that of Basil, which had deposed him, and chosen the Duke of Savoy Pope, was on foot against him; but being withal defirous to have it at Rome, for want of a better, gave this for the reason of his translating it from Florence thither : That it was convenient that the fplendid Embaffy from Zerah Jacob the High and Mighty Emperor of Ethiopia, which was on its way to that Council, with the fubmiffion of that Church and Empire to the Pope, should not find the Council fitting in such a paultry Town as Florence, but in the Metropolis of Chriftendom, which would add fomething of Authority to it, and accordingly it was translated.

But as it is certain that no fuch fplendid Ethiopick Embaffy ever came to Rome, fo it is as certain, that it was never fo much as thought of in Haba[fia; on the contrary, Zera Jacob, when he was folicited by fome Jerusalem C 4 Monks

Eugenius the IVth tranflates the Council from Florence to Rome, upon a fham Pretence, that the Emperor of Ethiopia was fending an Ambaffador with a fubmiffion of himfelf and his Church to him.

Monks on this Occasion, did abfolutely refuse to fubmit his Church to that of Rome; for which denial, the Jesuits above 200 years after his death, made Sultan Saged, his Great Grandson, and their Convert, to curse his Soul to the Pit of Hell, faying, A curse on King Zera Jacob, who was the cause of our not being at this time in the Portuguese or Roman Faith, for which he is now tormented in Hell.

Now though this Convert had been never fo certain of Zera Jacob's being in Hell for having deny'd to fubmit himfelf to the Pope'; yet confidering he was his Great Granfather, he might very well have spared his Curfes; fuch impious Expressions of Zeal, for I can call them no other, being much fitter for the Mouths of Profligate Algerine Renegadoes, with whom they are faid to be common, than for a Prince who turns from one Sect of Chriftianity to another. Befides, Zera Jacob, abating him that one thing of his having refused to fubmit the Ethiopick Church to the Roman, was no fuch Mifcreant as to deferve to be thus curfed by his Posterity : as appears by a Letter written by him to the Habaffin Monks at Ferulalem, to whom he fent the Collection of Canons which is now at Rome, giving them likewife feveral Lands for ufes, which the Church of Rome allows to be pious; this Monaftery of Habaffins ftands on Mount Gabor.

The Emperor Zera Jacob's Letter to the Habaffin Monks at Jerufalem,

THIS Letter is written in this Book of Canons by us Zera Jacob, whose Name, since we took the Government upon us, is Constantine, in the 8th year after the God of Israel in the multitude of his mercies was pleased to place us on the Throne of the Kingdom of Ethiopia, being in Seava, which is called Teglet.

Let this come to the hands of my belowed, the College of Saints who refide at Jerufalem the Holy City.

In the peace of the Lord. Amen.

I do proclaim you very happy, for having in the first place obeyed the word of the Gospel, which saith, He that forsaketh not his father and mother, wife and children, &c. for which reason you have left the world, and have taken upon you the Yoke of Monkery; the word of the Prophet bath likewise bound you, which saith, I will not go into the tabernacle of mine house, nor climb up to my bed; neither will I give fleep to mine eyes, nor flumber to mine eyelids, until I find the Whereupon you determined to repair to Jerufalem, the City of the Great King, not being discouraged from going thither, either by the Incommodities of the Journey, or the heat by day, or the cold by night, nor by the dangers of Robbers; where when you arrived, what was said by the Prophet was fulfiled in you: Let us therefore go into his houfe, and worship in the place where the face of our Lord flood; for to you it is given to kiss the place which his Presence bath ballowed, from his Nativity to his Ascension: For which cause I do very much reig on your Prayers, and on the Afflicitions you have suffered for God's sake.

I do falute you from the bottom of my beart, faying, Health to you the Sons of Ethiopia, whom the Earthly Jerufalem hath tyed to her felf, that fhe may convey you to the Heavenly.

Health be to your Faith which is perfect in the Trinity; and to your course of life, which is like to that of Angels.

Health be to your Feet which walk, to your Hands which touch, to your Lips which kiss, to your Eyes which do freely behold Galilee where God was Incarnate, and Bethlehem where he was born, taking our Nature upon him, and the Cave where he lay, and Nazareth where he was educated, and Jordan where he was baptized, that he might cleanse us, and Corontum where he fasted for our sake, and Calvary where he was crucified for our Redemption, and Golgotha where he was buried and rose again, that he might quicken us, and the Mount of Olives where he ascended to his Father and our God, that he might introduce us intr the Inner Vail of the highest Heavens, into whick be

Health be likewife to your Eyes, which behold the Light that cometh out of the Sepulchre of our Lord on the Old Sabbath, to wit, on the Eve of our Passover.

- May your Peace, and Love, and Prayers, and Benedictions be with me for ever, Amen.
- Behold I have fent you this Book of Synods, that you may receive Confolation from it on the Old Sabbath, and on the Lord's Day, and that they may be a Memorial of me through all Ages. Amen.

And (hall furthermore keep a Lamp burning for me in the Sepulchre of our Lord; and another in the Entry thereof; and on the right fide one, and on the left another; as also at the place of his Burial three; three at the Monument of our Lady Mary in Gethlemane ; and at the place where Mary Magdalen (aw him one; and in our Chappel three; one allo at Bethlehem where our Lord was born; and another at the place in the Mount of Olives where our Lord ascended. Let them be all maintained at my Charge, and take care not to suffer them to go out at any time, nor to give way to any Person contributing towards them. And since I do rely on the Bond of your Love, let your Prayers and Benedictions be with me thorough all Ages. Amen.

> My Beloved, Don't you offer to fay, Light defcendeth only upon us, that your glorying in your felves be not in vain; fince you know that evil attends glorying, and bleffing humility. Peace be with you, the Peace of our Lord be with you. Amen.

The Jefuit Guerrira, speaking of the forementioned Ethiopick Embassy, faith, That the whole Story of it was either a mere Fiction, not knowing its like, of its having been made use of for so great a purpose by a Pope, or that it had no manner of effect.

But it is no matter whether it was a Fiction or or a Reality, fo long as it furnished a good pretence, for a prefent turn, and tended to the Disparagement of the Council of Basil, which, together with the ground it stood upon, was blown up purely by Tricks of this nature; the Yoke the Council of Constance had laid on the Neck of the Papacy, beng broke by Pretences, of the Greek and all other Churches and Patriarchs having submitted themselves to is.

This is all that I have been able to meet with in Greek or Latin Hiltory concerning the Church of Ethiopia before the Year 1490, when it was first difcovered by the Portuguefes. And as for Hiltories of their own, I do not find they have any, besides fome Fabulous Legends of the Lives of their Monks; of which I thall only give the Reader a Tafte.

In the Life of Tecla Haymanot, the most famous of all their Monks both for Piety and Miracles, the following Account of the Succeffion of their Grand Abbots is given.

The Angel St. Michael gave the Cowl to St. Anthony; St. Anthony gave it to St. Macarius; Macarius gave it to Pachomius; Pachomius to Abbot Araguni, or Michael, who was one of the Nine Monks that came into Ethiopia; Araguni gave it to Bazana; Bazana to Mazralmoa; Mazralmoa to Abbot John; John to Abbot Jefus; Jefus to Tecla Haymanot, to whom Chrift appeared, and promifed, that whofoever fhould kill a Serpent upon a Friday, should be pardoned all the Sins he had committed in Forty Years.

But

But notwithstanding the Lives of the Habaffin Monks are all of a piece with the Lives of all the other Monks that are extant, that is, extreamly fabulous; yet this must be faid for them, that Monkery continues to this day much the fame among them, as it was in the beginning, from which in the Church of Rome it is fo strangely degenerated.

For in Habaffia, any one that has a mind to be a Monk, retires thereupon to the Defart, where he puts on what Habit he pleafeth, or judgeth to be most futable to his pretensions. Their Obligation fo long as they profels themfelves Monks, which they are always at their liberty to give over, is to fast every day in the Year till three a Clock in the Afternoon, and to Affemble together at Midnight, and at other certain Hours to perform their Devotions; they do generally exercise great Aufterities upon themfelves, being very strict in their Fafts, many of them eating but once in two days, and fome never but upon Sundays; fome of them are faid to have made Holes in the Trunks of Trees, and to have lodged in them till the Trees have grown to fhut them in.

Their Monaftries are little Villages. Their Monaftries are more like Villages than Roman Convents, every Monk having his diffinct dwelling Houfe with as much Land laid to it, as a Man is able to cultivate, and when they come to dye they difpofe of their Goods as they pleafe, only the Land remains ftill to the Monaftries. Now this courfe falls in exactly with that of the Primitive Monks, who always lived in Deferts, where they Monkery much the fame in Habaffia, as it was in the beginning.

they work'd hard, and were under no Vows; whereas the Roman Monks have their Monaftries in or near Princes Courts, and in all Populous Cities; and tho generally hurried into that Profession, either by their Parents, or by fome fudden fit of Melancholy, are fettered in it by Vows for their Lives, and are fo far from putting their Hand to any work, that they are every where become proverbial for Lazinels; and as for their Buildings, they are much more like Palaces than the Dwellings of People that have renounced the World, and taken a Vow of Poverty upon them.

The most famous of all their Monastries, is that of Alelujah, wherein formerly there are faid to have been 40000 Monks together, all the Country about having been given to the Monks thereof to cultivate.

I do not find that any fort of Learning did ever flourish among the Habaffins, fo that they have but few Books befides the Bible, the Canons of the first Councils, the Homilies of the Greek Fathers, and the Lives of their Saints.

The Habaffins do hold the Scriptures to be The Hathe perfect Rule of the Christian Faith, infomuch, that they deny it to be in the Power of a General Council to oblige People to believe any thing as an Article of Faith, without an express warrant from thence.

Their Canon of Scripture confilts of 85 Books; the Old Testament confisting of 46, and the New of 29.

They are Eutychians

As to the Doctrine of our Saviour's Incar+ nation, they are all Eutychians, holding that there is but one Nature in Chrift, which is the Divine, by which they will have the Humane to have been fwallowed up; they were led into this Herefy by Dioscorus, Patriarch of Alexandria, who was condemned with Eutyches for it, by the General Council of Calcedon, whole Authority they for that reafon reject, pretending that its Decrees were. imposed on the Church by Marcian the Emperor; on which account they call all those who have yielded Obedience to it, Mellites or Royalifts, as they themfelves are called 7acobites from one Fames, a Syrian, who was a great Stickler for the Eutychian Herefy.

They deny the Popes Supremacy.

The Emperor is Head of the Church. They allow the Bifhop of Rome to be the first Patriarch, but condemn his pretending to a Supremacy over the whole Church as Antichristian; and do detest Popery to that degree, as to declare, That of the two, they would sooner turn Mahometans than Roman Catholicks.

The Supream Authority in all Caufes Ecclefiaftical and Civil, is in the Emperor. They have but one Bifhop at a time, who is ftiled the Abuna, that is, our Father; he is always an Alexandrian Monk, and upon notice of a Vacancy, is confecrated and fent into Ethiopia by the Alexandrian Patriarch, to whom this Church hath always been fubject; he has the feventh place in a General Council; he Ordains only by Imposition of Hands; he hath Lands both in the Kingdom of Dembea and Tigre, from which, besides feveral Perquisites, he Ludolphus farther tells us, That when he asked Gregory the Habaffin, Whether he did not think that the Substance of the Bread and Wine was changed and converted into the Substance of the Body and Blood of Christ? That he made answer, That no such fort of Transubstantiation was known or understood by his Countreymen, who were not fo fcrupulous, neither did they use to flart fuch thorny Queffions. Neverthelefs it feemed to him probable and likely, That the Common Bread and Wine was changed into the mysterious Reprefentation of the Body and Blood of Jefus Chrift, and fo was altered from Prophane to Sacred, to reprefent the true Body and Blood of Chrift to the Communicants. Than which Declaration, nothing can be more agreeable to the Doctrine of the Church of England concerning the Eucharist. Whenever they come to any place that has a Church; let their Business be never fo urgent, they repair to it immediately; they never go into any Church with their Shooes on, nor fit down in it, unless it be upon the ground; on all occasions they express a deep fense of Religion, but chiefly when they visit the Sick, which they are very forward to do: They are charitable to the Poor, and to all Strangers, if they are fatisfied of their not being of the Reman Church; for all whofe Members, the Cruel Perfecutions which were raifed and carried on for fome years by the Jefuits, while the Emperor was at their Devotion, have created a perfect detestation in them. ### An Account of the Discovery of Ethiopia by the Portugueses.

The Infante Don Henry, the first and most zerlous Promoter of the difcovery of unknown Countries.

DON ENRIQUE the Fifth, Son of Don Joan the first King of Portugal by his Queen the Lady Philipa, the Daughter of John of Gaunt Duke of Lancaster, being a Prince much addicted to the fludy of Mathematicks, was the first that ever entertained any thought of making Difcoveries on the Western Coast of Africa, to which he is faid to have been encouraged by fome Information he receiv'd from the Moors in Barbary, when he was a Soldier there under his Father; he was Mafter of the Military Order of Christ, which together with his other Ecclefiaftical Penfions, brought him in a great Revenue; all which, together with his whole time, he refolved to dedicate entirely to the gratification of his Curiofity after new Difcoveries.

And in order to the better carrying on of this his great Defign, he retired from Court to a place in the Algarces, called at that time Terranable, Terranable, but fince, from him, Villa de Infante; a few Months after his retirement, he fitted out two Ships, which having paffed the Pillars of Hercules, at that time the non ultra of Navigation, they failed to the Promontory of Ganaria, but were difcouraged from proceeding any further, partly by ftrong Currents, and partly by that Promontory, running fo far into the Sea, that they could not difcover its Cape.

This first Voyage was made in the Year 1410. after which it was 10 years before the fuccess at Infante could prevail with any body to make a fecond Attempt; the first Adventurers having to excufe their Cowardice, reported terrible things of the Dangers they had escaped.

Neither did the Infante, during all that time, escape the difcouragement that new and great Enterprizes do commonly meet withal; his Defigns, for fome years, having been not only the Jeft of the Lazy Buffoon, but were also cenfured as Chimera's, or Idle Projects, by Men of Speculation and Gravity, who faid, The Countreys the Infante was in quest of, were neither better, nor worfe, than the Sandy Deferts of Arabia; that God having allotted those Countries to Wild Beafts for their habitation, if men should offer to intrude into them, they would either die, or turn wild like the Natives; and that the very fight of them would turn Whites, Negroes; that there had never wanted younger Brothers among Princes, who had fought to remedy the misfortune of their Birth, by new Difcoveries, but which had always miscarried : That the Infante's Father, who D 2 who was a wife Prince, finding Portugal wanted People, had invited Strangers from all parts into it, and had given them Lands to cultivate; whereas, if his Project flould take effect, it would tend to the depopulating of it; with a great many other fuch idle Reflections.

But the Infante, who had too great a Soul to be difcouraged either by Railery, or grave Nonfenfe, having with much ado wrought fome Mariners up to an Opinion of the feafiblenefs of the Undertaking, in the Year 1420. he equipped feveral Veffels, which after having met with violent Storms, difcovered the Island of Madera; after which he went on difcovering more and more yearly, until they made the Mountains of Leana, which lie 360 Leagues to the Southward of Ganaria.

The Infante, to encourage the Portugueles to go on with the Difcoveries he had fo happily begun, obtained a Bull from Pope Martin the Vtb, and which was afterwards confirmed by divers other Popes, whereby he gave to the Crown of Portugal a Title to all the Countries that fhould be difcovered by its Subjects from the Promontory of Ganaria, to the fartheft Indies.

But notwithstanding this Grant, after the Infante's Death, these Discoveries were for fome years at a stand, until they were renewed again by Alphonso the Vtb, whose Captains failed first beyond the Mountain of Leana, as far as Caboverde, and afterwards advanced as far as the Promontory of St. Catherin, which is two degrees and an half to the South of the Equator.

Thelfland of Madera first difcovered. The Pope gives a Title to theCrown of Portugal to all the New Countries they fhall difcover. The Difcoveries were intermitted. and revived again by Alphanfa V.

John II. who fucceeded Alphonso, fet his heart extreamly on carrying on those Difcoveries; and having got fome Eminent Ma-thematicians about him, he commanded them to confult together to fee whether they could invent any thing that might be of use in long Voyages; the most eminent of them, were Rodrigo and Josephe, his two Phylicians, and one Martin Bohemo, who had been Scholar to Fohannes Monteregins. Thefe Learned Men, after divers Conferences, invented the Aftrolabe, and the Tables of Declination.

With the help of this Inftrument, one Canus, a famous Sea-Commander, carried on the Difcoveries as far as the River Zaires in the Kingdom of Congo. This River is faid to rife in the fame Mountains with the Nile, and in the Winter to run into the Sea with that violence, as to make the Water fresh for 80 miles : Here it was the Portugueses first heard of the Habaffins, and of their being Christians; of whom, when King John came to be informed, he refolved to fend fome by the way of Egypt, to try to get into that Countrey; the fins. first that were fent being ignorant of the Arabick Tongue, were quickly difcouraged, who having vifited Jerufalem, returned home without doing any thing.

Only to excufe themfelves, they raifed Stories that were enough to have daunted others from attempting that Voyage a fecond time.

But the King understanding what it was that had made his first Attempt miscarry, and having found two men who were both great Masters of the Arabick Tongue, whose names D were

They went first to Alexandria, and from thence to Memphis, and from thence to Medena, where being informed of the Indies being on the left hand, and Habaffia on the right, they agreed to part there; and having caft lots, it fell to Payo's share to go to Habajfia, and to Cavilham to go to the Indies, having appointed to meet at Memphis, after they had made all the Difcoveries they were able in their feveral Provinces. Payo, whofe Province was Habaffia, died by the way before he got thither; but Cavilham had better luck, and arrived fafe in the Indies, where having obferved all the Chief Ports and Commodities of those Countries, he made Maps of the one, and fet down an exact Account of the other, which were afterwards of great use to the Portugueses, as well as an encouragement to them to go on in their Difcoveries. After having finished what he had to do in the Indies, he failed to the Coaft of Africk, where having touched at Oramata, and the Promontory of Pras, and at Rapti which stands on the Mouth of the River Sengi, as also at Melinde, Quiloa, and Cephala, he was there certainly informed by the Merchants and Mariners, that there was a passage to the Indics, in the Latitude where the Cape of Good Hope was fince difcovered to be.

Cavilham

Cavilbam being overjoy'd at this Intelligence, made all the hafte he could to Memphis, where being arrived, he met with the bad news of Payo's Death; and tho he was willing to have returned to Portugal with the Intelligence he had got, yet remembring how much the King's heart was fet on the difcovery of Habaffia, of which he was able to give him little or no Account, he refolved to take a Journey thither, which he did, having first fent the King in writing an exact Information of all the Discoveries he had made in the Indies, and on the Coast of Africk, by some Merchants that traded from Memphis to Lisbon.

In the Year 1490. Cavilham first entred in- Cavilham to Habaffia, of which at that time one Escander or Alexander was Emperor, who being fatisfi'd of the truth of what Cavilham had told him, of his having been fent to him by the King of Portugal, and of the Greatness of that King; he entertained him civilly, and was preparing to have fent an Ambaffador along with him to Portugal, but was prevented from doing it by Death.

But Nabod, who fucceeded Alexander, was He was fo far from executing what his Father had defigned, that he would neither fend himfelf, nor fuffer Cavilham to return home, whom he looked upon and treated as a Spy.

Cavilham finding that there was no hopes of his ever getting out of Ethiopia, perfuaded an Habassin Monk, who was going to Jerusalem, to take a Journey to Lisbon, by whom he fent the King a full Information of the State of the the Habaffin Church and Empire, which coming fafe to the King's hand, gave him abundant Satisfaction.

Nabod having reigned 13 Years, was fucceeded by his Son Lebna Danguil, or David, who being a Child at his Father's Death, the Empire during his Minority was managed by his Grand-mother Helena, who had been Wife to the Emperor Beda Mariam, and who for her admirable Wifdom and Learning, was highly efteemed by all forts of People. She had a great Dowry in the Kingdom of Goiam, where the built the most flately Church that had ever been feen in Ethiopia.

This King had three Names; his Baptifmal Name was Lebna Danguil; his fecond Name, which he took when he affumed the Government, was David; his third was Onay Segued; he was a Prince of great Courage; but as we fhall fee hereafter, was ruined by the vaft hopes he had conceived of the Advantages that would accrue to him by his new Alliance with the Portuguele.

Emanuel, King of Portugal, fends Almeidawith a great Fleet to take Ormus, and fome other Sea-Ports in the Indies. Emanuel fucceeding John, both in the Kingdom of Portugal, and in his heat for carrying on the Difcovery of the Indies; after the Great Gamas having got thither, and entred into Alliances with the feveral Princes, did reckon that there was no fecurity to his Trade in those Parts, without getting fome of the beft and ftrongest of its Ports into his own Hand; he thereupon fent Francisco de Almeida with the greatest Fleet that ever was fent before or fince to the Indies, to take Adenum, Ormus, Malaca, &c. to which and all that that he was able to Conquer in those Parts, the Popes, who pretend to a right to dispose of all Infidel, as well as Heretical Kingdoms, had given him a Title.

Almeida failed from Lubon with his great Fleet on the 26th of March in the Year 1502. and after a troublefom Voyage arrived at Quiola, where he depofed the King, and beftowed the Crown upon the most popular Man he could hear of; and having found a convenient Scituation for a Castle, he run one up in twenty Days, and left a good Garifon in it, which commanded both the Port and the Town; from Quiola he failed to Mombacca, which having taken by Affault, after having plundered the Town, he burnt it to the ground; after that he failed to Cranganor, where he likewife built a Castle which commanded both the Port and the Town.

In the Year 1507. Alphonfo Albequerque having plundered most of the Towns upon the Coast of Melinde, failed to the Island of Socatora, the Inhabitants whereof are Christians of the Jacobite Sect, as the Habassian are, where having taken the Fort of Benninum by Storm, he entred into the Persian Gulph; and after having destroyed the Ports of Curiate and Mascat, and taken Zaor, Orfazana, and Ormus, he fent two Envoys, whose Names were Joan Barmudes, and Joan Gomez, to the Emperor of Habassia, who was wellknown in those Parts, to desire fome Troops of him.

The Ambaffadors having got to Goa, were there very kindly received by Albuquerque, who had taken that City but a little before, and were carried to Lisbon by the Fleet that went thither in the Year 1513. where they were fplendidly received by the King: Matthew, befides his Letters of Credence, carried a piece of the true Crofs from that Empress to the King, which had been fent her, for Names fake, it is like, by the Habaffin Monks at Jerufalem.

Amen.

We do furthermore certify you, That in cafe you and we join our Forces, we shall, with God's affistance, be strong enough to destroy the Enemies of our Holy Faith; for at Sea, where by reason of our Empire's lying (o much within Land, we are not able to do any thing, You, praifed be God, are the most powerful of all, Jesus Christ being your Helper; for in truth, the things done by you in the Indies are miraculous, and more than humane : If you will fet out a Fleet of a 1000 Ships, we will take care to furnish them with all Necessaries.

Upon the Emperor of Habaffin's having made this glorious Proposition to him, King Emanuel refolved to fend a fplendid Embaffy to his Court, named Don Edward Calvam, who had been Secretary of State to two Kings, and Ambaffador at the Courts of Vienna, France and Rome, and one Rodriguez de Lima, and Francis Alverez, Alverez, one of his Chaplains in Ordinary, to go Ambafiadors, fending rich Prefents by them, both to the Emperor, and his Grandmother.

These Ambaffadors, with Matthew in their Company, went to Goa, on the Fleet that carried the Viceroy Lopez Suares; by whom they were fent in the Year 1520. with a ftrong Convoy to Arkiko, a Port in the Red-Sea, belonging at that time to the Habalfins. Galvam; who was the first in Commission, dying by the way, in the Island of Camara, was fucceeded by Lima; who having made but a fhort ftay at Arkiko, begun his Journey towards the Habaffin Court, where when he arrived, he was received by the Emperor with extraordinary joy and kindnefs; Matthew, who died in the way betwixt Arkiko and the Court, having. been fplendidly interr'd by the Ambaffadors in the Monastry of Bisoym.

The Ambaffadors who were to have returned to the Indies by the fame Fleet they came upon, having brought their Negotiation to a fpeedy iffue, made what hafte they could back to Arkiko, where, to their great mortification, they found the Fleet they were to have embarked upon, gone, the Moncons or Trade-Winds, which in those Seas blow fix Months from one Point, and fix months from the opposite, not permitting them to wait any longer for them : And to encrease the mortification of this Difappointment, they met with Letters which had been left for them by the Admiral, that advised them of the Death of King Emanuel, the greatest and most fortunate Prince that ever wore the Crown of Portugal.

The

The Ambaffadors not knowing how long it might be before they should have a Fleet to carry them to Goa; and being certain, that by reason of the Moncon it must be at least fix months before one could possibly come to them, they returned to the Court again, where they remained four years before any opportunity for Goa offered it felf. But at the end of four years they embarked upon a Fleet at Arkiko, fent on purpose to fetch them, carrying an Habassim Ambassiador home with them with Letters to the King of Portugal and the Pope.

The Ambasiladors did not arrive at Lisbon before the Year 1527. where the Habassim Ambassilador, whose name was Zaga Zabo, was received with all the marks of friendship and kindness; but whatever was the cause of it, he was, to his great forrow, detained above to years in that Court. He hath given the World a large Account of the Faith and Customs of the Habassim, which, though false in abundance of Particulars, I shall set down at length, having first translated the Habassim Emperor's Letters to the Pope, and the King of Portugal.

The Letters of the most Seriene David, Emperor of Ethiopia, to Emanuel King of Portugal; writ in the Tear 1521.

In the name of God the Father, as it was always, and who has no beginning; In the name of God the only Son, who was like unto him before the light of the Stars was feen, and before he laid the foundations of the Sea; but who in time was conceived in the Womb of a Virgin without Human Seed, and without Marriage, for after this manner was the knowledge of his Office : In the name of the Comforter, the Spirit of Holiness, who knoweth all Secrets that are, or ever were, and all the height of Heaven, which is suftained and upheld without Pillars, and who enlarged the Earth, which before was not known, nor created, from the East to the West, and from the South to the North, neither are they First and Second, but a Trinity join'd in One Eternal Creator, and One Council, and One Word thorow all Ages. THESE Letters are fent by Mani Tinghil, that is, the Frankincense of the Virgin, which was the name that was given me at my Baptism; but the name I assured when I took the Government upon me, is David, the Belowed of God, the Pillar of the Faith, of the Race of Judah, the Son of David, the Son of Solomon, the Son of the Pillar of Sion, the Son of the Seed of Jacob, the Son of the Hand of Mary, the Son of Nau, by the Flesh, Emperor of the Great and High Ethiopia, and of Mighty Kingdoms and Provinces, King of Xoa and Affate, and of Fatigar, and of Angote

Thefe Letters are addreffed to the most Potent and Excellent King Emanuel, who liveth in the love of God, and who continues stedfast in the Catholick Faith, the Son of the Apostles Peter and Paul, King of Portugal and Algarves, the Friend of Christians, the Enemy, Judge and Conqueror of the Mahometans, and Heathens of Africk and Guinea, from the Promontory and Island of the Moon, to the Red-Sea of Arabia, Persia and Ormus, and of the whole Indies, and of all the Provinces, Islands and Lands belonging to them, the Destroyer of the Mahometans, and of all the mighty Heathens; the Lord of Towers, and of High Castles and Walls, the Propagator of the Faith of Jesus Christ.

O, Lord King, and my Father, I am informed, That when the fame of my Name first reached your ears, by the Voice of my Ambassador Matthew, that you forthwith affembled all your Archbishops, Bishops and Prelates, to return thanks to God for (o good News, and that you did also receive Matthew with great kindness and respect : When I came to bear of this, I was overjoy'd likewife, and did return thanks to God for it, as did also all my People. I was much troubled at Matthew's Death, who dyed in the Monastery of Basayn, within my Dominions, as he was returning home; he was not sent by me, for I was then but a Boy of II years of Age, and had not taken the Government upon me after my Father's death, but by Queen Helena, whom I reverenced as my Mother, and who at that time administred the Affairs of the Empire. Matthew was by Profession a Merchant, and his true name was Abraham, which. be changed, that he might travel thorow the Turkish Dominions with the more (ecurity.

But having, notwithstanding his Disguise, been discovered to be a Christian, at Dabul he was cast into Prison, where he lay till he was taken out by some of your stout Soldiers, upon his having acquainted them with his Confinement, and his being ing our Ambaffador. The General of your Army, after be bad rescued him out of the bands of the Enemy, took care to convey bim to your Court; at which, as Matthew was punctual in acquainting you with all that he had in Commission to lay, fo he was the same in sending me word bow bononrably be was entertained by you, and bow you had loaded him with Gifts; all which was confirmed by your Ambaffadors, who were conveyed bither by Didacus Lopez de Segueiea, the Admiral of your Fleet; and by the Letters which were to have been delivered to me by Edward Golvam, who died in the Island of Camera, and were delivered by the surviving Ambassadors. I rejoyced exceedingly at the fight of your Letters, and did return thanks to God for them. I was overjoy'd likewife to fee your Ambaffadors have Croffes on their breaks, and did enquire of them concerning the Rites of the Christian Faith ; being destrous to know which are the True. But the thing that affected me with the most devotion, was the Story your Ambassadors told me, of Ethiopia having been first discovered to your Fleet by a Miracle : Which after it had given over all hopes of finding it, was conducted to one of our Ports by a Red Cross that appeared one morning in the Heavens; as this appears to me to have been a Miracle, so undoubtedly the Admiral of your Fleet, who had such an extraordinary honour done to him, must be exceedingly beloved of God.

This mutual Embassy of ours was foretold by the Prophet in the Book of Life, and in the Passion of St. Victor, and in the Writings of the Holy Fathers, which do all testify, That a great Christian King should conclude a Peace with the Emperor of Ethio-E 2 pia: pia: But little did I expect that this prophecy would have been fulfilled in my days. But God knew it certainly, praifed be his Name, who first brought Ambassadors from you to me, that I might likewife fend Ambassadors to you.

My Father in Christ, and Friend, it is my defire that we (hould be of the same Religion ; I never bad an Embally (ent to me before by any Christian King, neither was I certain that there was a Chriftian King any where befides my felf, having been always encompaffed with Moors, the Sons of Mahomet, and with Heathens and Slaves, who do not acknowledge God, and with some who worship Wood and Fire, and with others that worship Serpents as Gods; with whom I have never lived well, because, though the Faith has been preached to them, they refuse to come to the Truth. I am now at ease, God having given me reft from all your and my own Enemies; against whom when I march with my Armies, they turn their backs toward us; my Captains are also every-where victorious over them : So that God is not angry with me, but as the Pfalmist has it, He hath fulfilled the defire of Kings, who defire nothing but what is righteous : For which, no praise is due to us, but all thanks ought to be returned to God, for it, is he that hath given us the World, and the Land of the Gentiles for ever, and all the Countries from your own Borders to those of Ethiopia: For which I do give great thanks to God, and do proclaim his mighty Power, hoping the Sons of the Gentiles will be brought under the Yoke; and to the knowledge of the true Faith; for I do not in the least doubt, but that your Sons, and you, and I, full abundantly rejoice in our Victories; and you mult must never give over praying to God until he has put you in Possession of the Holy Temple of Jerusalem, which at present is in the hands of the Enemies of Christ, that is, of Mahometans, Heathens, and Hereticks; which work if you could perform, your hand will be full of praise.

Of the Ambaffadors you fent unto me with Matthew, Three died by the way; the Admiral, of your Fleet, after having had a Conference at Matrua with the King of Bernagays, who is our Vaffal, dispatched the surviving Ambaffadors with great Gifts to our Court: Your Gifts were acceptable to me, but your Name is more precious to me than all fewels and Treasures.

But let us pass over these things, and begin to Treat how we may Invade and Conquer the Countries of the Infidels; I for my part will Contribute a Hundred thousand Drachms of Gold, and as many Thousand Armed Men, and moreover Timber, and Iron, and Copper, towards the Building and Equipping of a Fleet, with abundance of Provisions of all forts; let us therefore joyn together. And whereas it is not our Custom, nor agreeable to our Dignity, to fend Ambaffadors to any Prince to sue for Peace, you did therefore first Send Ambassadors to desire a Peace with me, wherein you verified the Words of Christ, for it is written, Bleffed are the feet which bring peace; for which I am also prepared after the manner of the Apostles, who were unanimous and of one Heart. O King, and my Father Emanuel; the Only God, who is the God of Heaven, and is always the same, growing neither older nor younger, prc-Jerve and protect you.

The

The Envoy, of those that arrived, who was first in Commission, was named Rodrigo Lima, with whom was joyned one Francis Alvarez, who for the singular Piety and Probity of his Life, was very dear to me; be did also return very proper anjwers to all the questions I put to him concerning Religion; you ought therefore to prefer him, and to call him Master, and to employ him in the Conversion of the people of Matrua and Zeila, and of all the other Islands of the Red-Sea, all which are on the Coast of our Empire; I have bestowed a Cross and a Stiff upon him, as Badges of Authority, and would have you to do the fame, and to make him Bishop of those Countries, for he well deserves it, and is very fit for that Office. God be propitious to you, that jo you may always be Valiant against your Enemies, and may bring them all under your Feet.

God grant you a long life, and make you partaker of as good Places in the Kingdom of Heaven as I wish for my self; for I have heard many good thirgs of you, and have seen with my eyes what I never expected to have seen: May God make things succeed from good to better, and may your place be over the Tree of Life, which is the place of the Saints.

I as your little Son, have done what you Commanded me; and if you will fend Ambaffadors to me, I will always obey you, that fo we may help one another; and whenever your Ambaffadors shall arrive, as these did at Matrua, or at Dalacam, I will be fure to take that care of them that you define I should, there being nothing I am so ambitious of, as that we should be united in Councils and Ailions; and whenforver your Fleet shall come upon my my Coast, I shall joyn them immediately with an Army: And whereas on my Borders there are no Christians, nor Christian Churches, I am willing to give all those Provinces, which Border upon the Mahometans, to your Subjects to Inhabit; make haste therefore to execute what you have begun.

In the mean time I would have you fend me fome of your Learned Men, as alfo fome Gravers of Images of Gold and Silver, and fome Lead, Copper, and Iron Smiths, as alfo fome Printers, that underfrand our Letters, to Print Books for our Churches, and fome that know how to make Bracelets, and how to Gild Metals, they shall be all well entertained in my Palace, and whenever they shall have a mind to return home, they shall be well Revarded for their Pains; and I do Swear by Christ Jesus, who is Gol, and the Son of God, that they shall have free leave to depart.

This I do defire and expect from your known Virtue and Goodnefs, being fenfible that you have a great kindnefs for me, by your having treated Matthew fo Honourably and Liberally, and by baving fent him back as you did.

I do most earnestly desire to have all the forementioned Artificers sent hither, and do promise that you shall never have any cause to repent of your having sent them; for I will take care that they shall all be well rewarded; wherefore since a Father ought not to deny what his Son desires of him, and you are my Father, and I am your Son, let us be joyned together as two Bricks are in a Wall, that so we may be two with one Heart, and may agree in the Love of Christ Jesus, who is the Head of the World, all that are in him being as Bricks joyned together in a Wall. Amen.

The Letters of the same David Emperor of Ethiopia, to King John the IIId. of Portugal, written in the Tear 1524.

In the Name of God the Father Almighty, Maker of Heaven and Earth, and of all things that are made, visible and invisible: In the Name of God the Son, the Council and Prophet of the Father; and in the Name of the Holy Ghost, the Comforter and living God: Who is equal to the Father and the Son, and who spoke by the mouth of the Prophets, and inspired the Apostles, that they might Thank and Praise the Perfect Trinity in Heaven and on Earth, and in the Depths always. Amen.

The Frankincenfe of the Virgin, for that was my Baptismal Name, but who with the Scepter of my Kingdom have taken the Name of David. The Beloved of God, the Pillar of the Faith, the Offspring of Judah, the Son of David, the Son of Solomon, Kings of Ifrael, the Son of the Pillar of Sion, of the feed of Jacob, the Són of the hand of Mary, the Son of Nau by the Flesh; do (end these Letters and this Ambassador, to the Greatest, most Powerful, and High, John King of Portugal and Algerves, the Son of King Emanuel: Peace be with you, the Grace of our Lord Fesus Christ be with you always. Amen. When I heard of the Power of the King your Father, by whom the Moors, the Sons of the filtby Mahomet, were (ubdued, I gave great Thanks

Thanks to God for the Increase and the Greatness of the Crown of Confervation in the House of Christianity. I did likewife take great pleasure in the arrival of the Ambassadors who brought that King's words to us, because by that means a singular Love, Friendship, and Correspondence, was established betwixt us, in order to the Extirpating of all the Wicked Mahometans and the Unbelieving Heathens that lie betwixt our two Kingdoms. But while I was full of this Joy, before I had sent any Ambaffador to him, I received the News of your and my Father's Death, which turned my foy fuddenly into Sorrow, whereof our Court, Prelates, and Monks, and, in a word, all our Faithful Subjects, did deeply partake : Our Sorrow upon this News becoming equal to our former Joy.

Sir, From the beginning of my Reign there was no Ambassador nor Envoy sent to me by the King or Kingdom of Portugal, but by your Father, who sent some of his Captains bither, and with them some of his Nobles, and Clarks, and Deacons, who brought with them all the Utensils of a Solemn Mass.

I must tell you, I was overjoyed at their arrival, and did receive them with great Affection, dismissing them after they had done their Business, that so they might return home in Peace and with Honour: But being come to the Port of the Red-Sea that is on my Borders, they found the Admiral of their Fleet gone; who, as he certified me himjelf, could wait no longer for them, by reason of a Custom that you have, of changing your Admiral every Third Year, which, together with no other Fleets having touched at any of my Ports for some Years after, was the cause of your Ambassiador's baffador's having ftaid so long at my Cour I do now send, what I defire of you, by Bro ther Christopher Licanot, whoje Baptismal Name is Zaga Zabo, that is to say, The Grace of the Father, who will lay my Demands before you. I do likewise send Francis Alvarez to the Pope, to yeild Obedience to him in my Name, as it is just I should.

O Lord my Brother King, attend and apply your felf to the Friendship that was begun betwixt us by your Father, and do not neglect to send Letters and Ambaffadors to us frequently; for I am extremely defirous to receive them from you, as from my Brother : And fince we are both Christians, and the Mahometans, though Wicked, are still in Peace with all of their own Sect, it is fit it should be the Same betwixt us. And I do declare, That for the future I will receive no Embally from the King of Egypt, nor from any of thole Kingdoms, which have formerly sent Ambassadors to us, nor from no other King but only from your Highness, from whom I do earneftly defire to have them come; for the Mahom etan Kings, by reason of the difference that is betwixt us in Religion, do never look upon me as their Friend, and do only pretend to have a Kindness for me, that they may Trade with the more conveniency and security within my Dominions, from whence they draw great Profit, exporting Yearly great Quantities of Gold, whereof they are extremely Covetons, while at the same time they have no real Friendship for me, for which reason I take no pleasure in their Gain; but this having been a Custom of my Ancestors, was to be endured; though after all, the only thing that hinders me from making War upon them, and Confounding them, them, is the fear of provoking them thereby to violate and deftroy the Temple of Jerufalem, where the Sepulchre of Christ is, which God hath been pleased to leave in the bands of those filthy Mahometans, and to demolish the Churches that are in Egypt and Syria; this is the only cause why I do not Invade and Conquer them, which I am forry I am not at liberty to do.

O King, I can by no means rejoyce in the Chriftian Kings of Europe, who, as I am informed, do not agree in one heart, but are at War one with another; be you all Unanimous, and in Friendship one with another; for my own part, had I a Chriftian King in my Neighbourhood, I would never be absent from him. I do not know what to say of these matters, nor what to do, since God seems to have ordained things to be as they are.

My Lord, let me bave Ambassadors from you frequently; for when 1 see your Letters I think I behold your face; there being a greater Friendship betwixt those that live far asunder, than betwixt Neighbours, by reason of the stronger desire they have one for another; for he that has hid his Treasure thinks the oftner of it, and loves it the more for not seeing it, according to what Christ saith in his Gospel, Where your treassure is there will your hearts be also; my heart is therefore with you, because you are my Treassure, and you ought also to make me your Treasure, so as sincerely to joyn your Heart with ours.

O Lord and Brother, observe this word, for 1 am told you are very Wise, and in Wisdom like your Father, of which, when I was informed, I returned Thanks to God for it, and throwing away Sorrow, did put on Joy, and said, Blessed be the 61

the Son that is Wife, and who has a great Head; the Son of King Emanuel who fits upon the Throne of his Kingdoms.

Sir, Have a care you do not grow weary, fince you are no lefs Valiant than your Father, and do not discover your self to be Weak against the Mahometans and Gentiles, whom, with God's Alfistance, you may easily Conquer; and have a care how you say, The Forces left me by my Father are small; for they are abundantly sufficient, and God will always help you: I have Men, Gold; and Provisions, like the Sand of the Sea, and the Stars of Heaven; so that we two being United; may with ease destroy the whole Barbarous Race of Mahometans; I destre nothing of you; but Experienced Officers to Discipline and Command my Soldiers.

O King, thou art of a just Age, whereas Solomon took the Government upon himself when he was but 12 years old, and notwithstanding that had great Power, and was wifer than his Father. I also when Nau my Father died, was but II years of Age, and have, notwithstanding that, with God's alfistance, acquired more Power and Riches lince I fate on the Throne of my Father, than ever he had having conquered all the Neighbouring Nations and Kingdoms; we have both cause therefore to thank God for so singular a benefit. Hearken to me, Brother, and Lord; for there is one thing I must request of you, which is, That you would (end me some of your Learned Men, as also some Artificers, that understand how to make Images, and how to Print Books, and to make Swords, and all forts of Military Weapons, with fome Mafons, Carpenters, and Phyficians and Surgeons, and fome zuho who skill to beat Gold, and gild, and how to work in Mines: I would also have some that know how to cover Houses with Lead, and to make Tile; in a word, all sorts of Artificers shall be welcom to me, namely, such as make Pistols. Help me, I beseech you, to all these things, as one Brother ought to help another, and then God will help you out of your Troubles.

The Lord hear your Prayers, and Petitions, as he has received holy Sacrifices at all times, namely, the Sacrifices of Abel, and of Noah when he was in the Ark, and that of Abraham when he was in the Land of Madiam, and of Isaac when he went from the Trench of the Oak, and of Jacob in the Houle of Bethlem, and that of Mofes in Egypt, and of Aaron in the Mount, and of Joshua the Son of Nun in Galgala, and of Gideon on the Rock, of Sampson when he was in a dry and thirsty Land, and of Samuel in Rama of the Prophets, and of David in Naceea, and of Solomon in the City of Gabeon, and of Elias in Mount Carmel, when he raifed the Daughter of the Widow over the Pit to life; and of Jehofaphet in Battail, and of Manasses when he turned to God after having finned, and of Daniel in the Den of Lions, and of the three Companions, Sidrach, Melack and Abednego, in the fiery Furnace, and of Hannah before the Altar, and of Nehemiah, who together with Zerobabel built the Walls; and of Matathias with his Sons, on the fourth part of the Earth; and of Elau upon the Bleffed : In the fame manner may God receive your Sacrifices, and Supplications; and affift you, and be on your fide against all wickedness, at all times.

O fuft Lord, and boly, powerful, pure and facred Father, who art the head of all Bishops, and fearest no-body, because there is none that hath power to curse thee, who art the most watchful Curate of all Souls, and the Friend of Pilgrims, and the facred Master and Preacher of the Faith, and the Enemy of every thing that offends the Conscience, and the lover of all good Manners, and a boly Person, whom all do bless and praise.

O happy and holy Father, I do obey you with reverence, because you are the peace of all, and do deserve whatsoever is good; so that it is but just, that according to the divine Commands of the Apostles, all should yield obedience to you: This belongs to you; but they have likewise commanded us to reverence all Bishops, Archbishops and Prelates, and to love you as a Father, and to reverence you as a King, and to believe in you as a God.

For which cause I do humbly with bended knees, and with a sincere heart, tell you, holy Father, That you are my Father, and I am your Son.

Holy and most mighty Father, Why have you never sent any Nuncio's to us, to be informed of our health; for since you are our Pastor, and we are your Sheep, you ought not to have been unmindful of us, nor ought you to have reckoned us to have been too remote from your Territories, for your Nuncio's to have visited us; seeing from the most remote Kingdom of the Earth, that is Portugal, your Son, King Emanuel, has commodiously sent his Ambassadors to us; so that if God had deferred calling him to Heaven, the things he and I were treating about, had undoubtedly had a happy Issue before this time.

I should

1 (hould be glad to bear healthful things from you by certain Nuncio's, having never had a word from your Holiness, nor heard of you by any other way, but by some of our vowed Pilgrims, who neither carried Letters from us to you, nor brought any from you to us; and who therefore, when we enquired of them, could only tell us, That going from Jerufalem, after they had performed their Vows there, to visit the Thresholds of the Apostles at Rome, they had seen you, giving us a general Account of your Affairs. I took great pleasure in their Relations, beholding in them the Image of your holy Countenance, which appeared to me to be like that of an Angel; and I must own, that I do love and reverence you : Nevertheless, it would be much more grateful to me, devoutly to contemplate your Words and Letters : I must therefore beg it of you, that you would fend a Nuncio to me, to exhilerate my heart with your Bleffing; for fince we agree in Faith and Religion, that is the thing of the World that I defire most, and that my Frieudship may be as the Ring you wear on your Finger, or as the Gold Chain that is about your Neck, that fo I may be always in your beart and memory : Friendship being much increased by grateful Words and Letters, when holy Peace, from which all human For doth flow naturally, embraceth them : For as one that is very thirfy is extreamly defirous of cold water, as the Scripture has it; so Nuncio's and Letters coming to me from remote parts, either from your Holines, or any Christian King, will fill my heart with extraordinary Pleasures; such as theirs are filled with, who after a Victory, come to gather rich Spoils : All this may be done with great eale, now the King of Portugal has opened a way way to it; who fome times fince fent Ambassfadors, with other Persons of Quality, to us, which was a thing bad never been done by any Christian King, or Pope, before to any of our Ancestors: Only in the Archives of our Great Grandfather Zera Jacob, who was King of all the Kings of Ethiopia, and a most Formidable Prince, the Copies of some Letters to him from Eugenius the Roman Pontiff are still preferved, the purport whereof is as followeth.

" TUgenius the Roman Pontiff, to our belo-" ved Son King Zara Jacob, the King of all the Kings of Ethiopia, and who is migh-" tily dreaded : He goes on, and tells him, That " his Son John Paleologus, who had been dead " two years, the King of the Kings of the Ro-" mans, had been called by him to celebrate a holy " Synod, to which he came accompanied by Jo-" feph the Patriarch of Constantinople, and a " great many other Archbishops, Bishops, and " Prelates, as also with the Procurators of the " Patriarchs of Antioch, Alexandria, and Je-" rufalem, who had all united themselves to him, " in the love of the holy Faith, and Religion : " So that now the Unity of the Church was re-" established, and all the old Controversies, tho-" ro God's affiftance, were ended; and whatever " was erroneous, and contrary to Religion, diffi-" pated, and right Order reftored, which had filled " all People with joy.

We do here fend you that Letter of Eugenius, which has been preferved entire, and would likewife have fent you the whole Order and Power of E 2 the the Pontifical Benediction ; had it not been fo large a Volume, it being bigger than the Book of Paul to the Gentiles ; the Nuncio's that brought these Papers from the Pope hither, were Theodore, Peter, Didimus, and George, the Servants of Jefus Chrift : You would do well, holy Father, to command your Papers to be looked over, among which, it is like, you will meet with some Records of these Matters. You may see by this, holy Father, that if you should be pleased to write any thing to us, the memory thereof will be preferved in our Archives thorough all Ages : And happy is the Man whole Memory is preferved in the Records of the holy City of Rome, the Chair of St. Peter, and St. Paul, who are the Lords of the Kingdom of Heaven, and the Judges of the World; and my believing them to be so, was the cause of my writing these Letters to your Holinefs, that I may obtain your Favour, and that of your holy Conclave, and therewithal all forts of Bleffings, and the increase of all good things.

I do furthermore supplicate your Holiness, to fend us the Images of some Saints, namely, that of the bleffed Virgin Mary, that by that means your Holiness may be frequent in our Mouths, and Memories, and that I may be always delighting my self in your Gifts: For the same reason I do earnestly intreat you, to send me some Learned Men, and Artificers, namely, Carvers of Images, Sword-Cutlers, and Gunfmiths, and Gilders; and Carpenters, but especially Artificers who know how to Build Houses with Stone, and to cover them with Lead and Copper; I should be glad likewise, to have some that underfand bow to make Glafs, and Mufical Inftruments, and how to play well upon them, with fome Pipers and Trumpeters : Thefe Artificers I defire chiefly from your Holinefs; but in cafe you should have none to spare, I must intreat you to order fome of the Christian Kings, your Sons, who are all at your Commands, to fend them unto me : Which Artificers, when they arrive here, shall be treated honourably, and rewarded according to their deferts; they shall also have good Wages, and whenever they shall defire it, they shall have free leave to return home, and be well rewarded for their pains; for I will detain no body against his will, how beneficial soever his stay should be to me : But to pass to other things.

I must expostulate with you, holy Father : Why do you not exbort the Christian Kings, your Sons, to lay down their Arms, as becomes Brethren, and to agree among themselves; seeing they are all your Sheep, and you are their Paftor ? Your Holinefs is not ignorant of the Gospel-Commands, and of its baving (aid, A kingdom divided against it felf cannot ftand, but will become defolate. For if those Kings would but all join together, they would quickly destroy all the Mahometans, and with ease demclish the Sepulchre of their False Prophet : Apply your (elf therefore to this, holy Father, that for there may be a firm Peace and Confederacy established among them, and exhort them to affift us, who are befieged on all fides by Wicked Mahometans, and Moors: The Turks and Moors can affilt one another, and their Kings and Rulers do all agree together : I have a Mahometan for my Neighbour, who is constantly supplied with Arms, Horfes, and all Military Weapons, by Princes of his own Sect; F 2 Sect namely, the Kings of India, Perfia and Egypt ; this is a great mortification to me, to fee the Enemies of the Christian Religion enjoy Peace, and live together like Brethren; and at the same time, to fee Christian Kings, my Brethren, not in the least concerned at the Injuries I endure; not one of them offering to succour me as becomes a Christian, notwithstanding the filthy Sons of Mahomet are always ready to succor one another; not that I defire any Soldiers of them, for I have enough of my own, and to (pare; but all that I defire of them, is, only their Prayers and Supplications, and your Holinels, and my Brethren's Favour: The reason why I want your Friendship, is, that I may be furnished by you with such things as are necessary to terrify the Mahometans, the Enemies of the Name of Chrift: And that my Neighbours may be made (enfible of my being favoured by the Christian Kings, my Brechren, and of their being ready to affift me whenever there (hall be occasion; which would be much for the bonour of all of us that are of the Tame Faith and Religion, and do intend to perfilt therein.

God fulfil your Desires to the praise of Jesus Christ, and of God our Father, who is praised by all thorow all Ages; and you, my Lord, and holy Father, with all the Saints of Christ at Rome, embrace me; and let all my Subjects, and all that dwell in Ethiopia, be received with the same Embraces; and let thanks be returned to Christ with your Spirit.

These Letters your Holiness will receive from my Brother, John, King of Portugal, the most Powerful Son of King Emanuel, who will send them to you by our Ambassador Francisco Alvarez.

A Second

A Second Letter of David, Emperor of Ethiopia, to the Roman Pontiff, written in the Year 1524.

H Appy and boly Father, who art made by God the Confervator of the Nations, and who doft fit in the Chair of St. Peter; To thee are given the keys of the kingdom of heaven; fo that whatfoever thou binded or loofeft on earth, is bound and loofe in heaven, according to what Christ bath faid in St. Matthew's Gospel.

I the King, at whose Name the Lyons tremble, who at my Bapti m was called Atami Tinghil, that is the Frankincense of the Virgin, but who, when I took the Administration of my Empire upon me,a fumed the Names of David the Beloved of God, the Pillar of Faith, the Prince of Judah, the Son of Solomon, the Son of the Pillar of Sion, the Son of Zara Jacob, the Son of the Hand of Mary, the Son of Nau by the Flesh, Emperor of the Great and High Ethiopia, and of vast Kingdoms and Dominions ; King of Xoa, and Caffate, and Fatigar, Angot, Baru, Baaltinganze, Adea, Vanga, and Mahon, and Saba, from whence the Queen of Saba went, and Barnagays; the Lord of all Nubia, to the Confines of Egypt : All which Countries, and a great many more not here mentioned, are under our Dominion; neither have I mentioned the fore-named out of Pride, or Vaingloy, or for any other reason, but that the Great God may be the more praifed, who of his fingular bounty has been pleased to bestow the foresaid Chri-F 4 fian stian Empires upon my Ancestors; and who hath likewise been gracicus to me, after a special manner, that I might constantly do service to his Religion; making me Lord of Adel, and the Scourge of the Mahometans, and Gentiles, who do worship Idols : I do after the manner of other Christian Kings, my Brethren, to whom I am no-ways inferior, either in Power or Religion, Send to kiss your Holines's Feet : Within my own Territories, I am the Pillar of Faith, neither am I affifted with any Foraign Succors, but I do place my whole trust and confidence in God, as my Anceftors did before me, who have all been suftained and governed by him, ever fince his Angel (poke to Philip, who instru-Eted the Eunuch of the powerful Queen Candace, Empress of Ethiopia, in the Faith, as he was coming from Jerufalem to Gaza; Philip then baptized the Eunuch, and the Eunuch afterwards battized the Queen, with the greatest part of her Court, and People, who from that day to this, bave continued Christians, and strong in the Faith: My Anceftors, without any other than Divine Affistance, have propagated the Faith thorow wast Regions, which I likewife labour daily to do; being fixed between the large Borders of my Kingdoms, as a Lycn encompafied within a Wood; and strongly fortified against the Mahometans, and other Nations, that are Enemies to the Christian Faith, and who will not give ear to the Word of God, and my Exkortation : For which reason, I with my Sword girt about me, do perfecute them, and will by degrees expel them, relying on the Divine Affistance, which is never wanting to me, which is more than all Christan Kings can Jay, who, if they would but agree together, might with the

the help of your Bleffing, eafily enlarge the Bounds of their Empires; of which Bleffing I do partake. Among our Books there being Letters which were fent by Pope Eugenius with his Bleffing to Zera Jacob; which Bleffing having descended to me, I do now enjoy it, and rejoyce in it mainly.

The Holy Temple of Jerufalem is a place I have great Veneration for, and do frequently Send Oblations to it by our Pilgrims; and I would fend both more and greater, were I not Besieged on all sides by Mahometans and Infidels; who befides that they Rifle our Messengers, will not allow them a free passage; whereas if the ways were but once opened, I should then be able to Correspond with the Roman Church, as well as other Christians, to whom, as to the Christian Religion, I am nothing inferior; for as they believe One Right Faith, and One Church, fo I do profess the same, and do most fincerely believe in the Hely Trinity, and in One God, and in the Virginity of our Lady the Virgin Mary; I do alfo hold all the Articles of the Christian Faith, and do keep them as they were writ by the Apostles.

And now that our good God has been pleafed, by the band of the most Potent and Christian King Emanuel, to open a way by which we may Correspond by Amdassiadors; since we are joyned in the Faith, let us likewise with all other Christians joyn together in the service of God. During the time the Ambassiadors of that King were at our Court, we received the News of his Death, and of his Son, and my Brother John, having Succeeded to the Crown; and as I was extremely afflicted at the News of the Death of the Father, Jo I did very much rejoyce to hear of his Son's having baving succeeded him; for I do hope that by joyning our forces, we shall be able to open a passage both by Sea and Land, thorow the Regions of the Wicked Mahometans, and to terrifie them to that degree, as to drive them quite out of those Countries, so that Christians may go to, and return from Jerufalem without any molestation; and I do most vebemently defire to partake of the Divine Love in the Temple of the Apostles Peter und Paul: I do likewise defire to receive the most Holy Bleffing of Christ's Vicar, which your Holines is undoubtedly. And as the things I hear of your Holine(s by our Pilgrims, which go from hence to Jerufalem, and from thence to Rome, and that not without a Miracle, do fill me with incredible Joy and Pleafure; so there is nothing I would rejoyce in so much, as to have a (horter way found out for my Amba (fadors, that to I might hear from you before I die, which I trust in God I shall do by some means or other. I befeech God to preferve you in Health and and Holine(s.

I Kifs your holy Feet, and do humbly beg your Bleffing. Your Holinefs will receive these Letters from our Brother, John King of Portugal, who will fend them to you by our Ambassador Francis Alvarez.

The Habaffin Embaffy to the Pope little regarded. We may judge what mean thoughts King John had of these Letters and Ambassadors to the Pope, by their lying unregarded Five Years at Lisbon before they were sent to Rome; and by his sending them at last, only to do Honour to his Nehpew Don Martin de Portugal, when when he fent him Ambaffador to that Court with the following Letter.

To the most Holy Father in Christ, and the most Blessed Lord, Pope Clement the IIId. by Divine Providence presiding over the whole Church.

To the most Holy Father in Christ, and the most Bleffed Lord, the most devout Son of the fame Holinefs, John, by the Grace of God, King of Portugal and Algarves on this fide and the other fide of the Sea of Africk, Lord of Guinea, and of the Conquests, Navigation, and Commerce of Ethiopia, Arabia, Persia, and India : After baving most bumbly kiffed your Holy feet.

M OST Holy Father in Christ, and most Blessed Lord: The King, my Lord and Father, being fensible how acceptable it would be to God, that the most remote Regions of Ethiopia and India, which in these parts had been only heard of by a doubtful fame; fould be Sailed to by the industrious Navigation of Christians, did at the beginning of his Reign, Send divers of his Captains and Subjects with great Fleets, to discover the Coafts of those Countries; which he did to that end, that the Mahometans and Heathens of Embassy. those Climates might be brought to acknowledge the Truth of the Christian Faith, not knowing but that some Nations which were Christians already, (for such there were reported to be) might be found out in the Course of such Discoveries; thus therough rough the Divine Direction, the whole Country of Guinea was travelled over, in which the King of Manicongo, with vast numbers of his Subjects, was Baptized; as were Several other Nations in India, Persia, and Arabia, by the Industry and Piety of our Subjects; and even those Frowinces which were not forward at first to embrace Christianity, do now begin to follow the Example of their Neighbours; who notwithstanding the great Losses he sustained in his Ships, Captains, Nobles, and other Subjects, was not, as becomes a Pious Christian, discouraged thereby, fo as to give over those Voyages, in the Progress whereof our Fleets have penetrated into the Red-Sea, in which no Christian Ship had ever been before, that Sea being wholly in the hands of the Turks; and did after a long and harp War discover the Coafts of the most Potent King of Ethiopia, who is commonly called Pretegya, and who with all his Subjects is a Worshipper of Christ; to which King our Father immediately dispatched an. Ambassador, with an intention to reduce him to the Obedience of the Holy Apostolical See; by certifying him, That your Holiness fits in the Chair of St. Peter, and are the only Vicar of Chrift upon Earth, to whom all Christian Kings do with great Veneration use to yield Obedience. And not long after, the faid King of Ethiopia (ent two Ambassadors, in Company with ours when they returned home; one of which was his Naturalborn Subject, and the other a Stranger; during which time, God was pleased to take our Father's Soul to himself; and we having succeeded him in the Throne, did withour delay endeavour by our Captains that were in India, to certify the (aid

This Francis Alvarez is now fent by the faid King to Rome, to yield Obedience to your Holiness in that King's Name, and in the Name of all his Subjects: We have detained him here for some time, being willing for divers Reasons, that be should accompany our dear Nephew, Martin de Portugal, our Councellor and Ambassador, whom we have ordered to present the faid Francis Alvarez, Amba [ador of the faid King of Ethiopia, to your Holiness, to yield Obedience to you; as also to acquaint you with what the Ambaljador of the faid King that was fent to zs, has laid before us, together with the Copies of that King's Letters to us; wherefore your Holiness will do a thing that will be very acceptable unto God, if in all this Affair you do give entire Credit to the faid Martin, our Ambaffador; for certainly great thanks ought to be returned to God, for having in the time of your Pontificate done fo great a favour to your Holiness, that a Portion of Christians, who as to the largness of their Courtry, are nothing inferior to this of ours, should confent to the Catholick Faith, and to the Roman Church, by yielding Obedience to it. We for our parts are very thankful to God, for having made use of our Ministry in the Reduction of this King : There being nothing more for the praise of True

King John having made the Habaffan Emperor's Complements, in his Letters to the Pope, to amount to a formal fubmiffion of himfelf, his Church and Empire, to him, muft make his having detained an Embaffage of that Moment, and which he himfelf Magnifies fo much, fo long at Lisbon, to be the more wonderful : But what it fhould be, that after having flighted this Embaffy for five long Years, induced him to trump it up thus, if it were not to do his Nephew Honor, is a Myftery I fhall leave to the Reader to unriddle; having only obferved, that there were two Creations of Cardinals foon after it came to Rome.

The Portuguese, and Habaffin Ambaffadors had their Audience of the Pope at Bononia. The Portuguese and Habassian Ambassiadors being arrived at Bononia, where the Pope and the Emperor Charles the Fifth were together at that time, they had the 29th of January given them for the Day of their publick Audience. When being introduced into a publick Confistory, at which the Emperor was present; the Portuguese presented his Massier's Letters to the Pope, together with the Copies of those which had been sent to him and his Father by the King of Ethiopia. When the the Portuguese had done, the Habaffin presented his Mafter's Letters to the Pope, and with them a Gold Crofs that weighed about a Pound. And having made the fubmiffion of the Emperor of Ethiopia, and of his whole Church and Empire, to his Holinefs, he was afterwards admitted to kifs his Foot, and after that his Hand, and at last his Mouth ; and having delivered the following Speech in Portuguele, it was fpoke aloud in Latin by the Secretary of the Portuguele Embaffy.

MOST Holy and Bleffed Father, the most The Ha-Serene and Potent Lord David; King of baffiu Amthe Great and High Ethiopia, who is commonly called Pretegya, and who is no lefs glorious for fion to the the veneration he has for the True Religion, than for his Empire, Wealth, and Kingdoms, has fent this Ambassador to your Holine's with the Letters he has delivered to you, commanding him to yield obedience and subjection to your Holiness, in his Name, and in that of his Kingdoms, as Chrift's Vicar, and St. Peter's Succeffor, and the Chief Pontiff of the whole Church, and to prefent you with a Gold Cross, which he hopes your Holines, not regarding the value thereof, which is but (mall, but the veneration that is due to it, for Christ's having suffered thereon for our sakes, will be pleased to accept of ; befeeching your Holines, in the name of the faid Prince, to accept of all that he has offered, with a prous affection of a Father, for your most devout Son.

The Pope's Anfwer to the Habaffin Ambaffador.

OUR most holy Lord doth receive you, my Lord Francis Alvarez, the Ambas[]ador of the most serene David, King of Ethiopia, together with his Obedience, Gift and Letters, with a good Will, and Paternal Affection, and doth return Thanks to God that fuch Letters, and fuch an Ambassador should come in the time of his Pontificate, from so great and remote a Christian Emperor; he bath heard . what you have faid, with Attention and great Joy, and has with his Venerable Brethren, the Cardinals, graciously accepted of your Master's Obedience, as also of his Gift, both for the Honour that is due to the Holy Cross, and the good Affection of the Donor. And he doth furthermore highly extol, in the Lord, the most serene King of Portugal, who besides the other great Services done by himself and Progenitors, to the Commonwealth and Christian Faith, has likewise deserved well of King David, by having entred into an Alliance with him, and having procured your being (ent with these Letters to the Pope. What remains is, his Holiness will endeavour to the utmost of his Power, so far as the great distance that is betwixt their Countries will permit, so to satisfie the defires of the faid King, as to make him fenfible of his being in the Place of a most dear Son in Christ, and in the Affection and Esteem of his Holines, and the Holy Apostolical See, no less than other Christian Princes. And his Holiness will treat with the Ambassador of Portugal and you concerning these Affairs, and will by his Letters and Nuncio's Return an Answer to all that your King has defired.

Zaga Zaba having nothing elfe to do at Z Lisbon, and being willing to ingratiate himfelf with that Court, by reprefenting the Habaffin Church as agreeing with the Roman in d the Chief Doctrines wherein the Reformers b contradict her; did put Pen to Paper, and c drew up the following Account of the Religion, Cuftoms, and Rites of his Countrey.

Zaga Zaba's (the Habaffin Ambaffador at Lifbon) Account of the Religion and Cuftoms of his Countrey.

An Account of the Habassin Religion, and Customs, composed by Zaga Zaba, the King of Ethiopia's Ambassador; and written with his own Hand at Lisbon.

In the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

E believe in the Name of the Holy Trinity, Father, Son, and Holy Ghoft, who are One Lord, and Three Names; One Divinity, and Three Faces, though but One Similitude; and are an equal conjunction of Perfons; equal, I fay, in Divinity; One Kingdom, One Throne, One Word, One Spirit; the Word of the Father, and the Son, and the Word of the Holy Spirit; and the Son is the fame Word, the Word with God, the Word with the Holy Spirit, and with Himfelf, without any defect, or division; the Son of the Father, the Son of the very Father, without any beginning, and at first the Son of the Father without a Mother; the Secret and Mystery of whole Nativity

tivity is known to none but the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. This Son in the beginning was the Word, and the Word was the Word with God, and God was the Word : The Spirit of the Father, the Holy Spirit, the Spirit of the Son the Holy Spirit, and the Holy Spirit its own Spirit; without any diminution or augmentation : That Holy Spirit is the Comforter of the living God, who proceedeth from the Father and the Son, and who spake by the mouth of the Prophets, and defcended in a flame of fire on the Apostles in the gate of Sion, and who preached the word of the Father, which Word the very Son was all over the World; wherefore as the Father is not first, notwithstanding he is the Father; nor the Son laft, notwithstanding he is the Son; fo likewife the Holy Spirit is neither first nor last, but they are Three Perfons in One God, who feeth, and is feen by no-body; and who by his only Council created all things. The Son did of his own accord, the Father being willing, and the Holy Ghoft confenting, defcend from his higheft Habitation, and was incarnate by the Holy Spirit in the Womb of the Virgin Mary; who was adorned with a double Virginity, the one Spiritual, the other Carnal; he was born without any Corruption, his Mother, Mary, remaining a Virgin after her delivery; and by a Miracle, and a fecret Flame of the Divinity brought forth her Son Jefus, without blood, and without pain; who was perfectly Innocent, and without Sin; being perfect God, and perfect Man; and having only one Afpect, he grew by degrees

grees as an Infant, fucking the Milk of the Virgin Mary, his Mother; and coming to Thirty Years of Age, he was baptiz'd in 'fordan, and did walk, and was weary, and did hunger and thirst, as other men do; all these things he fuffered voluntarily, and of his own accord, and wrought many Miracles; reftoring, by the power of his Divinity, fight to the Blind, curing the Lame; cleanfing the Lepers, raifing the Dead; after all which, he himfelf was apprehended, and whipt, and fcourged, and crucified: He languished and died for our Sins, and by his Death overcame Death, and the Devil; and by his lively Agony diffolved our Sins, and bore our Infirmities : By the Baptifm of his Blood, that is, his Death, he baptized the Patriarchs, and Prophets, and descended into Hell, where the Souls of Adam and his Sons were, as alfo his own Soul, which was from Adam, which Soul Chrift received from the Virgin Mary, who by the power and fplendor of his Divinity, and the strength of his Cross, broke the brazen fiery Gates of Hell, binding Satan with Iron Chains, and refcuing Adam and his Sons. All these things Christ did, because he was full of the Divinity; and the Divinity it felf was with his Soul, as it was also with his most holy Body, which Divinity gave virtue to the Crofs, and was what he always had, and will have for ever, in Trinity and Unity in common with the Father : Neither did Chrift, during the time he was in the Flesh, ever want the Divinity and Dignity thereof for one moment. He was buried, and Ga on on the third day Jefus Chrift himfelf, the Prince of the Refurrection, the most fweet Jefus Chrift, Jefus Chrift the Prince of the Priefts, Jefus Chrift the King of Ifrael, did with great power and ftrength rife, and after having finished all things which were forecold by the holy Prophets, he afcended with glory into Heaven, and fitteth at the right hand of the Father, and will come with glory, carrying a Crofs before him, and in his hand a Sword of Juffice, to judge the quick and the dead, of whofe Kingdom there shall be no end. I believe one Holy Catholick and Apoftolick Church; I believe one Baptifm, which is the Remiffion of Sins; and I do hope for the Refurrection of the Dead, and the Life of Amen. the Age to come.

I believe the holy Lady Mary to be a Virgin both in Spirit and Flesh, and do reverence her as the Mother of God, the Charity of all Nations, the Holy of Holies, and the Virgin of Virgins. I believe in the holy Wood of the Crofs, the Bed of the Agony of our Lord Jefus Chrift the Son of God, who is our Salvation, for thorough him we are faved ; which, notwithstanding it is an offence to the Jews, and to the Gentiles foolifhnefs, we do preach, believing it to be the power of the Crofs of our Lord Chrift, as our Doctor St. Paul hath commanded. I do believe St. Peter to be the Rock of the Law, which Law is built upon the holy Prophets, and the Foundation and Head of the Catholick and Apostolick Church of the East and West, where the Name of Our Lord Jefus Chrift is; the Power of which Church

Church is in St. Peter, as is also the Kingdom of Heaven, with which he can open and fhut, bind and loofe, and who shall fit with the other Apostles, his Companions, upon Twelve Seats with honour and praife, together with our Lord Jefus Chrift; who upon the Day of Judgment is to pass Sentence upon us, which will be a day of joy to the Saints, and of forrow and gnalhing of teeth to Sinners, when they shall be thrown into the flames of Hell, with their Father the Devil. I do believe the holy Prophets, Apoftles, and Martyrs, and Confessors, to have been true Imitators of Christ, whom, together with the most holy Angels of God, I do venerate, and honour, and do in the fame manner embrace and reverence all their Followers.

I believe there ought to be an Oral Confeffion of all Sins made to a Prieft, by whofe Prayers, thorough Our Lord Jefus Chrift, I do hope to obtain the falvation of my Soul: I do furthermore acknowledge the Roman Pontiff to be the firft Bishop and Pastror of all the Sheep of Chrift. I do likewise observe and obey all Patriarchs, Cardinals, Archbishops, and Bishops, of whom he is the Head of the Minifters of Chrift.

This is my Faith, and Law, and the Faith and Law of the People of Ethiopia, who are under the Empire of Precious John; which Faith and Love of Chrift are fo eftablished among us, that neither Death, nor Fire, nor Sword, relying on Christ's affistance, shall ever be able to oblige me to deny it, this being the Faith G 2 we

we are all to carry on the Day of Judgment before the Face of Our Lord Jefus Chrift.

I come now to explain the Difcipline, Doetrine, and Law, which the Apostles, affembled together at Jerufalem, did lay down in the boly Books of Synods and Canons, called by us Manda Abethlis, those Books of the Law of holy Church are Eight in number; concerning which, having had fome difcourfe with feveral Learned Men here in Portugal, I never met with one that had ever heard of them before. The Observances prescribed in those Books are as followeth. (1.) That we are to fast upon all Wednesdays, in memory of its having been decreed by the Jewifh Council upon that day, That Chrift should be put to death : We are commanded likewife to faft upon all Fridays, becaufe Chrift was crucify'd, and died for our Sins on that day; upon which two days we are commanded to eat nothing till Sun-fet. During the 40 days of Lent we are commanded to fast with Bread and Water, and to be employed feven hours in the day in Divine Service; by the fame Edicts we are commanded to Administer the Sacraments in the Evenings of Wedne (days and Fridays, because our Saviour expired at that time on the Crofs : We are furthermore commanded to affemble together unanimoufly on the Lord's Day in the Church three hours after Sun-rifing, to read and hear the Books of the Prophets, and afterwards to preach the Gofpel, and Administer the Sacrament; they have furthermore appointed Nine days to be obrefved ferved as Feftivities in honour of Chrift, to wit, the Annunciation, the Nativity, the Circumcifion, the Purification, or Day of Candles, of Baptism, of Transfiguration, Palm-Sunday, until the Octaves of Good-Friday, which are twelve days, of the Ascension and Pentecost, with their Feftivities according to thefe Books : We are without exception to eat Flesh every day from Easter to Pentecos?, neither are we bound to fast till after the Octaves of Pentecost, which is observed for the greater honour and veneration of the Refurrection of our Lord Jefus Chrift; they command us likewife to celebrate the Days of the Death and Affumption of the Virgin Mary with great honour : But befides the Precepts of the Apostles, a certain Precious John, whole name was Zara Jacob, ordained 33 days in every year to be kept in honour of the faid Bleffed Virgin ; and a day in every Month in honour of Chrift's Nativity, which is always the 25th of the Month; and a day likewife in every Month to be observed in honour of St. Michael.

Furthermore, in obedience to the faid Synod of the Apost les, we do celebrate the day of St.Stephen, and other Martyrs, and are bound by the Intlitution of the Apostles to observe two days, to wit, the Sabbath, and Lord's-Day, on which it is not lawful for us to do any work, no not the least, on the Sabbath-Day, because God, after he had finished the Creation of the World, rested thereon: Which Day, as God would have it called the Holy of Holies, fo the not celebrating thereof with great honour and devotion, seems to be plainly contrary to God's G 4 Will

Will and Precept, who will (uffer Heaven and Earth to pass away sooner than his Word; and that especially, fince Christ came not to diffolve the Law, but to fulfil it. It is not therefore in imitation of the Jews, but in obedience to Chrift, and his holy Apostles, that we observe that Day, the favour that was shewed herein to the Fews being transferred to us Christians; fo that, excepting Lent, we eat Flesh every Saturday in the Year; but in the Kingdoms of Barnagaus, Tigre, and Mahon, the Chriftians, according to ancient cuftome, do eat Flesh on all Saturdays and Sundays, even in Lent. We do observe the Lord's-Day after the manner of. all other Christians, in memory of Christ's Re-(urrection: But as we are fensible that we have, the observation of the Sabbath-Day from the Books of the Law, and not from those of the Gofel, fo we are not ignorant that the Gofpel is the end of the Law and the Prophets : On those forementioned Days, we believe the Souls of the Just departed this Life, not to be tormented in Purgatory, which eafe will be granted by God to them upon those two most holy Days, until the term of their fuffering for their Sins is expired, and they are entirely delivered; to the shortning and mitigating of which Torments, we believe the Alms that are given for the relief of the Souls in Furgatory do contribute much; towards the remiftion of which Souls, the Patriarch grants no Indulgences, which we believe belongs to God only, and that he only constitutes the time of their punilhment; neither does the Patriarch grant Indulgences on any occasion. The Gospel obligeth 113 us to observe only the Six Precepts, which Chrift with his own mouth has explained, as follows, I was bungry, and you gave me meat; I was thirsty, and you gave me drink; I was a stranger, and you entertained me; naked, and you covered me; fick, and you visited me; in prison, and you came unto me; which are all words that will be fpoke by Chrift at the Day of Judgment; For the Law, as St. Paul fays, theweth us our (ins, which Law, without Christ, none is able to The Hakeep : Paul witneffeth likewife, that we are all baffins beborn in fin, by reafon of the Tranfgreffion lieve Oriand Curfe of our Mother Eve; Paul faith furthermore, that we died thorough Adam, and do live thorough Chrift, who of his infinite mercy gave us thefe Six Precepts, that when he comes in Majesty to judge the Quick and Dead, we may be faved : With which Words and Precepts he will on the Tremendous Day of Judgment allot everlafting Glory to the Righteous, and to the Wicked Fire and Everlafting Damnation. We do reckon only five mortal Sins, as they call them, which are gathered out of the last Chapter of the Revelations, where it is faid, Without are dogs, and witches, and unclean perfons, and murtherers; and idolaters, and every one who loveth and maketh a lyc.

It is conftituted by the holy Apoftles, in the Clerks Book of Synods, that it is lawful for Clerks to may marmarry, and that even after they have fome ry. knowledge of Divine Matters ; who after they are married, are received into the Order of Presbyter, to which none are admitted before they are 30 years of Age; neither are Baftards ginal Sin.;

Baftards ever admitted to it. Holy Orders are conferred by none but the Patriarch; and after the death of their first Wives, neither Bishops nor Presbyters are permitted to marry a fecond time, unless the Patriarch (hall think fit to dispence with them, which he does fometimes, to eminent Perfons, and when it is for the Publick good : Neither are they fuffered to keep Concubines, unlefs they do voluntarily give over officiating, after which they must no more meddle with holy things; and this is fo ftrictly observed, that the Presbyters, who marry a fecond time, must not prefume fo much as to take a confectated Candle in their hands; and if any Bishop or Clerk is found to have had a Bastard, he is deprived of his Orders, and all his Ecclefiastical Benefices; and his Goods, if he dies without Children lawfully begotten, do all go to Precious John, and not to the Patriarch : That it is lawful for Presbyters to have Wives, we have received from St. Paul, who would rather have both Clergy and Laity to marry, than to burn; who faith likewife, that a Bishop must be the Husband of one Wife, that is unblameable and fober, and in the fame manner the Deacons; and all Ecclefiafticks as well as Secular ought to have their own lawful Wives. Our Monks, notwithstanding this, do not marry, and neither Laicks nor Clerks among us can have above one Wife at a time.

With us Marriages are not celebrated at the Door of the Church, but in private Houfes; we are taught likewife by the Conftitution of the Apoftles, That if a Prieft is convicted of Adultery,

of ETHIOPIA.

Adultery, Murther, Theft, or of having given falle Testimony, that he ought to be deprived of his Orders, and punished as other Malefactors in the fame kind; and that an Ecclefiaftick, or Layman, after having known his Wife, or having been polluted in his fleep, ought not in 24 hours after that to enter into the Church, which Women are not to enter into, till the 7th day after their menstrua's are over, and until they have washed all the Clothes they had on at that time : Furthermore, a Woman that is delivered of a Man-child, is not fuffered to enter into the Church till after 40 days, and of a Female, not till about 80 days, which Cuftom of the Old Law is commanded likewife by the Apoftles, whofe Laws, Conftitutions and Precepts, we do, fo far as we are able, obferve in all Cafes.

It is likewife forbidden among us to fuffer The Ha-Heathens, or Dogs, or any other fuch Creatures, balfins to come within our Churches; neither is it law- have a ful for us to go into them otherwife than bare- great vefoot; or to laugh, walk, or pit, or peak of fe- for their cular things, in them: For the Churches of Churches. Ethispia are not like the Land wherein the People of Ifrael did eat the Paschal Lamb, as they were going out of Egypt, where God commanded them to eat with their shooes on, and with their loins girt, because of the pollution of the land : But they are like the Mount Sinai, where the Lord fpoke to Moles, faying, Moles, Moses, put off thy shooes, for the ground whereon thou treadest, is holy : Now this Mount Sinai was the Mother of our Churches, from which they derive their original, as the Apostles did from from the Prophets, and the New Testament from the Old.

The Habaffins are all Baptized every year on the day of the Epiphany.

Furthermore it is not lawful for a Prieft, or Layman, or any other Perfon of what condition foever, after the receiving of the Venerable Sacrament, to Spit from Morning till Sunfet, and whoever does it, is severely Punished. In Memory of Chrift we are allo Baptized every Year on the day of Epiphany; which is not done by us as a thing neceffary to Salvation, but only for the Praife and Glory of our Lord; Neither is there any Feaft that we Celebrate with fo great Solemnities as this, becaufe it was on this day that the Moft Holy Trinity first appeared manifestly, when our Lord Jefus Chrift was Baptized in the River of Fordan, on whole Head the Holy Spirit Descended at that time, in the Figure of a Dove, and a Voice from Heaven faid, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased: Which Holy Spirit being in the Shape of a White Dove, did appear with the Face and Figure of the Father and Son in One Divinity: After the fame manner Chrift was feen by the Prophets under various Forms and Similitudes; first in the Figure of a White Ram, for the prefervation of Ilaac the Son of Abraham; after the fame manner he called Facob Ifrael; and Facob called Judab, to whom he gave power over his Brethen, A lions whelp, laying, My (on thou wenteft up to the prey, and resting didst lie down as a lion, and as a liones, who (hall rouze thee? He manifested himself likewife to Moles in the Figure of a flame of fire on mount Sinai; and in the likeness of a Rock

Rock to the Holy Prophet Daniel; and to Ezekiel as the Son of man; and to Ifaias in the Form of an Infant; he appeared to King David and Gideon in dew upon a fleece; and befides the forementioned, was feen under divers other Similitudes by the Holy Prophets; under all which various Figures, he ftill bore the Similitude of the Father and the Holy Ghost; and fince God, when he Created the World, faid, Let ns make man after our own image and fimilitude, and he did make Adam after his own Similitude ahd Image; we do for that reafon fay, That the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, are Three Faces in one Similitude and Divinity.

We have also retained Circumcifion from the time of Queen Saba till this day; this Queen's true Name was Maqueda, who had Worshipped Idols after the manner of her Anceftors, until having heard much of the Wildom of Solomon, fhe fent a Prudent Perfon to Ferusalem to certifie her whether that King's Wildom was fo great as it was reported; and after being fatisfied that it was fo, she took a Journey to Jerusalem her felf, where among other things, fhe was Inftructed by Solomon in the Law and the Prophets, and had the Books thereof beftowed upon her: As she was on her Journey home, she was Delivered of a Son begot by Solomon, whom the Named Meilech, and carried with her into Ethiopia ; where having remained till he was Twenty Years Old, he went up to Ferusalem to Visit his Father, and to learn Knowledge and Wildom by him; the Queen by Letters intreated

intreated Solomon to Confecrate his Son Meilech King of Ethiopia, before the Ark of the Covenant and the Testament of the Lord, and that after fuch a manner, as to make it Unlawful, for the future, for a Woman to Reign in Etoiopia; as was then the Cuftom. and that the Males only in a direct Line should Inherit the Crown; Meilech when he came to Jerusalem, did with ease obtain all his Mother had defired, and inftead of Meilech, was Named David by Solomon; who having fufficiently Instructed him in the Law and other Sciences, fent, him home to his Mother, in much greater State and Splendor than he came with, fending feveral of the Nobles, and of their Sons, in his Train to ferve him, and together with them Azarias a Prince among the Priefts, the Son of Sadock, who was likewife a Sacerdotal Prince; whereupon Azarias put David upon asking leave of his Father for him to offer Sacrifice before the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord for a profperous Journey, which he obtained; Azarias after having with great fpeed and fecrecy got Tables made in imitation of the Tables of the Covenant of the Lord, did whilft he was offering Sacrifice, with great dexterity fteal the true Tables of the Ark of the Covenant, and put his new ones in the place of them, none but God and himfelf being confcious to what he had done ; this among us in Ethiopia is declared to be a most certain and facred Truth, being delivered to us in the Hiftory of the faid King David, which is a Book about the bigness of St, Paul's Epiftles, and very very pleafant to read : When David was come to the Borders of Ethiopia, Azarias going one day into his Tent, difcovered to him what he had to industriously concealed, telling him he had brought the Tables of the Covenant of the Lord along with him; whereupon David went ftraightways with him to the place where those Tables were kept, and after the example of his Grandfather David, danced before them with great exultation, as did alfo the whole Company: When he returned home, his Mother refigned the Empire to him immediately, from which time, which is now near 2600 Years to this day, the Empire of Ethiopia has defecended from Male to Male in a Right Line. We have also ever fince retained the Law of God and Circumcifion, and the Ministries prefcribed by Solomon to his Son for the Government of the Court; all which do to this day continue in the fame Families, and in the fame Order; neither is it lawful for the Emperor to put People of another Race into any of those Offices. Furthermore, at the Command of the faid Queen Maqueda, Women are Circumcifed alfo among us: Men and Women are Circumcifed on the Eighth day, but Male-Children are not Baptized till the The Eu-Fortieth, nor Female till the Eightieth day charift is after their Birth, without it be in cafe of Admini-Sicknefs, and when that happens the Chil- Children dren are not allowed to Suck their Mothers when until after they are purified; the Water where- they are in Children are Baptized is Confecrated by Exorcisms; and on the fame day they are Christned, they Receive the Venerable Body of Chrift under the Element of Bread. We Baptized.

The Church=History

We were among the first Christians that received Baptifm, that Sacrament having been brought among us by the Eunuch of Candace Queen of Ethiopia, who is fpoke of in the Acts of the Apostles; his Name, according to our Tradition, was Indick, from which time to this day, both Baptifm and Circumcifion have been in use among us, and most Religioufly and Chriftianly observed, and thorough God's Grace will be fo for ever. We do observe nothing but what we find in the Law and the Prophets, and in the Books of the Synods of the Apoftles; or if any thing elfe is observed by us, it is done only for the fake of Order, and for the Peace of the Church, fo as not to reckon it to be a Sin not to observe it; wherefore our Circumcifion is not Uncleannels, but it is the Law and Grace, which was given to our Father Abraham, and which he received from God as a Sign, not that he or his Sons should be Saved by Circumcifion, but that his Posterity might be diffinguished thereby from all other Nations; and as for what is fignified by Circumcifion, we do observe it exactly by having our Hearts Circumcifed; neither do we Glory upon the account of Circumcifion, or prefer our felves to other Chriftians thereupon, or reckon our felves for it the more acceptable to God, with whom there is no acceptance of Perfons, as Paul teftifies; who tells us likewife, that we cannot be Saved by Circumcifion, but by Faith; for in Chrift Jefus neither circumcifion availeth any thing, nor uncircumcifion, but a new creature; now by this, Paul did not intend tend to deftroy the Law, but to establish it, for he himfelf was Circumcifed, being of the Seed of Benjamin; he Circumcifed Timothy likewife after he was made a Chriftian, his Mother being a Fewels, notwithstanding his Father was a Gentile, knowing that God approves both of Circumcifion that is in Faith, and of Uncircumcifion which is by Faith, for as he himfelf tells, he was made all things to all men, that he might fave all; to the fews he became a Jew, that he might gain the Jews; and to those that were under the law, as if he had been under the law, which he was not, that he might gain those who were under the law; and to those who were without the law, as if he had been without the law, whereashe was not without the Law of God, but was in the Law of Christ, that he might gain them who were without the law; he also became weak, that he might gain the weak; which he did, that he might fhew that it was not by Circumcifion, but by Faith that we must be Saved; and fo when he Preached to the Hebrews, he fpoke to them as Hebrews, faying, God bath at fundry times, and in divers manners (poke to our forefathers by the Prophets; and from thence proved to them that Chrift was of the Seed of David according to the Flesh; he Preached likewife to them, That Chrift was with our Fathers in. their Tents in the Defart, and did lead them by the hand of Joshua into the Land of Promile; he furthermore testified, That Christ was the Prince of the Priefts, and had entered into the Holy of Holies, which is the New Tabernacle; and had by the Sacrifice of his Rody Н

The Children of Chriftian Parents before they are Baptized are called Half Chrifians.

Body and Blood, abolished the blood of Goats and Bulls, by which none that came, could be justified; and that he had spoke to the Fews in divers manners, and did fuffer himfelf to be Worlhipped by his People with divers rites, and an holy and uncorrupt Faith. Furthermore, Thofe Children are looked upon by us as Half-Christians; who, as I am told, are reckoned to be Heathens by the Reman Church, upon account of their dying without Baptifm; whereas being the Children of the holy Blood of Parents, who have been Sanctified by Baptifm and the Holy Spirit, and the Blood of our Lord Jefus Chrift, upon which Three Teftimonies, all that are. Chriftians are reputed to be fuch, they ought to be effeemed Half-Christians; for there are Three who bear Witness on Earth, the Spirit, the Water, and the Blood, as St. John testifieth in his first Canonical Epistle; the Gospel faith likewife, That a good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and an evil tree evil fruit; wherefore the Children of Christians are not as the Children of the Gentiles, Jews, and Mahometans, who are dry Trees without Fruit, but are chofen in the Womb of their Mothers, as the Prophet Feremy and John the Baptift were.

The Children of Christian Women are furthermore Chosen and Sanctified by the Communication of the Body and Blood of our Lord Jefus Christ, received by their Mothers, from whom they derive their Nourishment, during the time they are in their Wombs; for as an Infant in the Womb rejoyceth joyceth or is forrowful, according as its Mother is affected, fo it is nourished likewife by its Mother's nutriment; for as our Lord faith in his Holy Gospel, Wholoever shall eat my body and drink my blood, shall never tast death ; and again, He that eateth my body, and drinketh my blood, (hall be with me : Paul likewife speaketh to the fame purpole, when he faith, the unbelieving husband is justified by the believing wife, and the unbelieving wife by the believing. busband, otherwise your children would be unclean, whereas now they are boly. Now if the Children of an Uubelieving Mother are notwithstanding that, Sanctified by the Faith of their Father, how much more holy must they be, whose Father and Mother are both Believers? For which reafon it is much more pious to call fuch Infants before they are Baptized, Half-Christians, than Pagans.

The Aposstes in their Book of Synods do likewife affirm, That all who had Faith, though they were not Baptized, may be called Half-Christians; in which Books it is faid, that if a Jew, or Gentile, or Mahometan, do embrace the Faith, he shall not be received prefently, but muss first come to the door of the Church, there to hear Sermons, and the words of our Saviour Christ, and that being disposed to Believe, he may understand what Christ's yoke is, after which he may be called an Half-Christian, even before he is admitted to Baptism; which is also according to the Gospel, which faith, He that believeth, and is baptized, shall be faved; but he that believeth not, shall be condemned.

The Church-History

It is also the custom among us, for Women when they are with Child to Confess their Sins and receive the Lord's Body before they are Delivered; and they who neglect to do this, are looked upon as Wicked and Impious Christians, as are also their Husbands for not having obliged them to it.

Confirmation and Extream Unction are not reckoned Sacraments among us, neither are they in use in our Church, as I see they are in the Roman.

We do furthermore reckon it contrary to the Law of Moles, and the Inftitutions of the Apostles, to eat unclean Meats, from all which we do abftain merely in Obedience to the Law and the Scriptures; which with us confifts of Eighty one Books ; -that is to fay, the Old Teftament confifts of Forty one Books, and the New of Thirty five; which Canon, or Number of Books, we have exprefly delivered to us by the Apoftle's themfelves, and to which it is not lawful for us to Add or Diminish any thing, no not though an Angel from Heaven should perfuade us to it; and we do look upon him as Accurfed, that shall offer to do any such thing; fo that neither our Patriarch nor our Bishop do reckon that they can either by themfelves, or in a Council, make any Laws, That People are under an Obligation of a Mortal Sin to oblerve.

In the Books of our Synods it is ordained by the Holy Apoftles, That we must confess our felves before we can receive Penance from a Confession, according to the greatness of

of our Sin: They teach us likewife how we ought to Pray, and Fast, and how to exercife Charity. Confession is much in use among us; for we have no fooner committed a Sin, than we run and throw our felves at the feet of a Confessor; this is the constant practice of all Men and Women of whatfoever Quality or Condition; and whenever we Confess, we do receive the Body of our Lord under both Species, and in Wheaten and Unleavened Bread; fo that if we Confefsour felves daily, we do daily receive the Sacrament, as well Layicks as Ecclesiafticks. The Sacrament of the Eucharist is not kept in our Churches, as it is here in Europe; neither is it at any time Administred to the Sick, until after they are recovered. All among us Layicks, as well as Clerks, do receive the Sacrament at least Three times a Week; which is never received any where but in the Church, no not by the Patriarch, or Precious John himfelf.

We do always make use of the fame Confeffor, and do never go to any other, but when our own is absent, to whom when he returns we are bound to repair. The Confessor do in the Name of the Church, absolve from all Sins, there being no cases, no not the most heinous, referved to the Bishop or Patriarch; Presbyters are not allowed to Confess themfelves to those that they Confess; and among us all Presbyters and Monks, and all Officers of the Church, do live by their own Labour; for the Church hath no Tythes, it has Lands which are Cultivated by the Priess and H 3 Monks,

They all receive the Sacrament in both Elements. It is not kept in their Churches.

It is never received but in the Church, Monks, either in Perfon, or by their fervants; and as for Alms, they receive none but thofe that are offered in the Church for the Burial of the dead, and other Holy Offices; it not being lawful for any of them to beg about the fireets, or to extort Alms from the common people.

The Sacrament is never adminiftred above once a day in a Church. It is not fhewed to the People. No Maffes are faid for the Dead.

Furthermore, in our Churches there is never but one Massa day, which we do reckon to be a Sacrifice; neither is it lawful for us, according to ancient Cuftom, to Celebrate more; for which Mafs we never receive any Money; the Sacrament of the Eucharift is not frequed to the People among us, as I obferve it is here; and all Priefts, Deacons, and Subdeacons, and all People whatfoever that are prefent at the Celebration, are obliged to Communicate. We fay no Maffes for the remillion of Souls, but our Dead are Buried in a Confecrated Place with Prayers and Croffes, over whom, among other things, we recite the beginning of St. John's Gospel, and do offer Alms for them the day after they are Buried, and at certain other times, when we have Funeral Feaffs.

This is what I have to fay of our Faith and Religion.

But whereas fince my coming to Portugal, I have had feveral Debates with fome Doctors, namely with Didacus Ortis Bilhop of the Ifland of St. Thomas, and Dean of the King's Chappel, and Pedro Magalho, concerning the diftinction of Meats, it will not be improper for me to fay fomething of it in this place.

It is to be observed, that it is in obedience to the Old Testament that we observe a diftinction of meats, which diffinction is ordained by the Word of God, who was afterwards born of the Virgin Mary, and walked and converfed with his Apoftles; which Living Word of God had always an entire and irrevocable Speech or Word, and who did no where in his Gofpel fay, that fuch things might be eat, as were before prohibited as unclean. For as to those words in the Gospel, That what oever entreth into the mouth doth not defile the man, but that which cometh forth of the mouth; Chrift's intent therein, was not to diffolve the Law he had formerly enacted, but only to confute the Superstition of the Fews, who blamed the Apostles for having eat Bread with unwashen hands; neither did the Apostles, while they A long conversed with Chrift, make use of unclean Justifica-Meats, or fo much as tafte any thing that was prohibited by the Law, which was what none of them offered to transgress, no not from after the time of our Lord's Paffion, when Meatsthat they began to preach the Gofpel; there being nothing in their Writings from whence it can be gathered, that they did ever kill or eat any thing that is unclean. It is true, Paul faith, Eat all that is (old in the fhambles, asking nothing for conscience sake; and again, If any that are infidels invite you to a feast, and you are disposed to go, eat what loever is fet before you, asking no questions for conscience (ake : And again, If any one (hall fay, This is offered to idols, do not eat for his fake that told you fo, and for conscience lake, &c. All which Paul spoke in compliance with those H 4 who

who are weak in the Faith, betwixt whom and the Jews there were frequent Debates; and in order to the putting a ftop to those Disputes, the Apostle complied much with the weaker Christians, which he did not do that he would have the Law broke, but that by gratifying such People in the relaxation of Rites, he might allure them to the Faith.

The fame Apostle faith likewife, Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not; for he that eateth, eateth unto the Lord; and he that eateth not, eateth not unto the Lord. It is therefore an unworthy thing to reprove Chriftians, who are Strangers, with fo much bitternefs, as I have been reproved here, concerning this very matter, and other little things, which do no ways belong to Faith : It would certainly be much wifer for Christians, whether Greeks, Armenians, Ethiopians, or of any of the Seven Chriftian Churches, to bear with one another in Charity, and in the Bowels of Chrift, in all fuch matters, and to fuffer one another to live and converfe with their Christian Brethren, being all Sons of Baptifm, and unanimous in the true Faith; neither is there any caufe why they should debate fo sharply about Ceremonies; or why every one should not be fuffered to obferve his own, and that without hating and perfecuting others for theirs; neither ought any one in a ftrange Countrey to be debarred the Communion of the Church for obferving his own Church-Ceremonies.

As to that we meet with in the Atts, of Peter's feeing a Cloth let down from Heaven by the corners, wherein were all Four-footed Beafts, Beafts, and all creeping Creatures, and Birds of the Air; and of his having heard a Voice that commanded him, to rife, and kill, and eat; to which Peter replied, Far be it from me, Lord, for I have never eat any thing that is common and unclean; to whom the Voice answered, What God has purified, that do not thou call unclean; which having been done three feveral times, the Veffel was then immediately taken up into Heaven; whereupon the Spirit fent him straightways to Cefarea to Cornelius, a holy Man, fearing God, to whom when Peter spake, the Holy Spirit descended on all who heard the Word of God: After which Peter baptized Cornelius and his whole Family : Now when the Apostles and Brethren, who were in 74dea, came to hear of what Peter had done, they were angry, and asked him, How he came to go to men who were uncircumcifed, and to eat with them? but after Peter had declared to them the whole Vision, they were fatisfied, and returned thanks to God, faying, He hath given repentance unto life to the Gentiles; and they remembred the word of the Lord, which he fpoke when he ascended into Heaven, Go over all nations, and preach the Gofpel to all creatures, in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghoft; and he that believeth, and is baptized, shall be (aved; and he that believeth not, shall be condemned : Then the Apostles begun to preach the Gospel over the whole World to every Creature, in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghoft, infomuch that their found went thorough the whole Earth : Now this Vision, wherein things clean and, unclean unclean appeared, we of Ethiopia interpret thus : The clean living Creatures were the People of Israel, the unclean were the Gentiles: who were therefore faid to be unclean, because they worshipped Idols, and did the Works of the Devil, which are unclean. So that the Voice faying, Peter kill, was the fame as if it had faid, Teach and preach the Faith, and the Law of Chrift, both to the People of Ifrael, and the Gentiles; befides, it is most certain, that we read no where in the Scriptures of Peter, or of any other of the Apoftles, killing or eating any thing that was unclean after this Vision : We are to observe likewife, That when the Scriptures speak of Bread, it is not to be understood of a Corporal Food, but of the Doctrine of the Gofpel.

It is therefore adviseable for all Doctors and Preachers to teach high and fublime things of this Linen Cloth which was shewed to Peter, and not low things, which do no way appertain to Salvation; and least of all to draw Arguments from thence, to prove it to be lawful for us to eat things that are unclean, feeing no fuch matter can be gathered from the Scripture; but that is not all, for the Apoftles themfelves, in their Book of Synods, have forbid us to eat any thing that is ftrangled or tore, or half eaten by Beast, or Blood, hecaufe the Lord loveth cleannefs and fobriety, and hateth gluttony and pollution; and loveth those much who abstain from Flesh, and those more who fast with Bread, and Water, and Herbs, as John the Baptist did, who eat nothing elfe: As alfo Paul the Hermite, who lived lived in the Defert, and falted 80 years; as St. Anthony, and St. Macarius, and a great number of their Spiritual Sons, who never fo much as tafted Flesh.

Wherefore, Brethren, we ought not to contemn and perfecute our Neighbours; for St. Fames faith, He that speaketh evil of his brother, or judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law : Paul teacheth likewife, That it is much better for people to rest (atisfied with their own traditions, than to contend with their Christian brethren about the law; and that in such matters they ought not to be wifer than is necessary, but to be wife to fobriety, according as God hath dealt to every man a measure of faith. Wherefore it is a very undecent thing to contend with our brethren about the law and diffinction of A charimeats, fince meat cannot commend us to God; table Adand efpecially fince St. Paul hath faid, Whether ye eat plentifully, or do not eat, ye are never the worse : Let us therefore look after higher things, and the food that is heavenly, and forbear fuch low and empty difputations. What I have writ concerning Traditions, I have not writ out of a spirit of contention, but to defend my Countreymen against the violent reproofs of those who paid to little respect to the most Potent Precious John and his Subjects, as to load them with Reproaches, calling us Fews and Mahometans, because we circumcise, and fanctify the Sabbath, after the manner of the Tews, and do continue our Fasts till Sunset, as the Mahometans do: They do likewife object to us with great bitterness, That our Priests do marry, after the manner of the Lay-men; and

and that miltrusting our first Baptism, we are baptized yearly; and that we circumcife not only Males but Females alfo, which the Jews never did; laftly, that we observe a diffinction of Meats with great strictnes; and that we call Children Half-Chriftians before they are baptized : To which things I was obliged to return an Anfwer, to vindicate our people from the Calumnies that are cast upon them. and to render the Roman Doctors more affable to us, who, how pioufly I will not fay, have ever fince I came into Portugal, which is now Seven Years, deny'd me the Sacrament; fo that, I cannot speak it but with extreme Grief and Tears, I am treated by my Chriftian Brethren as a Heathen and an Anathema: He that enliveneth all things, to whom I commit it, does take notice of these matters.

I was not fent by the most Potent Lord the Emperor of Ethiopia, to the Roman Pontiff, and to the most Serene John King of Portugal, to brangle and dispute, but to contract a Friendship and Alliance betwixt them; not to increase or diminish Human Traditions, but to enquire diligently into the Errors of Arius the Prince of Hereticks; and to learn whether the European Christians do agree with us in confuting his Opinions; upon account of whofe Errors a Council of Three hundred and eighteen Bishops were affembled at Nice under Pope Julius: And that I might learn likewife whether what the Apoftles have commanded in their Book of Synods, was obferved among the European Christians; to wit, That Two Councils be celebrated every Year in in the Chriftian Church, to treat concerning Matters of Faith; the first whereof they ordered to be affembled at the Feaft of Pentecost, and the second on the 10th. of October : And to learn alfo how it ftood betwixt us as to the Errors of Macedonius; upon whole account a Council of an Hundred and Fifty Bishops was affembled at Constantinople under Pope Damafus: And also the Errors of Neftorins, against whom a Council of Two hundred were affembled at Ephelus under Pope Celestine : And lastly, That I might be informed of the Fourth and Great Council of Chalcedon, affembled upon the account of the Errors of Eutyches, at the time when St. Leo was Bilhop of Rome; from which Council, after having had hot Difputes, the Bishops returned, without having concluded any thing for the Peace of the Church; both Parties maintaining their own Opinions.

The Books of which Synods, and of divers others that were afterwards celebrated, my Lord the Emperor of Ethiopia hath by him, who is very much troubled, as are alfo all his Chriftian Subjects, at the Tares which the Devil, the Enemy of Truth, has fown among Chriftians.

Our people from the beginning have acknowledged the Roman Pontiff to be the first Bishop, to whom, as the Vicar of Christ, we do at this time submit our felves; and in whose Court we would be frequently, were it not for the great distance we are at from it, and our being denied a free passage through the Mabometan Kingdoms which lye betwixt us; us; infomuch that many times after having exposed our Perfons to great dangers, we are not able to get thither.

The most Prudent and Invincible King Emanuel, of happy memory, was the first that by Divine Direction opened a Paffage by his Navigation to the East-Indies; which for the future gives us great hopes of a commodious Correspondence : Emanuel made himself Mafter of the Red Sea with his Fleets; not being difcouraged from doing it by the greatness of the Charge, that fo he might augment the Faith of Chrift, and open a Paffage for us to correspond with him, and to make use of each other's affiftance; by which means we do. hope, with our united Forces, to drive all the Mahometans and Heathens not only from the Coafts of the Red-Sea, but also out of Arabia, Perfia, and India. And as we do not in the least doubt but that we shall be able to do this, fo we do wish that all European Christians were in Peace with one another, that fo they might join together, in order to expel the Enemies of the Crofs of Chrift out of the Mediterranean Countries, and Pontus, and other Provinces; that according to the Word of Chrift, there may be but one Law, one Shepherd, and one Pastor, upon the face of the whole earth; of which we have two Prophecies, one in the Prophecies of St. Ficator, and another of St. Synoda a Hermit, born among the Rocks in the extremities of Egypt; both which Prophecies do agree in this matter : For which reafon we have reckoned the Events of those Prophecies to be drawing near, ever fince my most Potent Potent Lord had Ambaffadors fent to him by the Serene and Wife King Emanuel. And it is, certain, that ever fince that time my Prince hath thought of nothing fo much, as of deftroying the Mahometans from off the Face of the earth; for the advancing of which defign, and of fome other matters which I have laid before the most Serene King John, the Son of Emanuel, I was fent hither by my most Potent Lord, and not to engage in frivolous and empty Difputations. I do with the great God may bring the Intentions and Endeavours of my Prince, which I was fent hither to promote, to an happy Iffue, fo as to be for his Glory. Amen.

Having given some Account of these things, I will now with great Brewity fay fomething of the state of our Patriarch, and Empire.

When our Patriarch dies, Precious Fohn our Emperor immediately difpatcheth a Meffenger to the Monks that live at Jerusalem; who A faife achaving received notice, and the Prefents that are fent to the Holy Sepulchre by the Emperor, do straightways chuse a Patriarch by a Majority of Voices, who must always be an Alexandrian Monk, of an unblameable life.

When they have chofen a Patriarch, they feal up their Votes, and transmit them by the Emperor's Meffenger, to the Patriarch of Alexandria, refiding at Grand Cairo, who immediately confectates the Monk that is chosen to that great Dignity, and fends him with the Meffenger into Ethiopia. according to ancient cuftom, must be a Monk of the Order of St. Anthony the Hermit; and who when he arrives in Ethiopia, is there received with great Joy and Honour. This Affair is not fometimes finished under a Year or two; during which Vacancy, all the Rents of the Patriarch are paid to Precious Fohn. The chief bufinels of the Patriarch is to confer Holy Orders, which none befides him can either give or take away. He collates to no Bishopricks, nor any other Ecclesiastical Benefices; which are all in the Gift of Precious Fohn, who beftows them as he thinks good. When the Patriarch, whole Revenues are yery great, dieth, the Emperor is his fole Heir. It is furthermore the business of the Patriarch to excommunicate all fuch as are obstinate; to which Cenfures there is fo great a Refpect paid, that all who flight them are condemned for their whole life to a ftrict and perpetual Fast. He grants no Indulgences, neither are the Sacraments of the Church denied to any Sinners, but Murtherers.

The Patriarch in our Tongue is called *Abu*na; only he who at prefent is in pofferfion of that Dignity, is called by his Baptifinal Name, which is Mark; he is an Hundred Years of Age and upward.

With us the Year begins on the First day of September, which falls always on the Vigil of John the Baptist; the other Holidays, as the Nativity, Easter, &c. are observed at the fame time as they are in the Roman Church.

The

The Gospel and Faith of our Lord Jefus Chrift was first preached among us by Philip the Apostle. If you would know the name of our Emperor, it is always Precious John, and not Presbyter John, as it is here falfly reported to be in our Language : It is John Belul, and in the Chalde, John Encoo, or Precious or High Fohn: Neither is he ever called, as Matthew fally reported, Emperor of the Habaffins, but of the Ethiopians; for he being an Armenian did not thoroughly understand our Affairs, and leaft of all those relating to our Faith; which made him report feveral things to the wife King Emanuel of happy Memory, that were false; which was not done by him with an intention to deceive; for he was an honeft Man, but becaufe he was not well Instructed in the Matters of our Religion.

The Empire does not of right descend to the Eldeft Son, but to him on whom the Emperor is pleafed to befow it. So the prefent Emperor was the third Brother, and got the Crown by a Pious piece of Reverence: For the laft Emperor having when he was upon his Death-Bed commanded all his Sons to fit down by him on Royal Thrones, they all did fo, except my Master, who said, Far be it from me to fit in the Chair of my Lord ; for which act of Piety, his Father bestowed the Empire up-His Name is David, and his Domion him. nions of Christians and Heathens are very large, in which there are divers Kings, Princes, Earls, Barons and Nobles, who are all extreamly submiffive to his commands. He hath hath no other than Foreign Coin within his Territories, Gold and Silver being paid, and received among us by Weight : We have a great many Cities and Towns, tho not built as they are here in Portugal. Precious John keeps his Court perpetually in the Camp, which he does on purpole to accuftom the Nobility to the Hardships and Exercises of War: Neither is it to be omitted, that we are Besieged on all Sides, by the Enemies of our Faith, with whom we have frequent Battels, but are always Victorious; which Victories we Attribute to the Divine Affiftance.

A Written Law is not in use among us, neither are the Complaints of Litigants Tranfacted by Papers, but by word of Mouth; which makes, that Law-Suits are not Protracted by the Avarice of the Judges and Advocates to any great length.

I am to tell you likewife, that Matthew was not fent by our Emperor David, to the Invincible and Powerful King Emanuel of happy Memory, but by Queen Helena, who was Dowager to the Emperor; The Hand of Mary, who was Grandfather to David, and who, David being under Age, at that time was Regent of Ethiopia : She was undoubtedly a most Wife and Religious Princels, and was Mistrels of to much Learning, that the Composed two Books in the Ghaldee Tongue : The Title of the first was Euzara Clebaa, that is to fay, Praise the Lord with Organs; in which the difcourfed Learnedly concerning the Trinity, and the Virginity of the Blefed Virgin : The Second is called Chedale Chay, that is, the Beam of the Sun,

Sun, in which the has divers accurate Difcourfes concerning the Law of God:

All thefe things relating to the Faith, Religion, and State of our Countrey, I Zaga Zabo, that is, the Grace of the Father; a Bifhop Presbyter, and Bagama Raz, that is to fay, a Soldier and Viceroy of the Province of Bagana, could not deny to Thee Damianus my deareft Son in Chrift, nor indeed to any one that should have defired it of me: And that for two Reafons.

r. Becaufe I was commanded by the Moft Potent Lord, Precious John, Emperor of Ethiopia, not to conceal any thing relating to our Faith and Countrey, from fuch as fhould defire to have an account thereof, but to Communicate the whole truth of all fuch matters to them, both by Writing and word of Mouth.

2. Becaufe I judged it convenient to acquaint this part of the World with our Manners, Rites and Infitutions; and that the rather becaufe I had neither faid, nor writ any thing thereof before; not that I grudged my labour, but becaufe no Chriftian Soul fince I came into Portugal, had ever defired me to do it, which is a thing I cannot wonder at enough.

I do therefore, knowing you to be extreamly curious to be acquainted with our Affairs, befeech you by the Wounds and Crofs of Chrift, to Tranflate this Confession of Faith and Religion into the Latin Tongue, that fo the Integrity of our Manners and Rites may be I 2 known known to all European Christians; and if you should at any time happen to go to Rome. I must intreat you to Salute the Pope, Cardinals, Patriarchs, Archbishops, Bishops and all the other Worshippers of Christ in myName with the Kifs of Peace: And to defire the Pope to fend Francis Alvarez back to me with an Answer to the Letters of my Most Potent Lord the Emperor of Ethiopia, that fo I may at last return to my own Country, and once more fee my own House, having been detained here too long already; and that before I am arrefted by Death, which by reafon of my great Age I must be in a short time, I may carry back an Anfwer to my Mafter; and having finished my Embaffy, may Dedicate the remainder of my Days to God, and Divine Matters : And in cafe this Treatife fhould not be fo accurately Composed as it ought to be, I must befeech you to Correct it, and Adapt it to the Latin Phrase, but so as not to alter the sense.

Finally I muft intreat you, in the Translation thereof to confult the Old and New Teftaments, that you may the better understand out of what Books I have taken my Quotations, and may be able to translate them the more faithfully. And in cafe matters should not be fo curiously handled therein, as to fatisfyCritical Readers, the fault thereof must be imputed to my want of Chaldee Books, of which I have not one by me; those I brought from home with me, having been unhappily loss in the Voyage. So that what I fet down, was what occurred to my Memory; which I have done with great Fidelity. Farcwell my most belowed loved Son in Christ. Lisbon, the 24th. of April, in the year of our falvation 1534.

After having writ this, I called to mind the passage wherein I had affirmed, That Christ had descended into the lower parts, for the fake of Adam's Soul, and his own which he receiv'd from his Mother, the holy Virgin Mary : Of the truth whereof we have a certain Testimony in the Books of Government, as we call them; which Books were delivered by our Lord Jefus Chrift to his Apoftles, and they are likewife the Mystery of Doctrines; infomuch that their Teftimony is admitted as infallible among us. The Portuguese Divines are of Opinions that are contrary to those Writings; but that does not hinder that from being true which these Books affirm, viz. That the Souls of men are derived from Adam; that is to fay, As our Flesh is derived from the Flesh of Adam, fo our Soul, as a Burning Light, is derived likewife from the Soul of Adam, which makes us to be all of the Seed of Adam, both as to Body and Soul.

In this large Confession of Faith, albeit Zaga Zaba discovers himself to have been piqued, by the Portuguese Clergy having teaz'd him as they did about his Religion, and to have disputed himself into some warmth upon several Ceremonial Points; yet as to the Doctrines wherein the Roman Church was at that time contradicted by the Reformers, namely, the Three great ones, of the Pope's I 2

ACenfure on Zaga Zaba's Confeffion of Faith. Supremacy, Transubstantiation, and Purgatory, it is visible that to ingratiate himself with the Pope and King of Portugal, and to make his Court the better, he did both ftretch his Conscience, and facrifice his Refentments to the Publick Character he bore : Those Doctrines having never been at any time the Doctrines of the Haballin Church: Which Charge of Infidelity is justified both by the Jefuits, and his Countreyman Gregory, who never spoke of him but with deteftation, calling him commonly a Beast of the Field. And as to his faying, that his Emperor's Name was Precions, and not Preftor John, it was a plain Trick in him, defigning by fuch a flight Correction of that word, to establish the opinion of his Master being the Prince was meant by Preftor John in Europe : For whereas the prefent Emperor's Name was David, fo I do not find that there was one of the Name of John in the whole Line of those Princes. Neither is there any colour for its having been a conftant Title among them.

The Emperor Dawid brings a terrible florm upon himfelf by f-eking to enter into an alliance with the Portuguefes.

But while David's Ambaffador was thus detained at Lisbon, difputing, Whether it was lawful to eat Black-Puddings, he himfelf continued involved in a rude and cruel War, brought upon him by his new Correspondence with the Portugueses, whose Name at that time was become very formidable all over the East.

For whereas the Habaffin, as is plain from his own Letters, did expect nothing lefs from his new Alliance, than the utter extirpation of all his Infidel Neighbours, Heathens and Mabbmetans; fo natural it is for people to overvalue any

any new and untry'd advantage, and to expect much more from it than it is capable of yielding; fo his Infidel Neighbours, and particularly the Mahometans, apprehending that an Alliance betwixt the Habaffins and Portuguefes, might prove athing of dangerous confequence to them, did all confpire to interrupt it, by difabling the Habaffin, before any Portuguefe Troops could come to his affiftance.

In profecution of which Defign, one Abamed, whose Nick-name was Granhe, or Left Hand, a Mahometan Prince, having joined his Forces with those of the King of Adel, upon whom the Habaffin had begun a War, he marched against David, refolving to give him Battel before he was reinforced by the Portuguele Troops; which though they did not come in feveral years after, were expected by every Moncon. David being flushed by fome former Victories, and having an Army fuperior in number to that of Granhe and Adel joined together, was fo far from declining to fight, that he marched directly towards the Infidels: The two Armies no fooner met than they came to blows, and after a long and bloody Fight the Habaffins were totally routed, moft of them being either killed or taken Prifoners.

David having narrowly escaped, retired to the Mountains, where he sculked about for Two Years with a small flying Body: During which time Granhe made himself Master of all the best Provinces of that Empire, burning down the Churches, or prophaning them by converting them into Mojques whereever he came. David fends one John Bermudes, a Portuguefe. after having given him a Title to fucceed the Abuna when he died, to Rome and Lisbon, to iolicite andhaften fome Succors.

David feeing his Empire in imminent danger of being totally conquered, difpatched one John Bermudes, a Portuguese, who had been in Ethiopia ever fince the Empress Helena her Governmer, to Rome and Lisbon, to acquaint those Courts with the Ill Circumstances he was in, and to conjure them, as they had any regard to the Prefervation of a great Chriftian Empire, to fend him fome confiderable Succors with all possible Expedition; for otherwife the Habaffin Church and Empire would be speedily lost beyond recovery. And in order to make his Court the better with the Pope and that King, he obliged the Abuna Mark not only to confecrate the faid Bermudes, who till then was a pure Layman, a Bishop, but to declare him alfo his Succeffor in the See of Ethiopia.

Bermudes being thus confectated a Bishop, and declared Successfor to the Abuna, began his Journey for Rome, over land; and being arrived at that Court in the year 1538, was graciously received by Paul the IIId. who did not only allow his Habassin Orders to be valid, but did furthermore confirm his Nomination to the Patriarchate of Ethiopia.

So that whatever it is that hinders the Popes from allowing the Orders of the Church of England to be good, unlefs their Infallibilities will contradict one another, it cannot be what they pretend, to wit, either the Herely of her first reformed Biscops, or their not having been three to confectate; fince in this cafe, the Confectation of a Biscop by a fingle Heretical Biscop was allowed by the Pope to be yalid.

Bermudes having difpatched his own Bufinefs at Rome, which was all that was to be done at that Court, which feldom or never takes the exrence of any Millions, or holy Wars upon it felf, further than its Bleffings will go. He began his Journey for Lisbon, and being arrived there, he was kindly entertained by the King, to whom the Pope had left the honour of the whole expence and trouble of fuccoring Ethiopia, and was acknowledged by him, and the whole Court, as Habassin Patriarch in Possession, and not in Reversion; and as fuch, though I cannot learn for what Mildemeanor, he threw the Ambalfador Zaga Zaba into Prifon, loading him with Chains, in which he intended to carry him home, had not the King interceeded for his Liberty.

The Patriarch Rermudes having, as it is faid, obtained an Order from the King to the Viceroy of the Indies, for four or five hundred Portuguefe Musketeers, embarked upon the Fleet that was bound for Goa, where he arrived in the Year 1539. but however the King's Orders were, if there were ever any, it was two years after his landing at Goa, before any Portuguefe Succors fet their Feet in Ethiopia.

During this time, David by fome means or other, is faid to have got fo confiderable an Army together, as to have ventured with it out of his Fastness, and to have beat Granbe in a pitched Battel; but however this were, in the progress of the War, which lasted from the

He returns to Goa, having, as it is faid, obtained an Order for 400 Soldiers. the Year 1528. until the Year 1540. in which David died, it is certain he was driven by Granhe out of the greateft part of his Empire, he having no other Countries left him at his death, but fuch as defended themfelves purely by their barrennefs and inacceffiblenefs, fuch Countries being the common Receptacles of all conquered Nations, that have the conveniency of them.

David dies, and is fucceed ed by his Son Claudius. David died in the 47th year of his Age, and the 36th of his Reign, leaving his Son Claudius a broken and diftreffed Empire, and all Princes, an Example of the folly of depending upon remote Foreign Succors, and of being encouraged by the hopes of them, to provoke their Neighbours, or to make them jealous of them.

Claudius has fome fuccefs in the beginning, but was quickly after obliged to retire to the Mountains. Upon Claudius's coming to the Crown, the Empire, as if its Ill Genius had departed with David, began to revive a little; For he having got a fmall Army together, marched from among the Mountains, and having furprized a Mahometan Prince, whofe name was Amirizmon, and defeated him in a pitced Battel, he recovered the Province that Infidel had in the late Scramble made himfelf mafter of.

But the Joy of this Success lasted not long, for Amirizmon having recruited his Army with Mahometan Auxiliaries, obliged Claudius to come to a Battel, wherein he beat him to that degree, that he forced him to retire to a remote mountainous Countrey called Zaa, only with 70 men in his Company; Cabelo Oanguel Oanguel the Queen-Mother, taking fanctuary at the fame time in an impregnable Mountain that was at no great diftance from the Red-Sea; where fhe had not been long, before fhe received advice of a great Portuguese Fleet being come into those Seas, whereupon she difpatched two Envoys, who were Bahurnagays, and the Grandee Robel, to the Portuguese Admiral to befeech him, if they met with him, to spare her Son some Troops, and a Train of Artillery, to drive the Mahometans out of Ethiopia, of which they were in a manner become absolute Masters.

The Envoys not knowing any place where they were fo like to meet with the Portuguese Fleet, as at Matzua, repaired thither to wait for it; and the Fleet not having been able to execute the Defign that had brought it into those Seas, which was to have burnt the Turkish Gallies in the Port of Sues, happened, for it does not appear that it was by Order, to touch as they were returning home, at Matzua, to the great joy of the Habaffin Envoys; Who having waited on the Admiral, and delivered the Empress's Letters to him, told him plainly, That if he did not fpare them a good Body of Troops, and a Train of Artillery, Ethiopia was for ever a loft Empire; adding, That the Fortune of a great Christian Empire was now entirely in his hands; and as it would be for his immortal honour to fave it, and the rather, becaufe it was nothing fo much as its new Correspondence with the Portuguese that had brought this dreadful Storm upon it from all Quarters, fo they were certain his Mafter would would not thank him, for fuffering it to be utterly loft, when it was fo much in his power for to have faved it.

Upon these Passionate Remonstrances of the Empress, and her Envoys, the Admiral called a general Council of War, to confult what was best to be done in fo important an Affair; and after fome Debates, it was unanimously agreed, That fomething must be done to preferve a finking Empire; and the rather, because it was visible its new Alliance with Portugal had brought this great from upon it.

The Council of War having come to this Refolution, feveral Perfons of Quality offered themfelves voluntarily to command the Troops that were to be employed in the Expedition; as, to give the Portuguese Gentlemen their due, they are feldom or never backward to go whither their bonour calls them. The Person that was named to command in Chief, was Don Christopher da Gama, Brother to the then Viceroy Don Stephen da Gama, and Son to the Famous Don Vasvo da Gama, the Discoverer of the Indies.

The Portugue/es fay, The Council of War agreed to fend a 1000 Men under Gama, but the Envoy would not hear of fo great a number, Baburnagays having generoufly declared, That he would never be guilty of carrying Brave Men into a Countrey to ftarve them; that for 400, fufficient Provisions would be found, but not for more; but whether this was fo or not, the Portugue/e Hilforians have made the 400 that were fent, to have done done the work of 4000 Stout men; the common fault both of the Portuguese and Spanish Writers; who by their Romantick way of magnifying -the Feats of their Countreymen, do render the truth of the whole of them supicious.

On the 9th. of July 1541. Gama with his 400 Select Men, and a finall Train of Artillery, were put ashore at Arkiko, having the Habaffin Envoys, and the Patriarch Bermudes in their Company; they had a tirefome March over Rocks and Mountains for the first fix days, being many times forced for Patriatche want of Mules and Horfes, to draw their Artillery by ftrength of Arm; at which work Gama is faid to have been still one of the foremost: After a continued fatigue of fix davs they arrived at Deboroa, a Province belonging to Baburnagays, where the Monks and Chriftians, who were retired into the Mountains for fear of the Mahometans, having heard of their arrival, flocked in to them from all parts, Praifing God, and giving Gama and his Men a thousand bleffings for having come to deliver them out of the grievous bondage they were brought under by the Mabometans : Gama feeing them all in tears, endeavoured to comfort them, by telling them, That as it was nothing but the ftrong defire he had to reftore their Prince and, them to their former free and happy state, that had brought him into Ethiopia, fo he did not doubt, but with God's Affiftance, to do, it both speedily and effectually for them, and to make the Infidels repent of their having invaded

The People, being much comforted by these affurances, waited upon Gama to a Church that was not far off, where having all performed their Devotions, Gama with his men, repaired to the Tents that were provided for them by Baburnagays, where they were entertained with all the dainties the Countrey did afford.

He fends his men to fetch the Emprefs to his Camp.

The day following Gama divided his men into Six Companies, putting 50 in a Company, and ordered the other roo to be a Guard to the Royal Standard, and to be immediatean 100 of ly under his own Command; the Captains were Fohn O Affonso, Manuel da Curnha, Humphrey da Abreu, and Francis Velha; Curnha and Velha were dispatched immediately with their Companies to wait upon the Empress with Gama's Complement to her, and to guard her to the Camp: The Empress when she heard of their being at the foot of her Precipice, for fuch it was, rather than a Mountain, ordered the Baskets to be let down, and when the faw them, the weeped for joy, and thanked God, and the King of Portugal for fo feafonable a fuccor; and having enquired after the flate of Gama's health, and fome other particulars, she ordered them to be conducted to the Lodgings that were provided for them, where they were entertained as handfomely as the place and the Empress's Circumstances would afford. The next Morning the Empres, who was guite fick of her Confinement, was let down from the Rock, and and having mounted a Mule richly equipped, she marched with her Portugue /e Guard towards The Em-Gama, who when he had notice of her being prefs arnear, rode out to meet her, having first ordered his men to stand to their Arms, and upon a fignal given, to falute her with three Vollies : The Empress to do Gama the greater honour, Unvailed her head when he came up to her, receiving him with extraordinary respects.

Gama after having done the Obeifances that were due to her Character, told her, That as he and all the Men fhe faw, were fent by the King of Portugal to her and her Son's Affistance, fo they were all to a man refolved to facrifice their Lives for the Faith of Chrift, and in defence of that Christian Empire. The Empress thanked him very cordially, and told him God would certainly reward him for fuch a fervice, though her Son and she should happen never to be in a condition to do it, not but that she hoped, that his Valour and Conduct would raife them to a capacity of being bountiful to their Benefactors.

After the Compliments were over, the Empress with the Ladies that attended her, went to the Tent that was provided for them, being waited upon to it by Gama, and most of his Officers. On the fecond day after her arrival in the Camp, Gama drew all his Men up in a body before her Tent, and exercifed them before her; the was extreamly pleafed with their Perfons and Discipline, and promifed her felf great things from fo well Disciplined a body.

The Emperor being acquainted with the arrival of the Portuguefes, writes to Gama to come and joyn him. In a Council of War, at which the Emprefs and Baburnagays were prefent, it was agreed, That their Camp fhould remain where it was till the end of Ostober, and that in the mean time they fhould fend to the Emperor to acquaint him with the arrival of the Portuguese Troops. The Emperor, fo foon as he received advice thereof, writ immediately to Gama, defiring him to March towards him with all the hafte he could make, to prevent the Ememies putting himfelf betwixt them to hinder their conjunction.

But whatever was the caufe of it, it was the 5th. of December before Gama decamped from Debora; when taking the Empress along with him, and being joyned by 2000 Habaffins, he Marched toward the Emperor in as good order as the nature of the Countrey would permit him; the Mahometans, who were employed by Granbe to raife Money. flying before him as he Marched; and the Habaffins, to foon as their Lord Dans were gone, running in to him from all parts for Protection, fupplying him with all Necessaries. On the Ift. of February 1542. they came before a ftrong Mountain which Granhe had got into his hands by Treachery, into which by reason of its Commanding all the Countrey about, he had put a Garifon of 1500. men; this Mountain is not above Three days March in a right line from Debora ; but what made them to be near Two Months in getting to it, was their having fetched a great Compass in order to the reducing of several of the beft Provinces to the Emperor's Obedience, which which they did only by Marching thorough them.

Gama finding all they had done, if they did not make themfelves Mafters of this Mountain, would fignify nothing, did refolve, whatever it coft him, to attempt it; the Emprefs was much againft his doing it, and gave this for her Reafon, That should the Portuguefes be baffled in that Attempt, as confidering the Strength of the Place and the Garifon, it was too likely they might, the Mabometans to whom at prefent their Name was become terrible, would recover their courage again : But Gama offered fuch strong reafons for their not leaving fuch a Garifon behind them, that the Emprels was overcome by them, and gave her confent to its being Attaqued.

The Mountain was both High and Steep, and on the top of it was aPlain of near aLeague in compass, in which was water fufficient for the Garifon: It had Three Entries which were all strongly fortified both by Art and Nature; The Chief of them was called Amba Canet, which is the Name of the Mountain it felf: The Second is called Amba Xambut : The Third Amba Gadalet. They had all of them Governors, with a Guard of Five Hundred Men well Armed, with Bows and Scimiters to defend them.

Gama after having ftrictly Survey'd it, judged it the beft way to make an Aflault upon all the Entries at once; and accordingly charged Francis Velbo, and Manoel da Cunha with the First, and John de Fanseca, and Francis d' Abrew, with the Second; who had each of K them them Three Field-Pieces, taking the Third, which was by much the ftrongest, to himself. In the Night he ordered feveral falfe Attacks to be made, on purpole to make the Enemy fpend their Arrows, which they did in great showers, without Killing or Wounding one of the Portugues; who having performed their Devotions, and received the Patriarch's Bleffing, advanced fo foon as it was Day with their Artillery; with which having plaid for fome time upon the Entry, they afterwards fell palmall upon those that Guarded them, by whom they were warmly received and repulfed twice: Gama, who little expected to have met with fuch a ftout Refiftance, was much concerned to fee his Men beat off fo; neverthelefs refolving fince he had begun it, either to carry his Point, or to lofe his Life in the Enterprife; he made a Third Attack, in which after a long struggle, he obliged the Enemy to leave the Pafs, and Retreat with a great lofs of Men to the top of the Mountain: The other two Paffes were likewife opened by his Men much about the fame time; but the Garifon after this was fo far from offering to Capitulate, that they difputed every Inch of the top of the Mountain with the Portugue [es, fighting it out to the last man : Of the Portugues there were but 7 Killed, and 40 wounded in all this Action.

Gama fo foon as he was abfolute Mafter of the Place, fent down one to wish the Empress Joy of it; and to defire her, to do her Mountain Amba Camet the honour to visit it, affuring her that she might now fafely do it; there there being not one Mahometan left alive upon it; the Empress was over-joy'd at the News, and having magnified the Portugue/e Valour and Conduct beyond measure, the returned her Thanks to Gama for the great Service he had done her Son in reducing fuch a ftrong Place, but defired to be excufed from visiting of it : For befides that it was very fteep, fhe had not courage enough to behold the Carcaffes it must be covered withal. He sent likewife to the Patriarch to come up and Confecrate the Molque, which he did, Dedicating it to our Lady of Victory, in which after he heard Mafs, and Buried his Dead, he went down to wait upon the Empress, who received him with the greatest Joy and Respect imaginable, extolling his Courage and Conduct to the Skies. She gave the Government of the Mountain to a Captain that was in her train, whofe Ancestors had formerly been Governors of it.

The Camp continued near this Mountain all the Month of February, for the fake of the wounded men; during which time, Gama received a Meffage brought by two Portugues from Manuel de Vasconselbo, who had been sent by the Viceroy with Five Ships, to learn where the Turkish Galleys were, and with a fresh Supply of Arms and Ammunition. Upon this advice Gama sent Francisco Velbo with a Guard of 40 Portugues well armed and mounted, to Matzua, where Vasconselbo was with his Fleet, with an Order to receive the Arms and Ammunition that was fent to him by his Brother; to whom he gave a full ac-K 2 count

The Churchi that had been turned into a Mofque, is confecrated the by Abuna, count by Letter, of the State of Affairs in Ethiopia, and of all that he had done in it. Having difpatched this bufinefs, and their wounded men being all either dead or cured, the Empress and Gama marched into a fertile Countrey, whofe Prince was a Chriftian, by whom they were joyfully entertained, wanting for nothing that was necessary for their Camp. But they had not been many days in these good Quarters, before Gama received Letters from the Emperor, 'defiring him to march towards him with all the hafte he could, he being informed that Granke had refolved to get betwixt them with an Army, which neither of them alone could be able to deal with.

Upon this Advice Gama made long Marches to have got to the Emperor, but was notwithftanding that intercepted by Granbe; from whom, upon Palm-Sunday, he received a Meffage, telling him, That he wondred at his having the Impudence to come as he did into his Kingdom with a Handful of men, for which, the be well deferved to be chaftifed, to discourage others from making Juch mad Adventures; yet confidering be was but a Boy, and had been wheedled into it by the Empress, who was certainly the fallest. That he fhould have an Anfwer from him in a day or two.

A Council of War having been called thereupon, it was agreed that Gama should return the following Anfwer to Granhe, That he was fent into Ethiopia by the great Lyon of the Sea, and the most powerful Lord of the Earth, whole cuftom it was to succor all that are in distres; and who having been informed that the most Christian Emperor of Ethiopia, his Brother in Arms, was conquered, and in a manner driven out of his Empire by Infidels, and the Enemies of the holy Catholick Faith, had fent him with fome Troops to restore him to his Empire, which the they were but few in number, yet he did not doubt but they were enough to fight the greatest Armies of one who had been fo wicked, as without any reason or colour of fustice, to disposel's a Prince of his Empire, and that not with his own (trength, but because the true God was pleased to permit it to be fo for the chaftifement of the Sins of the Habailins, whofe Wrath he hoped was now abundantly jatisfied with what they had already (uffered, fo that be would now in his great mercy reftore them again to their Ancient Liberties, and give them the Lands of their Forefathers, of which he had so unjustly robbed them. With this Answer he fent him a large Looking-glass with a pair of Pinchers, such as Women use. Granhe though desperate mad at this Answer and Present, yet could not forbear faying, That Captains who had the courage to fight Armies with handfuls of men, deferved to have great honours done them by all Princes : But perceiving the Portugueses were not to be perfuaded to lay down their Arms, he thought the best way to deal with fuch K 2

Gama returns Granhe a Melfage, with a Prefent no lefs huffing than ridiculous, fuch desperate People, would be to starve them; which he reckoned would be easie for him to do, they being at that time but 250 fighting Men, whereas his Army confifted of 15000 Foot, and 1500 Horfe, besides 200 Turks with Fire-Arms.

But the Mahometans, after having belieged Gama at a diffance for fome days, being ashamed of taking fuch a courfe with a Body of men, which they reckoned would not be a Breakfast to them, did oblige Granhe to change his Measures, and to lead them up to the Enemy, whom when they came near, they found ftrongly encamped. Granbe finding the Enemy thus posted, and being neither willing to difcourage his Men by marching back again, nor to hazard them by making an Affault, ordered a Breaft-work to be run up within Musket-fhot of them, from behind which he for fome day mauled the Portugue les with his Fire-Arms; Gama, whole number could not long endure this fport, refolved whatever it coft him, next night to diflodge the Infidels, which with the help of his Artillery he did in a few hours, obliging them to keep their former diftance, which was without Cannon Shot of his Camp, in which Action he had feveral wounded, but not one killed.

After this Gama was more at ease for the prefent; yet being fenfible that this would not do his bufinefs, the Enemy, as they lay, keeeping him from fupplies of Provisions, he was forced to decamp, which he did before day, and in very good order, bringing up the Amillery. Rear himfelf. The Gama befieged on all fides by Granhe.

The Infidels perceiving fo foon as it was light, that the Portugueses had left their Camp, purfued them with great fury, reckoning now they had got them upon plain ground, to have made thort work with them.

But Gama, when they were come near him, plied them fo with his Artillery, that he made them retreat in diforder, leaving feveral of their best men dead, or wounded, behind them, Granbe himfelf having his Horfe shot under him, and receiving a wound in his Thigh with a Musket-bullet; there were II Portugueses, one of whom was an Ensign, killed in this Action, and feveral wounded; Gama himfelf having received a flight wound in the Leg; who having lain ftill 12 days to cure his wounded men, and observed that the Enemy had refumed his first method of starving them, he determined to fall upon them in their Quarters, which he did with good fuccefs, driving them from their Pofts, and making a great flaughter among them; in this Attack Gama loft 14 more of his Portugues, besides two that were blown up by a Barrel of Gunpowder, which took fire by accident; the noife of which was of no final advantage to him, the Enemies Horfes being put into fuch a diforder therewith, that the Officers were not able to bring them together again; he had likewife 70 wounded, two whereof died of their Wounds.

Granhe finding there was no breaking this Body of Portugueses by reason of their Discipline and Artillery, the noife whereof neither his Men nor Horfe could bear, he retreated for eight eight days together into a Mountainous Countrey, leaving the Portuguefes to the mercy of the heat, and barrennels of Ethiopia, which he hoped would make an end of them in a little time.

Gama having thus rid himfelf of the Enemy, removed his Camp to the Banks of a large and pleafant River, where he had been but two days, when the Portugueses he had fent to Matzua returned to him, but without bringing any thing of that they were fent for, the Ships that brought the Arms and Ammunition having been frighted away before they got to Matzua, by fome Intelligence they had received of a Fleet of Turkish Gallies making towards them. Baburnagays likewise came back to him at the fame time with a Body of 500 Habassin Foot and 30 Horfe.

Gama, though much troubled at this difappointment, yet that he might lose no time, refolved with this finall Reinforcement to purfue Granbe, and if it were possible, to drive him out of the Fastness he was retired to : And fo inftead of marching towards the Emperor, as he had been defired, that he might engrofs the whole glory of overcoming Granbe to himfelf, he marched from the Emperor after him for eight days; but as we shall fee by the fequel of the Story, was at all this pains to catch a Tartar. He had fallen upon Granhe as foon as he came up with him, had he not been hindred by the Empress, who protested against coming to a Battel before they had their whole Army together, and with much a-do perfuaded him to expect the Emperor with with his Troops, which were reported to be much greater than they were.

While Gama was in these quarters, a certain Few, who was Governor of a ftrong Mountain called Outy, in the Province of Cemen, came to wait on him, and to let him know, That in the neighbouring Mountains there were great numbers of curious Horfes which were but weakly guarded, offering if he would fend any of his men to feize them, to be their Guide himfelf; he further told him, That it was abfolutely neceffary for him to make himfelf Mafter of all the Paffes of that Moun-Countrey, for otherwife it would not be poffible for the Emperor, who he knew was not ftrong' enough to force his way to come at him; Gama was much concerned at the laft part of the Few's Intelligence, having imagined the Emperor to have been much ftronger than he affured him he was; whereupon he asked the Empress what the thought of the few's report concerning her Son's Army? She told him frankly, That the thought it was but too true; hereupon he determined to go, and either make himfelf Mafter of those Horfes and Passes, or die in the Attempt. 'In purfuance of which refolution, that he might not alarm Granhe, he marched fecretly out of his Camp by night with a 100 of his Portugues, and never halted till he came to the great River Tavaze, over which he was forced to waft his men upon Boracho's, or Hides full of Wind; but what was worft of all, when they came near the Mountain his defign was upon, he found the Garifon much ftronger than than the Few had reprefented it to have been, there being no fewer than 3000 Foot and 400 Horfe in it; but Gama was gone too far to think of Retreating, and therefore Fight he muft, and did; and after having killed the Governor Cid Ahamed with his own hand, the Infidels being but raw men, dispersed upon it, and were most of them knocked on the head by the Jews, who are the Natives of that Countrey; the Few who was the Guide, is faid to have been fo ftruck with this Victory, and particularly with there not having been one Portuguese Killed or Wounded in the whole Action, that looking upon it as a Miracle, he immediately turned Christian, and thereupon had the Government of the Mountain conferred upon him by Gama, being ordered to fend word to the Emperor of the Paffes being opened for him and his Army: There were 200 Mules, and 800 good Horfes taken, all which Gama ordered to be brought after him to the Camp, whither he with the greatest part of his Men Rode Post, fearing left he might have been intercepted by Granbe.

Neither was Granhe Idle all this Winter, who having obferved that his Army, befides that it would require time to bring them to endure the Thunder of Cannon, were ftrangely cowed by their having been Beat fo often by a handful of Portugueles, writ to the Balhaw of Zebid, a Province in Arabia, for fome Turkish Troops, and a Train of Artillery, to enable him to deal with the Portugueles; reprefenting the driving of them out of Ethiopia, as as one of the beft Services that could be done the Grand Seignior: The Bashaw having 3000 Turks, all Veteran Soldiers, for the Guard of the Red-Sea, fent him 600, fome fay 900 of them, with feveral Peices of Ordnance; and besides these, he is faid to have received considerable Supplies from some of his other Friends in Arabia.

Thefe Foreign Troops came up to Granhe the very night that Gama returned to the Camp; with which Auxiliaries he inftantly advanced towards the Portugues, and Encamped fo near them, as to make them both hear and feel that he had now got Cannon as well as they.

Upon this new scene of Affairs, Gama called a Council of War to confult what was fit to be done, and it being agreed on all hands, That there was now no possibility of Retreating, no, nor of waiting where they were till the Emperor came up with them, they had therefore nothing to think of but of Fighting it out, so as either to Conquer, or to fell their lives dear; only, that they should do all that they were able to avoid coming to Battel before the Mules and Horfes that had been taken lately by Gama arrived in the Camp.

But Granhe having now got men that were not afraid to go upon the mouth of a Cannon, advanced next day within Musket-shot of the Portugues, refolving if they did not come out to Fight, to storm their Camp, which he reckoned himself strong enough to do: Gama perceiving their design, Sally'd out to demolish lish a Mount Granhe was raising to plant his Cannon upon, and which would have commanded his whole Camp; in which Sally he made the Turks give ground, until overpowered by Number, he was forced to retreat; having loft fome Officers, and feveral of his Soldiers in the Action; Gama made feveral other brisk Sallies, but was still repulsed with lofs, 'and in one of them was himfelf Wounded: When night came on, the Empressand all the Officers were at Gama, to retire to the Mountains, it not being possible for them to hold out another day against fo great and welldisciplin'd an Army: Gama was put into fuch a rage by the motion, that he drew his Sword, and brandishing it, cri'd out, They that will steal away by night may do it, but for my own part I am refolued to ftay and fight the Infidels; and if his Countreymen would be fo bale as to defert him and leave him alone to defend the Camp, he could not hinder them, but out of it he was re-(olved not to stir unless it was to Fight the Enemy. The Officers finding there was no perfuading of Gama to go with them, laid violent hands on him, and having fet him upon a Mule, carried him with them as a Prifoner. They, were not well got out of their Camp with Gama, (the Empress and Patriarch having departed fome time before) when the Turks broke into it, where finding 40 Portugues, who by reafon of their Wounds had been left behind, they knocked them all on the head; and understanding that Gama could not be got far, a Body of Turks was ordered immediately to purfue him, who having before Sun-rifing. got Gama routed and taken Prifoner. got between him and the Mountains, by noon. they found them lying under a Tree quite fpent with the loss of Blood, and the Fatigue of the Battel; and having mounted him on a Horfe, they carried him to Granhe.

Granhe being reinforced by a Body of Turks and a Train of Artillery, forceth Gama to come to a Battel.

The Portuguele Hiftorians, as if they reckoned that to have neither Fear nor Wit, were the true Character of a Hero, do according to their cuftom, on this occasion sacrifice Gama's discretion to the Reputation of his Courage: Who, they fay, upon Granhe's asking him, How he would have treated him, had the Fortune of War made him his Prisoner? made answer, That he would have cut off his Head, and have fent it as a Pre-(ent to the Emperor. The foolifs Bravery of which Answer was to far from obliging Granhe to give him his Life, that he gave him Lex taliomis; having, after he had treated him barbaroufly for a day or two, order'd his Head to be Gama bechopped off in his presence; at which the headed. Turks, who defign'd to have made a Prefent of him to their Baffa, are faid to have been very angry.

A Portuguese who was a Prifoner, and prefent when Gama was murthered, having afterwards made his escape, gave an ample account of all the Particulars of Gama's carriage at his death; and among other things, affirmed, that he faw with his own eyes a great fountain of most delicate water gush out of the earth Gama's Head fell upon, when it was chopped off. This Miracle was the eafier fwallowed, it being no more than what the Heads of all Legendary Saints have done, who have happened to be beheaded.

This

This is the fubstance of the fo much celebrated Expedition of Don Christopher Da Gama, which as I have related it, is I doubt big enough for the belief of any indifferent perfon, but is much too great for that of the most credulous, if impartial, as it is magnified by his Countreymen; to whole Romantick way of puriting their Lives, the Memory of their Heroes ( of which Race few Kingdoms of its bigness have produced either more or greater than Portugal ) is little beholden : Which common Fault in the Spanish and Portuguese Writers, I do not in the least attribute to any defect of Natural Fudgment in them, that being a talent that few Nations excel them, in; but purely to their reading Rcmances (o much when they are young, and especially Ecclesiastical ones, that is, the Lives and Legends of their Saints, the Writers whereof, instead of troubling them (elves to collect Informations, do (but themfelves up in a Cell, and fay every thing of their Hero that they think will make for his Honour.

The Emperor joins the Habaffins and *Portu*guefes.

After this Rout, the Empress and Patriarch retreated to the firong Mountain Gama had made himfelf Master of a little before; where they had not been Ten Days, before the Emperor came to them with a small Army; but having after some Months got a Body of 500 Horse and 8000 Foot together, he resolved to march and offer the Enemy Battel, being strongly urged to it by the Portugues, who tho but 90 in number, were mad to revenge the Death of their General.

Cunba, who after the Defeat had retreated with 40 of his Portuguefes into Tigre, was fent to to come and join the Gross; but that not being being poffible, by reason of the Enemy's being posted betwixt them, the Emperor advanced with the Forces he had with him ; and being come within fight of the Enemy, encamped himfelf ftrongly for fome days ; during which time there were frequent Skirmishes; in all of which the Portugueses are faid to have done Wonders, if not to have wrought Miracles. The Habaffin General, in whole Conduct and Courage the Soldiers placed their chief confidence, happening to be flain in an Ambush the Turks had laid for him, the Emperor had much ado to keep the Army from difperfing upon that unlucky Accident; and to prevent it, was obliged to offer the Enemy Battel fome days fooner than he had otherwife intended to have done.

The Portugueses having defired it, had the Van given them, and were joined with 250. Habaffin Horfe, and 3500 Foot : The Rear, which was commanded by the Emperor in Perfon, confifted of the fame Number of Horfe and Foot.

The Enemies Van, which was made up of 200 Turks with Fire-Arms, 600 Moorif Horfe, and 7000 Foot, was commanded by Granhe himfelf; and the Rear, confifting of 600 Horfe, and 6000 Foot, by a great Turkifb Captain.

The Two Armies were no fooner drawn He fights into the Field, than they ran upon one ano- and routs ther, with great Fury, making a great Slaughter on both fides; and the Body of Turks happening to charge the Habaffins that were in the Van, gave them fuch a shock as obliged them them to retreat in great diforder; which having been timely observed by the Portugueses, who were hewing their way through the Battalions they were engaged withal, they wheeled about, and attacked the Victorious Turks with that vigor, that they quickly forced them to give ground, and with the lofs of a great many of their belt men to retire to their Grofs; but the Portugues not being content with that, followed their Blow, and with the Affiftance of the Habaffins who had rallied again, broke into the Main Body of the Enemy, fo as to make it give ground apace; which being perceived by Granbe, he galloped up to them, and having put himfelf on their Head, did act the part both of a great Captain, and a ftout Soldier, till he received a Mortal Wound with a Musket Bullet in his breaft: His men when they faw him fall from his Horfe, inftead of feeking to revenge his Death, or to carry off his Body, threw down their Arms, and betook themfelves to their heels; only a Turkish Captain who was near him when he received his Death's Wound, defended his Body with his Scimiter in his hand till he fell dead upon it, and fold his. own life dear.

The Fortugueses and Habassians pursued the Enemy to close, that few of them escaped; the Turks were all killed to 14, who keeping together in a Body, got before it was day to the place where Granke had left his Queen, whom with a vast Treassure in Gold and Jewels, they conveyed to a place of fastery, to the great loss and forrow of the Habassians.

Granhe killed fighting.

It is faid there was not one Portuguese killed or wounded in this Fight, which they will have to have been a miracle, owing to the Standard they had bore ever fince Gamas's death, which was our Lady of mercy; whereas before, when they loft men, they had fought under the Banner of the five Wounds of Christ, which are the Arms of the King of Portugal.

Upon the news of this Victory all the Princes and Governors of Ethiopia, who had fided with Granke, flocked to throw themfelves at the Emperor's feet, who by pardoning them all to a man, was immediately reftored to the full and quiet pofferfion of his Empire.

The Emperor for fome time after the Vi-Arry, carefied the Portugueses highly, acknowledging on all occafions that he owed his Crown purely to their Valour : But whether, it was that the Emperor, after the failion of too many Princes, looking upon the Services the Portugueses had done him, as too great to be rewarded by him, did for that reason begin to hate them, as a reproach to him; or that the Portugueles overvaluing their Services, which is likewife a common fault on the other fide, did grow troublesome and insolent thereupon, and demanded greater Rewards than were just, or than the Emperor could conveniently give them; or whether it was the Patriarch's teizing the Emperor instantly to declare him(elf a Roman-Catholick; it is certain they came in a fhort time to an open rupture, the Emperor acculing the Portugueles of Impertinence and Infolence, and the Fortugueses the Emperor of Ingratitude, and breach of Faith, pretending he had promifed the King òf

The Emperor being reftored to the quiet polfeffion of his Kingdom, quarrels with the Portugueles,

The chief caufe of this Quarrel was the Abuná urging the Emperor to turn Roman-Catholick prefently. of Portugal, that whenfoever he fhould be reftored to the peaceable poffetfion of his Empire, he would immediately declare himself a Roman-Catholick, and give the third part of his Dominions to the Portugueses.

But the Emperor, as he abfolutely denied his having ever made any fuch promife, fo he conjured the Patriarch not to trouble him any more about his Religion, being refolved never to change it for that of Popery, which he called Neftorianism, and accufed of worshipping Four Gods; adding, That he was the Paftor and Prelate of all the Franks that were in Ethiopia, but had nothing to do with his Subjects, who had a Prelate of their own, to wit the Patriarch of Alexandria, in whose obedience, after the Example of his Anceftors, he was refolved to live and die.

The Patriarch finding he was not to be perfuaded to embrace Popery, was for trying whether he could not terrify him into it, by obliging the Portuguefes by his Cenfures, not to ferve him any longer until he made profeffion of it.

The Emperor is faid at first to have laughed at this Excommunication, as the effect of the impotent Passion of an angry old man, who would needs be exercising jurifdiction where he had none; and it is more than probable, confidering his prefent. Circumstances, and the small number the Portugueses were then reduced to, that he continued to do fo to the last: Notwithstanding it is reported, That when he found the Portugueses would ferve him no longer, unless he declared himstances a Roman-

The Emperor is refolved never to turn Roman-Catholick. Roman-Catholick, that he fubmitted, abjuring the Alexandrian Faith, and making profession of that of Rome in the hands of the Patriarch.

But however that were, it is certain, that the Emperor at this time did not only declare, That he would never fubmit bim(elf and bis Empire to the Pope, who befides that he wasa Neftorian Heretick, had nothing to do with a Church, which from its very first foundation had been all along fubject to the Patriarch of Alexandria; but to fhew the World that he was in earness, he writ to the Patriarch of Alexandria to fend an Abuna into Ethiopia, according to the custom of his Predecession.

The Patriarch and Portugueses, when they came to hear of this Meffage, did ftorm and threaten at fuch a rate, that the Emperor began to confider how he might rid his Countrey of Guests who would be fatisfied with nothing less than the extirpation of its Ancient. Religion, and the establishment of Popery; the toleration of their own Religion, which he reckoned a great favour, being what they despised, and reckoned to be no kindness at all : Whereupon the Emperor is faid to have given fecret Orders for 2000 Soldiers to be fent to difarm, if not maffacre all the Portugues that were in Ethiopia, as a People not to be endured any longer; but the Portugueles having had timely notice of this Plot against their Lives, did by keeping still together in a body, prevent the execution of it.

The

The Emperor having the news brought him of the Abuna he had fent for, being on his Journey, to manifeft his great Zeal for his Religion, went as far as Deboroa on purpofe to meet him : Where, when the Abuna, whofe name was fofeph, arrived, he was received by him with the greateft Festivities that had ever been feen before in Ethiopia on the like occafion.

The Patriarch Bermudes, who could not endure to think of any Abuna in Ethiopia befides himfelf, pofted after the Emperor to try to prevent it; but the Emperor hearing he was coming after him, and not caring to be fchooled by him any longer, ordered him to be apprehended, and carried Prifoner to one of his ftrong Mountains, from whence, after fome Months confinement, he was refcued by his Countrymen, and carried by them into Tigre, where he lived under the protection of Baburnagays, the great Patron of the Portuguefes, until he was carried off to the Indies by the Jefuits to make room for a Succeffor of their own Order, as we fhall fee hereafter.

The Emperor, now he had rid himfelf of the Popish Patriarch, who would never let him be quiet day nor night with his Religion, began to express great kindness again to all the Portugueses that remained, employing feveral of them about his Person, and giving such Estates to the rest, that there was not one of them but what kept his Horse or Mule, and lived with the Equipage of a Gentleman; infomuch that there was but one hard thing whereof they could accuse the Emperor, which which was, That he would not suffer them, after he had told them above an hundred times that he would never change his Religion, to trouble him any more about it.

But while things flood thus as to Religion in Ethiopia, all the News in Portugal and Rome was, that the Portugueles had reftored the Emperor to all his Dominions, and had thereby obliged him to that degree, that he was not contented with declaring that he would fubmit himfelf to the Roman Church, but that he would make his whole Empire to do the fame ; which News , fo flow was their Intelligence from thence, continued to be believed by most people in Europe as undoubtedly true, for at least three years after Claudins had made a folemn declaration to the contrary, and that nothing in the world should ever oblige him to change his Ancient Faith for that of Rome.

Ignatius Loyola being fensible that his new Order had every-where a great many Enemies, and especially among the other Orders of Friars, who were all grown jealous of its over-topping them; was cafting about to find fome great work for them to do, whereby they might for ever establish their Reputation in the Roman Church; and believing all that was reported of the greatness of the Habaffin Empire, and of the good disposition it was in to fubmit it felf to the Pope, he laboured day and night to obtain that Province for his Fryars; and that he might interest himself therein with the better grace, he begged leave folemnly of the Pope to go into Ethiopia L 2 in in perfon to promote the fubmillion of that Church to him; which being denied him to his great grief, he begged that fince he himfelf was not thought worthy of that honour, that a Miffion of his Friars might be fent thither, and this he plied fo clofe, as to carry it : For befides that he himfelf was indefatigable in the purfuit thereof, he commanded all the Jefuits that were at Lisbon, to wait upon the King at least once a Month about it, and one Lewis Goncalves da Camara, a Jesuit, who was of a Noble Family in Portugal, not to fail to speak to the Portuguese Embassador at the Court of Rome once in three days concerning it; which that Father observed to punctually, and teized the Embaffador fo much about it, that the Embaffador's Servants when they faw him coming, used to fay of him, Here comes our Lord's Tertian Ague.

By these indefatigable diligences, Ignatius carried both his points, which were, That a fplendid Miffion should be fent into Ethiopia to take the fubmiffion of that Church to the Roman, and that none but his Friars fhould be imployed in it; and having the Nomination of them left to himfelf, he named one John Nunes Baretto a Fertuguele to go Patriarch', and Andrew Owiedo a Spaniard, and Melchior Carneiro a Portugueje, who were to be both made Bishops; the first of Hieropolis, and the fecond of Nice ; and to be Coadjutors to the Patriarch, and who in cafe they Survived him, were in their turns to fucceed him in that Dignity; to which he added ten Jesuits more, having, as he told the Emperor in his Letter to him,

A Patriarch, two Bifhops, Coadjutors, with 10 Friars all of the Jefuits order, are nominated to go into Ethiopin. him, pitched upon that number, that the Patriar ch and his twelveCompanions might reprefent Chrift and his twelveApoftles : Upon Ignatius Nomination of thefe Miffionaries, the Pope's Bulls for Authorizing them were difpatched to Lisbon; the Bull of the Patriarch Elect was as followeth:

Given at St. Peters in Rome, on the 17th. day of February, in the year of our Lord 1554. in the 5th. year of our Pontificate.

The Bulls of the three Elects being come to Lisbon, the King looking upon it as the greateft honour that had ever been done to Portugal to have a Patriarch confectated in it, made great Preparations for that Ceremony; the Patriarch, and the Bishop of Hieropolis, were both confectated in the Church of the Trinity Friars by Don fulian d' Abreu, Bishop of Portalegree, and Dom Gasper Bishop of the Island of St. Thomas, and Dom Peter Bishop of Hippo; Melchior Elect of Nice, having Sailed from Lisbon for the Indies four days before the arrival of the Bulls.

But notwithstanding the King and the whole Court honoured this Confectation with their prefence, yet I do not find that any of the great Prelates of the Kingdom were prefent at it; which, together with its not having been performed in the See Church, but in the Chappel of a Convent, and that by two

The Patriarch, and one of his Coadjutors, are Confecrated at Lisbon. two Titulars, and the Pooreft Bishop in Portugal, makes me suffect that the great Prelates were not over-well pleased with this upstart Order leaping so soon into such high Dignities.

For about the time of this Promotion, and which it is like enough might contribute fomething towards it, there was a most terrible ftorm raifed both in Spain and France against the whole Order of the fefuits.

Don John, Archbishop of Toledo, who continued a mortal Enemy to it till his death, driving them out of the University of Completum in the year 1555, and prohibiting all his Priests, upon pain of Deprivation, to make use of any of their Exercises; and prohibiting all others, upon pain of Excommunication, to confess themselves to any of them. The Sorbon likewise declared about the fame time, That the Society of Jesus was dangercus to the Faith, a disturber of the Peace of the Church, pernicious to Monastical Religion, and, in a word, was for Destruction, and not for Edification.

The Jefuits leaping fo quickly into fuch high dignities, contrary to their Vows, creates them Enemies.

There were two things, one would think, might have been fome rubs in the way of this promotion, though we do not find they were in the leaft.

The first was, That there was a Patriarch, and one of the Pope's own Confirming, then living in Ethiopia, of whom we shall hear more hereafter.

The fecond was, the Vow that is taken by the Jefuits, never directly nor indirectly to feek after any Ecclefiastical Promotion, either within within or without their Order; which they had violated with a witnefs, in feeking after a Miffion of this nature, which was not to be performed without fome high Prelates. Neither do we any where read, that Ignatius, when he laboured fo hard to ger his Friars employed therein, did defire only the Miniftry of it for them, leaving the Prelacy thereof to fuch as were under no Vows to the contrary.

But however the Clergy flood affected, the King was extreamly pleafed with this Promotion, and prefented the Patriarch with extraordinary rich Veftments, and with a noble fet of Plate for his own Altar; all which, upon this Miffion mifcarrying, was afterwards given by King Sebaftian to the Jefuits College at Goa, where the Patriarch had lodged it.

The Patriarch, by reafon of his Bulls not having come till fome days after the India Fleet departed, was obliged to wait a year for the next Fleet; during which time he lived for the most part at St. Rocks, the House of the professed Jesuits at Lisbon, of whose Chappel he laid the first Stone.

But notwithftanding it was generally believed both at Rome and Lisbon, that the Habaffin Church and Empire were as good as reconciled to the Pope; yet there did not want fome fober Heads at Lisbon, who doubted whether all things were fo well in Ethiopia as they were reported to be, and as it is plain the Pope and Ignatims thought they were; the former in his Bull, calling the Emperor his Beloved

The King of Portugal wifely fufpecting that things were not fo ripe in Ethiopia as they were reported to be, fends an Envoy for true Intelligence.

Beloved Son, and the latter calling him his Lord in Chrift, in his long Letter that he writ to him, and in a Ityle as if he had been a fecond Pope of Rome. This Letter of Ignatius is fet down at length by Maffeus, and all the other Writers of his Life, in which there are but two things that are remarkable; the one is, his quoting the First Council of Constantinople, and the Council of Chalcedon for the Authoritative Supremacy of the Pope ; whereas those Councils do place the Pope's primacy of Order, which was all they allowed him, on a bottom that quite deftroys the Florentine Supremacy, founding it purely upon the Secular confideration, of Old Rome being the first City in the Roman Empire. And the fecond is, his proving from Pope Marcellus's Decretal Epiftle, which is acknowledged by all Learned Roman-Catholicks to have been a Spurious Brat of the Eighth or Ninth Century, That God did expressly command St. Peter to fix his See at Rome.

But to return to the thread of my Story.

The King having been made jealous by some of his Ministers, that Ethiopia might not be altogether fo well disposed to submit it felf to the Pope, as was commonly believed, gave Orders to Don Peter Mascarenhas, who Commanded the Fleet that Sailed for the Indies four days before the coming of the Pope's Bulls to Lisbon, fo foon as he arrived at Goa, to difpatch an Envoy thither to bring certain tidings of the prefent state of its Affairs; who accordingly fo foon as he was arrived at

at Goa, fent one James Dias Opreftes, joyning Father Gancalro Rodriguez, a Jefuit, with him, into Ethiopia, to bring Intelligence how matters flood there; this Jefuits chief, if not only bufinefs in Ethiopia, as we fhall fee hereafter, was, if he found the Patriarch Bermudes alive, to fetch him off, to make a clear flage for his Succeffor; fince it would not have looked well to have had two Popifb Patriarchs together in Ethiopia.

These Envoys failed from Goa in February 1555, and in 30 days landed fase at Arkiko, where having refted themselves for fome time, they continued their Journey by Land till they came to the place where their old Friend Baburnagays refided, who having received them with great kindness, fent them with a good Convoy to the Court. But

The Jefuit Rodriguez having given the World a very particular relation of all this Negotiation at the Habaffin Court, I fhall fet it down word for word as he reports it.

Rodriguez the Jefnir, who went with the Envoy into Ethiopiz, his account of their Voyage and Negotiation.

On the 26th. of May we came to the King of Ethiopia's Court, which is nothing but a Camp full of Tents; the King was pleafed to give us a publick Audience the fecond day after our Arrival, into whofe prefence when we were introduced, we found him feated in a Chair hung round with Silk Curtains, as indeed the whole Tent was, the Floor of the Room being covered with a rich Carpet. James Dias having delivered our Letters to the King, he Commanded them to be Read in the hearing of all the Portuguefes that belonged the Court, who were all permitted to be prefent at the Ceremony. In which Letters our Lord the King having acquainted him with his intention of fending one of his Courtiers, with a certain number of Friars of Good lives and found Doctrine next year to him; the King when he heard that, was all of a fudden in a great diforder, and had his thoughts fo taken up with it, that when we fpoke to him, he never returned us any anfwer that was to the purpose, but difmiffed us to return to our Tents. Within two or three days after this Audience, the King took a Progress to visit his Grandmother, who lived at a place that was Eight or Ten days Journey ftom the Camp, in which he left us, without having given any order about our Entertainment, and without fending us for much as any thing of a Complement: So that I do not know what would have become of us, had not an honourable Portugue/e carried us to his Houfe, which was Two or Three Leagues from the Camp, and Entertained us there till the King returned, which he did not in a Month.

During that time I composed a Treatile of the Errors of Ethiopia, and of the Truth of our Holy Faith, with an intention to have presented it to the King; who, as I was told by a Potuguese that was much in his Favour, had no kindnels for the Roman Pontiff, and had faid openly, That he stood in noneed of the Friars the King of Portugal was so forward to send him, being fully resolved never to submit himself to the Roman Church.

I was

The Church-Hiftory

An expreffion of the greatnefs of the Habaffin Zeal againft Popery.

I was informed likewife by all the Portugueles of the Court, That feveral of the Grandees had been heard to fay, That they would foomer put themselves under the Mahometans, than turn Papifts: This put me upon writing all that I could have Preached to them, if I could have fpoke their Language, that fo I might by the anfwer the King returned to it, clearly difcover his thoughts which he had fo long diffembled: when we heard of the King's being returned to the Camp, we went prefently to wait upon him, and were told by feveral Portugueles that belonged to the Court, That the King had not fo much as once mentioned our Names fince our Audience.

Now the Treatife I had composed being in Portuguese, it was neceffary if I would have the King to read it, to get it Translated into Chaldee; whereupon I writ a Letter to the King himfelf, to defire him to let me have a couple of Learned Monks to Translate the Truths of our Faith into Chaldee, I having put them together on purpose to shew how little reason his people had to call us of the Roman Communion, Hereticks; and to affirm that we were worfe than Mahometans; and being informed that the Habaffins had a Book among them, written by the Schifmaticks and Hereticks of Alexandria, from whence they have their Abuna's, having paid a Tribute to the Turk for that privilege, Entituled, The Adultery of the Franks; wherein, among other things, the Council of Calcedon is condemned, pretending that it taught that there were Four Perfons in the Holy Trinity; and we are likewife likewife charged with divers Errors, I begg'd of the King that I might have a fight of that Book.

The King would not let me have the Book, and was very angry that I had been told of it; but as to the Monks I had defired, he ordered a couple to come to me, but they had not well begun the Tranflation, before either out of fear that the King would be difpleafed with them if they went on with it, or becaufe he had privately Commanded them not to do it, they gave it over; fo that I was obliged to repair to a Portuguefe Captain to fpeak to them to finish it; who with much ado prevailed with them to go on: The Interpreter on my fide was a worthy Portuguefe, who underftood both the Languages well.

Having at last got my Treatife Translated, the next thing I had to do, was to get it written out fair, and having defired an Amanuenfis of the King to do it for me, after having granted me one, he repented prefently, and fent me word, That if I would let him fee my Treatife as it was, he would read it over, and that otherwife he would never trouble himfelf with it; fo I was obliged to carry it to him as it was, having first dated it, and put my name to it; it bore date the 20th. of Auguft. When I delivered it to him, I was accompanied by a Portuguese Captain, and Seven or Eight more of the fame Nation : and after having paid the cuftomary Obeifances, I began a fhort fpeech concerning the occasion of my coming into Ethiopia; but the King interrupted me, and began to talk of other M 3 things, things, as one prepared to ward off the blows that I had defigned to have given him ; when I had put my Treatife into his hand, he begun to read in it, but had read but a little way, before he was put into fuch a paffion by it, as made him vomit out the poifon he had fo long concealed, telling me, I had defired leave to fet down the Truths of my own Faith, and to have fome Monks to Tranflate them into Chaldee, but inftead of that, I had charged those with Errors who had none ; he told me further, That that was a work no ways proper for a fimple Prieft, like me, but was the work of fome Great Bilhop, or Prelate, like the Pope. I made answer, It was true I was but a mean man, but the things I had fet down were neverthelefs the Truths of the Gofpel, and of the Holy Councils, whom, and not me, I defired his Highnefs to hear. He told me, I had imposed feveral 'things upon them which they never held. I replied, I knew very well that his Highness was in no Error of Faith, but that his Subjects were; and that I had fet down nothing but what was true, and what I was ready to demonftrate to him. He faid, He was no friend to Difoutations, but there was one thing he was certain of, which was that Ethiopia had always held the fame Faith that it did now, or at least that it had for above a Thousand years ; that Diffutations were never to be used but with Heathens, and that his Faith being thus Ancient, there was no body before me had ever prefumed to fay it was Erroneous.

To

To this I answered, That God did fometimes for peoples Sins fuffer fuch things, and that his Highness had reason to thank God, for having in his time vifited Ethiopia with the truth of the Gospel :. He faid the Catholick Church was divided into four Chairs, and that they had from the beginning been fubject to one of them : I repli'd, it was true, but fo it was likewife, that all Churches were Anciently fubject to the Roman Bishop, who was above all the reft, as his Highnefs was above his Subjects; infomuch that the three other Chairs for having denied obedience to the Roman, were all become Schifmatical, together with all those who were subject to them ; That his Highnefs if he would be pleafed to perufe my Treatife, would therein meet with full Anfwers to all his Objections, exhorting him to take care not to make himfelf of that number ` of People the Prophet speaks of, who would not underfrand, that they might do well. After a great deal of arguing, I told him that my defign in writing that Paper, was to difcover how his mind flood difpofed towards the Pope, and the Learned Friars which his Brother the King of Portugal was about to fend to him; for that if he was not willing that they fhould come, it would be to no purpose for the King to fend them fo far; I did therefore befeech his Highnefs to declare whether he intended to fubmit himfelf to the Pope as he had promifed ; he faid he had learned Friars enough in his Kingdom, and that it was needlefs for the King of Portugal to trouble himfelf to fend him any more; and as for the Pope, That he had M-4 never

The Èmperor's defence of himfelf and his Faith. never yielded him any obedience; that Submiffion, that was carried to him, by Gasper de Magalhaens, being what he had never made, and was either a trick or miftake of the Monk who Translated his Letters to the King of Portugal; concluding, That he was refolved never to yield Obedience to any Patriarch, but the Patriarch of Alexandria, whom he would always obey, as all his Anceftors had done before him. When I found the King thus abfolutely determined, I took my leave of him; who after I was gone, begun to extol me for a mighty Scholar, faying, He wondered how it was pollible for lo young a man to have attained to fo great a flock of Learning : I was told likewife that he read my Treatife over, and that after he had once read it, it was feldom out of his Hand, and that he was still shewing it to his Mother, and Brothers, and the Grandees of the Court ; and that upon the Abuna's having denounced an Excommunication against all that should read it, the King had fent to him for leave to read it again, and was put into fuch a Paffion, by the Abuna's having deny'd it to him, that he called him Mahometan, and Heretick, faying, He would read the Alcoran of Maho.net him/elf, and at the lame-time not give him leave to read a godly Book; commanding him thereupon fince he was their Abuna, to answer a Book that was written by a poor Clerk who had no Dignity : To which the Abuni's answer was, That he did not come into Ethiopia to dispute, but to confer boly Orders.

The

The Court however being divided about this Affair, fome feeming to favour the Roman, but most, and especially the Queen-Mother, and all her Creatures flickling for the Alexandrian Faith; the King refolved to call together fome of the most Learned among his Monks, to have their Opinion in the matter; and in order thereunto he commanded my Treatife to be Translated into Habaffin, leaving out those Paffages he was displeased with when he first looked into it; namely, that where I fpoke of the Pope St. Leo, and of Dioscorus Patriarch of Alexandria, whom they reckon a Saint, as they do Leo, to be Excommunicated and Accurfed, and for whom they have fuch a deteftation, that they cannot endure fo much as to have him named, rejecting the Council of Calcedon and its Decrees, which they fay erred in the Faith, in condemning St. Diofcorus as they unjuftly Stile him : Since which time they have always been feparated from the Roman Church, having now for 1067 years been involved in the Herefy of Scrgius, Paulus, and Pyrbus, who were all condemned in the Sixth Council of Constantinople; and in that of Eutyches likewife, which holds that there is but one nature in Chrift.

The time being come when I was to receive the King's Anfwer, I fent to know when I should wait upon him; he fent me back word, his Father's Embassfador waited Ten years in Portugal before he could be dispatched. I understood by this the King was for entertaining me with delays, on purpose to keep me from returning with the Fleet which waited for us, for for fear leaft we might discover the weakness of his Empire to them; and fo when I went to have my Conge from him, in order to my returning to Debora, he commanded one to tell me, That fo great a man as I was, and who had come fo far, was not to be difinified quickly : Befides, that I could go no where, where I could do fo much good, as where I was, in confessing the Portugueles; nevertheless if I was refolved not to remain in Ethiopia, he would then defire me only to wait a month longer for his Anfwer; and if I did not receive it then, I might look upon my felf as difmiffed. Prefentiy after this he removed his Camp to a place that was two days journey from the place where it was; we followed the Camp; and being in the Field on Saturday and Sunday, we fet up an Altar whereon we faid Mals on both those days, where I was visited by three Monks, who defired to have fome Difcourfe with me about Matters of Religion : One of them who was a Scholar, told me, That all that we did, appeared well to him, excepting that of cur not obferving Saturday, and that of our eating Hare and Swine's Flesh. Nevertheless after this he difgorged feveral Errors in Faith, namely, That the Sculs when they leave the Body cannot prefently behold the Divine Effence, but are placed in a Terrestrial Paradise. That the Holy Spirit does not proceed from the Son, but from the Father only. That the Son as to his Humanity was equal to the Father. That none but Mahometans and Infidels were dammed eternally in Hell. I returned answers to all thefe Errors, and declared the contrary Truths to him, both from Scripture and Reafon;

fon; with which he was fo fully fatisfied, that whifpering me in the Ear, that the two other Monks who were illiterate might not hear him, he faid, What I had told him was the truth, and that he believed it to be fo in his heart.

The Month being expired, I went to wait upon the King for his Anfwer, and for leave to return home; he bid me go in a good hour; and as for the Fathers the King of Portugal defigned to fend to him, he faid, He bad appointed one to wait at Matrua to receive them when they landed, being defirous to hear what they had to fay to him. With this I took my leave of him, and paffing thorough the Countries where divers of the Portugueses lived, I confessed them and their Families, and Married feveral of them to their Concubines, having first reduced them to our holy Faith. There was one among them who was nearly related to the King. And whereas the Churches of that Countrey, befides that they belong to Schifmaticks, have no Altars accommodated to our Service, whereever we went, we carried an Altar with us to celebrate on.

While I was in one of these places, I received a Complement from a Prelate of a great Monastery of Monks of the Order of St. Anthony, and one likewise from the Prelate of a Nunnery, which were two Leagues off. This Monastery of Monks is one of the biggest in Ethiopia, it is called Debra Libanus, and is of such Credit, that all the Faith of Ethiopia depends upon it in a manner; for which reason the Prelate thereof is in high Esteem; I went to give him a Visit, being attended by all the PortuPortugueles of the place, but he happened to be from home; we neverthelefs took a view of the Monaftery, which is no ways like ours, neither as to Building, nor as to their way of living; every Monk having his diffinct Dwelling-Houfe and Land belonging to it, which he cultivates with his own Hands; fo that the Habaffin Monafteries look like Villages, the Monks having their Houfes on one fide of the Street, and the Nuns theirs on the other; but not being kept afunder, the Nuns are frequently troubled with Great Bellies.

No mention of Ro. driguez having feen the old Patriarch, tho his chief business in Ethiopia wasto fetch him from thence, if he found him alive.

Rodriguez frights the old Patriarch out of his Province, to make room for his Succeffor.

These Monks are neither of the Order of St. Francis, nor St. Austin, but were founded by one Tecla Haymanot, that is, The Plant of the Faith, who was of the Order of St. Anthony. This Haymanot is a great Saint among them, and is faid to have killed a prodigious Serpent that was worshipped by the Heathens as a God, whom he converted by that means to the Faith that is still taught in Ethiopia.

Thus much of Rodriguez's Relation the Jefuits have thought fit to make publick; in which, notwithflanding there is not one word of the Patriarch Bermudes; yet that does not hinder it from having been Rodriguez's chief if not only bufinels in Ethiopia, to fetch him from thence.

For in a Letter of that Patriarch's, printed at Lisbon in the year 1568, it is faid, That Father Rodriguez was with him feveral days before he went to Court; and that when he returned from thence, he came to him again in a most desperate fright, pretending he had narrowly escaped having been murthered thered, for having afferted the Roman Doctrines; adding, That it was a madnefs for any one to think of reducing Ethiopia to the Roman Church, till the Heat they were in at prefent against it, was over.

Now what can be the meaning of the Iefuits having fo industriously suppressed all this; Rodriguez's Relation, as they have printed it, beginning immediately after his having left the Patriarch, and breaking off abruptly juft before he returned to him again; but that they were not willing that the world should know that the first Prelate of their Order was an Ufurper, and that they were forc'd to make use of art, to vacate a Province for him; which, as it was no good beginning, fo their Ethiopick Miffions, as we shall fee hereafter, fucceeded accordingly. Befides, what other defign could Rodriguez have in pretending to return to the Patriarch in fuch a mortal fright, as if he had narrowly escaped having been murthered for defending the Roman Church, which according to his own relation was falle; and in reprefenting the Reduction of Ethiopia to him as a thing not to be thought of? but only to fright him away, which it did. For by that means Rodriguez carried him with him to Goa, where he lodged him in the Jefuits College ; a Civility, that Order feldom or never pays to any Foreigner that they have not fome defign upon ; where after having kept him a Year, they embarked him for Lisbon, not taking any notice of his ever having feen or fpoke with his Succeffor, notwithstanding they were for some Months together gether in the fame College. But the poor old Patriarch, the Jefuits know beft by what accident, was dropt in the Voyage, in the folitary Ifland of St. Helena; where after having done Penance a Year, which was long enough, any one would have thought, to have fent fuch an old man into the next world, he met with an opportunity of proceeding on his Voyage, and in the year 1558, arrived fafe at Lisbon, where he lived fome years after, never refigning his Patriarchate, but with his laft breath.

Tellez the Jefuit apprehending that this Blot of their first Prelate's having been an Usurper, might at fome time or other come to be hit, has endeavoured to cover it, by affirming that Bermudes was never Patriarch of Ethiopia, but of Alexandria; for which he quotes both a Treatife of his own, and his Tombstone in the Church of St. Sebastian Pedreiro in Lisbon, in both which, faith Tellez, he is stiled Patriarch of Alexandria : But if this be not to cut a knot that he is not able to untye, nothing is fo; for befides that all the Hiftorians of his time speak of him still as Patriarch of Ethiopia, all of them, the Jefuits not excepted, agreeing that the Pope gave Bermudes no new Orders or Title, but only confirm'd those that had been conferr'd on him by the Abuna and Emperor of Ethiopia; who it is certain did never pretend to make a Patriarch of Alexandria. It is a Jeft for any one to think that the Pope would beftow the fecond Title in the Church upon an obfcure Itinerant, and who was ordained per faltum by a fingle Ethiopian Bithop. AS

As to Tellez's two Authorities for Bermudes having been Patriarch of Alexandria, all that can be faid to them is, That if there be any fuch things, they must have been foisted into those Monuments, by those who were concerned to have him pass for Patriarch of Alexandria, and not of Ethiopia : Tho by the. way, it is fomewhat ftrange, that Tellez, who lived most of his time within a Mile of the Church of St. Sebastian Pedreira, should not quote that Tombstone upon his own knowledge, but upon the Authority of a Book. Farthermore, fuppofing Bermudes to have had the Title of Alexandria given him by the Pope, that does not hinder but that he might have been Abuna of Ethiopia too; it being the Pope's common practice to confer the Oriental Patriarchates upon Prelates that are poffeffed of other great Bishopricks: So Cardinal Boniface was Bishop of Tusculum, and Patriarch of Constantinople ; and Cardinal Cajetanus was Archbilhop of Capua, and Patriarch of Antioch : And I do not believe there is one Prefident for the Popes having ever conferred any of those high Titles upon any Prelate that had not another Bishoprick.

Finally, Pius the IVth, during the time Bermudes was Patriarch, treated with Gabriel Patriarch of Alexandria, about his Submiffion to him as Patriarch of that See: The Hiftory of which Treaty, as not being foreign to my purpofe, I shall here fet down.

As the Popes when they are in any ftraits, which they do always reckon themfelves to be The Pope endeavours to hire the Patriarch of Alexandria to fubmit himfelf and his Church to him.

be in while there is any thing that looks like a General Council fitting, are, after the example of Eugenius the IVth. for making a noife with Eastern Submiffions to them; which is done on purpose to make the Latin Prelates ashamed to go about to leffen a Power to which Foreign Churches and Patriarchs are for yielding Obedience: Accordingly, Pius the IVth, in the year 1561, finding a Seffion of the Council of Trent could not be put off much longer, difpatched a couple of Jefuits, whofe names were Rodriguez and Elianus, with Bills for a confiderable Sum of Money to Grand Cairo, there to treat with Gabriel Patriarch of Alexandria, about his submitting himfelf and his Church to the Roman See.

Gabriel till he had received all the Money of the Venetian Conful, entertained the Fesuits with promifes; but after he had fingered all that he was to expect, he told them plainly, when they urged him to make his folemn Submiffion, and to deliver them an Inftrument thereof to carry to the Pope, That he would never do it, nor in the least violate the Establifhment of the Council of Calcedon, which made all the Patriarchs Independent one of another, and the Heads of their respective Churches ; and that the Patriarch of Rome if he should fall into any Errors was no less than the other Patriarchs to be judged by his Brethren. The Feluits, upon the Patriarch having changed his Note thus, alledged, That he had already in a manner (ubmitted himfelf to the Roman See, by barving in his Letters both to the prefent Pope, and to Paul the IVth. Abraham, who was present when the Patriarch made this Declaration, did not deny his having done it, but fmiling, told the fefuits, That he believed it was lawful on several occasions to diffemble as much as that came to, that being no more than what St. Paul himself had done, who declared, That he became all things to all men. He added further, That he had a Book wherein it was faid, That St. Paul when he was among the Heathens did act as a Heathen; and to ingratiate bimself with them the more, in order to their Conwersion at last; did worship their Idols. But notwithstanding Pius was thus Defeated as to this Patriarchal Submission, he had a Sham-one of a Mock-Patriarch of Babylon ready for the Council of Trent against it Sate next Year.

Rodriguez as he was returning to the Indies, had the following Account fent him by one Alfonso de Franca, a Portuguese Captain that belonged to the Court, of a Conference he had with the Emperor about Religion.

A trick of an Alexandrian Monk.

His

His Highness, faith Franca, intended to have caught me in the same trap be had let for your Reverence; and having drawn his water over great flats to his Mill, he charged me before all the Portugueses, and the whole Court, with having called him and Dioscorus, Hereticks; I made answer, That our Sacred Writings of the holy Councils, and our ether Hift cries of the Church for 1070 years, had still called them so, and that the Eastern Churches that were separated from the Roman did the same : To this he repli'd, That the our Hiftory might call them so, yet God knew what his own Scriptures faid of them. I rejoined, I was sensible that the Habaffins did look upon us as Neftorian Hereticks, pretending that we hold, that there are Two Perfons in Christ, which is what I am told to my face every day, and that the Treatile your Reverence Presented to bis Highness, did not prove the Truth of our Faith, by affirming that it was not credible that (o many Christian Kings being all united in one Faith and under one Pastor, should be all in the Wrong, and the Emperor of Ethiopia only in the Right; He Answered, I have hitherto lived in Peace and Amity with all Christian Kings, and that it was I only that endeavoured to bring him to be upon ill terms with them.

I told him, the Pope, and my Lord the King of Portugal, had fent me to reveal the fecret of our Holy Faith to him, which was all that I endeavoured; and for which if his Highnefs was diffleafed with me, I had a Religion and a King I would die for fooner than deny them : He told me further, That I had reported among his Subjects, that their Abuna's were fent to them from the Turks. I answered, that was a great truth, fince none of them were ever confecrated confecrated at Rome, or fent from thence. He then asked me, Why, fince I was fo great a Romanist. and a Bigot for my Faith, I had defired to be Baptized in Ethiopia, and to receive the Eucharift from them? As to Baptism, I faid there was no fuch thing, I having been Baptized when I was but Eight days old; but as to the Eucharift, it was true, that being once dangeroufly flick, I had defired it, which was a thing I thought I might lawfully do, in the extream necessity I was in at that time; and that I would do it again if there were the fame oceastion; and could not have the opportunity of a Roman Prieft. He told me, be would order it not to be given to me; St. Paul baving faid, there is but one Faith and one Baptism : To that I repli'd, If St. Paul faith fo, why is your Highness Baptized once a year ? This put him into a great Paffion ; and having given me a great many hard words, he put his Hand to his Sword ; which I having observed, I faid to him, Sir, I would not have your Highness defer punishing me; for, for this Truth of the good Jesus, I do not fear all the Kings of the Earth, nor none but him, whom we defire not to chasten us in his wrath : but for you, I would have you to chasten me in your anger; for as there is nothing so excellent as the Soul, so Iregard nothing that is not Infinite. I Spoke all this to him with an extraordinary courage; so that seeing me much more resolute than he had ever done at any time before, he went away and left me in the Field; fo that by what I can perceive by him, he will fooner put himself under the Turks, and so will his whole people too, who are all Dioscoreans, as are the Alexandrians, than yield obedieace to the Holy Pope.

I did

I did not care to acquaint you with this fooner, for fear of having discouraged your Reverence from using your utmost diligence in your Office.

But while things were in this Pofture in Ethiopia, at Rome and Lisbon they ftill continued to 'reckon it as good as reduced to the Roman Obedience; and that there was nothing wanting to perfect it but the new Patriarch's Prefence among them; who on the 15th of March 1556 fet Sail from Lisbon upon the Ship called the Graca, as Bishop Andrew did at the fame time upon the St. Vincent, and after a Tempestuous Voyage they arrived at Goa on the 13th of September of the fame Year.

It cannot be expressed how much the Patriarch was troubled at the News of the prefent Posture of Affairs in Ethiopia, which were brought by Rcdriguez to Goa a few days before he landed, it being a terrible difappointment to him, to find that a Work which he had thought would have done it felf, was next to impossible.

The Patriarch and Bifhop, with all their Companions, were lodged in the Jefuits Col-Bge, where they found the old Patriarch, but not a word of what paffed betwixt them, or of their having ever fo much as feen one another, tho' undoubtedly they did, having been feveral Months together in the fame Houfe. The new Patriarch having confecrated Melchior Elect of Nice, they begun to confult with the Viceroy what courfe they were to take; the Patriarch notwithftanding Rodri-He reguez melancholy Account of things, is faid to have been extreamly zealous to have gone to his Province, faying, He should either be able to effect there what he was lent to do, or should have the Honour of dying a Martyr. Neverthelefs, after feveral Confultations had been held about it, it was at laft refolved, That the Spaniard, Bishop Andrew, should be first fent thither with fome of the Fathers of the Million; but that the Patriarch, and the Portuguele Bishop, should remain at Goa till things were more promifing in Ethiopia than at prefent they were, of which, if it ever happened, Bilhop Andrew was to fend them intelligence.

In purfuance of this Refolution, Bishop Andrew embarked in February, and towards the latter end of March landed at Arkiko, where having made no ftay, he went on with a good Train of Portuguese to Deboraa, and was there received by Baburnagays, the Prince of the Country, with great kindnefs.

The Bishop to foon as he came to Debora, writ the following Letter to the Emperor.

HE Heavenly Father, with his Son Confubstantial and Eternal, and the Spirit the Comforter, one only God and Three Persons, be always with your Highness, with an abundance of his Divine Graces, that fo you may in all things know and follow his most Holy Will, according to what our Lord Christ hath (aid in St. John's Gofpel, My food is to do the will of him that fent me; teaching us likewife in St. Matthew's Gospel to pray, Thy will be done. The Catholick N 2 and mains there, and fends his Spanilb Coadjutor into Ethiopia, with a promifeof Portuguele Troops to be fent after him.

The Coadjutor's Letter to the Emperor. and Illustrious Don John, the Third King of Portugal, after he had prevailed with his Holine(s to fend a Patriarch with some Associates into Ethiopia, being thereunto moved by no worldly Interest, but purely by a Zeal for God, and the Love he has for your Highness, has been at a vast Charge (the particulars whereof his Highness might be acquainted with, if he plea(ed) to convey them to the Indies, where the Patriarch now remains, waiting your Highness's Pleasure, that when he comes, he may (erve Christ here the more effectually. It was nevertheles thought expedient, that I and Some of the Fathers of the Society should be sent before, the Patriarch having before I left Goa, invested me with full Authority, as his Coadjutor, which I was ordained to by his Holine(s; and accordingly we are come as far as Deboraa, where we have been kindly entertained by Bahurnagays, and have met with very good Company, namely, Francis Jacome, and divers other Portuguefes. Our business here is to serve God, and your Highness, whole Royal Perlon and Estate may God preferve for his greater Service and Honour. Amen.

Deboraa the 26th of March, 1557.

He goes to Court. The Coadjutor after having flaid three Weeks at Deboraa, intriguing with Bahurnagays about the Troops the Viceroy had promifed to fend after him, begun his Journey to Court, being waited upon all the way by that Prince, and being come within a days Journey of the Camp, he was commanded to ftop till he received further Orders, where having waited two days, he received Orders to advance, and and being come within Cannon-shot of the Camp, was commanded to pitch his Tent there, where having ftaid a Day and a Night, about Noon a great Troop of the Princes of the Blood, and chief Nobility, all wellmounted and equipped, came to wait on him to his Audience, two of which having alighted, went into the Coadjutor's Tent, and having complemented him in the Name of the Emperor, told him, His Highnefs was ready to give him a publick Audience, and had fent the Tplendid Body of Men he faw, to wait upon him to it. The Coadjutor having returned their Complement, he robed himfelf in his Pontificalibus, and mounted a Horfe that had been fent to him by the Emperor, and (befides the Habaffins, who paid their Respects to him one by one) he advanced towards the Royal Tent, attended with a numerous Train of Portuguese, who to do their Religion and their Country the greater Honour, had come from all parts of Ethiopia to be prefent at this Solemnity.

The Emperor having, contrary to Cuftom, ordered the Coadjutor, with his whole Train, to ride into the firft Court of the Palace, had placed himfelf with his Mother in a Window behind Curtains, to fee the Cavalcade; and after having waited a while in the firft Court, they were all commanded to alight, and to advance to the fecond, where they were not kept long before they were conducted into the Tent, betwixt a Guard of Old Men of the firft Quality, who with Batoons in their Hands, flood all in good order, paying their Respects to the Coadjutor as he passed by them with a pro-N 4

He is teceived with great Ceremony, found Reverence and Silence; from the Antichamber, where he did not wait long, he was introduced into the Emperor's Prefence by two of the Principal Minifters, whereof his Friend Bahurnagays was one; and having paid the cuftomary Obeifances, the Emperor received him with extraordinary Civility, asking him feveral Queftions about the King of Portugal, and the prefent State of his Affairs; as alfo concerning himfelf, and his Voyages, and Journeys: So foon as the Emperor gave over asking him Queftions, the Coadjutor prefented the Pope's, Ignatius, and the King's Letters to him, which the Emperor opened and looked into immediately; but he had not read far, before the change that was observed in his Countenance, did clearly difcover that he was not at all fatisfied with their Contents. and particularly with their fuppofing him to be a Member of the Roman Church ; a thing, faith a Tefuit who was prefent at the Ceremony, as far from his thoughts, as Rome is from Ethiopia; nevertheless, being a Wife and Well-bred Prince, and if they would have let him alone with his Religion, a great Friend to the Portugueses, he fo far diffembled his Refentments. as to difinifs the Coadjutor with great demonstrations of Kindness, granting him leave to come to him as often as he had any bufinefs with him.

He urges the Emperor to fubmit himfelf to the Pope.

The Coadjutor at all his following Audiences, was at the Emperor continually to fubmit himfelf and his Kingdoms to the Pope, affuring him, though he would not be fo civil as to believe him, That the Pope was Chrift's Vicar, Vicar, and St. Peter's Succeffor upon Earth, and that there was no Salvation for any one out of his Obedience.

The Answer the Emperor returned still to The Emall the Coadjutor's paffionate affurances was, That the Ethiopick Church had from the beginning been subject to the Chair of St. Mark at Alexandria, and that he was so fully satisfied of the Justice of that Obedience, that nothing in the world (hould ever be able to make him throw it off: and whereas he had been pleafed to charge the Ethiopick Church with holding divers Errors in Faith, if he would be at the pains to read over a Confession of Faith which he had Published lately, he would fee how unjust that Charge of Herely was, there being nothing in that Confession that was not taught by Chrift and his Apostles.

THIS is my Faith, and the Faith of my Fathers the Kings of Israel, and the Faith of my Flock, which is within the bounds of my Empire.

was made Man by the Holy Ghost, in the womb of the Virgin Mary; and who, when he was Thirty years of Age, was Baptized in Jordan; and being a perfect Man, was in the days of Pontius Pilate Crucified, and was Dead and Buried, and Rose again the Third Day; and on the Fortieth day after his Resurrection, did Ascend with Glory into the Heavens; where he state the right hand of the Father, and shall come again in Glory to Judge both the Quick and the Dead, whose Kingdom shall have no End.

We Believe also in the Holy Ghost, the Lord and Giver of Life, who proceedeth from the Father. We Believe one Baptism for the Remission of Sins, and do hope for the Resurrection of the Dead to the Life to come, Which is Everlasting. Amen.

We do walk in the plain and true way, declining neither to the right nor to the left from the Doctrine of our Fathers, the Twelve Apostles, and of Paul the fountain of Wisdom, and of the Seventy two Disciples, and of the Three hundred and eighteen Orthodox Assembled at Nice, and of the Hundred and fifty at Constantinople, and of the Hundred at Ephesus.

Thus I Profess, and thus I Teach, I Claudius Emperor of Ethiopia, my Royal Name being Atzmaf Sagbed, the Son of Uuanag Sagbed, the Son of Naod.

As to our observing the day of the old Sabbath, we do not keep it after the manner of the Jews, who Crucified Christ, saying, His Blood be upon us and our Children: For whereas the Jews do neither neither draw water, nor light a fire, nor boyl meat, nor bake bread, nor go from one house to another on that day : We do administer the boly Supper thereon; and, according to the Command of the Apofles in their Book of Doctrines, do keep the Love-Feasts. Neither do we observe it after the same manner as we do the Sabbath of the First day, which is a new day, and of which David (aid, This is the day that the Lord hath made, let us rejoyce and be glad therein; For on this day our Lord Fefus Christ role from the Dead, the Holy Ghost likewise descended on this day upon the Apostles in the Parlour of Sion; on this day Christ was also conceived in the womb of the Holy and perpetual Virgin Mary, and will come thereon to Reward the Righteous, and to Punish Sinners.

Neither do we Circumcife after the manner of the Jews; Paul the fountain of Wisdom having told us, That to be circumcifed profiteth nothing, nor to be uncircumcifed, but a new creation, which is Faith in our Lord Jefus Chrift: And who told the Corinthians, That he that had received circumcifion was not to be uncircumcifed ; all the Books of St. Paul's Do-Strine concerning Circumcifion and Uncircumcifion being in our hands: So that Circumcision is no otherwise in use among us, than as the Custom of a Countrey, as Incision in the Face is in some parts of Ethiopia and Nubia, and the Boring of the Ears in India ;-what we do therein being in compliance with a human Custom, and not in Obedience to the Mofaical Law.

And as to Swines Flesh, we do not abstain from that neither after the manner of the Jews, nor in Obedience Obedience to the Law of Mofes; neither do we abominate those, or reckon them to be unclean that do eat it, as we do not force those to eat it that have a mind to abstain from it; which is according to what our Father Paul writ to the Romans, (aying, He that eateth, let him not despife him that eateth not, for the Lord accepts both; for the kingdom of God confifts not in meat and drink : and in another place he faith, Every thing is clean to the clean, but it is evil for a man to eat with offence. It is faid likewife in Matthew's Gospel, That nothing defileth a man but what comes out of his Mouth, all that goes into the Belly being thrown into the draught. This teacheth us, That all Flesh is clean, and destroyeth the whole Fabrick of the Jewish Er-Tors.

Wherefore my Religion, and the Religion of my Priefts and Doctors who teach by my Command within the bounds of my Empire, is such as declineth neither to the right nor to the left, from the paths of the Gospel, and the Doctrine of Paul.

In the Book called Tarick, it is written, That the Emperor Conftantine commanded all the Jews to eat Swines flesh on the day of our Lord's Resurrection; whereas with us people are at their liberty to abstain from it or any other sort of flesh; there being some that love the flesh of Fish, others of Hens, and some abstain from Mutton, every one as to such things following his own appetite; there being no Law nor Canon of the New Testament concerning eating the flesh of Terrestrial Creatures; all things, according to St. Paul, being clean to the clean; and he that believeth may if he please eat eat all things. This is what I have writ, that you might know the Truth of my Religion.

Written at Damot on the 23d. of in the Year 1555.

The Emperor finding that no declarations he could make of his Refolution never to forfake the Religion of his Countrey, were able to make the Coadjutor give over teizing him, for quietnefs fake told him one day, That notwithstanding be was fully fatisfied with the Religion of his Ancestors in every point, nevertheless fince a Person of his Character and Authority had come so far to persuade him to submit himfelf to the Pope, he was willing to lay that whole matter before his Council, that he might have their Opinion about it.

The Coadjutor being fensible that this was only to put him off with delays, and at last to lay the blame of his not turning Roman-Catholick on his Councellors, whom, and especially the Queen-Mother, and the Officers of her Court, he knew to be mortal Enemies to Popery, he endeavoured to divert him from a course from which he expected no good, by the following Letter.

To the High and Powerful Emperor.

our Lord himself was when he was upon earth both in his Life and Death; neverthele(s as to what concerns their Office and Embassy, they must speak the truth, without respect of perfons, as Christ did when he answered the President in a matter wherein his Father's Honour was concerned. What I have to tell your Highness as a Publick Person, is to lay before you the business that brought me into Ethiopia; with which not with fanding your Highne (s bas been already acquainted both by Letter and by other ways, I do now tell you again, That I come from Rome, being fent by the Pope to be Coadjutor to the Patriarch who is now in the Indies, with whose Authority I am invested; that, as our case is at present, being what his Holines was pleased to bestow upon me, as appears from a Bull that I have brought with me, and which your Highness may see when you please; I do intend therefore at present to give an account of my having been sent hither by the Pope, and of what moved his Holine's to fend a Patriarch, with two Episcopal Coadjutors, and several Jesuits of great Learning and Piety, into Ethiopia. When the Pope fends a Legat or Patriarch to any Kingdom, be does not pretend thereby to make it his own, neither can be fell such Dignities, for that would be Simony; but he is always moved thereunto merely by the prospect of doing good to their Souls, as Christ hath commanded him in the Gospel, bidding him Feed his Sheep : And it was thus in our present case, wherein the Pope, without having any temporal view, but purely for the service of Christ, and the spiritual good of these Kingdoms, has done your Highne's this Favour, being thereunto moved, both by the great love he bath for your your Highness, and for all Christian Kings, who are many in number, and are all much concerned for your Highness, and the Grandeur of your State, baving a great affection for you, and by the good defires and disposition be was informed were in this Empire, and which he had a mind to improve. Now your Highness is to take notice, that these motives are things of great moment, and no flight matters betwixt such Eminent Persons. Your Father writ a Letter to the Pope, a Copy whereof I my lelf have seen at Rome, wherein he did acknowledge his Holine(s to be Chrift's Vicar, desiring him to lend him fome of his Learned Men: And befides, the King of Portugal, who is a Prince of great Truth, Said in my hearing, That your Highness had writ to him, that your Father had commanded you never to suffer any Abuna or Patriarch to come into Ethiopia, but who hould be fent from Rome; and that he was furthermore informed from hence, That your Highness had publickly yielded Obedience to the Pope, which, notwithstanding it was done during the War, yet after the War was over, Dom John Bermudes continued Patriarch here for three years, your Highness having beftowed all the Lands belonging to that Dignity upon him. For which realon, notwithstanding his Holiness should have demanded something of you, confidering his good intentions, and what he hath done in order to the fending of this Miffion, together with the Trouble and Dangers whereunto we have exposed our Persons, your Highness would have had no cause to have been displeafed with him upon that account, how much les then ought you to be fo, when he defires nothing from you, and hath without any thing of felf-interest fent into into your Empire the largeft Powers of Spiritual Graces, that, so far as I know, were ever sent before into any Christian Countrey; and has furthermore in his Bulls called your Highness, My Beloved Son; giving you also the Title of, The Illuftrious Emperor of Ethiopia.

Your Highness must therefore let me bave your Answer to what I have defired of you in his Holiness's Name, that I may take my measures accordingly: And in case your Highness has any Scruples about Matters of Faith, you would then do well to call a Convocation of your Learned Men, whose Objections I shall endeavour to answer in the Name of Christ; for since the Faith of Christ is but one, as St. Paul (aith in the 4th. Chapter to the Ephefians, one God, one Faith, one Baptifm, why (hould there be any differences among Christians ? And why (hould they not all agree in all Matters of Faith, fo as to hold nothing that is contrary to the Gospel of Christ? And if there is any thing wherein you think we are mistaken, and will offer any reason for it either out of the Gospel, or the General Councils of the Church, we shall be ready to follow the Truth; as on the other fide, if you (hould be made (enfible of our being in no Error ; you ought then together with us to follow the Truth of the Faith, according to what St. Paul faith in his first Chapter of his first Epistle to the Corinthians, See that you all fay the fame things, that fo there may be no Schifms, and not to follow the cuftoms of your forefathers, when they are contrary to the Truth. So when the Doctrine of Truth was preached by our Lord Christ to the Gentiles and Pagans, which he converted; ought not they to have received his Doctrines, alledging ledging they were contrary to the Customs of their Ancestors, and so have never believed in Christ, to their utter Perdition; neither is the known Truth to be forfaken for fear or shame of the World; for our Lord Christ bath faid, He that is ashamed of me, and of my words, Oc. David likewife in the 94th Pfalm faith, To day, if you will hear his voice, Orc. Your Highnels would do well, therefore, to confider how much it imports you to take good Advice in an Affair of fo high a na-ture, in which feeing all your People do depend upon you, our Lord will call you to a strict Account for their Souls. Confider how dangerous a thing evil Councellors are, as appears from the Case of Rehoboam; and Jacob (peaking of fuch, faid of Simeon and Judah, they were Veffels of Iniquity, my Soul enter not into their councils; and David, They have taken evil Council against. his People. And Ifaiah faith, The wife coun-fellers of Pharoab have given foolifh counfel; for which reason, Solomon in the 6th. of Ecclefiafticus faith, Be in peace with mrny: neverthelefs have but one counfeller of a thoufand. And in the first Pfalm, David (aith, Bleffed is the man that entereth not into the counfel of the wicked : furthermore Parents and Relations are seldom good Counsellers in Spiritual Matters. As our Lord Christ told St. Peter in the 10th. of St. Matthew, Flesh and blood, faith he, hath not revealed this unto thee. And the Prophet Micah in the 9th. Chapter faith; A man's enemies are those of his own house. And in the 10th of St. Matthew, Chrift faith, Think not that I came to bring.

bring peace on the earth : I tell you nay, but a fword; for I came to fet a man at variance with his Father, and the Daughter with the Mother, and the Daughter-in-law with the Mother-in-law; and a man's enemies shall be those of his own house; for he that loveth Father or Mother more than me, is not worthy of me. And in the 12th. of St. Luke, he faith again, Think you that I came to bring peace upon the earth? And in the 14th. Chapter of the same Gospel, he saith, If any man come to me, and hate not Father and Mother, &c. From all which we may learn, That Parents and Relations are commonly Spiritual Enemies. Christ himself having said, A man's enemies are those of his own house, and that be came to divide the one from the other, and that whofoever hateth not Father and Mother in fuch cafes, cannot be his Disciple. And what be taught others as to this matter, he confirmed by his own Example, when without asking his Holy Mothers advice, who undoubtedly would never have counfelled him to have done any thing that was amis; he remained disputing in the Temple; and understanding his Mother had been in great Pain for him; and had been seeking after him, he made her an over, when the told him of it, Wift you not that I must be about my Father's businefs; intimating to us by this Carriage, That in Matters appertaining to God, we are not bound to advile with our Friends and Parents, and especially when they endeavour to hinder us from doing what is good; for in such cases he commands us to hate them. May our Lord give your Highness good good and true Counfel in all things, and Grace always do his Will, and bereafter to enjoy his Holy Glory. Amen.

The 22d. of Fune, in the Year 1557.

Now were ever a poor Empress, and Council of State libelled fo out of Scripture, or pelted out of a Concordance before? Or was the folly of a Peoples being obliged to be of a Religion, becaufe it was the Religion of their Ancestors for feveral Ages, ever more feverely exposed ? Besides, there is one thing remarkable in this Letter, which is the Bishop's affirming positively, That Bermudes was, and did act for fome years as Patriarch of Ethiopia, and as fuch had the Lands' belonging to that Dignity fetled upon him by the Emperor.

After this Letter, the Emperor and the Bi- Several shop had divers Conferences about Religion, but without any effect, the Emperor growing daily more zealous for his Ancient Faith, and averse to that of Rome. The Bishop being piqued with this ill fuccefs, challenged all the Learning of Ethiopia to a publick Disputation ; which being accepted, the Emperor himfelf bore a great part in it, defending the Haballin Faith with that Dexterity and Learning, that the Jefuits themfelves confess he did fometimes put the Bishop hard to it to answer him. The Habaffins were fo encouraged by having fuch a Champion on their fide, that the Bishop was never denied a publick Difputation when he defired it; and tho he is faid by his Brethren  $O_2$

Conferences about Religion,

Brethren to have ftill come off victorious, the Habaffins did always triumph, the Bishop being laughed at by them as the most baffled Man that ever pretended to weild an Argument.

The Bishop growing weary of disputing, betook himself to his Pen again; and having Composed a Treatife against all the Habassian Errors, he Presented it to the Emperor, conjuring him to read it without Prejudice. The Emperor promised to do so, but was so far from being converted by it, that if it were possible he was setted in his Ancient Faith thereby more than he was before; Writing a Book not only in Answer to that of the Bischop's, but one also in Defence of his own Church; declaring in them both, that he had feen nor beard nothing to convince him, that as a Christian he was bound to submit himself and his Empire to the Pope.

The Bishop finding his Writings were as Unfuccessful as his Conferences and Disputations, left the Court in Wrath, retiring to a place called Decome, where he had not been long before he thundred out the following Excommunication.

The Emperor anfwers the Coadjutor's Book; and writes one in defence of his own Faith.

Andrewd

of ETHIOPIA.

Andrewd' Oriedo, by the Grace of God, and the Apostolical See, Bishop of Hieropolis, and Coadjutor to the most Reverend Father in Christ and Lord, John Nunes Baretto, Patriarch of Ethiopia.

S it is profitable to Publish and Praise such I things as are Good, on purpose to ingage People to follow them; so it is likewife necessary to Declare and Censure publick Evils, that People may avoid them. Wherefore, fince the People of Ethiopia, notwithstanding their having had all the Articles of the Roman Faith preached to them in such a manner, that all that were disposed to learn it, cannot but be thorowly acquainted therewith, do with great Obstinacy continue to deny Obedience thereunto, and not only fo, but did on the Ogge of the last Year, cause a Proclamation to be made at the Market-Cross, prohibiting all Persons upon pain of Death to go into any of our Churches, adhering still to the Customs of their Fore-fathers, and that as appears to us not out of Ignorance, for that cannot be, confidering how many things they hold that are notorioully Evil, and contrary to the Service of our Lord.

We do therefore define, and by Sentence declare, That all the People of Ethiopia, Great and Small, Learned and Unlearned, do deny to yield that Obedience to the Holy Roman Church which they and all other Churches are in Duty bound to yield, the Roman Church being the Head of all Churches, and the Pope of Rome the Father, Paftor, and Superior of all Christians. They do likewife on di-Vers vers Occasions repeat Baptism, which is contrary to the Faith. And do also publickly observe Saturday, which they did not formerly in Ethiopia. And do Circumcife themfelves, and their Slaves, as also all the Converts they do make at any time to Christanity, forcing many of them to submit to it. They also hold it to be a Sin to eat Hare or Swines Flesh, or any of the Meats prohibited by the Mofaical Law, which Law was abolished by the Death of Chrift, and is contrary to what he has commanded in his Gospel. Several among them bolding it likewife to be a Sin to go into a Church on the day on which they have known their Wives, which is no where prohibited by Christ or his Church. Their Learned Men do alfo with great Zeal maintain, That there is but one Nature, and one Operation in Christ, and that Christ's Humamanity is equal with his Divinity, which is contrary to the Faith of the Gospel; and the Synods which do teach, That Christ bath two Natures. and two Operations, and two Wills in one Perfon, and that he is equal to the Father as to his Divinity, but inferior to him as to his Humamity.

They do also keep a Festivity to Dioscorus, the Defender of the Heretick Eutyches, who together with Eutyches stands condemned by the Church; for which reason Dioscorus ought not to be esteemed a Saint in Ethiopia; holding divers other things that are contrary to the Roman Faith, which ought not to be, being there is but one Faith, which is that of the Roman Church, which by reason of Christ's promise to her can never err. We do therefore admonish all our Spiritual Son's to separate themselves from these, and all other Errors of of Ethiopia, &c. so as not to fall into any of them. And as for the Ethiopians, we do remit them to the Judgment of the Church, and of the Prelates thereof, to Punish them in their Persons or Estates, publickly or privately, or to use mercy with them in whole or in part, as they shall think fit; and especially if they should be hereafter Converted; which God in his Mercy give them Grace to be.

Made at Decome in Ethiopia, upon the 2d. of February, 1559. Gancalo Cardozo Notary Apostolick; Andrew Bishop of Hieropolis.

This was published in our Church of Decome on the 2d. of February 1559. Whatever ease the publication of this Censure might give the Coadjutor's mind, which was strangely exulcerated by the Triumphs of the Habassis, it is certain it had no more effect upon the Emperor, than his Conferences and Books had had; Who the more be knew of Popery and its ways, the worse be liked it.

But while Claudius histhoughts were wholly employed in Difputing with, and Writing against the Bishop, and Fathers, Nur the Son of Madi Ali Guasil, and the King of Adel, having observed the present weakness of the Habassim Empire, and how its Frontiers lay open, Invaded it with a great Army; and meeting with little or no opposition, were got into the bowels of it before Claudius ever so much as dream'd of an Invasion; nevertheless when the alarm of it came from all quarters, Claudius laying aside his Pen and O 4 Books Books, called for his Sword, and having fweeped together a confused rabble of an Army, he took the Field, and being come within fight of the Enemy, was fo ill advised as to give him Battel; in which Claudius was not fo fuccessful, as he was faid to have been in his ergoteering Combats, his Army being totally Routed, and he himself Slain fighting Manfully against the Infidels.

The Portugueles, though angry with Claudius, do him the Juffice to acknowledge that he was a Prince of admirable natural Parts, and for an Habaffin, of very good Learning; and as he was every way much a Gentleman, that he would also have been extraordinary kind to the Portugue (es that remained in Ethiopia for the great Service they had 'done, had it not been for two things; the one was, that they would never let him alone with his Religion, which he was extreamly Zealous for; and the other was, that under a pretence of introducing the Roman Faith into Ethiopia, they had a defign either to make themfelves Mafters of its Sea-ports, or to have put them into the hands of a Creature of their own, as they had done in feveral parts of India, after they had by fome plaufible pretence or other got footing in them; and as the close Correfpondence they maintained with Baburnagays, the Hereditary Governor of the Provinces on the Sea-Coast, was fufficient to give Claudius some umbrage of this defign, so if he ever. happened to intercept any of the Bishop's or Father's Letters, he must have been abundantly fatisfied of the truth of it; the fending ot of Millionary Troops into Ethiopia, without which the Ecclefiaffical Millionaries would be able to do nothing there, being, as we shall fee hereafter, the burden of all their Letters.

So feeble a thing is Popery to make way for it felf into any Countrey, without the affiftance of Apostolical Dragoons.

Nur, after having ravaged and plundered the greateft and richeft Provinces in Ethiopia, returned home laden with Spoils and Honour; but when he came near his Metropolis, inflead of making a Triumphant entry, as was expected, he mounted a forry Mule wretchedly Equipp'd, and rid thereon thorough all the Acclamations of his People; and being asked the reafon why he did fo, his anfwer was, That fince it was God alone that won the late Victory, it was but just that he alone fhould have the whole Glory of it.

Claudius having left no Sons, was Succeeded by his Brother Adam, who had been a Captive feveral years in Arabia, and who from the day he came to the Crown, declared himfelf an irreconcilable Enemy to the Church of Rome, and accordingly as his first act of Government, was the prohibiting all Habaffins what sever, under severe Punishments, to go into the Latin Church ; fo his first act of feverity, was the ordering of a Habaffin Woman for having turned Papift, to be whipped thorough the freets: and among other reasons that he gave for the greatness of this his Rage against Popery, one was, That the having Tolerated it in Ethiopia, had cost his Brother his Life, and his Empire

Empire a vast treasure both of Money and Blood: And in order to the extirpating fo pernicious an Inmate, as he reckoned it to be, he first took all the Lands which had been given by his Brother to the Portugueses for their Service, from them; and afterwards their Children, committing them to the care of such as would be sure to Educate them in the Alexandrian Faith. After this, he Commanded the Coadjutor to be apprehended and thrown into Prison, threatning to Burn him and his Jesuits alive, if they did not give over corrupting his People with their false Doctrines: And having one day ordered the Coadjutor to be brought before him, he fell upon him after a most barbarous manner, asking him, Whether it was not sufficient that he suffered him to live in his Empire to look after his Portugueses, but he must be corrupting his Monks and Subjects with his Heresies? adding, let me advise you, as you love your Life, not to tamper any more with my Subjects. The Coadjutor made answer, That he did nothing but what his Office obliged him to, and that he would do, whatever it cost him. This refolute Answer put Adam into fuch a fury, that after having called the Coadjutor a great many bard Names, and asked him, How be durst come into Ethiopia to Preach his Lies and Fopperies in it? He flew upon him, and tore his Robes, the Courtiers having much ado to take him off; and having fent for him another time, he told him after a great deal of foul Language, That if he would not promise to give over Corrupting bis Subjects, his head should pay for it. The Coadjutor without answering a word, Croffed his Arms, and bung down his Head.

Head, making a tender of his Neck to him; this put Adam in fuch a rage, That he drew bis Cimiter in great fury with an intention of gratifying the Coadjutor: But behold a Miracle, fay the Jesuits, When Adam's Arm was lifted up to have given the fatal blow, his Cimiter dropt out of his band, to the great mortification of the Coadjutor, who had flattered himself with the hopes of dying a Martyr prefently : But though Adam was hindered by that Miracle from executing what he had defigned, he was to far from being any ways foftened by it, that he told the Coadjutor with great difdain, What I warrant you, you are ambitious of being made a Martyr by my hand; go get you gone out of my presence, and let me bear no more of you and your falle Doctrines; for if I do, I (hall find a baser hand somewhere that (hall gratifie you in making you a Martyr, fince you bave a mind to be one.

But the chief caufe of Adam treating the Coadjutor and Portugues thus, discovered it felf in a fudden Rebellion that brake out a- Bahuruagainst him at this time, of which their old gays takes friend Bahurnagays was one of the chief, who having retired from Court to his Government, kept upon the Sea-coaft in expectation of the Portuguele Succors which the Viceroy had promifed to fend after the Coadjutor into Ethiopia; which not coming fo foon as they were expected, the Coadjutor had fent one Andrew Galdamas, a Spanish Jesuit, to the Indies to haften them over, by affuring the Viceroy, That there was no Conversion to be made in Ethiopia without the affiftance of fome Catholick Troops. But Father Andrew being difcovered discovered at Arkiko, as he was ready to have embarked on a Ship belonging to the Baneans, was hewed in pieces by the Mahometans. Father Teller after having pronounced Father Andrew a Martyr, justifies the cause of his death, by affirming, Que esta sempre à pratica dosque tem experientia de Ethiopia, que sem as armas namam que, defendam & Authorizem à os pregadores Catholicos, nam poderam nunqua ter o Successo deseiado entre aquelles Schismaticos; that is to fay, It had always been the opinion of such as had any experience in the Affairs of Ethiopia, that unless the Catholick Preachers were defended and authorized by Dragoons, they would never have the fuccess that was defired among those Schismaticks.

Adam being fenfible of this, and dreading nothing to much as the coming of Portugue/e Troops into his Empire, notwithstanding the grofs of the Rebellion was in an Inland Province, where they had Proclaimed one Talcaro, a Son of Adam's elder Brother, Emperor; He marched first against Baburnagays, refolving if it were poffible, to break his Army before it received a Portuguele Reinforcement. Adam had two Battels with Baburnagays : In the first he is faid to have been worfted by him; but to have routed Baburnagays to that degree in the laft, that he was forc'd to fculk about the Seacoaft with a handful of Portugues, all of that Nation that were at liberty in Ethiopia, having run into him when he first took up Arms.

Adam having thus quelled Baburnagays, and being inform'd, that now the Moçons were over, over, there was no fear of Ethiopia being trou- He is roubled with any Portuguese Troops for one fix ted, and Months at leaft. He marched back to find out his Nephew, who had been Proclaimed Turks. Emperor, and being come up with him, he obliged him to come to a Battel; the Fight continued obstinate for fome hours, but in the conclusion the Rebels were overthrown, and Tascaro being taken Prisoner, had his head chopped off immediately by his Uncle's order.

Adam after these Victories thought to have taken fome reft; when intelligence was brought him, that Bahurnagays despairing of finding mercy at his hands, and of the coming of the Portuguele which had been promifed him, had with the handful of Portugues that fluck to him, taken Sanctuary among the Mahometans, and was incouraging them to invade Ethiopia.

The honeft Author of the Afia Portuguele, faith, This trick of the Portngueles going over with Bahurnagays to the Turks, was fo ill taken by the Habaffin Emperors, that they could never after that endure to hear of having any Soldiers of that Nation in their Countrey; but as we shall fee hereafter, that did not hinder the Miffionaries, who defired to fee fuch Troops in Ethiopia above all things in the world, from He brings making bold to fend for them in their Names. the Turks befides, by making them Mafters of the whole Coaft of the Red-Sea; fo having once got them into their hands, they have taken care to keep them, continuing Mafters of them to this day.

Adam not being able to brook this lofs, and the great devastations that were made by the Infidels in the beft Provinces of his Empire, refolved to venture it all, or to recover what he had loft ; and fo tho he was fensible of his Armies being in all respects inferior to that of the Enemy; yet being pushed on by his rage, he determined to bid them Battel; which the Infidels having accepted of, did maul the Habaffins fo with their Artillery, that they prefently gave ground, Adam himfelf being overthrown upon heaps of his flain Men, most of the rest that fled being either made Prifoners, or put to the Sword. The whole Habaffin Baggage having upon this total rout fallen into the hands of the Mahometans; among it the Coadjutor and his Jesuits, whom Adam had carried along with him as Hoftages in all his Marches, were found, and were all ftripped with the flain, before Baburnagays and his Portuguese could come to their Relief.

So that notwithstanding the Bishop and his Fathers had their full revenge of Adam for having treated them so barbarously; yet I do not find that they much bettered their condition by it. One of the Fathers in z Letter that was writ after Adam was shain, telling his Brethren at Goa, that at the writing thereof, they were in as lamentable an

Adam being flain, was fucceeded by his Son Malac Saged, who was Crowned and Anointed at Axun, and who tho he Reigned Thirty Years, was never one day out of War either with his Neighbours or Subjects, and as to the main was Victorious still; and tho he hated the Roman Church no lefs than his Father; neverthelefs having his thoughts wholly taken up with War, he gave the Coadjutor and the Feluits, after they returned to Fremona, no manner of Molestation, unless they were troubled at his taking no more notice of them than if there had been no fuch perfons in his Countrey : Neither did the Coadjutors declaring himfelf Patriarch, upon his having received advice of the Patriarch Baretto's death, who died at Goa on the Twentieth of December, 1562, ingage the Emperor to have ere the more regard for him; and as the Emperor gave the Patriarch no trouble in his retirement, so neither did the Patriarch give him any, who defpairing of being able to do any good in Ethiopia, without the affiftance of the Portuguese-Troops, made the folliciting of them his whole business. So in a Letter to the General of the Jesuits bearing date the 2d of June, 1566. he tells him, There was one thing he and the Fathers were all agreed in, which was, That nothing but a good body of Portuguese Soldiers would ever be able to reduce Ethiopia to the the Obedience of the Roman Church; and in one of the fame date to the Rector of the Feluits College at Goa, he tells him, There was one thing be might be certain of, which was, that there was no other remedy for Ethiopia, but a good body of Portuguese Troops, adding, that if they had but 5 or 600 fout Musketeers, he would undertake for the reducing of Ethiopia to the Roman Church in a short time : Concluding his Letter with a complaint, that more men were daily exposed to greater dangers for things of much less Importance, even to the State and where the successwas infinitely more doubtful. And Manuel Fernandes in a Letter to the Provincial and Feluits of Goa, chimes exactly with his Patriarch, in this note. What shall I fay, faith Fernandes, my dearest Fathers and Brethren! to blame your Reverences who are in India for the great neglect of not having sent the Troops whereon the Reduction of this Empire depends intirely, I know would be unjust; being certain, that if it had been in your Reverence's power to have appli'd it, . that we had had that remedy long before this time : Nevertheless there is one thing I must beg of you, and that is, That fince your Reverences do heartily with that we had those Soldiers, the it is not in your yower to fend them to us, that you would pray earneftly to Christ to put it into their hearts, in whose power it is to do it effectually. I am likewife certain, that if your Reverences did but see what is lost here in Ethiopia for want of a handful of men, who would also be able to protect those who have already embraced our Faith, that you would run howling and lamenting so great a loss thorough all the streets of the City: Your Reverences may think of this what you please, but I do say and affirm, That the

the Order of Jesuits has no where fo noble and glorious an enterprize upon their hands as this of Ethiopia, if they could but finish it : Neither ought it to feem strange to you, that we should fay, That a body of Soldiers is necessary to the reduction of this Church, confidering that there is nothing more certain, than that at the same time you lose the favour of the King, the work of conversion goes on but very dull; and no wonder, fince even in Portugal, the Prelates, if they had not the affiftance of the Secular Arm, would not be able to do their duties; and though it is true that we pretend to have no other business here but the service of God, and the promotion of the good of peoples Souls; yet it is certain, that those Troops, if they were once here, would quickly clear this Empire of all its Foreign. and Domestick Enemies, chiefly of the Turks and Galls, by whom it is at this time fo miferably baraffed, and against whom the unhappy Natives are not able to make head; who as they contradict our Lord, so our Lord contradicts them in chastifing them with flies, for the Galls are no better : It being an unconceivable thing, how such a forry naked People (hould be able to do the things that they do against the Habaffins, who have both Arms and Horfes, were it not that God makes, and will make Wur against them, until such time as they shall give over making War against bis Divine Majesty: Wherefore fince a good body of Soldiers would remedy all our wants, Spiritual and Temporal, let me again beg it of your Reverences, to beleech God to fend us this necessary Succour.

I would have your Reverences likewife remember, with how great Zeal and Charity our holy Father Ignatius commanded our Superiors in Portugal, P not nos to fail to fpeak to the King, who is now with God, once a Month, at leaft, concerning the Habaffin Miffion : But though my intent in putting you in mind of this, fhould not be to engage you to do the fame with the Viceroy; yet this I will affirm, That fince this is the Caufe of God, and the Society, and fo great a Caufe too, that you ought never to give over foliciting both God and Princes about this affair : So that it may never be faid of us, They begun to build, but could not finish. Finally, I do affure you, That if we had but those Troops once, that not only Ethiopia, but another Europe would be brought quickly to the Knowledge of Christ, and the Obedience of the Roman Church.

The Jefuits of Goa, Lisbon, and Rome, were fo inflamed by thefe paffionate Letters, thatthe Cardinal Don Henry, who during the Minority of his Nephew Don Sebastian, governed Portugal, could not be quiet day nor night for them, his not ordering fo fmall a body of Men to be fent where they would infallibly do both the Church and Crown fo great fervice, being every where roared at by them, as both the most ungodly and impolitick thing that any Government had ever been guilty of.

The Cardinal of Portugal prevails with the Pope to call the Patriarch out of Ethiopin. The Cardinal and Council of State, who weighed things a little more foberly than the diffreffed Jefuits in Ethiopia, finding they could not well fpare fo many Soldiers at that time, from the more profitable Conquefts they were going on with in the Indies, refolved, fince they could not comply with the loud clamours of the Jefuits, to remove the caufe of them, by writing to the Pope to recal the Patriarch Patriarch and his Friars, and to fend them fomewhere elfe, where they might do more good. and make less noise; by representing the Conversion of the Habassins to him as a thing not feifable.

The Pope, who at that time was Pius the Vth. believing what the Cardinal had writ to him in the Name of the King of Portugal, difpatched the following Letters of Revocation to the Patriarch, which the Cardinal took care to forward with all poffible expedition.

TN this prefent year 1567, with some Letters from the College of St. Paul at Goa, a Copy of an Apostolical Brief from your Holine's to me, came to my hands; wherein among other pious, devout, and holy things, are these words; We do exhort you in the Lord, and in virtue of holy Obedience, and Remiffion of your Sins, do command you, by the first opportunity you shall have of failing after the receit of these our Letters, to depart for the Island of Fapan, or the Kingdom of China. And a little lower there are these words, We do furthermore by the fame Apostolical Authority, difpenfe with you fo, that in cafe there is no hopes of reducing Ethiopia to the Church, you may go into those parts, and there remain without any fcruple of Confcience.

To which Apostolical Letters, no lefs than if I had received their original. [prepared my felf to yield obedience, as it is fit, Just, and healthful, that we should at all time, and in whole and in part obey your Holines; for in obeying you, Most Holy Father, we obey Christ the only begotten Son of God, in whose place you are upon earth, our Head and Father, and the Master of all faithful Christians; all the Indulgence, Order, and Power of the Church of Christ being derived from you to all others: The holy Mother-Church of Rome, whose whole Faith never did nor never will fail, and who is the Mother and Mistress of all the Churches in the world, and of all faithful Christians, being continued in your Pontificate.

As to your baving commanded me to go to the Island of Japan by the first convenience, I have had no opportunity fince I received your Commands, and so am excused for not being gone; neither in truth can I embark here with any safety, there being a thousand Turkish Ships, and not one Christian in the Port of Matzua at this time. As to what is faid of having any hopes of the reducing of Ethiopia, I should quickly have such hopes, could we but have Five or Six hundred Portugueses fent hither from the Indies, according to what was agreed before I left Goa, upon the advice they had received there, of the obstinacy of the King of Ethiopia, and which we have been now long expecting. Were this once done, I fould not only hope to see Ethiopia quickly reduced, but (hould be infallibly certain of it : With which Troops we should not only be able to convert all this Empire, but innumerable multitudes of Heathens also, into whole Countries they might march from hence, without crossing any Sea: Which Hea-thens being a simple fort of people, and not much addicted to Idolatry, might be converted with great ease. We have been told that great numbers of them have petitioned the King of Ethiopia to be made Christians, but have been denied out of temporal respects, the Ethiopians reckoning that after they are Christians it is not lawful to make them Slaves, as they do now in vast numbers. The Heathens that defired this, were of Damut, a Countrey that abounds with Pure Gold, and is faid P 4 to reach to the King of Portugal's Territories which are about Mofambique and Sefalia. There are Heathens likewife in another Countrey called Sinaxi, which is also full of Fine Gold, and who about three years ago offered to a Prince who is nearly related to the King of Ethiopia, if he would but defift from the War he had begun upon them, both to turn Christians, and to pay him a Yearly Tribuie. It is from among these Heathens, but chiefly thefe of Dambut, that the Mahometan Merchants, who are in great numbers in these parts, do daily buy wast numbers of Slaves, which they (ell to the Moors and Turks: These Heathens would turn Christians with all their hearts, for they cry and take on lamentably when they are carried to the Ships; to which they are driven in such herds, that I am perfuaded that the Turks have bad at least an Hundred thousand of them, who make them all Mahometans, and who afterwards are known by experience to become fout Soldiers, and to do the Saracens great Service both by Sea and Land. All which milchiefs Five or Six hundred Portuguese Soldiers, if we had them here, would remedy, and would do extraordinary fervice to the state of India, and to all the Christians thereof; for if the Turks should once make themselves Masters of Ethiopia, it would be of fatal consequence to the Portuguese Interest in the Indies; there being divers things in this Countrey, that would be ferviceable to them in reference to their Galleys, as Slaves, Iron, and other Provisions.

The King that first began to perfecute our Holy Faith, and all his Ministers, are now in their Graves; and his Son, who now reigns, is not Absolute, lute, the Royal Authority having been much shaken and impaired of late, God in his Justice having fo ordered things, that he that refused to obey him, and submit himself to the Roman Church, from which all that have separated themselves obstinately have been destroyed, and have fallen under the yoke of Infidels, (hould not be obeyed by his own Subjects. The people here are all in pieces, and are to cowed by the devastations the Turks have made among them, that they think of nothing, but how to live and keep their Estates. But the the late King and his Ministers were possessed with a strange Rage against the Catholick Faith, and us Catholicks, the common people and some others seemed to be well enough disposed towards it. For our part we have not been sparing of our pains to preach to them; and besides divers Conferences and Disputations both private and publick that we have had with them, we have written divers Treatifes against their Errors, and have got them translated into Habassin; so that all the Doctrines of Faith have been sufficiently promulgated to them, if they could but be persuaded to embrace them; not but that there are great numbers of them who are [atisfied of the truth of our Faith, but who either out of shame, or fear of punishment, are afraid to pro-fels it: For which reason there are several that would be glad to see some Portuguese Troops here to defend them in the Faith after they have profeffed it; out of which, by reason of their being but weak therein, they are now eafily terrified, as a great many have been; the there are some who notwithstanding all the contradiction they have met withal, do continue stedfast therein.

It

The Church-History

It is a common Tradition here, That the Portugueses are to come among them to make them of the same Faith with themselves; and they say further, and we believe it to be true. That this distracted Empire will never be in peace or any tolerable order, until they come; which though they (hould, and with an intention of offering Violence, would give no offence to any body; not to Catholicks to be fure, there being no reason why they should be offended at it; no nor the Habaffins neither, for I am persuaded that if such a number of Portuguele Troops were here, their name without striking a stroke would do the work, fo that they would look more like Friends than Enemies; and I am certain, that if they had come when we expected them, this whole Empire had been in the Obedience of the Roman Church before this time, and it will be the fame thing if they (hould come 2072.

Wherefore, most holy Father, fince all these things do belong to your Office, who are the Universal Pastor, feed these your sheep with wholsome food, and provide a necessary remedy for them, by writing to the most Serene King of Portugal for some Troops, and by acquainting his Ambassador at your Court, with the necessity there is of sending them bither; for to tell your Holiness my mind frankly, I am of opinion, That Ethiopia ought not to be deferted.

But after all, if there is no perfuading the King of Portugal to fend a body of Soldiers bither, for which for the good of Ethiopia, let me beg it of your Holiness a second time to write to him, he must then be desired to send a good Fleet hither to carry off the Catholicks; for should it be such Such a one as is talked of, it would not be able to carry one of them to the Indies, the Turks being very strong at present in Matzua and all these Seaports; and whatever is done, let us not lose any of the Catholicks that are here, by leaving them in the hands of Hercticks and Infidels; who after the Heads of their Families and Priests, who are mortal as well as other men, are dead, will be in danger of being lost.

Finally, I defire to be advised of what your Holines's would have done; and as to what concerns my own Person, most holy Father, I am by God's Grace prepared to Obey your Will, by either continuing where I am, or by going to Japan, or to the Turks if your Holines's should Command me, or by laying down my Patriarchal Dignity, to serve my Fathers the Jesuits, or your Holines's in your Kitchen, or in any other post. And if it shall seem good to your Holines, I do beg some Indulgences of you for the remission of our Sins. Farewel great Father.

Andrew Patriarch of Ethiopia.

This Letter of the Patriarch's gives the Reader a clear view of the true temper of the Roman Miffionaries, and of the methods they are for making use of in the Conversion of Heretical Kingdoms to the Roman Church; it discloseth likewise, the true secret of Baburnagays's Rebellion, which which was of fuch fatal confequence to Ethiopia; it being faid in this Letter, That the Coadjutor before he left Goa, had a promife that a good Body of Portuguefes fhould be fent after him; as it is alfo, that if thefe Troops had arrived when they were expected, which was when Baburnagays was' first in Arms, the Habassin Church had been reduced to the Obedience of the Roman before the writing of that Letter.

Now what should it be that hindered the Portuguese Government, which still pretended that the propagating of the Roman Faith, was its chief aim in all its remote Conquests, and whose title to them all, was founded solely on that pretence, from sending such a handful of Men, to do the Church so signal a service as the Converting of another Europe to it?

It was not that they were fearful that the Number of Soldiers that was defired. would not have been able to have done that great work, for that confidering what was done by Gama with a fmaller number, and that it is not common with the Portugueles to diffrust their own ftrength in fuch cafes; whatever was, this could not be the caufe of it; and if this was not, one may venture to fay, it was not that they reckoned it a fcandalous thing to go about to Convert an Heretical Kingdom by Dragoon Miffionaries, that being a thing, as the Patriarch truly observes in his. Letter, That no true Roman Catholick could be offended at.

The reafon why the Portuguefes fent no Troops into Ethiopia, when fo ftrongly folicited to do it.

The

The true caufe therefore of their denying fo inconfiderable an aid to do fo great a work, though fo vehemently folicited to do it, was, that though at first they had promifed themfelves great matters from the reduction of Ethiopia to the Obedience of the Roman Church, they found afterwards that the doing of it would be of little or no advantage to them, by reafon of its lying quite out of the way of their great Indian Trade, and its having no native Commodities to countervail the great Charge, its remotenefs, and the neighbourhood of the Turks, would neceffarily put them too, to maintain an interest in it.

Neither were the Patriarch and Fathers fuch weak Men as not to know at what their bufinefs fluck, who therefore took care in all their Letters to affure the Government, that befides divers other Commodities, there was abundance of Fine Gold in fome parts of Ethiopia; and that Damut, which might eafily be Converted by 600 Soldiers, and which was likewife full of Gold, did reach to Mofambique and Sefala, the beft Portuguefe Plantation in the Indies; but the Government, it feems, either did not believe thefe reports, or thought they fhould Buy fine Gold there too dear to turn to any account.

So that the Spanish Minister had this among other Instances undoubtedly in his eye, who told Philip the IVth. That it was a vain conceit the World had entertained of the

The Church-History

the Zeal of the Portugueses upon the ac-count of the Conversions which had been made by them in the Indies; for it was Covetouiness and not Zeal that had engaged them to make all those Conquests; the Conversions that bad been made in those parts having been performed by the Divine Power, and the Charity of a few particular Friars, the Crown and Government having had no other aim therein, but the Robbing of Kingdoms and Cities; and there were still the greatest Conversions where there was most to gratifie their Covetousness; but where there was nothing to be had, there the People were Obdurate and not to be wrought upon. And so we see their Zeal expired quickly where it was not animated by Covetousness; and how they who had nothing elfe to fay, but Lord open unto us, were not thought fit to enter into Heaven.

The Cardinal-Regent having prevailed with the Pope to recal the Patriarch, did order Ruy Laurenco de Tavara, who went Viceroy to the Indies in the year 1567. fo foon as he arrived at Goa, to fend fome Ships to Ethiopia to fetch off the Patriarch and the Fathers; but Tavara happening to die in the Voyage, thofe Orders, whatever was the reafon, were never executed; though if they had, fo foon as it was poffible, the Ships would have come too late for the Patriarch, who died at Fremena on the 9th. of July in the year 1567.

next world; that they might be found by Philip in poffeffion of that Miffion, they fent Two Fathers thither in the Habit of Armenian Merchants, hoping that under that difguife they might fteal into it without being difcovered by the Turks, who having got all the Habaffin Ports into their hands, were extremely watchful to keep out Portugue[es.

The Two Friars that were fent on this dangerous enterprife, were Antony de Monferrato, and Peter Pays, who were both Spaniards; It being the Cuftom of the Portuguele Superiors in the Indies, as has been observed before, when they have any Foreigners under them, to be fokind to them, as to give them fill the most hazardous Posts: Which, by the way, is no great argument of the Friars being always the most fond of the Millions in which their Lives are exposed to the most danger, as in all their Histories they are ftill represented to be; for if it were fo, it is. very firange that the Portugueles having their Countreymen still the Superiors, should not have that Intereft in them, as to carry 'the most defirable Employments from Foreigners, and especially Spaniards, of whole Honour they are naturally fo jealous.

But however that were, in the year 1588. the Two Spaniards were fent from Goa to Dio, where they waited fome Months before any opportunity of a paffage for Ethiopia did offer; during which time they went but little abroad, and when they did, it was always in a Turkifb Habit; in which they had fo difguifed themfelves, that Monferrate was pelied with fromes

But at last a Mabometan Pilot being spoke to by the Governor of Mafeate, whither the Fathers went from Dio, did undertake to put them both alhoar at the Port of Zeyla; whereupon they embarked on the 6th. of December, and after a few days Sail meeting with a violent ftorm, were driven ashoar on the Coafts of Arabia, where being difcovered to be Christian Priefts, they were both fent by the Governor of Defar to his Mafter the King of Zeal, who keeps his Court in a City of Arabia Felin, called Tarim, wherein they were both kept Slaves Seven years.

The Superiors at Goa having received advice of this, named one Abraham 'de Georgys, a Maronite Jefuit, and James Gonfalves, to go into Ethiopia; but Father Abraham when he came to Goa from Malabar, inftead of Father James, who was a Portuguese, had an Habafin Youth given him for his Companion.

The Maronite and Habaffin being arrived at Dio, found a Ship belonging to the Baneansready to fet Sail for Matzua, whereon they embarked as Turks; and when they landed at Matzua, were kindly received as true Muffelmen by the Governor, who himfelf was a Chriftian Renegado. These are the Inventions, as the Viceroy Albuquerque told Father Abraham at Goa when he first saw him in his Turkish Habit, wherewith the Jesuits seek to serve God, and to bring Souls to their Creator.

Abraham not thinking fit to diffemble any longer, told him boldly he was a Christian, Are you so, faid the Governor, then by the Great God if you do not turn Mahometan immediately, you shall lose your bead for having pretended to be one: Abraham made anfwer, My Life, it is true, is in your Power, but to make me turn Mahometan is not, neither will Lever do it: Whereupon the Governor, with a Renegado fury, commanded him to be tortured; which being done, he ordered his head to be Chopped off; but without raifing a (pring of fresh water, for that would have been a great benefit to the Island, which is much incommoded for want of it; but instead thereof, a prodigious Fire was seen for Forty Nights together over the place where his Body was Buried.

Gregory the XIIIth. having been informed of the great want the Portugueses that were in Ethiopia were in of a Prieft, did order one John Baptista, an Italian, to be Confectated a Bishop, Bishop, with an intention of fending him to them. This John Baptista had been fent by Gregory before, with Letters to Amba John, Patriarch of Alexandria, to perfuade him to submit himself to the Roman Church, as he was afterwards by Sixtus the Vth. to Gabriel. Patriarch of the faid See, on the fame errand; it is not faid whether Bishop Baptista returned to Rome with Gabriel's answer to Sixtus, or having delivered his Letters at Cayr, and finding all the Avenues to Ethiopia by Land ftopped by the Turks, did go to Goa for a Paffage; but certain it is that he got thither, and that he had not been there long, before the Viceroy Don Edward de Menezes embarked him upon a fmall Portuguese Veffel, which had orders to put him ashoar fomewhere in Ethiopia; but the Ship he was upon happening to touch at the Island of Camera, and it being discovered there that Baptista was a Christian Bishop bound for Ethiopia, he was thereupon Murthered by the Turks. But though the fefuits do not in any of their Histories that I have seen; so much as mention this Bishop's Name, not caring, it's like, that it should be known, that any that was not of their Order was employed in this Million; yet, I hope, his not having been a fefuit, nor lent by their Superiors, did no ways contribute to bis end; bis being fent to Habassia at that time, and after such a manner, being a thing that does not look very Archbiwell.

The thop of Goa fends one Sylva a Secular Prieft into thereof, as he was Primate of the Indies, did take the Habaffin Affair into his own hands, and having caft about how to have Intelligence from thence, and to fupply the Portugueses that were there with a Prieft, he did at laft fall upon the following expedient.

There was one Belchior de Sylva, a Converted Bramen, who was Vicar of the Church of St. Ann in Goa; whom the Archbishop after he had determined to fend him into Ethiopia, ordered upon fome Informations he pretended to have received against him, to be thrown intoPrifon, threatening him with fevere Cenfures if what he was accused of should be proved ; having at the fame time to concerted the matter with Sylva; that he was to break Jayl on a certain night, and come to him in a difguife at a place called Bardez, which he was then going to vifit, being in the mean time to let his Hair and Beard grow, the better to difguife himfelf. When the night agreed upon was come, Sylva having broke Jayl, went directly to Bardez, where the Archbilhop kept him private, and to blind the matter the more, feemed to be very angry at his having made his efcape, and to use extraordinary diligence to catch hun again.

Sylva having received his Infructions, and being put into a Trivis Habit with Pendants in his Ears, was fent privately by the Archs bihop to Dio; where he remained Incognito till a Ship offered for Ethiopia, on board which he lifted himfelf a Sailer; and during the whole Voyage he behaved himfelf fo among the the Mariners as not to be in the leaft fulpected by any of them of being a Christian. The Ship being arrived at her Port, Sylva the first time he went alhoar, made the best of his way for Ethiopia, and having got to Deboraa, was entertained there with great joy by the Portugues, who had been for fome years without a Priest of their own Religion.

The Jesuits, that nothing might feem to have been done towards the reduction of Ethiopia without their having had fome hand in it, will have the Archbishop to have fent Sylva thither at their request : But this was not all that Archbishop Menezes did in this matter; for having received advice of Sylva's being arrived in Ethiopia, he thereupon writ a Letter, not only to the Roman Catholicks, but to the Abuna likewife, exhorting him to fubmit bimfelf and his Church to the Pope; and among other Arguments he made use of to perfuade him to fuch a fubmillion, he fent him a rich prefent, together with the folenn fulmillion of the Alexandrian Patriarch of bimlelf and his whole Church to Pope Clement the VIIIth. as it is pompoully published by Baronius in an Appendix to the Sixth Tome of his Ecclefiaftical Annals; Conjuring him to follow the example of that great Prelate whom his Church had fo long owned for ber Head.

But this Alexandrian (ubmiffion, notwithftanding Baronius was in fuch hafte to make a andrian flourifh with it, that he clapt the Hiftory (ubmiffithereof to the end of the Fifth Century, on he rewas a mere imposture; for whereas it is faid to have been made by Gabriel Patriarch of Alexmere Q 4 andria, trick.

The Archbifhop of Goz writes to the Abuna to fubmic himfelf to the Pope after the example of the Patriarch of Alexandria. The Alexon he refers to, was a

The Learned Father Simon speaking of Archbishop Menezes having made use of this submission to persuade the Abuna of Ethiopia, after the example of his Patriarch, to submit himself to the Pope, faith, The Archbishop was not, it seems, sensible that the Church of Rome had been imposed on in that matter, and that Baronius was too credulous in publishing the acts of that submission under the Name of the Patriarch of Alexandria, and of the Catholick Church.

And Thomas a Jefu, a Carmelite Friar, Speaking of the fame in his Sixth Book de Conversione on nium Gentium procuranda, faith, In the time of Clement the VIIIth. a Fictitious Embally of the Alexandrian Church, was brought to the Roman Pontiff: Wherein Mark the Patriarch, and with him all the Provinces of Egypt, and the parts adjoyning to it, did acknowledge the Pope to be the Head and Universal Pastor of the Church, as Baronius writes at large at the end of his Sixth Tome; but the matter thereof coming afterwards to be more diligently looked into, it was found to be a lie, and the fiction of one Barton an Impostor. And yet notwithstanding this discovery, the History of that submillion continues to vapour still in all the Editions of Baronius's Annals that have come out fince.

withal, That in case he would submit himself to the Pope, as he was in duty bound, that affair would be managed much to his advantage by the Portugues; he writ also to Clement the VIIIth. defiring him to lay his Commands on the Patriarch of Alexandria, who was now under his Obedience, to oblige the Habaffin Abuna to follow bis Example : He writ alfo to Belchior da Sylva. to fend some Habaffin Boys to Goa to be instructed in the Roman Faith and Rites. And last of all, he writ to Philip the IId. for a yearly Pension . for the Portugueses that were in Ethiopia; of whom he obtained 1500 Cruzado's, which were to be paid to them yearly out of the Royal Revenues of the Indies, to which he himfelf added 200 Pardaos, and prevailed with the Mifericordia at Goa to give the fame Sum: Of all which there is not one (yllable to be met with in any of the Jefuits Histories; whereas had this Archbishop been of their Order, as he was of the Auftin, the world would have had whole Volumes in Praise of his great Zeal and Industry in this Affair.

The Jefuits being defirous to recover the Habaffin Miffion, which both the Pope and the Archbishop feemed to have taken out of their hands, did in order thereunto, labour hard to have a College for their Friars at Dio; and having got fome Benefactors to contribute towards the building and endowing thereof, they fent, Father Gasper Suares from Goa to Dio to begin the Work. But the Baneans, of The Jewhich Dio is full, knowing that the Jefuits, fuits erect where-ever they fetled, did turn Traders, did ftrongly oppose their having a College there; pretending.

pretending, That it would certainly ruin the Trade of the Port; by which Pretence, and great Bribes, they fo far influenced the Viceroy, that he put a full ftop to it; of which the Jefuits of Goa, Lisbon and Madrid, made fuch Tragical Exclamations, that the King wrote a. very angry Letter to the Viceroy about it, Commanding him to fout his hands against the Bribes of the Baneans, and not to be trighted from pious Works, by suggestions that they would tend to the ruin of Trade, fince the reason why he fent Viceroys into India, was not to encrease his Revenue, but to advance Christianity : The Viceroy and Baneans were fo mortified by this fevere Letter, that they did not only give way to, but did contribute largely towards the build, ing of the faid College, which by that means was finished in a short time.

The King had writ likewife to the Viceroy," To furnish the Jesuits with fix Ships, to convergh their Millionaries into Ethiopia; but they having but three Friars to fend thither, who were Father Peter, who had been ranfomed a year or two before; and Father Anthony de Angelis, a Neopolitan, and Father Anthony Fernandes, a Portuguele; the Viceroy reckoning that two Ships were sufficient to carry three Friars, and that fix would not be enough to fight the Turks, if they bappened to meet with them, fent but two to them to Dio, where they were now fetled in their new College, one of which was forced back by a Storm to Damon, the other getting to Dio, but much damaged both in her Hulk and Rigging.

Father

Father Peter having, during his feven years Captivity in Arabia, made himfelf a perfect Mafter of the Arabick Tongue, did converse much at Dio, where he passed for an Armenian Ciristian with the Mahometans that came to trade there, but chiefly with a Servant of the Bathaws of Suaghern, whofe name was Recuam Aga, with whom he contracted an intimate familiarity. This Aga happening one day in difcourse to ask the Father, Why, after leven years captivity, he did not think of returning home to bis own Countrey, meaning Armenia; the Father told him, That there was nothing that he was fo defirous of as to fee Armenia, but that be was afraid to venture himself again in the Turkish Territories : Aga thereupon did frankly undertake to put him in a way to get home with fafety, offering to carry him along with him to Matzua and Suzghem, and from thence to Cayr, from whence he promifed to fend him with a Pals to Ferusalem, from which place he might return home without any danger. The Father having thanked Aga for his kind offer, told him he would accept of it, previded be would give him leave, when he was at Matzua, to make a step into Ethiopia, to negotiate a little business he had to do there; defiring him withal not to let the Governor of Dio know any thing of his defign of returning home, for that he would certainly stop him, if he came to hear of it. Aga, who did not know but that he might have occasion to return to Dio again, and for that reafon, being unwilling to do any thing whereby he might difoblige the Governour, told the Father, That though he fould be very glad glad to ferve him in taking him along with him, yet unlefs he could obtain leave of the Governour to go, he must pardon him for not doing it: The Father being well pleafed with this scruple of Aga's, did promife fince he would not carry him without it, to try to obtain leave of the Governour to go with him. And with such Engano's or Tricks, faith a Jefuit, Father Peter cheated the Devil.

The Father having communicated the whole Farce to the Governour, he was fo well pleafed with it, that he helped to carry it on, by fhewing Aga extraordinary Civilities for the kindnels he intended to do to the good Armenian.

On the 22d of March 1603. Aga and his Armenian fet fail from Dio, and on the 26th of April they arrived fafe at Matzua; where the Bashaw being in the Countrey, the Father, upon Aga's recommendation, was treated very kindly by Mustadem, the Lieutenant-Govournor, who at the first word granted him leave to go for fome time into Ethiopia to negotiate the bufiness he pretended to have there. Father Peter, notwithstanding his civil treatment, was in pain till he was got from Matzua, and having notice of fix Chriftians that were bound for Ethiopia, he took the opportunity of their company, and having fixed his Journey on the 5th of May, he went to take his leave of his Patron Aga, who promised to wait two months for him at Matzua, by which time the Armenian affured him be would be with him again.

In feven days the Father and his Company got to Deboraa, where he was waited on by Captain Captain John Gabriel, with feveral other Por- Father Petugueses, who did all accompany him to Fremona, where Father Sylva refided, and the Patriarch and most of his Companions had been buried.

The first thing he did after his coming to Fremona, was to acquaint the Emperor, whole name was Facob, with his arrival, and to offer him his fervice; the Emperor returned him a kind Anfwer, telling him, That after the Winter was over, he should be glad to see him at his Court.

This Facob was a Natural Son of the last Emperor Malac Sagued, who having left no Male-Children by his Empress Mariam Cima, had named this Jacob at his Death his Succeffor, in wrong to his Nephew Za Danguil, the Son of his Brother Lepena Christo: For notwithstanding it is in the power of the Habaffin Emperor to name his Successor, he is by the Laws of the Land tied to nominate a Male of the Royal Blood born in Wedlock.

Facob was but an Infant when his Father died; which was perhaps the chief reafon why the Empress and Grandees of the Court were (o zealous for his nomination, boping during his long Minority, to have the Government wholly in their own hands. And fo the first thing they did after the old Emperor's breath was out of his body, was to fecure Za Danguil, that he might give them no moleftation; which they reckoned they had done fufficiently, by making him a clofe Prifoner in the Island of Deck, in the Lake of Dembea.

Jacob the Natural. Son of Malac Sagued was then Emperor.

For Seven Years the Government was entirely in the hands of the Empress and her Two Sons-in-law, Ras Athanateus, and Calfunde the Viceroy of Tigre, who had been the chief Promoters of Facob's Nomination to the Crown; and who having tafted of the fweet of Sovereign Authority, were very unwilling to part with it to lacob, now he was of Age, according to the Custom of the Empire, to take it upon himfelf; and to prevent that, they had given him an Education which they reckoned would have rendred him both unfit to govern, and have difposed him to have been fatisfied with the easy and gawdy Title of Emperor, without troubling himself with the exercise of its Authority. But they found themfelves miftaken; Facob fo foon as he was Fifteen, declaring, He was now of Age to govern both Himself and the Empire; and that he would be no longer under Pupilage, nor be kept a Minor all his days, out of gratitude to those who had belped him to the Title of Emperor, but with a defign of keeping the Sovereign Authority in them elves.

The Empress and her two Sons refented this Treatment from a Creature of their own making, so highly, that they resolved to try to unmake him again; and that they might do it with the hetter grace, they pretended to be troubled in Conscience for the Injury they had done to Za Danguil, in having persuaded the late Emperor his Uncle to lay him aside, who was his true Heir: And having with this and some other Popular Pretences brought most of the Grandees of the Court into a Conspiracy to depose facob, and advance Za Danguil to the Crown, Crown, they fo order'd the matter, that Za Danguil appeared in the Camp, and was proclaimed Emperor by them, before Facob ever fo much as dreamt of their having any fuch defign : Neverthelefs being advertifed there- peror. of by the Acclamations of the Camp, he put himfelf on Horfeback, not to fight, but to make his efcape, which he did only with eight of his Servants : But as he was pofting towards the Mountains, the Countrey role upon him, and brought him back a Prifoner : The new Emperor, though advifed by feveral of his Counfellors to cut off his Ears and Nofe, would not confent to it ; the Habaffins, as we shall see hereafter, until their Princes came to be influenc'd by Jesuits, being very merciful in their punishments; fo he contented himfelf with fending him into the remote Province of Narea, ordering the Governor thereof to keep him a clofe Prifoner.

This Revolution happening the Winter after Father Peter came to Fremona, he continued there till the New Government was thoroughly fettled; during which time he employed himfelf in translating a Book of the Christian Doctrine, composed by one Mark Forge, a Jefuit ; which is faid to have been a Piece much admired in Ethiopia.

The Emperor being naturally curious, and hearing great things of Father Peter's Wildom and Learning, from fome of the Grandees, who had a great mind to have him at Court, to cabal with him about Portugue/e Troops, he writ the following Letter to him, to invite him to come to him.

The Emperor invites Father Peter to Court.

The Church-Hiftory

THE Letter of the Emperor Afnaf Sagued cometh to the Honourable Father and Master of the Portugueses: How do you? Hear the good things God hath done for us: We were feven years a Prisoner, and did suffer innumerable Troubles; but God taking compassion of our Misery, has delivered us out of Prison, and made us the Head of All; according to that of David, The Stone which the Builders rejected, is made the Head of the Corner. May the same God that hath begun this Work, bring it to a good Is Hear more; We are very desirous to se you here, and would have you bring the Books of the Laws of the King of Portugal, if you have them, along with you, for we should be glad to see them.

As the Father was preparing, upon the receipt of this Letter, to have gone to the Court with the Viceroy of Tigre, he was flopped by the News of the Gauls having invaded Ethiopia with Three Armies at once; having been encouraged to do it by the unfettled Pofture they expected to find the Affairs of that Empire in, after fo fudden a Revolution. But they quickly found themfelves deceived; for notwithftanding they defeated the Viceroy of Tigre, who had contrary to the King's Order come to blows with them, their Two other Armies were both totally routed by the Emperor.

The Emperor being returned victorious to his Camps, the Viceroy of Tigre fent to Father Peter to come to him, that they might go to Court together; who before he left Fremona.

Fremona, took care to pack the Secular Prief-Belchior de Sylva to the Indies; which was fomewhat strange, confidering that when he was gone, there was not a Roman Priest left at Freniona, to officiate to the Portugues, the Father himfelf being on the wing for the Court. But the truth of the matter is, the Jefuits knowing that with the affiftance of 4 or 500 Portugueses Soldiers, they (hould be able at any time to reduce Ethiopia to the Roman Church, and not despairing in some juncture or other of obtaining such a Succor, they studied nothing so much as the engroffing the puble Honour of jo great a reduction to their own Order; and for that reafon they did all they could to hinder Foreigners from intruding themfelves into it, which inade Father Peter choose to leave the Portugueles at Fremona without any Roman Prieft, rather than with one who was no Jefuit.

But however it were in those early days, Luis Sotelo, a Spanish Franciscan, in his Letter written from Omura in Japan, where he was a Prisoner, to Pope Urban the VIIIth. and Fames Collado, a Dominican of the fame Nation, in a Memorial prefented by him in the year 1631. to the King of Spain, have proved beyond contradiction, That the Souls of the Jesuits are wrapped up so entirely in their own Order, that they will facrifice all other Interests, that of Converting Heretical and Infidel Kingdoms not excepted, to its Interest and Honour. Which Letter and Memorial, the extreamly well worth the reading, being too long to be here inferted, I shall only set down so much of them as is sufficient to justify this Charge:

Father Peter fends the Secular Prieft home before he went to Court. Some Inftances of the Jefuits facrificing all other Interefts to that of their own Order.

The Church Hiftory

Sotelo about the middle of his Letter, delivers what follows:

F a Friar of any other Order, do either out of a Zeal of Charity, or being called by the Fairbful, come into these Parts, to give Spiritual Consolation, or to administer the Sacraments of the Church, after he has heard the Confessions of great numbers of persons, who have not seen a Priest in Twenty years, to Confels them elvesto, and Confirmed such as were wavering in the Faith, and restored such as had. Apostatised from it; the Provincial of the Jesuits shall no sconer hear thereof, let the Province be at never so great a distance from him, and notwithstanding he had never set his foot in it before, than he shall immediately fly thither to oppress so good a Minister : To whom he will represent, That that Countrey being a Parifs under his Jurisdiction, he ought not to have administred the Sacraments therein; and upon pretence of the Peoples being his Sheep, will hinder him from performing any more Religious Offices to them. And if the Prieft should happen to have the courage to ask him, Why, if those People are under his care, he had abandoned them for (o long a time? And whether be thought that one who had fo deferted his Flock, onght any longer to be effeemed its Paftor? The Feluit will answer him with, What Authority have you to ask me any such guestion? Or to meddle with things that do not belong to you? And having affirmed that he has a right to what he pre-tends to, he will produce the Council of Trent, and read the Constitution to him, Which prohibits Priefts upon pain of Excommunication to admiadminister the Sacraments in any Parish without the Curate's leave : Neither will be content himself, with that, but will render that Constitution into Japan, and publish it to all the People. And in case the said Father should reply, That the words of the Council have no relation to the Countries of Infidels, or to places which are newly Converted, or to Christians who are Novices in the Faith, but are to be understood only of Countries which have been under Christian Princes for divers Ages, and of ancient Parifies where People have been long Christians; The Jesuit Shall, notwithstanding that, treat him publickly as a Tranfgreffor of the Council, and do all that is in his power to drive him away, forbidding the People to take any notice of him, or to have any communication with him; and if after that, any Christian should, either out of Compassion or Devotion, receive him into his House, or should enter himself into the Brotherbood of the Rolary, or of the Cord of St. Francis, he shall be reprimanded for it as boilteroully, and be treated by the Jesuit with as much contempt, as if he had intirely renounced the Chrifian Faith.

And as to the places where the Jesuits are ordinarily resident, the Faithful dare not so much as offer to entertain a Friar that is not of their Order; nor have the least communication with such a one, unless it be privately; and if the Jesuits come to hear of it, they will Chastise them severely for it; which point they carry so far, as not to suffer any to be of their Congregations that are of a Fraternity of any other Order. A few lines after Socielo adds: If Friars who are not of their Society do at any time address themselves to the Governor, or R 2 VicarVicar-General, to demand judicial Informations concerning the Martyrdom of any of their Brethren, who have lost their lives for the Catholick Faith, he will not so much as give them the hearing; whereas in the case of any of their own Brethren, or of any that have been Baptized by them, extravagant relations are presently exhibited, on purpose to set all the world a talking of them.

If any thing that is great and illustrious is done by any other Friars, the Jesuits do all that they can either totally to stifle it, or by artifices to ecliple the glory and merit thereof; opposing all the undertakings of all other Friars, and representing them as things of little or no benefit; either accusing what they write of fallhood, or attributing it to envy, or some other evil passion. And when they themselves have at any time been the cause of any disafters, let it be never so notorious, they will throw the blame thereof off their own Society, and attribute it to the indiscretion, imprudence, or bad conduct of some other Friars.

Neither can they endure that any thing flould be begun by People that are not of their Society; and let it be never so visible, that their Order is not able alone to support the burthen of Converting a Countrey, yet there is no bringing them to admit of others to help them to bear it. Finally he tells us, That at the same time when the fesuits did all they could to hinder all other Priests and Friars from looking into Japan, that there were but Thirty of their Order in it, which was a very small number for an Island confisting of Sixty six Kingdoms, and more than Two hundred Primces.

I know, faith Father Collado in the Preface of his Memorial, That the fefuits have in all thefe Kingdoms (et the:nfelves against all other Ecclesiasticks, having published things to the prejudice of all other Orders, and the Friars thereof, that are notorioully falje; and have unjustly endeavoured to discredit them, by charging them with things they were no ways guilty of, and for which the fefuits themselves only were to be blamed. And in the Body of the Memorial he affirms, That at the (ame time when there were a Million of Chriftians dispersed over Japan, and but 23 Jesuits who were Priests in it; that not with standing that (mall number, they laboured day and night both at Rome and Madrid, to hinder any other Friars from being fent thither; and having advised the fetling of a free Trade betwixt Macao and the Philipins, as a thing of great advantage to the Crown of Spain, he faith, none but the Jesuits had ever opposed it, and that they had done it for no other reason, but because there are Friars of other Orders in the Philipins, among whom they would be afraid to exercise Trade, and all the liberties thereof, as they did in China and Japan, where there were no strange Friars to observe what they did.

Father Peter having Packed the Secular Prieft away, went to wait on the Viceroy, taking two Boys of Portuguese extraction along with him; who having got a Roman Catechifm, that had been translated into Habaffin, perfectly by heart, the Viceroy was fo much delighted with their repeating it, that hearing them do it one day, he faid to those that stood next to R 3 him, him. Are you not amazed to see in how short a time the Holy Father hath taught these Children so many Godly things ? adding, but these wretched Monks of ours are just good for nothing. The Father whenever they made any halt, went prefently to visit the Viceroy, who received him always with great Ceremony, obliging his own Monks whenever the Father waited upon him, to withdraw. The Monks complained aloud of this treatment of the Viceroy's, but they had their complaints, faith a Fesuit, and the Father his Honours; but without telling us what it was that made this Ambitious Viceroy court the Father at fuch a high rate, unlefs we will believe that it was only for his having taught two Boys to fay their Catechilm well.

The Emperor's Camp, or Court, for they are the fame in Ethiopia, was at that time at a place called Oudegere, upon the fhoar of the lake of Dembea, where the Father was no fooner arrived, than the Viceroy procured him an audience; and had poffeffed the Emperor with fuch a high conceit of his extraordinary Abilities, that when the Father, after having kiffed his hand, offered to have retired, he commanded him to fit down by him, asking him feveral Queftions concerning the Pope, the King of Spain, and the Affairs of Europe, and the Indies. To all which Queftions, the Father returned fuch anfwers as he knew would pleafe the Emperor.

The Viceroy upon the Emperor's doing the Father fuch extraordinary Honours, asked a Portuguese Captain that stood by him, what he thought the Monks, who were so angry at the Civilities vilities he had shewed him on his fourney, would fay now of the greater honours done him by the Emperor himself?

The Emperor, after they had difcourfed a confiderable space of time together, made a fign to the Father to withdraw, having first commanded his Officers to entertain him fplendidly, and according to his deferts; and having fent for him betimes, the next morning, he entered into a long and ferious difpute with him concerning the Habaffin and Roman Faith ; which being ended , the Two Boys, upon the Viceroy's having told the Emperor what an aftonishing thing it was to hear them, were called in to fay their Catechifm, which they did fo much to the fatisfaction of the Emperor, that he asked the Father after they had done, Whether he had not the Questions and Anfovers they had repeated to admiration, in Writing : The Father having imagin'd, that the Emperor might be defirous to fee the Catechifm, was provided with one, which he prefented to him immediately; and the Emperor having read it over before he ftirred, extolled it to the Skies as the Master-Piece of Ethiopia.

The Viceroy's Brother-in-Law, and Companion in the Government during facob's Minority, Rays Athanates, entered likewife into a close Friendship with the Father, making his Court to him, by fending every day almost for his Two Boys to come and fay their Catechism before him, and extolling their Performance and their Master's dexterity beyond either the Emperor or the Viceroy: Now if Two Boys ha-R 4 ving been taught to fay their Catechifm well, was the Foundation of the great favour the Father was in at Court; it is the only instance in History perhaps of the favour of a whole Court's having been obtained by fo slight a busines.

The Emperor having read the Catechifm feveral times over, was fo charmed with it, that nothing would fatisfy him, but the Father's Celebrating the Roman Mals in his hearing; which he did, with all the Solemnity that a fingle Prieft in his circumftances could do it; and after Mais, gave him a Sermon of an hour long; but happening as he was drawing to a conclusion, to fay that he had a great deal more to add, were it not that he was afraid of being tedious to his Majesty; the Emperor fent him a Meffage to go on, for that he (hould take great pleasure in hearing more from him : Whereupon the Father gave him balf an hour more. The Emperor was fo well fatisfied both with the Mals and the Sermon, that he fent the Father his Dinner from his own Table ; and having called him to him in the Evening, he enquired of him, concerning the fignification of every particular Ceremony and Veftment that he had made use of in the Mass, appearing to be extreamly well pleafed with all the Father's Anfwers: A little time after the Emprefs Dowager, Mariam Zima, coming to Court, defired to hear the Father fay Mais and Preach; and having heard him, commended both the Mais and Sermon extreamly, declaring, That he could be content to live in a defert all ber days with (o Godly a man as Father Peter : So that the Father had now got all the Three leté late Governors at his Devotion; who, as is probable from the fequel of the Story, had a great mind to be governing again, which they knew a few Portuguese Troops would help them to with ease at any time.

As for the Emperor, he was either not fenfible of this Plot, or elfe he endeavoured to countermine them, by careffing the Father as much as they could do for their Lives : And fo one day when the Father was to preach before him, the Chair he used to fit in when he preached, happening to be out of the way, the Emperor ordered his own Chair of State to be carried to him; and having feated himfelf on the Ground, faid, That it was not reasonable for the Preacher and Master to stand, and the Hearer and Scholar to fit; and after having thanked the Father for his good Difcourfe, he told him, That now his name was high in Ethiopia, he would advise him as a friend, to be careful how he did any thing whereby he might forfeit the opinion the world had of his Wildom and Holinels; For, faid he, the fleft is always fighting against us, and overcomes us many times before we are aware : for which good admonition the Father kiffed his hand, and having returned him many thanks, promifed him always to remember it.

The Emperor having fent for the Father one day, after having flut himfelf up with him, and his Favourite Habitucum Laca Mariam, in his Clofet, required him to fwear upon the Crofs not to divulge the fecret he was about to impart to him; which the Father having done, he told him, That being now fully con- The Emperor difcovers his intention to Father Peter to turn Reman-Catholick.

convinced that the Pope was the Head and Univerfal Pastor of the Church, he was resolved to submit himself to him, and to desire him to send a Patriarch with a competent number of Friars into Ethiopia to instruct his People in the true Faith.

The Father, who was overjoyed to hear thefe words from the Emperor, threw himfelf at his feet, withing him a long life, that he might be able to accomplish a defign that would be fo much to the benefit of his own Soul, and the Souls of his People. In purfuance of which Refolution, the Emperor is faid to have prepared an Edict, prohibiting the observation of Saturday, and of divers other Habaffin Rites, and to have been for running on so furioully, to introduce Popery into his Empire, that Father Peter' found himfelf obliged in policy to give a check to his Zeal, by telling him, That it would be (afer and better to proceed more flowly, for fear of ruining his great defign by Precipitation. The Emperor asked him with heat, Why he was against his making haste to introduce the true Faith into his Kingdom ? What, did he think his Subjects would murther him for attempting to do it? Adding, What if they should, do you think I can lose my life for a beiter Cause? The Father made answer, That though to loje, bis life on fuch an account, would be a great Mercy and Honcur to his Majesty; yet it would not be so, but an irreparable loss to his Subjects in such a Juncture. Here Luca Mariam interposed, and told the Emperor the Father loved him, and had given him good advice; but the Emperor interrupting him, faid, Come, come, we must lose no time.

time, here are Letters I have writ to the Pope and the King of Portugal concerning this Affair; and having put them into the Father's hands, he defined him to translate them into the Languages of those Courts; which Letters, tho they were never fent, the Emperor having been flain in the Field before any opportunity offered, I shall here fet down.

THE Letters fent by Afnaf Segued, Empeperor of Ethiopia, do come to the much Honoured Father and Humble Paftor the Godly and Holy Clement, Pope of the Noble City of Rome. Peace be with your Holinefs, the Peace of our Lord Jefus Christ, who did partake of Poverty with the Poor, and of Honour with the Honourable; Preferve your Holineffe's Life and Perfon as the apples of Eyes, Amen. How is your Holinefs? Hear, Sir, what we write.

After we had a cended the Throne, a certain Friar whose name is Peter Pays, of the Society of Fefus, and who bath the Yoke of the Law of Christ upon his neck, did visit us; and has given us a veryparticular account bow your Holiness labours even to the shedding of your blood to destroy Sin; may the Eternal God, who has begun this work, bring it to an happy Issue : We being informed that your Holiness does never walk out of the Paths of truth, we rejoiced much at it; Praise be to God who bath given us a good Paftor, who guards the folds with his Holines, and judgeth the poor with truth. He hath likewife told us, that you are abways ready to affift Christians that are in necesfity; and to afford them Strength and Comfort, having baving learnt the Lesson of Saint Paul, who in his Epiftle to the Galatians faith, While we have time, let us do good unto all, but chiefly to those of the Houshould of Faith; for which reason your Holiness affists Christian Kings chiefly. Wherefore fince God hath been pleased to bestow on us the Empire of our Fathers, we are defirous of entering into a strict Friendship with you, and with our Brother Philip King of Spain : And in order to make it the closer and more lasting, we do wish that he would fend his Daughter hither to be married to our Son, and with her soldiers to help us : For we have Infidel Enemies called Galls, who when we go against them, flee before us; but so soon as our back is turned, are making inreads upon us again. For the destruction of this Enemy it is that we defire to have some troops from you, with Artificers of all Trades, and Father's to instruct us, that we may be of one heart and one body; and that the faith of Christ which is destroyed by the hands of Infidels, may be established, and that there may be peace and love among us.

This was formerly defired by our Ancestors, but it did not pleafe God it should be accomplished in their times; but the Turks, who then bindered it, may now with ease be driven out of the Island of Matzua; for which reason we intreat your Holiness to recommend this our request to our Brother, desiring him to comply therewith, and to execute it speedily. We do not trouble your Holiness with many words, being well assured of your readiness to grant what we shall desire. See that the Fathers you send hither be learned and holy, that so they may be able to instruct us in whatsoever is necessary to our Souls.

Souls; I shall add no more, a few words being enough to the wife.

The Emperor of Ethiopia's Letter to the King of Spain.

THE Letter writ by the Emperor Afnaf Segued, cometh to our Brother Don Philip King of the Kings of Spain. Peace be with your Majesty: The Peace and Love of our Lord Jesus Chrift, and the Sign of the Holy Cross, be always with your Majesty. How is it with you? As I returned from the War to the place where I was to reside all the Winter, a certain Father, whose Name is Peter Pays, of whole Learning and Piety I had heard before, came to visit me; I was very glad to hear the account he gave of the state of your Majesty's Health, and the welfare of your Kingdoms, and did return Thanks to God for having given you such Prosperity, that none of your Enemies are able to difturb it: May our Lord increase the number of your Majesty's years, and bring what he bath begun to an happy iffue.

Hear, Sir, your Majesty is not ignorant, that in the days of the Emperor Afnaf Segued, when a certain Mahometan, called Granhe, invaded Ethiopia, and destroyed all our Churches, a Confederacy was concluded and confirmed by an Oath betwixt our two Crowns; and that when my Ancestors sent to John King of Portugal for some Succors, he sent us some which were Commanded by Don Christopher de Gama, and which in conjunction with our Army, Conquered that Mahometan. The High and Mighty God, who exalteth alteth the humble, and throws down the proud, being our helper: After which there was Peace and Quietness, the force of the Mahometan, who had not the fear of God before his Eyes, being broken in pieces.

The Portugueses remained among us in great Honour, wanting for nothing till the day of their Death, as their Posterity do not to this day.

Wherefore we being Christians no less than our Ancestors, and under the obligation of the (ame Oath, we ought to have the fame Enemies, that is, the Galls, who deftroy our Lands, and who when we go against them with our Armies, do run away from us; but (o foon as our back is turned, do, as Banditti, make inroads into our Empire; for which reason we do desire your Majesty to send us fome Soldiers, and with them your Daughter to be Married to our Son, by which means our Alliance will be firmer, and we shall be one Body, and of one Heart : Our Son is Seven years Old, and your Daughter, as we are informed, is but Three ; fo they shall be bred together with the milk of Wijdom, and shall be taught the Holy Scriptures. I do allo with that your Majesty would with your Troops fend me Artificers of all Professions, and that you would do it speedily; that so being united in the Faith of Christ, there may be Peace and Love betwixt us; and that this Empire, which is the Land of our Lady, and of Chrift our Redeemer, may not be loft. The Mahometans are extreamly Zealous for their Sect, and do whenever there is occasion help one another; and ought not your Majesty to do the same for your Faith, which is above all?

Aś

As to what we write to you concerning your fending your Daughter hither, you dre not to think that we defire her for any other end, than to establish an Alliance between us, and that she may be a pledge of Peace for the future. May God, who can do all things, fulfil our wishes.

Hear farther, Brother, in order to the establishment of our Affairs; Do you fend a Viceroy to the Island of Matzua, and my General shall be at the lame time at Arkiko on the Continent; by which means we shall bridle the Power of the Turks; and being Masters of those parts, we will send our Merchants with all forts of Goods and Provisions into yoar Conquests, and will divide the Customs between us; our Countrey is very Rich, and wants for nothing; and the reason why we have not bitherto (ent any Merchants to these parts with Provisions of Honey, Gold, and Slaves, is because we have a mind to pinch the Turks, for whom we have no kindness; but when your Viceroy is once come with his Portugueles, we shall quickly fend Merchants to them with all forts of Commodities. May our Lord God bring what we defire, and what is grateful to your Majesty, to a happy issue, that so the Power of the Turk, which is a great Stone of Scandal, may be utterly broke.

It does not appear by these Letters that the Emperor was in fuch a violent fit of Zeal, when he wrote them, for a Roman Patriarch, and for submitting his Church to the Pope immediately, as he is reported to have been in when he delivered them to Father Peter; for though in both of them he writes very earness the Infanta, and fome Troops fent fent with all poffible expedition, he does not fay one word of his Church's filomiffion, or of a Romvn Patriarch: And in cafe Father Peter, when he acquainted the Emperor with the Infanta's Age, did, to make his Court the better, feed him with hopes of obtaining her for his black Prince, it was no more than what his Countreyman Gundamore did here in England, either with the fame Infanta, or her Sister, and the reftitution of the Palatinate.

It might have been expected, that Father Peter, now he had brought the Emperor to be a Bigot for Popery, beyond what he defired, should have stuck close to him till he had done the work, and that no finall matter fhould have made him to have left the Court, where his prefence was fo neceffary; but whatever was the true caufe of it, the Father all of a fudden defires leave of the Emperor to go to Nanina, a place two days journey from the Court, pretending to be called thither by extraordinary bufines; and when the Emperor, who was very unwilling to part with him, would needs know what this extraordinary bufiness was, he told him, There was a Portuguese or two Sick at that place, and that he must needs go and hear their Confession before they died : The Emperor finding the Father was not to be perfuaded out of his Journey, allowed him two Months, which he reckoned was time long enough for the hearing of two Confessions, to be absent from Court. But the Father, who had left the main body of the Portugues not a year before without any Confessor, to go to Court with the the Viceroy of Tigre, had not left the Court above a Month, when the true caufe of his retiring broke out in a Rebellion, that was Headed by his good Friend Raz Athanateus, the Habaffin Earl of Warwick, who having upon a difgust, taken the Crown off Jacob's Head and placed it on Za Danguil's, was now for taking it from Za Danguil again, being displeased with him for preferring Luca Mariam So hard a matter it is for Princes to on breaks to him. please People, who either have, or think they have out pre. been instrumental in helping them to their Crowns.

But whatever it was that had difpofed the People for a new Revolution, whether the Emperor's Male-administration of Affairs, or only an itch for the Festivity of a new Acclamation, or a false compassion for the deposed Emperor; it is certain Za Danguil was deferted by the main body both of the Grandees and People; neither would they be fatisfied unlefs they had Facob reftored to his Throne again.

But Za Danguil being a Prince of great Courage, refolved they should not have the Crown but with his Head ; and having made up a finall Army, marched directly towards the Rebels, who, as he was informed, were encamped on the banks of the Nile.

Nanina, where Father Peter continued still, confessing his two Portugueses, happening to be in the Emperor's way as he marched, he fent for the Father to come and fpeak with him; and when he faw him, he cried out, Alas! your Reverence fees what they are doing to me for indeavouring to them the way of Truth, and becaule.

because I will not suffer the great to Oppress the (mall; What would you advise me to do in this cale? The Father is faid to have been forry to fee him with fo fmall an Army; and having comforted him as well as he could, to have advised him to put his trust in God, and to avoid coming to a Battel. It is faid farther, that he offered to have gone along with him ; but having told him at the fame time, That his Spiritual Patients were not yet recovered, and that he was bufie, repairing the Chappel the Portugueses had in that Village; the Emperor bid him stay, and go on with his good Works, but be fure to recommend him to God in his Prayers; and after two Months were expired, not to fail, where-ever he should be, to come to him.

The Emperor hearing that Athanateus, who must have left the Court much about the fame time with Father Peter, had not as yet joined his Troops with those of Za Selaffe; whose pretence for Rebelling was Religion being in danger; endeavoured to have got between them, to as to have hindered their conjunction; but Athanateus having had notice of this defign, defeated it, by paffing the River Nile fooner than otherwife he intended to have done: Upon this defign milcarrying, for want of having been kept fecret, or by having been communicated to fome of Athanateus Friends that were about the Emperor; John Gabriel, who commanded all the Portugues that were in the Imperial Army, advifed the Emperor to delay coming to a Battel, and the rather becaufe the Heads of the Rebels were men of fuch different different defigns, that it was not likely that they could hold long together ; but the Emperor pushed on by his own natural Courage, and provoked by the Infolency of the Rebels, was deaf to this advice, and fo did not only March directly towards them, but did offer them Battel fo foon as he came up with them; and notwithstanding Seventy of his best Troopers, who, I doubt, were Portugues, before a stroke was struck, went over to the Enemy, that did not hinder the Emperor from engaging with them; the fight was bloody for fome time, the Victory continu-ing doubtful, till the Emperor, as he was fighting in Perfon more like a Heroe than a General, was Slain; upon whole fall, his The Em-Men reckoning that they had then nothing to peror is Fight for, threw down their Arms, and cri'd Killed out for Quarter. Those of the Portuguese Blood on both fides, are faid to have done Miracles on this occasion; but we have had fo many of those Miracles in Gama's Expedition, that it would make the Reader fick to trouble him with any more.

There are faid to have been Two hundred of the Roman Catholick Profession in the Two Armies; which if it was fo, it ought to have obliged Father Peter to have gone with the Emperor, to have Confessed those that were in his Army before they engaged, rather than to have ftaid behind to do it to Two of that Profession on, and whom he had then been Confessing for above Six Weeks.

But

But as we know little of what the Jesuits did in Ethiopia, but from their own reports; so if any thing be brought to light in the managing of these Millions that does not make much for the honour of their Order, the discovery thereof must be owing purely to the irresistible power of truth, which, though never so artificially discussed, will still give some glimpses of it self.

The Emperor, though not actually reconciled to the Church of Rome when he was flain, is faid for his good inclinations to it, to have had a Miracle wrought on his Body; it was not to bring him to life again; which the Emperor who took it out of the Earth to give it a more honourable Enterment, would have been very forry fhould have been the effect of his Piety; but the Miracle was, That his Body when taken out of the Ground Ten years after it had been lodged in it, was found intire: A plain evidence, faith a Jefuit, of the integrity of his Faith, Death not being firong enough to exercise its tyranny on a body which had been so incorrupt in all matters of Justice.

As to Father Peter's lamenting the Emperor's Death fo much as he does in a Letter, I do not take that to be any argument at all of his not having been privy to the Conspiracy, but of the Conspirators having either carried things farther than he would have had them, or perhaps than they themselves at first intended, or of his having been too far engaged therein by his first Patron, the Viceroy of Tigre, before he saw the Court, to go back with honour or safety.

Dead or quite Recovered by this time, accepted readily of the invitation, and being come to Athanateus's Camp, was received by him with extraordinary Kindnefs and Refpect.

But the Father after he had been fome time among the Rebels, finding their Heads strangely divided how they should dispose of Finding the Crown now they had it in their hands, fome of them being for reftoring it to Jacob, and others for giving it to Susfeneus, a Bastard Son of Faciladas, the Third Son of the Emperor David ; he judged it his fafeft courfe to retire to Fremona, there to wait till he faw where the Crown would fix; and having received advice of the arrival of fome Jefuits at Fremona, that furnished him with a fair pretence for leaving Athanateus to go thither, to learn what news they brought from the Indies : And having got Athanateus's promife, That the Portugueles who were in the Emperor's Service should not be punished with the lofs of their Eftates, which they were reckoned to have forfeited, he took his leave of him for fome time.

The Father when he came to Fremona, found the Two Jesuits there, who were to have come along with him from Dio; and within a few days after, Two Fathers more came to him, who were Father Lawrence an Italian, and Father Luis a Portuguese; so that the Jesuits were were now as ftrong as ever in Ethiopia, only they wanted a Patriarch.

Father Peter, during this his retirement, is faid to have taken a great deal of pains to little purpole, with an Habaffin Monk to convert him to the Roman Church; but what the Father could not do, was done one Night by a dream the Monk had; which was, That he fhould certainly be dammed if he did not go prefently and confefs himself to the Father : Whom we fhall leave confession his dreaming Convert, and return to see what the Rebels are doing.

TheGrandees are divided, fome being for reftoring Jacob, others for Crowning Sufeneus, and fome for themfelves.

Sufenena proclaims himfelf Emperor. The Grandees, tho they all agreed to pull down the late Emperor, yet when they came to fill the Throne again, fell all in pieces, fome being for reftoring facob, and others for proclaiming Sufeneus, without fo much as once mentioning the Son of the late Emperor, being afraid, it is like, to put the Son in the Throne they had dragged the Father out of.

This Suferneus, as has been obferved, was a natural Son of Faciladas, the Viceroy of Gojam, the Third Son of the Emperor David. He had been most of his time in Arms, not against the Emperors, but their Ministers, who he pretended had unjustly deprived him of the Lands that were left him by his Father; by which courfe of life he was become the best Captain, and had got a small body of the best Disciplined men in Ethiopia under his Command.

Upon the prefent Vacancy of the Throne, Sufeneus, looking upon his own title to it to be the fame with that of Jacob's, who was a baftard no lefs than he, fends his Confident Bella ChriChriftos, to Raz Athanateus, to acquaint him with his intention of pretending to the Crown, and to try if he could perfuade him to declare for him, making vaft promifes of what he would do for him if he would help him to it.

Athanateus, who upon some heats which had happened between them, had left Za Selaffe, who was altogether for reftoring Facob, received Suleneus's Meffage but coldly, which makes it probable that he was for fetting up himfelf, being incouraged to do it by fome promifes that had been made him of Portuguele Succors; but Suseneus apprehending that it would be fo, followed the Meffenger he fent to Athanateus, in Perfon with his Army; and being come within a days March of him, fent him word, that if he did not declare for him prefently, he would vifit him next day, and did not doubt but to give him caufe to repent of his Irrefolution. Athanateus being sensible that he could neither avoid coming to blows with Suleneus, nor was strong enough to deal with him, submitted and joined with him in proclaiming him Emperor : Upon which reinforcement, Suleneus dispatched a Courier to Za Selaffe, and his Confederates, to acquaint them with his being now proclaimed Emperor of Ethiopia, commanding them upon their Allegiance, and as they loved them felves and their Countrey, to lay down their Arms, and submit themselves peaceably to him.

Za Selasse, who was a turbulent man, and cared for no Emperor that was not of his own making, nor for them long neither, was much fur-S 4 prized prized at this brisk Meffage ; and having called a Council of War, to confider what was beft to be done in this juncture, it was unanimoufly agreed that they fhould fend Sufeneus back word, that they had fent for the Emperor Jacob, and were every day expecting him, to refume the Crown he had been fo unjustly deprived of. Sufeneus, tho much-troubled at this answer, fent them a Second Meffage immediately, to acquaint them, That fince God had been pleafed to bestow the Crown upon him, he was refolved neger to part with it, but with his life, neither to Jacob, nor to his Father Malac Sagued, if he should rife from the Dead and pretend to it.

Za Selasse, detaining this Second Meffenger Prifoner, went himfelf with his Army to return an answer to Suseneus; who having received advice of his advancing towards him, and knowing himfelf not to be ftrong enough to give him Battel, retreated to the Mountains of Amara, leaving Athanateus to shift for himfelf; and to make the best terms he could with the Confederates; who upon his having pleaded, that he was constrained much against his will to give his confent to Suseneus being proclaimed Emperor, was not only pardoned by them, but was reftored to his former Poft in their Army; which having waited fome Months, and no Facob appearing among them, the Soldiers began to Mutiny, telling their Officers plainly, That they would wait no longer for a Milk(op, who had neither the wit to keep a Crown when he had it, nor the courage to come to have it restored to him again. Za Selasse, not knowing what to fay for facob's not having come all that time;

Upon Jacob's delaying to come to the Army, he is chofe Emperor by them. time, and fearing left the Soldiers and Officers might declare Suseneus Emperor without him, refolved to be before-hand with them, and to have the thanks of doing it himfelf: And accordingly he difpatched a Courier immediately to Suferens, to invite him to come and take the Empire upon him, promifing to maintain him in the poffession thereof with the last drop of his blood. Suseneus, the overjoy'd at the News, did not care to trust his perfon with the Army, without fome farther affurance of their good intentions, than Za Selaffe's word; And for his farther fatisfaction in that matter, he fent an eminent Monk to the Army, with a Commission to administer an Oath of Allegiance to them; and according to the cuftom of Ethiopia, to Excommunicate all that should hereafter withdraw themfelves from his Obedience.

The whole Army having taken the Oath, A Mefthe Monk after having pronounced an Ex- fage is communication upon it, returned to Sufeneus with the good news of his being unanimoufly Sworn Emperor with all the ufual Solemnities; and with the Monk there went Ten of the chief Officers from the Army, to invite the Emperor to make all the hafte he could to come to them. The Ten Commissioners from the Army found Sufeneus advanced to a place called Begameder, where they delivered their Meffage to him, with this affurance, That the Army now it had placed the Crown on his head, would maintain it there, against all pretenders what sever, particularly Jacob.

But

The Church-History

The Ariny upon receiving a Letter from Jacob, changeth its mind, and declare for him.

But while the Commissioners were giving Suleneus these affurances of the good Affection and Fidelity of the Army, Za Selasse received a Letter from Facob, acquainting him with his being come as far as Dembea, and defiring him to March the Army that way to meet him ; Za Selaffe was put into a great plunge by this Letter, not knowing what he had beft to do, whether continue firm to Suseneus, to whom he had fo lately taken an Oath of Allegiance, or to follow his inclinations in declaring for Facob; and having called all his Confidents together, and laid the whole matter before them, they came to a refolution to declare themselves for Jacob, and did so, commanding him to be proclaimed Emperor thorough the Army, and the Army to march to meet him : The Officers and Soldiers, who had fcarce done Swearing to Sufeneus, were no lefs than Selaffe for laying him aside, and adhering to Jacob, now they heard he was coming to them, as their rightful and undoubted Emperor. Za Selaffe having commanded the Army to March, fent a Courier in great hafte to the Commissioners that were with Suseneus, to acquaint them with the Army's having declared for Jacob : Upon which notice, Eight of them stole from Begameder; but the other two being stopped, paid for all, being put to Death publickly as Traitors.

Sufereus not finding himfelf ftrong enough to fight Selasse, retreated upon this News to his former Fastness, not despairing but that ere long he might be in a capacity of chastisfing shofe that had betray'd him thus.

Facob

Facob was met by the Army near the Lake Jacob of Dembea, which together with the whole Countrey strived to atome for their former ill usage of him by the extravagancy of their Joy, and Acclamations upon his resuming the Crown. But among all the Grandees, Raz Athanateus, his old Governor, was the most graciously received by him, being put immediately into places of the greatest Trust and Honour about him; Who, as he was one day difcourfing with the Emperor, took occasion to recommend Father Peter to him, as a Perfon of extraordinary Abilities; and who, if he would employ him, was capable of doing him great Service; acquainting him likewife with Za Danguil's having a little before his Death writ Letters to the Pope and King of Spain for fome Portuguese fuccors.

The Emperor upon Athanateus having recommended Father Peter to him fo highly, fent a Courier to Fremona, to invite him to Court. The Father taking two Jefuits more with him, repaired thither immediately, and was very gracioully received by the Empress Mariam Cima, who was now likewife in great power again; as he was by the Emperor alfo when he returned to the Camp, which he had been absent from for fome weeks.

The Emperor is faid to have had feveral Conferences with the Fathers about Religion; and to have been perfuaded by them into the belief of the Roman Church being the Head and Mistrefs of all other Churches ; promifing when he returned from an Expedition he was then going will have theCrown or nothing. facob, being fensible of the fickleness of the Affections of his people, and of the greatness of Sufeneus's Spirit, who still continued to look upon himfelf, and act as Emperor, made him very honourable Propositions, upon condition that he would give over pretending to the Crown; and would promife to live quietly as became a good Subject; offering him by the Mediation of his Mother, the Viceroyship of the Kingdoms of Amara, Olear, and Xoa; together with all the Lands that his Father had dyed possible former Reigns.

But Suleneus having wore the Crown, found fuch charms in it, that nothing under it could now fatisfy him; to his answer to Facob's Proposition was, That since it was God and not men that had bestowed the Crown upon him, he only that gave it (hould take it from him; being resolved, fo long as he had a head to wear it, to keep. it on it. Facob finding by this bold answer, that his Controverfy with Suseneus must be decided by the Sword, and not by Treaty, Marched against him with a great Army ; but Sufeneus hearing of his advancing towards him with a power much Superior to his, both in Number and Strength, retired again to the Mountains, where he knew there was no attacking him, but upon fuch difadvantages, as would make their Forces to be equal.

Facob

Facob being informed thereof, divided his Army, in order to cut Susfeneus off from all Communication with the low Countries from Jacob whence he was to be fupplied with all neceffary Provisions; hoping by that means either to farive him, or bring down his stomach. But Suseneus finding that there was no remedy, but that he mult either venture out, and fight, or starve among the Mountains ( to treat of submitting being a thing he would never once suffer to enter into his thoughts) he refolved on the former; and being advifed of Za Selaffe being posted with half of the Army near Montadefer, he fallied out of his Fastnesses upon him, and like another Scanderbeg, cut most of his troops in pieces, as they lay difperfed in their Quarters; Za Selasse himself having narrowly escaped falling into his hands; who having carried the bad News of his own defeat to the Empeperor, was fo coldly entertain'd by him, that he refolved to defert him, and go over to Su-Seneus, as a perfon on whom he thought Providence would one day or other certainly devolve the Crown. And in purfuance of this refolution, he difpatched a Courier privately to Suseneus, with the terms whereon he was ready to declare for him, and affift him in his pretentions to the Empire to the utmost of his power. Sufeneus was too fenfible of how great advantage it would be to him, to gain fuch a popular man as Selaffe to his party, to deny him any thing that he defired ; and fo notwithstanding his terms were extravagantly high, he granted them all without making any words about them, knowing that whenever he should come to be

be posselies of the Empire, Selass's turbulent Spirit would undoubtedly furnish him with pretences to justifie his not making good his promises to him, in any particular that should not be for his honour or safety to grant to him.

Za Selaffes's Courier being returned to him with a full grant of all that he had defired of Suseneus, and that not only under his own hand, but confirmed with the folemnity of an Oath, he withdrew himfelf privately from the Emperor's Camp, and having got into the Kingdom of Gojam, of which he had been made Viceroy a little before by Jacob, he there in a fhort time got together a confiderable body of Men, with which he Marched and joyned Suseneus, who received him with all poffible demonstrations of joy and affection, as one fent from Heaven to help him to the Empire, which he had fet his heart for much upon, that he did not care to outlive the hopes of attaining it.

Suferieus judging himfelf, with this Reinforcement, ftrong enough to fight  $\mathcal{J}acob$ , Marched out of the Mountains to meet him, intending to decide their Quarrel by a pitch'd Battel; but when he came near  $\mathcal{J}acob$ 's Camp, finding him much ftronger than he thought he had been, he changed his measures, resolving to act only upon the defence.

But Jacob having now got his Enemy out of his Fastnesses, and knowing himself to be much superior to him in number, for he is faid to have had Thirty to One, determined to fall upon him in his Camp, and having got between him and the Mountains, he com-

Jacob's General goes over toSufeneus, commanded the Signal for a general Affault to be given; which being observed by Suleneus, he called all his Officers together, and cold them, That fince it was not now possible for them to avoid a Battel, they must either resolve to make them (elves Lords and Princes by fighting manfully, or be content to be Slaves fo long as they lived; That for his part he was resolved either to Conquer, or not to survive the Battel, destring them to Fight no longer than they faw him facing the Enemy: That if they would Sally out of their Trenches and fall upon the Enemy, which he took to be the best course, it being what the Enemy did not expect, be would lead them on in Person. The Officers and Soldiers being ftrangely animated by this brisk Speech, gave a fhout, and Jacob and faid, They were ready to follow him wherefoever he (hould lead them, or to go where foever he would Command them. Sufeneus glad to fee his men in fuch a heat, did not give them time to cool, but marched, or rather rushed like a torrent upon the Enemy, difordering them fo by the violence of the first shock he gave them, that they difperfed immediately, fo that it was much more like a Slaughter than a Fight, the Conqueror having loft but Three Men in the Action; for where-ever Suseneus appeared, the Enemy, according as his Historian Timo reports, fell before him as fo many dry leaves off a fig-tree before the wind, or like a (warm of Locusts when they fall into the Sea.

Facob not caring, it's like, to live to be Depofed Jacob is a fecond time, was killed fighting, as was also Killed the Abuna, whom Jacob had carried with him fighting. to fulminate his Excommunications against his Enemies. Raz

Sufeneus come to a Battel.

Raz Athanateus, who had fluck to Jacob to the laft, having made his escape, flut himself into the Monastery of Dina, where he continued till he had obtained his Pardon, which was procured by the New Emperor's Brother, Raz Sela Chriftos, the Heroe, as we shall see hereafter, of the Jesuits Histories.

Sufereus, whom hereafter we are to call Seltem Saged, having Pardoned all that were in Arms againft him, excepting the Mahometan, Mahurdin, who had killed the Emperor Za Danguil with his own hand, had all the Grandees inftantly at his feet, and the acclamations of the common People as loud as his Predeceffor.

The Fathers, during all the time of this broyl, kept clofe at Fremona, expecting to fee to whom the Crown would fall at laft; and having received certain advice of Seltem Saged's great Succefs, and of his being proclaimed Emperor every where, they fent two of their number to wait upon him, and Congratulate him upon his late Victory; Father Peter, who had been fo very intimate with facob, not being looked upon as fo fit a Perfon for to carry this Complement.

Two Fathers are fent from Fremons to Congratulate Sufeneus, who took the Name of Seltem Saged, The Two Fathers, whofe Names were Lawrence Romano, and Lintony Fernandez, were gracioufly received by the Emperor, who to do them the greater Honour commanded his Purveyor to fend their Supper to them; and was afterwards fo mindful of them, as to ask him whether he had fent them any Wine; and being told, that by reafon of the Wines being diftributed among the Nobles before he was ordered ordered to fend them any thing, he had not; the Emperor was very angry, asking him, How he durft be guilty of fuch an Error ? commanding him to go prefently and carry his own portion of Wine to them, faying, I will drink Water rather than they shall. When the Fathers judged it proper, they went to wait upon the Emperor a fecond time; who after fome Complements, asked them, Where they refided? And being told by them, That they had no certain Habitation in Habaffia; He thereupon appointed them a Refidence in a place near the Lake of Dembea : The Fathers having thanked him for his kind offer, told him, That they would be better fatisfied if he would be pleased to order their former Residence at, Gorgora, which had been taken from them after they had built a Church there, to be restored to them again; which he ordered to be done prefently, commanding them to write to Father Peter, of The Emwhom he faid he had heard great things, to come peror to him; but not being fatisfied with having fends to bid them do it, he fent an express to him him-Father Pe-felf, to come to Court immediately: The come to Father when he came was most graciously re- him. ceived by the Emperor; who every time the Father waited upon him, which he did daily, entered into a discourse with him about Religion.

Father Tellez, though he would not take upon him to decide who had the best Title to the Crown, Jacob or Suseneus, fets down what was to be faid on both fides : Jacob, faith he, was undoubtedly nighest to the Crown in the Royal Line, in being the Son of Malac Saged, who was Emperor,

Emperor ; he had befides been Emperor himself for . Seven years, and that with the Approbation of the People, who had also restored him after he had been Deposed for some time; neither was his being a Bastard any bar to him, since according to the Natural and Civil Law, a Bastard may succeed his Father, 'as John the First of Portugal did his Fathor Don Peter ; besides, Suseneus was a Bastard no less than Jacob. On the other fide, faith Tellez, it may be alledged, That Jacob having been deposed to make room for Za Danguil, who was both the true Heir, and was chosen by the Grandees and People, upon Danguil's death the Throne became void, and the Election of an Emperor out of the Royal Family, devolved to the Commonwealth; whereupon Sufeneus, who was the Grandson of an Infante, was chosen Emperor by the Army, upon Jacob's having delayed coming to them: Concluding, That whatever Princes Titles or Pretences in Juch cases may be in Speculation, according to the Practice of the World, he bas the best Title that has the longest Sword. But to return to the Fathers, who having staid at Court till Winter, obtained leave to go to Gorgora to fix a Refidence there; but they had not been gone a Month, before the Emperor writ to them to come to Court again, declaring that he could not be without their Company any longer: The Fathers obey'd the fummons, and repaired to Coga, a place near the Lake of Dembea, where the Emperor at that time had his Camp. They were no fooner arrived, but the Emperor gave them an Audience, and after that was over, ordered them them to Dine with him, that is, in the fame Room, though not at the fame Table.

The Portugue(s give a tedious account of the particulars of this Entertainment; the main of which are, That the Emperor does not feed himfelf, but has his Meat put into his Mouth by his Pages; that his Diet was plain, and without any thing of Cookery; and that he had neither Knife, Spoon, Table-Cloth, nor Napkin, and had Bread for his Trencher; and never Drank till he had done Eating.

Father Peter and his Companions never miffed the Emperor's Levee, the Emperor taking great delight to difcourfe with them about Religion, and the difference that is between the Habaffin and Roman Churches; which Conferences having continued for fome time, the Emperor fent one day to Father Peter to come to him alone; and being come he told him, That nowithstanding he was convinced that he ought to fubmit himfelf and his Empire to the Pope, yet it would not be fafe for him to attempt it, before he had fome affurance that the King of Pertugal would affift him againft those who would oppole him in doing of it; That he intended therefore to write a Letter to the Pope, and another to the King about it. The Father having extolled his good intentions, encouraged him to write those Letters, affuring him of as good an Answer to them as he could defire.

The Emperor offers to write to the King of Portngal and the Pope, and is encouraged by Father Peter to do it.

The Emperor's Letter to the Pope. T HE Letter of the Emperor of Ethiopia, Malac Eguet, cometh to the holy Pope of Rome, with the Peace of our Lord Chrift, who loved us, and washed us from our Sins in his blood, and hath made us a Kingdom and a Priesthood to God the Father : May this Peace be always with your Holines, and the Catholick Church of Chrift. Amen.

We have for a long time had a great affection for the Christians of your parts, upon the account of the benefits this Empire received from them when it was formerly refcued by the Portugueses out of the hands of Mahometans, and restored by them to its ancient estate and quiet; most of whole Race died in our Father's Reign, who was willing they should enjoy what his Ancestors had given them; whereupon fo foon as, through God's Grace, I took the Government of the Empire upon me, I determined to renew our Alliance with the Faithful People of Christ, in order to remedy the manifest distractions our Empire of late years has been put into by the Mahometans; for notwithstanding we have subdued most of our Domestick. Enemies, we have Enemies still that are much more Powerful, that is, the Infidel Gauls, who have Conquered a great part of our Empire, and destroyed many of our Churches, and which is worst of all, are daily Invading us, and exercifing unbeard-of Cruelties on Old Men, Widows, and Children

Children, whom we are not able to protect, without being affifted by our Brother the Emperor of Portugal; We do therefore implore his aid, as our Anceftors did that of his Predecessors formerly; and that there may be no failure, we resolved to intreat your Holines, who is the Father and Pastor of all faithful Christians, to write to our Brother, to grant us what we defire of him, before the Gauls grow stronger upon us.

As to the landing of the Succors he shall send, it will be done without any danger, they that are the Masters of our Coast, being at this time very weak at Sea ; so being assured that your Holiness will asfift us according to our necessities, we will trouble you with no more words, but shall refer the relation of the state of our Empire, and of the kindness wherewith we Treat those of the Portuguese race, and of the care we take of the Fathers and their Churches, to Father Peter Pays, to whom I have recommended the doing of it; and to whose account I defire you to give the fame credit as you do to this Letter. We conclude, praying that our Lord Christ would preserve your Holiness for many Years for the good of the Catholick Church.

The Emperor's Letter to the King of Spain.

His Letters to the King of Spam.

THE Letter fent by the Emperor Malac Eguet, cometh to the Emperor of Spain, the Holy Land of St. Peter, the Prince of the Do-Etors and of the Cathelick Church of our Lord, of which the Apostle St. Paul Said, I have betrothed thee to one man, to prefent thee a chaft Virgin to Chrift, To whom be glory ; and in imitation of the most pure Meffenger St. Gabriel, who faluting our Lady the Virgin, faid, The Lord fave thee ; and of Christ our Lord , who on the Evening of the Lord's-day after his Resurrection, (aid to his Apostles, being affembled together, Peace be among you; and as St. Paul writes in all bis Epifles, The Peace of our Lord be with your Majefty, our Brother in the Faith, that was preached by St. Peter, at the time when our Lord Chrift commanded his Apostles to go all over the world, and preach the Gospel to all Nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the holy Ghoft. How is your Majesty, and bow is your Empire? we are in health thorough the Intercession of St. Peter, your and our Mafter. - May Chrift our Lord, who is the beginning and end of all things, carry on that Amity and Friendship which he hath begun between us.

The principal cause of my writing to your Majesty at this time, is to renew the Familiarity and Correspondence which was between our Ancestors; which Friendship, together with the Adoption of the Holy Spirit, has much enobled us. Wherefore we desire your your Majesty, to fend us some strong and stout Soldiers, to help us to beat the Enemy out of our Ports; your Troops when they arrive will find us provided with Arms, and all other necessary Provisions of War, and in a readine (s to affift them to the utmost : It being much fitter that those Ports should be in your Majesty's bands, than in the hands of the greatest Enemies of our boly Faith ; your Majesty's Ancestors fent an Army of Gallant men into Ethiopia at a time when the Enemy was ready to have destroy'd our Faith, and Empire. We might destroy all our Enemies with great ease, if we were assisted by the powerful Kings that profess the Gospel; and who do comfort our hearts with the Memory of heavenly things, we being all Sons of Heaven, as St. John witneffeth, faying, What is born of the flesh is flefh, and what is born of the Spirit is Spirit. Furthermore we are at war with another Enemy, who are called Gauls, and who do give us much trouble : Wherefore we befeech your Majesty to (end us some stout Troops, and such as are Zealous for our boly Apostolical Faith, and that with all possible Expedition : We on our part have for some time been ready to receive them; and if they were once come, it will quickly appear, that all that we design is feasible. For why, since Christ our Lord is our Common Head, and we are all bis Members, and the Heavenly Father hath begot us all in one Womb of Baptism, and that not with corruptible feed, should we not be all tied in one chain of love with one Soul and one Body.

If thefe Letters were writ by the Habaffin Emperor, which I do very much doubt, they plainly difcover that the Fathers chief Argu-T 4 ment ThefeLetters were probably forged by fome Miffionary.

ment to perfuade him to fubmit himfelf to the Pope, was the promise of Portuguese Troops; but the reafon why I fuspect these Letters not to have been writ by the Emperor, but by fome Miffionary in the Indies, and who had never fo much as been in Ethiopia, are, i. That Seltam Saged, or Suseneus's Father, was never Emperor, as be is faid in these Letters to have been. 2. Guerreiro, in his relation of Ethiopia, printed at Lisbon in the Year 1611, fets them down under the name of the Emperor Jacob, or Malafequet. 2. Their Phraseology, excepting an affected sprinkling bere and there of uncouth Phrales, as allo their Complements are fo much Spanish, that an Habaffin has not less of the air of a Spaniard, than they have of the Letters that were certainly known to have been writ by some of those Emperors. Laftly, Pereira tells us, That the Habassin Emperors from the time that the remains of Gama's Troops went over to the Turks; and affifted them against Ademas, dreaded nothing fo much, as the coming of Portuguese Soldiers from the Indies; but whatever the Emperors did, there being nothing that the Jefuits defired fo earneftly, it is to be feared, that they made bold with the Emperor's name in the folliciting of them.

But there are more Letters behind, which whether genuine or fuppolititious, I shall fet down; leaving them to the centure of the judicious Reader.

THE Letter of Peace and Love, fent by Athana-Athanateus, cometh to the High and Power- teus's Le ful Emperor of Portugal, with the Peace of our Lord Christ, who was Crucified on the holy Cross Portugal. for the Redemption of the World; May this Peace be always with your Majesty. The cause of my writing this Letter to you, is the earnest defire that the Emperor and I both have to fee fome Portuguese Troops in this Countrey; We do therefore most. earnestly befeech your Majesty, to fend us a Body of stout well-disciplin'd men, in order to there covering of our Ports, which are at this time in the hand of the Enemies of our Faith. When your Soldiers arrive, we will take care that they shall be supplied with Arms, and all other Necessaries. Your Majesty's Ancestors assisted us, when the Mahometans broke in upon us; and we do to this day remember what great things Christ wrought for us by their means; I must therefore a second time intreat your Majesty, to (end us a Body of stons. Soldiers, whom when they arrive, I shall be ready to receive with open Arms; and my mind gives me they will come at some time or other; concerning which affair, Father Peter Pays will write more at large to your Majesty.

The Letter of Raz Athenateus to the Viceroy of the Indies

to the Viceroy of the Indies.

His Letter THE Letter of Peace and Love, fent by Athenateus, cometh to the great Viceroy of the Indies, with the peace of our Lord Christ, who died on the holy Cross for our Redemption; may that Peace be always with your Excellency, and your whole State. Amen.

> Hear, Sir, My Father was always a great friend to the Portugueles that came into the le parts, having continually favoured them in all things, as I have done ever fince his death, having on all occafions affifted them both with my Interest and my Purfe; and faved several of them when condemned to die, being willing to preserve the remains of the first Portugueses that came among us, until more (hould come to them for the good of this Empire.

> I have had it for some years in my thoughts to write to you, but have still been hindered by the Wars we have of late been (o much embroiled in, out of which God has been pleased to deliver us at last, and to give us an Emperor of a Sound Judgment; and who governs all things with great prudence, 'who upon my acquainting him with the great need we stand in of Portuguese Succors, was pleafed to write bim(elf to the King of Portugal for some, commanding me to do the same, and to acquaint him, bow much we defire them, and how much their coming will be for God's Service. I must therefore intreat your Excellency, to lend us Your your belping-band in this affair, that so it may be brought to a speedy Issue; Let there be at least a Thousand Soldiers's sent, and let it be done with all possible Expedition, for which Service you will have honour in the sight of God, who will undoubtedly reward you for it; and were there but once a way opened for it, your Excellency shall want nothing that this Empire affords. I shall say no more, since Father Peter Pays, who is acquainted with all my secrets, can disclose my whole beart to you. May our Lord God bring all to an happy Issue, and grant your Excellency many years of Life. Amen.

Had the Jesuits been so kind as to have published those Letters of Father Peter, that thefe refer to, we might then probably have known the true caufe of that Father's having left Za Danguil's Court fo abruptly as he did; but however that were, it is plain from what Athenateus writes of the Father's being acquainted with all his Secrets, fo as to be able to disclose bis whole heart to the Viceroy, that they two had been plotting together; fo that had the Thousand Portugueses Athenateus wrote for so earnestly, come, it is more than probable that he would have made use of them for his own Service; the getting the Ports of Matzua and Arkiko into the hands of the Portugueses, and the erecting of Tigre by their Affiftance into a Kingdom Independent of that of Ethiopia, being a thing the Fathers even when most in favour with the Emperors, were continually labouring to bring about : For Athenateus was not only never in favour with the Emperor, whole name he made use of in thefe thefe Letters, but on the contrary, as the fefuits themfelves confefs, he was reduced by him to the Miferable condition of a probre efcudero, or poor Waiting-man: Neither is it unlikely that it was Athenateus having ruined himfelf and his Family, by intrieguing with the Fathers, that made him when he was upon his Death-bed reject their Affiftance when they offered themfelves to him; and that with indignation; not caring, it is like, to have any thing more to do with people that had deceived him fo often. Tho to do the Fathers Justice, it was none of their fault that the Soldiers did not come by the first fair wind after they had promised them.

A Mock Emperor fet up and Murthered. But the Habaffin Empire, notwithftanding all its late great bleedings, was too full of bad burnours to continue long quiet : For Seltam Saged was not well warm in his Throne, when a Fellow of bafe extraction was fet up for the Emperor facob; and though he is faid not to have refembled him in the leaft, either in Face or Person, yet he acted him fo well, that he was followed by vaft Multitudes. This Perkin, after having coft Ethiopia a wast quantity of blood, was killed at laft by fome of the Grandees of his own Party, being grown weary of maintaining a Mock Prince at so great a charge.

Father Peter is faid to have made himfelf very Popular on this occasion, by having perfuaded the Emperor to pardon all the Common People, and most of the Nobles that had been engaged in this Rebellion; aslikewife to Pardon a great herd of Peafants, who had provoked him more more by their Rudeness and Insolence, than by their having taken up Arms against bim.

The Emperor having thus rid his hands of his Sham-Rival, removed his Camp from Coja, to a place called Degbana, on the North-Side of the Lake of Dembea, which was not far from Gorgora, the new Refidence of the Jefuits; for conby which means the Fathers had daily opportunities of waiting on him, and of Difcourfing with him about Matters of Religion. The argument of all others that perfuaded the Emperor the most effectually of the truth of Christ's having two Natures, was the Fathers fhewing him a place in his own Hamanot Abea, a Book of the fame nature with the Bibliotheca Patrum, wherein it was affirmed, That that Doctrine was believed by all the Ancient Doctors of the Church; and that Diofcorus, the Patriarch of Alexandria, was the first Bishop that had ever denied it.

Raz Cella Chriftos, a Prince of great heat, and who was made Viceroy of Gojam by his Brother the Emperor at this time, was likewife convinced of the truth of that Doctrine Cella Chriby the fame argument; and being once convinced of it, nothing would ferve him but he Roman Cawould publickly declare himfelf a Roman Catholick upon it, reckoning that the Alexan- thereupdrians who had fo grofly imposed upon him in one particular, had Mislead him in every point wherein they differ'd from the. Roman Church. He would gladly have made his Abjuration and first Confeffion at the feet of Father Peter; but the Father not happening to be in the way when he

he was called to go againft the Gauls, who had made a great inroad into his Provinces, he would defer the doing of it no longer; and fo made them at the feet of Father Francis, whom for that reafon he ever after called his Mafter. Neverthelefs after the Expedition was over, he made a general Confeffion of his whole Life to Father Peter, and with it a Solemn and Publick Declaration of his refolution to Live and Dye in the Roman Faith: His Example is faid to have been followed by moft of his Officers, and by feveral of the Grandees of the Court.

In the year 1607. Father Peter having writ a Letter to the K. of Spain, to acquaint him with Seltem Saged being Eftablished in the Throne of Ethiopia, and to defire him to fend to Congratulate his acceffion to it; and to thank him for his kindnels to the Fathers; that King complied to far with the Father's request, as in the Year 1609 to write the following Letter to the Emperor.

Do fend you much Health, as my Brother whom I love and prize much: Now since there has always been a good Correspondence and Amity between the Emperors your Ancestors, and the Kings of Portugal, to me it seemed just and sitting to write this to you, to let you know how much I rejoice at the News of your your accession to the Empire, and shall always rejoice to hear of your Prosperity, being ready as occasions (hall offer to fatisfy you in all things ; and accordingly I have recommended your affairs to these my Kingdoms, and to my State of India, and the Viceroy thereof, that they knowing how acceptable it will be to me, may be fure to comply with all your defires; and that this our Amity may continue, I do most passionately desire you, to write all your News to me, as I hall do mine to you. I do earnestly recommend the Friars that are in your Kingdom to you, which is my chief Obligation, namely, Father Peter Pays, defiring that they no less than the Portugueses may be Treated as it is reasonable. > Written at Rome at St. Peter's, under the Ring of the Filherman, on the 4th of January, in the Year 1611, and in the Sixth year of our Pontificate.

It is plain from this Letter, that the Popes do not ftand fo much upon their Punctilio's with remote Heretick Princes, as they do with those in Europe they reckon to be Hereticks. Paul in this Letter calling a Prince who was a Professed Eu ychian Heretick, his most dear Son in Christ; a Title neither Urban would bestow upon King James, nor Gregory the Fisteenth upon the Prince of Wales, in their anfwers to the unhappy Letters, wherein those Princes had been fo civil as to give them the title of The most bleffed Father.

The Emperor growing every day more and more inclinable to the Roman Church, for which his Brother Cella Chriftos had declared himfelf openly a Champion, fuffering none to be about him, that were not either actually of ber Communica, or that appeared not to be well difposed for it; did upon the Receipt of this kind Letter from the Pope, begin to think of Profeffing himfelf a Roman Catholick too; but being lensible that that could not be done without raising fuch a florm in his Empire, as it would not be possible for him to weather without Portuguese Troops, He is faid to have refolved to fend an Embassify to the King of Spain, to Sollicit that Affair by the way

Holy and Loving Father,

The Emperor's Letter to the Pope.

TE have received your Letter of January 1-611, which is full of that love wherewith a tender Father is inflamed when he receives a penitent Frodigal Son; and not having been able by reason of the sudden departure of the India Ships to return you an an over to foon as we defired, we have now determined to do it by another way, which we hope God will open unto us; and to that end we have sent Father Antonio Fernandes, of the Society of Jesus, who has for some time resided at our Court, and with him our Embassador Tecur Egzy, defiring that your Holiness may have speedy notice of our being brought by the preaching of the Fathers of the Society who are resident in our Empire, to the Knowledge of the truth of the faith of the Chair of the Bleffed St. Peter, and of our being refolved to embrace the same, and to yield obedience to your Holiness as the Head of the Universal Church, so as for the future to be governed by a Patriarch of your fending; and that we may be put into a condition of yielding this obedience publickly; lickly, it will be neceffary for us to have fome Troops from Don Philip the Powerful King of Portugal, without which we shall never be able to do it openly. We do therefore most humbly befeech your Holiness, that fince as you have writ to us, you have been pleased to order your Apostolick Nuncio residing at his Catholick Majesty's Court, to follicit this Affair with great diligence, that you will renew your Orders to him, that (o they may be both effectually and speedily executed, and (o good an occasion may not be loft; and that in our days, and during his happy years, our Empire may find this necessary remedy. And fince you are the Father of all Catholick Kings, hold us in the number of such; and as you offer Prayers to God for them, before the most holy Bodies of the Apostles, do the fame for us your humible Son.

But as the Emperor's Brother, Ras Cella Christos, was the chief promoter of this Embasily, so he likewife writ a Letter to the Pope by it, which was as followeth:

The Letter of Cella Christos Viceroy of Gojam, cometh with the Peace of the Eternal Father, to the Holy Father Paul the Vth. the chief Pontiff, the Successfor of St. Peter, and Head of the Church.

Moft Beloved Father,

F according to the Holy Scriptures, they who Cella Chrifor's Letwere far off are come near; I who was at a ter to the U 2 vast Pope.

vast distance, am now brought near by the Preaching of the Fathers of the Society of Fesus that reside in this Empire ; for I having been commanded by my Brother Seltem Saged, my Lord the Emperor, to be prefent at feveral Conferences between the Fathers and our Learned men, I came at last to the Knowledge of the Truth of the Faith of the Chair of St. Peter, and of that Chair's being the Head of the Univer (al Church ; which faith I thereupon embraced, and obliged my Brother the Emperor to do the same, and to yield obedience to your Holines: But whereas it is not pollible for the Emperor to yield that obedience openly, until such time as he shall have a Thousand Portugueses fent by Don Philip the most Powerful King of Spain to be his Guards; and being informed that in the Letter your Holiness did my Brother the honour to write to him, you signified that you had ordered your Apostolick Nuncio residing at the Court of his Catholick Majesty, to follicit that Affair with extraordinary diligence; I took the confidence humbly to intreat your Holine(s, to bring it fpeedily to a conclusion, that so that good work may be done during my Brother the Emperor's Life, and so glorious an occasion of saving a lost flock, and of restoring it to its true Pastor, may not be lost. Whenever the Soldiers come, they will find me prepared to die in my Saddle with them for the faith, if there fould be occasion. I shall also with all my force labour to constrain others to embrace it, and to yield obedience publickly to your Holine(s; and in the mean time, I will do all I can to dipose and incline our people to the faith which I am endea. vouring at this time by translating, with the affiftance of the Fathers, the Commentaries of John Mal_

> Written at Dembea the 2d of February, 1612.

The way the Ambaffadors were to take being fetled, they begun their Journey in the beginning of March 1613, going first to Go-jam, where they were kindly entertain'd for baffador's fome time by the Viceroy; befides their Ha- Journey. baffin Retinue, they were attended by Ten Portugues; Six whereof were to accompany them only to the Kingdom of Narea, but the other Four were to go with them to the Indies. On the Fifth of March they departed from Ombrana with a ftrong Guard; and having Travelled Westward two days, they arrived at Sinaffe, the chief Town of Gongas; where having in the Viceroy's name, demanded a Guard to conduct them to the Nile, it was deni'd them by the Infidels, the Natives of that Countrey being all fuch : Whereupon they difpatched a Courier prefently to the Viceroy to acquaint them therewith, who immediately ordered three Companies of Soldiers to March to Sinaffe; and after having Conveyed the Ambassadors fafe to Nile, in their return to IJ. chaftile 2

A particular acchaftife the Gongazians for their Infolence; but the Infidels having had Intelligence how much the Viceroy refented their difobedience, in order to pacify him, gave the Ambaffadors a Guard, which waited upon them to Minafcet, a Town that flands upon the winding which the Nile makes towards Egypt.

The Embailadors paffed that River which was very high at that time, upon Borachoes or hides full of Wind : After which they Travelled directly South till they came to the Kingdom of Narea, whole Borders are about Fifty Leagues diftant from that River. The Cafres, who are the Natives, though fubject to the Habaffin, difturbed them fo much in their Journey, that they were forced to purchase a paffage through the Countrey with triffing Prefents.

Being arrived at Gondas, they were kindly entertained by the Governor, to whom the Viceroy had recommended them as his particular friends. 'Narea is the most Southern Countrey of Ethioria, and is about Thirty or Forty Leagues in compass; its Inhabitants are reckoned to be the best and honestest fort of people in the whole Habaffin Empire ; they are well Shaped, and not very Black, and have thin Lips and long Nofes; the Countrey is Fertile and Populous, and its chief Trade is in Slaves, in the Buying and Selling of whom its Merchants are faid to be wonderfully honefl. They were first Converted to Christianity by Malac Saged, to which they had always been well difpofed.

They industrioufly are fent out of their way.

From

From Gonda the Embaffadors went in Six days to the place where the Xuma or Viceroy of the Kingdom of Narea has his refidence, by whom they were received very coldly, upon his being jealous that their businefs was to bring a Portuguese Army into Ethiopia, to force them to turn Roman-Catholicks; and having called together all his Officers to confult how to Defeat this pernicious defign, it was agreed among them, that the best way to divert this ftorm, was to perfuade the Embaffadors to change their course, and to go to the Indies by the way of Baly, and the Cape of Darfuy, which they reprefented to be both the florter and fafer way than that the Court had Chaked out for them; knowing at the fame time, that it would be impossible for them to Travel through the Countries which are in the road to Daffuy, feveral of them being fubject to Mahometan Princes, who would not fuffer any private Christian, and much less Christian Embaffadors, to Travel through their Countries. Baly is a Kingdom that belonged formerly to the Habaffin, but was then in the Poffeffion of the Mahometans and Gauls; it borders upon Adel, lying to the East of Narea fo that the Embaffadors in going that way, went back again in a manner; neither was the way that the Court had order'd them to take, much better, by reafon of the vaft Deferts, and the unknown Nations they were to have paffed through before they got to Melinde.

The Viceroy having perfuaded them to go his way, was very officious to furnish them with a Guard to conduct them out of his King-U 4 dom; dom ; and to blind his defign the more, fent an Envoy to the King of Gingiro', through whofe territories they were to pass to obtain a free and fafe paffage for them. Being arrived at the Banks of Zebee, which is a much bigger River than the Nile, and which running like a torrent amongst steep Rocks, makes a most hideous noise, they met with a Bridge which was only a fingle Plank reaching from one Rock to another, and which befides that it was at a prodigious height from the water; it was fo weak as to bend with the weight of one man; but there being no other Bridge, they were confirained to make use of this, and in a days time they all paffed over it without lofing a man.

Being now in the Kingdom of Gingiro, they halted at a Village not far from the Bridge, fending the Viceroy's Envoy before, to acquaint the King of the Countrey with their arrival; but the King, who was a Heathen, was at that time fo much employed in fome extraordinary Conjurations, that it was a Week before the Envoy was permitted to fpeak with him; but fo foon as the Solemnity was over, he gave him an audience, and fent word by him to the Embaffadors to come immediately to Court, promifing to fhew them all the kindnefs he was able.

The Embassiadors being come to Court, found the King fitting on the top of a Building not unlike a Watch-Tower, it was Twenty five Palms in height, and about Thirty in breadth, the Courtiers stand all on the ground about it.

When

When the Embaffadors offered to prefent the Emperor's Letters to the King, he came down from his Throne, and having received them with great Ceremony, he Skipped to the top of it again: For be is faid in all bis postures, features, and motions, to have refembled a Baboon much more than a Man. After he had read the Letters, he talked with the Embaffadors a confiderable time by an Interpreter, who repeated both the King's Questions, and the Embaffador's Answers with a most profound reverence, and at last difmitsed them with affurances of his being ready to do them all good Offices.

· The Embaffadors having made the King a Prefent, obtained their Conge; and departing next day, they came at night to a River, which they croffed on Borachoes, that were pushed to the other fide by men Swimming behind them, and directed by one that Swom before; when they had paffed this River, they were in the Province of Combute, the Prince whereof is Tributary to the Habaffin. They were kindly entertain'd by this Prince, till one Manquer came to his Court, who though he pretended to have no other business there, but to receive the tribute that Prince paid, yet he was really fent by the Grandees of the Court; who having fmelt out the fecret of that Embaffy, ordered him to follow it, and to ftop it if he could poffibly. In purfuance whereof Manquer, fo foon as he had an opportunity whilpered the King in the ear, That the Emballadors were not fent by the Emperor, 'who knew nothing of them, but by another that was to be nameles; meaning no doubt Raz Cella, the Emperor's Brother, and that that he ought not therefore to give any Credit to their Letters of Credence, which were all forged in the Emperor's name; That the business they were going to the Indies and Portugal about, was to bring an Army from thenee into Ethiopia, to compelthe people thereof to turn Papists, which Army was to be brought upon them through his Kingdom; fo that he must expect to have the storm they were going to raife, to fall first upon him. Amelinel, for that was the King's name, believing all that Manquer had told him, fent prefently to the Embassadors to come and speak with him; and having admitted them to his Prefence, he told them roundly, that having been credibly informed, That they had no Commission from the Emperor, he could not do less than stop them, till he had an answer from him whether they were his Embassadors or not; and though the Embaffadors endeavoured to fatisfy him prefently, by fhewing him their Credentials; yet that would not do, but wait they must until Amelinel had the Emperor's Anfwer by a Courier he intended to fend to him. The Embaffadors finding there was no perfuading of Amelinel to let them go, defired they might have leave to fend a Courier of their own, with his, to the Court, which was granted them, but at the end of the third days Journey, the Couriers were both ftopped; and after having been detained there Six Months, were fent back without having ever been near the Court.

But the Emperor, or his Brother, who I doubt was chiefly concerned in this Embassy, happening to hear of the Embassiador's being ftopped stopped, an angry Letter was writ thereupon to Amelinel in the Emperor's Name, Commanding him not only to permit the Ambaffadors to proceed on their Journey, but to furnish them also with such things as would be proper Prefents for the Princes through whole Countries they were to pals. Whereupon Amelinel having begg'd their Excellencies Pardon for having detained them fo long, and treated them fo rudely, upon a mifinformation; and having furnished them with some fine They are Horses for Presents, he dismissed them with a good guard, which he commanded not to leave them, till they faw them fafe in the Kingdom of Alaba, whofe Prince was a Mabometan, and had no dependance on the Habaffin.

The Ambaffadors had not been Three days at that King's Court, whole Name was Alico, before their old friend Manquer was up with them again, who having told Alico the fame story he had told Amelinel, the Mabometan not troubling himfelf to examine whofe Ambaffadors they were, ordered their Persons and Papers to be seized on presently; but the Ambaffadors having had notice that there was fuch an Order preparing, had burnt all their Papers before the Officers came to arreft them; and it was well for them they had; for had Alico had any other Evidence befides Manquer's word, That their business in the Indies was to bring an Army from thence through his Kingdom into Ethiopia, it would certainly have cost them their lives; which though Alico Spared for want of such Evidence as their Papers would have furnished him withall, yet be stripped home them of their Equipage, and fent them back the ftripped. way way they came, in a very tattered condition. Were but the true secret of this Embassy known, we might know, its like too what it was that made the Emperor not long after this so jealous of his Brother, as to turn him out of all his Offices.

The Courtiers finding that none but Papifts were favoured, turn civil to the Fathers and their Religion.

The Countrey is much alarm'd therewith.

Several publick Conferences about Religion. But notwithflanding the Emperor did not as yet profefs himfelf a Roman Catholick, as his Brother did openly; yet it being obferved by the Ambitious Courtiers, That none were favoured by him, or could pretend to any high post, but fuch as had either turned, or appeared to be prepared to do it, whenever he should give the word; they begun to Carefs the Fathers extreamly, making their court to them, by undervaluing their own Clergy as a pack of Hypocrites and Dunces, and by magnifying the Church of Rome as a Body, that it was an honour for any one to be a Member of.

Upon Poperies growing thus fashionable at Court, the Countrey, which is feldom fond of Court-fashions, was to alarm'd by it, that it began to roar against the Emperor and his Brother at a most terrible rate, as bigotted Papist, that were refolv'd to deftroy the established Religion by calling a Foreign Army in upon them; and the Fathers, as if the Habaffins. had not roared loud enough, to provoke them to roar louder, gave out a publick Challenge at this time to all the Learned of the Alexandrian Faith, if it had any fuch, to defend their Religion, if they were able, before the Emperor. Which bold challenge being accepted, there were divers publick Conferences about Religion held thereupon before the Emperor; In all which the Fathers, but by their own Brethren, are faid to have been Victorious, Victorious, and by their great skill in School-Divinity, to whofe fubtleties the Habaffins were utter strangers, to have baffled them shamefully at every turn, to the admiration of the whole Courts.

When the Monks and Fathers had done Difputing, the Emperor, with the advice of his Cabinet Council, put forth a Proclamation prohibiting all his Subjects upon severe Penalties, to affirm that there is but one Nature in Christ.

The Abuna, Simon, hearing of the Disputations that had been held at Court, and of the Proclamation they had ended in, made all the speed he could thither, and being come to Court, he threatned the Emperor with an Excommunication for having held publick Disputations about Religion without his leave. The Emperor endeavoured to pacify the angry Old Man, by telling him, That it was true that he had permitted some Conferences, but for no other end, but to remove a Schism that was in the Church; but now that he was come, he might, if he pleased, have the Conferences renewed again.

The Abuna, though his talent is faid not to have lain much that way, gave his Confent to have the Disputations renewed; and Learned Men having been appointed on both fides to manage the Debate, the Fathers in the Conferences did demonstrate the Truth of Christ's having two Natures fo evidently, from the Scriptures, Councils, and right Reason, that the Habassins had nothing that was material to fay against it, the Abuna himself not having offered one word in defence of his Faith, when he faw his Monks most miserably baffled.

An Edict is publifhed by the Emperor prohibiting any to affirm that there is but one Nature in Chrift. The Abuna comes to Court. and is angry with the Conferenccs that had heen held without his leave.

The Conferences are renewed before him.

The Church-History

It is remarkable, That it was the policy of the Jefuits to make the Doctrine of Christ's having two Natures, and not that of the Pope's Supremacy, against which, by what the Emperor Claudius did, we know the Habaffins had enough to fay, the point that was debated in all their publick Conferences, which was not fo proper, confidering that the Habaffins might have believed that Doctrine, as the Reformed and Greek. Churches do, without being the nearer to the Church of Rome for it; for it does not at all follow, That because Christ had two Natures, that the Pope must therefore be his Vicar upon Earth; and that all Christian Churches must submit themselves to him : The very Fathers that established that Doctrine in the Council of Calcedon, having denied that the Pope had any Supremacy, but what he owed to Rome's being the first City in the Roman Empire; as I have observed elfewhere.

Upon the Habaffins being thus baffled upon a point the Church of Rome was no more concerned in than the Church of England, the Fathers in the heat of their triumph, did drive on the Emperor at a most furious rate, perfuading him to fet forth another Proclamation, making it death for any one to deny that there are two Natures in Christ : But the Abuna, though he had little to fay for his Religion at the Conferences, endeavoured after he had left the Court, to make amends for his filence there, by roaring the louder through the Countrey as he went home; and being fenfible that befides the whole body of the People, he had the Emperor's Mother, and his half-brother Emana Christos, with feveral

The Emperor was at first troubled at this Cenfure ; but being afterwards fatisfied by the Fathers of its Nullity, he was provoked by it to fet forth a Proclamation, defiring all his Subjects to embrace the Roman Faith, Commanding that Proclamation to be published by the Judges throughout the whole Empire; which most of them did, notwithstanding it was contrary to their private Judgments. This Proclamation having put the whole Empire into a flame, and provoked the Agau's to take up Arms; the Abuna, who waited only for fuch an opportunity, fo foon as he found the Emperor engaged in that War, writ Circular Letters to all bis Confidents, exhorting them and all the Nobles and People, that were not weary of the Faith of their Forefathers, to enter into an Affociation in Defence of it, against the Emperor and his Brother, who had now both declared them-(elves open Enemies to it.

Julius, the Viceroy of Tigre, who had Married a Daughter of the Emperor's, fo foon as he had received the Abuna's Letter, did not only begin to Perfecute the Fathers that refided at Fremona, but feized likewife upon the Eftates of all the Habaffins within his Province that had turned Roman Catholicks, declaring be would Defend his Religion against all the world, with the last drop of his blood. The Emperor hearing of the Circular Letter, and the the Affociation that was going on, was very angry with the Abuna, wishing he had him in his hands to put a ftop to his enflaming his Subjects against him; but knowing that if he difcovered himfelf to be difpleafed with him, that he would either not come if he fent for him. or come with fuch a Guard, that it would not be fafe for him to offer him any violence, he thought fit to diffemble his passion so far, as to write a kind Letter to him, defiring him to repair to him with all possible speed, to satisfy some fcruples which gave him great disturbance; writing at the fame time to Father Peter to come likewife; which the Father did immediately, bringing with him the news of the Perfecution that was fet on foot in Tigre against the Fathers and their Converts.

The Queen and feveral Grandees of the Court feeing what a form the Emperor was like to raife by endeavouring to introduce Popery into his Empire, waited upon him in a body, befeeching him as he loved his Crown and his people, to give over that design, as a thing not feasible, fince not only the Monks, but the whole body of the Nation did openly declare, That they would Defend their Religion against him and all the world with their Lives and Fortunes, and would dye a thousand Deaths sooner than turn Papifts. All which paffionate Remonstances were fo far from thaking the Emperor's Zeal for the introducing of Popery, that they inflamed it to that Degree, that he one day told Father Peter, That notwithstanding he was sensible he had so far lost the hearts of his Subjects by the fayour he therved to the Roman Religion, that they were

And as for his Brother, whenever he was spoke to to renounce Popery, and return to his former Faith; his answer was still, While I have breath in my body I will defend the Roman Faith with my Sword, my Tongue, and my Pen.

The Abuna, that he might not feem to be wanting to his duty in fuch a critical juncture, The Aburefolved to go and wait on the Emperor, but na being with fuch a Train, that it should not be fafe. for him, if he had a mind to it, to meddle with him, the very Monks that attended him ther well being more in number than the Royal Army. guarded. The Abuna and his Monks when they came within hearing of the Emperor's Tent, gave a general (hout, That they came all prepared to die for the faith of their Forefathers, being refolved to hear no more arguments against it; making the whole Camp to ring with Ajentent, Ajentent, that is to fay, The Ancient, the Ancient, meaning their Faith.

The Emperor being willing to put a ftop to this fury, fent to the Abuna to come to him ; which the Abuna did; and having fpoke their minds very freely to one another, they agreed to summon a Convocation of the Clergy to meet on Michaelmas-day, at which the Fathers were to be prefent, and to be heard.

The Convocation being met at the time appointed, it was fo far from allaying the heat of the Habaffins, which was the end for which the Emperor had called it, that it put them in a greater flame than they were in before; for the

the Fathers knowing they had not one voice on their fide in that whole body, were not for having things put to the Vote, but for having them disputed, as if it had not been a Convocation, but only a publick Conference; but though the Fathers offered feveral Arguments in defence of their Doctrines, which the Habassins did not fo much as pretend to Answer: Nevertheless the H abassin ftill kept their Ground, declaring, That no Sophistry should ever persuade them out of the faith of their Forefathers. The Convocation having wrangled, for that was all the Jesuits would fuffer to be done in it for five days; it broke up in a great heat, leaving matters a great deal worse than it found them.

The Abuna and the Monks wait on the Emperor in a Body.

The Abuna and his Monks finding there was no good to be done upon the Emperor, who feemed to be bewitched by the Jesuits, were for leaving the Camp immediately without taking any farther notice of him; but having confidered on't a little better, they agreed to wait upon him in a body, to conjure him by all that was facred, and as he loved himfelf, his Posterity and People, not to endeavour to bring a new Religion in among them; and which, he could not but be fenfible, was the Religion in the world that they the most hated; and fo without fending to him for an audience, which they had reafon to believe would have been denied them, they went and threw themfelves at his feet, and inftead of fpeaking, raifed a most lamentable howl, as if they had been fo many Ideots, fay the Fathers; which howl, having continued a good fpace, they at last recovered their speech, crying with one Voice, Voice, That his Highness must not think that he was able to destroy a Religion which had been maintained in Ethiopia by so many Emperors thorough (o many Ages. The Emperor not appearing to be in the least moved either by their Complaints or Threats, they all ris and went away in a great Rage, fome of them being faid, by their Enemies, to have been fo far provoked by the Emperor's carriage toward them, as to have confpired to Murther him and his Brother, as they went out of the Camp, for Recreation ; but not having met. with an opportunity of executing that black defign, they all returned home with their Abuna; but with their Spirits fo exasperated, that it was visible to every body that they would not fuffer the Emperor and his Fefuits to be long quiet.

Father Peter to divert the Emperor from thinking of the troubles that he was like to bring upon himfelf and his Empire by his Zeal for Popery, put him upon building a fanding Palace on a Peninsula in the Lake of Dembea. and there being no fuch thing as a Mafon in all Ethiopia, the Father undertook the work himfelf, and in a fhort time run up a House which the Jesuits fay would have been a convenient Hunting Palace, for the beft King in Europe; The Emperor was extreamly pleafed with it; and the Habaffins having never feen a Houfe with Stories before, called it Habet, Labet, that is, a House upon a House. While Father Peter was employed in Building, the other Fathers were buy Translating fome Commentaries on the Scripture out of Latin into Habaffin; namely, Maldonate on the Gospel, Ribera on X 2 the

An attempt is made upon the Emperor's life.

Julius the Emperor's Son-in-Law takes up Arms for the their Religion.

While the Emperor was folacing himfelf in his new Palace, his Brother Amana Christos, Julius the Viceroy of Tigre, and one Calfe his Chamberlain, and chief Eunuch, confpired to Murther him in it; and had done it, had it not been for a Spring-Lock which flut a door behind him as he fled from the Confpirators; of which Lock it is reported, that the Emperor when he first faw it on the Door, would have had it taken off, as troublefome to open every time he went into his Clofet, had not Father Peter perfuaded him to let it alone, by telling him, That it might at some time or other do his Highne's fome Service. The Confpirators having made their Escape, had no remedy after such a black attempt, but to take the Field ; and Julius being got into Tigre, he immediately fet forth a Proclamation, commanding all within that Kingdom who were of the Roman Faith, to go to the Emperor and his Brother, who would make them welcom; and all that were of the fame faith with their Fathers to repair to him, he being refolved to defend it with the laft defence of drop of his blood.

> This Proclamation brought the whole Countrey in to Julius, out of which having formed a numerous Croisade, he marched directly towards the Nile with an intention to have fallen first upon Raz Cella, the great Champion of of Popery; but happening in his March to come near the place where the Abuna refided, he went to wait on him to have his Bleffing ; the Abuna, who was glad to fee him, was not fade afatisfied with giving him a Thoufand Bleffings for being fo valiant for the truth ; but though he was above a Hundred Years of Age he would go in perfon in the Croifade, telling Julius, That as he should partake of the benefits of that holy War, if it had success; so he was refolved likewife to partake of its dangers. And whereas Julius was for beginning with Raz Cella, the Abuna diverted him from it, by telling him, That since he was at the head of so great and zealous an Army, he ought not to (pend its first heats, which were always the ftrongest in lopping off Branches, but in striking at the Root, which being once destroyed, the Branches would wither of themfelves. He likewife encouraged the Soldiers, by telling them, That they fought for the best Caufe in the world, that is, the true Religion, which the Emperor and his Brother, if let alone, would certainly destroy; affuring them, That who foe ver was flain in this holy War, would die a Martyr, and go fraight to Heaven; thundering out his Excommunications at the same time against the Emperor and his Brother, and all that adhered to them, as Apostates from the Faith.

The Emperor hearing that Julius was Marching towards him with a numerous and Zealous Croifade, fent to his Brother to make all the hafte he could to come and join him with his Army; but fearing left Julius, who made long Marches, might be up with him before his Brother could join him ; He incamped X 2

The Abuna goes againft him in perfon. ed his Army fo, that the Enemy's Horfe, in which their main ftrength confifted, if they should attack him in his Camp, would be of little use to them.

When the Armies were within fight of one another, the Emperor fent his Daughter, who was Wife to Julius, to try if the could perfuade her Husband to lay down his Arms, promifing him not only a pardon for what he had done, but every thing that a fubject could reasonably defire of his Prince : And in cafe fhe fhould not be able to bring him to fubmit, fhe was then to try if fhe could obtain a Ceffation of Arms of him for a few days; but Fullius either reckoning himfelf fecure of a Victory, that would have the Crown for its reward; or being fearful to take the Emperor's word after he had provoked him fo much, would hear of nothing but of Fighting ; faying, He would either die a Martyr for his Religion, or by Conquering its Enemies Secure it from being ever destroy'd : And that he might lose no time, he attacked the Emperor's Camp before his Princefs was well got back to her Father; and having put himfelf at the head of a brisk body of men, be advanced towards his out-guards, who though they did not come in to him, would not ftrike a ftroke, telling their Officers flatly, That they would never draw their. Swords against a man, who was fighting in De-fence of their Religion. Julius observing this, asked aloud all the way he went, where the Emperor was, that was refolued to destroy the Religion of their Forefathers, which he was there with his Sword in his hand ready to defend against him and before against the Alexandrians, and their Religion, who immediately upon this Victory set forth a Proclamation, prohibiting all his Subjects upon severe penalties to observe Saturday any longer.

This Impious Proclamation, as the Habaffins reckoned it, produced a bitter Libel, directed by way of a Letter to the Emperor, wherein he was told, That his Subjects were all amazed at his wickedness in commanding the violation of that Sacred day; advising him not to be rid by the Jesuits, who were an Ignorant little fort of people ; and who being of the race of Pontius Pilate. and Uncircumcifed, did teach, that there are Two Natures in Christ : Adding, That they were men (wallowed up in the Gulph of their own Fopperies, and did run headlong like an unbridled Hor(e, without looking before them; and did well deferve to have a Milftone tied about their Necks, and to be thrown into the Sea, and to be made partakers of. the Curfe that befel Pope Leo for having deni'd the Unity of Chrift's Nature ; and after a great huddle of Texts of Scripture in favour of their Doctrines, it at laft admonisheth the Emperor that in cafe be was not weary of his Crown, and the high Dignity he had received from the Popes of Egypt, who wore the holy and new Ephod, and bore the badge of the Cross, to give over trying such new Experiments: concluding thus; Ab! This Libel galled the Emperor fo terribly, that to be revenged on its Authors, he published a Second Proclamation, by which he commanded all his Subjects to work on Saturdays, being to pay a Crown for the first fault, and to forfeit their whole Effate for the fecond ; to which penalty the Offenders were to continue liable Seven Years after the fault was committed, by which time the Fathers hoped that Popery might have got strength enough in Ethiopia to execute this Law as they should see occasion, being sensible that there would be few or none of any Estate that would not be under its lash. This rigorous Proclamation being fent to Foanel the Viceroy of Begameder, who waited for fuch an opportunity to raife the people against the Emperor, to publish, he commanded it to be done prefently with great Solemnity, taking care at the fame time, to declare to all the World, that it was what he abominated from his Soul : Neither was Joanel deceived in his thoughts of the effects of this Proclamation; for the people no fooner heard of the Emperor's having commanded them under severe Penalties for to work upon Saturdays, than they began to rail at him, as one who had no Religion; and who, for that and other reasons was become so intolerable to his Subjects, that they must be Beasts of Burden to endure him any longer ; and hearing that Foanel had declared himfelf openly in all Companies against what the Emperor had commanded ; they flocked to him from all Quarters, befeeching him as he had any love for God and his it. trampled on; promifing to die by bis fide in the defence of it. Joanel having foreseen what the Emperor by his Zeal for Popery would quickly bring things to, had obtained a promife of confiderable Succours from the Gauls whenever he should take the Field; upon the ftrength of which, and the fury the Emperor's late Proclamation had put the whole Empire into, he formed a great Army out of the people that flocked in to him; affuring them, now he had taken up Arms, that he would never lay them down until he had fecured their Religion to them. When the news of this fecond Croifade came to Court, great numbers of the first Quality of both Sexes fet upon the Emperor again, befeeching him as be loved bimself and bis Empire, to give over all thoughts of introducing Popery into a Countrey, that of all things in the world could not endure it.

The Emperor, though much troubled to find that Foamel and his Caufe had fo many friends in his Court ; yet not being willing to do any thing that might intimmedate his Converts, he told the Grandees that had addreffed to him, with an angry countenance, That it was his Subjects duty to obey, and not to dispute bis Commands; and that he would teach them better manners than to fly thus in their Prince's face, when he did any thing that displeased them; and hoping to have terrifi'd the Grandees from troubling him with any more Addreffes, he commanded one of the most forward Addressers to be put to death, banishing another of them for his life to the Kingdom of Narea; which cruelty was fo far from having the effect that was was expected from it, that it did but Exasperate peoples spirits, and put them into a greater rage against Popery than they were in before.

The Emperor, though he could not but fee the ftorm thicken upon him on all fides, yet was fo far from feeking to divert it by any Compliances, that having called a full Affembly of the Grandees, Monks, and Military Officers together in the great Hall of the Pa-lace, he made the following Speech to them.

Y OU Ris against the Emperor Jacob, and having Deposed him for several Misde-meanors, you advanced my Cousin Za Danguil to the Throne, whom for having forsaken your Re-ligion, and embraced that of the Portugueses, thereupyou afterwards Murthered; and after having con- on. ferred the Crown upon me, you made Jacob King a Second time; but though you intended to have Deposed me, God was pleased to give me Victory; from that day to this I have done wrong to no body, but on the contrary, have pardoned great numbers, having been prodigal of my favours to a fault; but all this has not been sufficient to keep you from Rebelling, upon a pretence that I am endeavouring to destroy your Religion, when, in truth, I do only feek to reform it; for as I do profess with you, That our Lord Christ is true God and true Man : fo I do moreover affirm, That as he cannot be perfest God without having the Nature of God, fo neither can be be perfect Man without a Human Nature; now fince it is evident by the light of reason, That the Divine and Human Nature are really distinguished, it must follow therefore, that there are two Natures in Christ; and since there can be no Confusion in the Godhead, those two Natures must necessarily be united in one and the Same Person of the Eternal Word; so that what I am doing, is not to for fake the Faith, but to profels it in truth. And I do further affirm, That the Divine Nature is Superior to the Human. It is true, I have forbid you to observe Saturday any longer; and it is an amazing thing that you who value your (elves upon being Christians, should be for keeping the Sabbath of the Jews; what is this, but, as the Prophet Elias Said, to go halting, Oc.? As this is my Faith, fo I do not follow it because it is the Faith of the Portugueses, or of the Roman Church, but because it is the Faith that was established by Six hundred Fathers in the Council of Calcedon, which Condemn'd Diofcorus and Eutyches; and for being a truth founded on the Scriptures, and derived from the Apostles, who were the Teachers of the World. Undeceive your felves therefore; for for this Faith I am ready to lay down my life if there (hould be occasion, though I must tell you at the same time, it shall cost them their Lives first that shall dare to contradict me therein.

How feafonable a Speech of this ftrain, was, in which Father Peter, who was now become the firft Minifter, had a hand undoubtedly, for one in the Emperor's Circumftances, let the world judge.

The Emperor having received an infolent Letter from Joanel, wherein he infifted upon having the Jefuits all turned out of Ethiopia, and his being declared Viceroy of Begameder for his Life, was fo incenfed, that he marched ed againft him in Perfon; but Joanel having advice thereof, and knowing himfelf not to be ftrong enough to deal with him, he Retreated to the Mountains, where his Army's Zeal being allayed by the want of Provifions, it moulder'd to nothing in a flort time; fo that he was obliged with a fmall Party to take fanctuary among the Gauls, who having been hired to it by the Emperor, put him to death.

The Emperor being returned to Doncaz, where he intended to fpend the Winter, was invited by the Fathers to come and visit the new Church they had built at Gorgora, which he did with great Devotion, putting his Shoes off when he entered into it; but the late Proclamation had bred too much ill blood in Ethiopia for to let it be long quiet. The Damotes, a People inhabiting the banks of Nile, being thrown into fuch a rage by Raz Cella, their Viceroy's rigorous Execution thereof, that they all flew to their Arms as one Man, being likewife inftigated fo to do by great droves of Hermits, who being alarmed by the late Proclamation, flocked to them from all parts of the Defarts, railing all the way they came at the Emperor and his Brother, as Apostates, and at the Jesuits as the Authors of all their troubles; feveral of them running. over the Countrey as men distracted, and roaring as they went, That all People were bound in Conscience to take up Arms against the Emperor and his Brother, in defence of their Religion, which they seemed to be resolved to destroy.

The Emperor fends an Army againft the Rebels, and routs them.

The

The Damotes take up Arms for their Religion, and are routed.

The Viceroy hearing of the mad work the Hermits were making among the Damotes, writ to fome of his Friends in those parts, not to fuffer themfelves and the People to be any longer abused by such a pack of Ignorant and Hypocritical Rascals, who taught them nothing but Lies; but he could have no other answer from them than, That unless be would burn all his Popish Books, and deliver up all his Jesuits to them, that they might hang them all upon one great Tree, for the mischiefs they had done in Ethiopia, they would have nothing more to do with him, being all to a man resolved to live and die in the Alexandrian Faith. The Viceroy not caring to part with his Books and Fefuits fo eafily, advanced towards them with an Army of Seven Thousand well-disciplin'd Men; the Damotes were near double the Number, having Four hundred Hermits who had devoted their Lives to their Religion, well Armed with Targets and Launces; this great inequality in numbers did not hinder the Viceroy from offering them Battel fo foon as he came up with them, which they having accepted of, the two Armies quickly came to blows, but the Damotes being raw men, and not well Armed, were at the first onfet put to the rout, and befides a great flaughter that was made among the Soldiers as they fled towards the Mountains, there were One hundred and eighteen of the Monks, with their famous Captain Batare, found flain upon the fpot where the Fight was; the Viceroy is faid to have loft but One Man in the Action, and be too, which made the loss the less, was a Heathen:

Heathen. A Miraculous Evidence, say the Feluits, of the Truth of the Roman, and of the fallhood of the Alexandrian Faith.

The Emperor, when Father Peter Congratulated him upon this Victory, told him, He had great reason to thank God for it, for that had the Damotes gained the least advantage, he should have had the whole Empire presently in Arms against him, whose Spirits he believed were now pretty well subdued, and that after such a blow, it would not be so easy for the Monks or Hermits to Roar them into any more Rebellions; and whereas he had hitherto been with-held by his fears, and bis Wife's, which he was very unwilling to The Emhave parted withal, from Reconciling himfelf peror reformally to the Church of Rome, he told the conciles Father, he would delay to do it no longer; the Father over-joyed to hear this, upon his Church of having first Abjured all the Alexandrian Errors, Rome. and made a Confession of his whole Life to him, gave him Absolution, and Reconciled him to the Pope.

But the Father, overcome it is like by the Joy of this Conversion, outlived it but a few days; his Death was much Lamented by the Emperor and his Brother, to whom the Father was become a perfect Oracle, in all State, no less than Church-matters.

Prefently after Father Peter's death, there were Three Letters writ from Ethiopia to the Provincial and Visitor of the Jesuits in the Indies, to fend them a Patriarch, with as many Fathers as they could spare : The first was writ by the Emperor to the Provincial, the lecond and third to the Vifitor, by Father Luis

Father Antony Fernandez Letter to the Father Visitor of the Indies.

Write this with the good News of this Kingdom, to your Reverence, to engage you to order Proceffions to be made, and to have Maffes faid, and the Te Deum fung, to return Thanks to God for the favour he has shewed us in the Convertion of this Empire, the doing whereof will very much refresh the Fathers and Brethren who labour here with me, and will sweeten the great hardships they undergo.

The Emperor with his whole Court, and all the Grandees, and Princes Ecclefiastical and Secular of this Empire, have abjured their Errors, and made a publick Profession of their Obedience to the holy See of Rome.

The general Administration of all Churches and Parishes being put into my hands, I have Established Curates in them all, having made such new Laws as were necessary; and abolished all the old ones that were contrary to the Roman Church. I have had some thoughts of coming to you, and have been ready to begin my Journey, but have been still hindered by the Glory of God, which oblight me to keep close to the Emperor.

The thing we stand most in need of here at prefent, is a Patriarch, with a good number of Fathers, to help us to carry on these good beginnings. Your Reverence Reverence cannot but be sensible of this our want, without my enlarging upon it. Our Fathers and Brethren ought to run thorough fire and water, Pikes and Swords for to affift this Countrey; lest baving the promised Land shewed us, we may be excluded it thorough our own fault. They ought to flock bither with all possible speed; for notwith (tanding the Heirs apparent of the Empire, and all the Princes and Nobles thereof are at prefent true Catholicks; Nevertheless (hould we happen to be deprived of the Emperor and his Brother Zela Chriftos by death, it is to be feared, that the Monks and Habaffins might raife seditions to the pulling down of all that we have built; and may persuade the people, who are more changeable than the wind, to abandon what they have so lately embraced.

Wherefore your Reverence would do well to fend us all the Fathers you can spare; let them be at least Truenty, whom we shall endeavour to accommodate the best we can, until it shall please God to raile up a Cardinal or Prince to have compassion upon these poor people, and to succor those who labour in their Conversion. No day passeth wherein the Emperor do's not speak to us to send for Two hundred Fathers, Saying, God will provide for them when they come. I am fensible the Society cannot furnish us with so many, though if it could, the Corn here is so ripe for the Harvest, that they would all find work enough. We did at first accommodate our (elves to the customs of the Countrey, that we might with the more ease gain them to the Lord ; having befides the Fasts that are commanded, kept Wednesdays, and observed Lent, and Eafter, and the other principal Feasts, according to their stile ; according to which, Easter falls sometimes a Month Month Sconer than with us; reciting our Offices likewife after their custom on the Evening of Fasting-days; but fo foon as we found them disposed for it, we proposed to them the Rites, Customs, and Ceremonies of the Latin-Church, and the decrees of the Pope, which they have now univerfallly agreed to; fo that of late we have without any contradiction, kept Easter, and the other Feasts, according to the Roman stile. For the settlement whereof, they have earnestly demanded the Tables of our Moveable Feasts, and the Ecclesiastical Epact, to prevent their being mistaken. I have by Letter defired our Provincial to Send us Such Tables, that any one of a common capacity may accommodate the names that are in them, to the names of this Countrey. To which end I have (ent him a Table that was made here by a Catholick, who is very expert in Arithmetick, that he may examine it, and alter it as he (hall think convenient. And I do earnestly beseech your Reverence, to get this affair dispatched as foon as it is possible, and to order continual Prayers to be made to God in our behalf, and in behalf of this Countrey : We have lost two good Fathers here; God take us under his Protection; for this Million has sultained a great loss by their deaths ; this Empire, which wants I do not know how many Priefts, at prefent has only, Father James Matos, and Father Anthony Bruno, who have the fole charge of Gojam; and Father Lewis d'Azevedo, who is gone lately to Ambra ; and my self, who am fixt at Court. Praifed be God we are all in health at present; but Father Lewis's ordinary distempers are such as demand a writ of ease for him; but Charity and a Zeal for Souls overcomes all difficulties; I do recommend my (elf ta

How far Popery was from having got fuch footing in Ethiopia as this Letter reprefents it. to have had, will appear from the fequel of. the Story.

Such Reports as thefe of the Conversion of Ethiopia, being transmitted to Rome.

Mutio Vitelesci, the General of the Fesuits, to fecure the honour of that Conversion to his own Order, waited upon the Pope; and without any Commission or Order from the Empercr to do it, made a fubmiffion to the Pope in his name with all the ufual Solemnities; and not being able to obtain leave no more than Ignatius, though he begg'd it of the Pope with the fame earnestness as his Patriarch had done, to go in perfon to Ethiopia, to finish that great work; he contented himfelf with fending a Nuncio to do it; the Jesuit he employed in this Embassy, was one Manuel d' Almeyda, who at that time refided at Bacaim in the Indies; who with Three other Fathers arrived at Fremona in Ethiopia, in the Year 1624. where having staid a Month with his Brethren, to inform himfelf of the true state of Affairs, he begun his Journey to Court; where when he arrived, he was received with great Ceremony by the Emperor ; who when the Nuncio at his first audience offered to have kissed Hefends a his hand, would not fuffer him to do it ; but Nuncio having commanded him to fit down by him, to him to acquaint he asked him feveral Queftions concerning him the Pope, and the King of Portugal, and the state of Affairs in Europe ; the Nuncio perceiving that he took no notice of his Master Vitellesci, stood up, and told him, That his Reverend General Mutio Vitellesci, not having to his great forrow been able to obtain leave of the Pope to come in perfon to wait upon his Highnefs, had (ent bim to kils bis hand in his name, and to return his Highness his thanks for the favours he had (hew'd to the Friars of his Order; and to acquaint him furthermore, with his having made his Highnels submission to the Pope, who is the head of the Church, and Christ's Vicar on Earth, by having kissed bis Holinesse's feet in his name. The Emperor, though furprized, did not feem to be difpleafed with the General for having been fo officious; but having commanded his Letters to be read prefently by Father Anthony, he was fo well fatisfied with them, that he ordered his Hiftoriographer, who was prefent at the reading of them, not to forget to infert them into his life.

The Emperor reckoning he had fo far fubdued the Spirits of his Subjects, that he might now do what he pleafed with them; begun to make bolder fteps towards the introducing of Popery, than he had ventured to make before; and in order to make the Alexandrian Faith odious to his People, he fet forth the following Manifesto, on purpose to blacken the Memories of their former Abuna's.

The

The Manifesto of the Emperor Saltem Saged cometh to the whole world of his Empire.

TEAR what we (ay and write in favour of The Em-The boly Faith (which is true, and has no crookedness in it ) of the great City of Rome, the Chair of St. Peter, whom our Lord Jesus Christ Constituted the Prince of the faithful; telling him from his own holy mouth, from whence no error could flow, Thou art Peter, &c. as he did alfowhen he was ready to be crucifi'd for the Redemption of the world. Simon, behold Satan hath defigned to winnow thee as Wheat, but I have pray'd that thy faith may not fail ; commanding him likewife after his Refurrection, and before his Ascenfrom in the flesh into Heaven, to feed his Rams, his Sheep and his Lambs, meaning by Rams, men, by Ews women, and by Lambs children; and thus St. Peter had Authority given him over all Christians. This venerable Prince of the Apostles, when he was about to leave the world, that he might go to his Creator to receive his reward, bequeathed this privilege and primacy to his Succeffors in the Chair. of Rome, where it has continued and will continue to the end of the world; so that it shall neither be in the power of Moors nor Turks nor of any other Creature to deftroy it; those words of our Lord Jesus, the Gates of all shall not pervail against it being its sure defence.

the Church, for affirming the Son of God to be a Creature; as the second Council, confifting of One bundred and fifteen Patriarchs and Bishops, allembled in the City of Constantinople, did Macedonius, for afferting the Holy Ghoft to be a Creature; and the third Council, confifting of Three hundred Bishops, did Neftorius, for dividing Christ into Two Perlons, the Divine and Human; and the fourth, confifting of Six hundred and thirty Patriarchs and Bishops, assembled in the City of Calcedon, Excommunicated the Rebellious Dioscorus, for joyning in Infidelity with Eutyches; in mixing the Humanity with the Divinity, (o as to make One only Nature; whereas it is most certain, That there are Two Natures in Christ, the Divine and Human; on the account of which Divine Nature it was, that the (aid Three hundred and eigheeen Fathers did put the following words into the Creed, We believe in our Lord Jefus Chrift the only begotten Son of the Father, and who was with him before the World was Created; as on the account of his Human Nature, the following words were added, And was conceived by the Holy Ghoft, in the Womb of the Virgin Mary, with the Confent of the Father, and the Son, and of the faid Holy Ghoft, Three Perfons and One only God; the Father and the Son not being named on that occafion; being no argument of those Fathers not believing they did not Co-operate therein with the Holy Spirit, but it was done on purpose to teach us, That in the Most Blessed Trinity, besides the operations ad Intra, there are operations ad Extra; according to the boly Fathers; of those ad Extra, the Works of Power are attributed to the Father; thoje those of Wildom to the Son, and those of Love to the Holy Ghost : Wherefore since the Incarnation of the Son of God was for the lake of the Sons of Men, and for that reason was a Work of Love: The Three hundred and eighteen Fathers did attribute it to the Holy Spirit: Though in Virtue and Power, and the Creation of things, the Father. Son, and Holy Gboft, are One only True God: The Virgin Mary was mentioned by them upon account of the Human Nature, which in an instant united it felf to the Eternal Person of the Son, who is equal in Divinity to the Father; and that in our Lord Jesus Christ, being only One Person, there are Two Natures, is written in divers Books of the Holy Spirit, St. Matthew in the beginning of it, calleth his Gospel, The book of the Generation of Jefus Chrift, the fon of David, the fon of Abraham ; which was faid on the account of his Human Nature; as it was on the account of his Divine Nature that St. John faith, In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and God was the Word; the Divine Nature having neither Beginning nor End; whereas the Human Nature had a Beginning. All which Writings notwithstanding, Euryches, the Master of Mischief, did affirm, That there was only One Nature in Christ, and jo mixed the Humanity with the Divinity; now this Rebel was followed by Diofcorus, who affifted him both in word and deed, and having procured the Murther of Flavianius, Patriarch of Conftantinople, for having Excommunicated Eutyches, and some other obstinate Hereticks that were before him, namely, Arius, Macedonius, Neftorius, and Sabellius; all which matters having been (ub-Y mitted.

mitted to the Holy Roman Church, the Head of all other Churches, on the account of the Empire and Primacy that it hath by inheriting the Power of St. Peter, the Prince of the Apostles.

It is certain the Patriarchs who succeeded Diofcorus in the See of Alexandria, have not Preached the true Faith, in having taught that there is only One Nature in Christ; and jo being destitute of the true Faith, they have wandered out of the paths of Patriarchs, Bishops, and Priests, in having had Wives and Children, and Grand-Children, and have been intangled in divers things not fit to be named ; they have alfo taken Money for Holy Orders; and having Confecrated Salt Stones for Altar Stones, have afterwards sold them; having likewife tyrannized cruelly over those they Ordained, obliging several of them to ferve them a Year, or Six Months at least, in lawing Wood or Stone for their Palaces, before they would Ordain them; for which Practice they were Excommunicated by the Apostle, who faid, He that buyeth or felleth Orders, is excommunicated, and has his portion with Simon Magus and Fudas.

The Abuna Mark, was Convicted by the Emperor Malec Saged, of feveral carnal Crimes which are not fit to be heard or Uttered, they being of that kind for which God rained down fire from Heaven; and being Depofed for having been guilty of them, he was Banished into the island of Dek, where he dyed a strange death, his Belly swelling as hard as a Drum. The Abuna Christos Dula kept several Concubines, contrary to the custom of Patriarchs, as was well known by all his Contemporaries, and by some that are still alive. His Successor Succeffor Peter kept a Malaquis Wife, and having been convicted of Adultery, be did Penance for it, as may be testified by several living Witness, namely one Joseph, and one Marino, who are both Strangers, and not Habaffins; and who adding fin to fin, did Excommunicate the Emperor Jacob, after he had Reigned Seven Years, as he did all the People of Ethiopia likewife, in case they did not Depose him, and Banish him to the Kingdom of Narea; and having placed Za Danguil in the Throne, he afterwards excited his Subjects to Murther him, by Excommunicating them if they did not do it; and as if all this had not been enough, he took the Field with the Emperor Jacob against us, and was killed with him in the Fight. The Abuna Simon was guilty likewife of divers enormous Crimes, who befides his having taken one Mali an Egyptian's Wife from him, and dishonoured feveral Virgins, he kept divers Concubines, and happening to have a Child by one who was not able to maintain it, to conceal his shame, he ordered it to be thrown to the Wolves, by whom it was devoured; this every body knows to be true, namely, the Azages; and who, when Julius Rebelled, inflead of labouring, according to the custom of Patriarchs and Monks, to make Peace, joyned with bim in his Rebellion, and having called his Soldiers together, told them on the day before the Battel, That he forgave them all, Young and Old, their Sins, notwithstanding they had broke all the Commandmendments, upon condition they would put all to the Sovord that they found in Arms in the Emperor's Camp, and that he would Canonize the Man that would kill the Emperor, affuring them that all that (bould be flain fighting against him, would die Martyrs, tyrs, and go straightways to Heaven; encouraging Julius's Soldiers, after the example of Satan, to fight against us; but God was pleased to give us the Victory; and the Divine Justice having laid its Military bands upon him, he died an ill death. But to return to our chief intent, these Patriarchs in having, from the time of Dioscorus, denied Obedience to the Popes of Rome, who are the Succeffors of St. Peter, the foundation of the Faith, and the Head of the Holy Church; and in having affirmed that there is only One Nature in Christ, and in baving refused the Ordinances and Canons of the Apostles of our Lord, and wrested all writings to their own wicked purposes, have not lead the People in the paths of Truth: Let us therefore give over yeilding Obedience any longer to the Patriarobs of Alexandria, who are all Jacobites, walking in the ways of their Errors, and treading in the steps of Arius, Macedonius, Sabellius, Eutyches, and Dioscorus, and let us yeild Obedience to the Bishop of Rome, who fits in the Chair of St. Peter, which Chair cannot Err in any matter of Faith or good Manners. And do you all in Peace follow the Holy Faith, which Chrift our Lord built with his Holy Blood on the Cross, which he shed for the Salvation of all that do believe in him, for ever and ever. Amen.

This Manifesto, notwithstanding it is Orthodox as to what relates to the two Natures in Christ, yet its throwng fo much dirt, and in all probability unjustly, on the Memories of the Habaffin Abuna's, was a thing infinitely below the Dignity, as well as Charity of a Christian Emperor, who let his Religion be what what it will, is not to write Libels, but to burn them rather, as Conftantine did. And as to the policy of fuch a Manifesto at this time, unless the Emperor's Affairs were in fuch a condition, that it was fafe for him to provoke his Subjects to Rebel, that (o by Jubduing them, he might destroy the established Religion with the more eale, it was certainly stark naught, there being nothing that he could have done, that could have enraged his People more against him, than the making of (ucb lew'd reflections on Prelates, for whole Memories the Habaffins had a most profound veneration; but such blunders as thefe are to be expected in places where Princes Councils are governed by People who have (pent most of their days in a Cell, under the discipline of a blind Obedience.

The Emperor about this time finding that The Emnotwithstanding he had enraged his Subjects peror almost to a madness against him by his Mani- grows jeafefto's and Proclamations in favour of Pope- Brother. ry, that his Brother Raz Cella was still courted by the whole Roman Party as their Head, fo that he was left, in a manner, without a Friend that he could confide in; he refolved upon fome pretence or other to ftrip his Brother, not only of the Viceroyship of Gojam, but of all the Posts of Authority that he was poffeffed of, judging it to be neceffary to his fafety, to keep him as low as it was poffible; and especially if the Portuguese Succors should come, which had been defired. Raz Cella, who was a Prince of a violent and rash Temper, having discovered his Brother's jealousies of him, together with the refolutions they had made made him take, did ftorm at fuch rate in all Companies, as to make the Emperor much more jealous than ever; who though refolved to throw him down, yet being willing to do it as gently as might be, he called him out of Gojam to Command an Army he was fending againft one Cabrael, who had raifed a Croifade againft him.

He fends him againft Cabrael, who was at the head of a Croifade.

Raz Cella, though he was not ignorant of what was his Brother's defign in giving him this Command, yet being fensible that the Roman Party in Ethiopia was but a handful, and that the Alexandrians, who were a Thoufand to One, would upon the Emperor's abandoning all Popifh Interefts, which a rupture with him at that time would have forced him to, not only have forgave him all that was past, but would as one man have declared for him, and ftood by him in defence of their Religion; he judged it most advisable for him to obey the fummons, and accordingly went and took the Com-mand of the Army upon him, and having made a Vow to Francis Xavier to build a Church to him if he returned Victorious, he marched against Cabrael, who finding himfelf too weak to refift the Royal Army, truffed up his Baggage fo foon as it approached him, retiring with what fpeed he could to the Gauls, by whom, being hired to do it, he was Murthered; which fuccefs was fo far from reconciling the Emperor to his Brother, that it madehim more afraid of him than ever. Now while things were thus in Ethiopia, at Rome and Madrid they thought it was more than than time that a Patriarch were fent thither with Two Coadjutors, and with the fame Power A Patrias the former; and accordingly one Alfonso arch of Mendez being named Patriarch, and James Ethiopia is Seco and John da Rocha, Bishops of Nice and ted at Lif-Hieropolis, his Two Coadjutors by Philip the bon. Fourth, they were approved by the Pope, and having obtained their Difpenfations, for they were all Three Jefuits, and Bulls, the Patriarch and Bishop Elect of Nice, were Confecrated at Lisbon by Prelates of a much higher Sphere than the former Patriarch, their Order by this time having pretty well wore off the odium of Novelty; the Confecration of the Bishop Elect of Hieropolis being prorogued to the Indies.

On the 28th. of May, the Patriarch with The Pathe Elect of Hieropolis, the Bishop of Nice triarch arhaving died in the Voyage, arrived at Goa, rives at Goa, where he stayed till the 17th. of September, and then embarked for Chaul, where he met with the following Letters from the Emperor and his Brother.

W IT H the Peace of the good Paftor who gave his Life for his Sheep, We do give peror's many thanks to God our Lord, who has granted Letter to us our defires and petitions; and has been pleased the Patrito fulfil the time, when your Lordship was to arch. come to be our Patriarch, with two Bishops Coadjutors, who will be all found little enough to help these straying Sheep in a stormy day. May God bring RazCellas's Letter to the Patriarch.

HE Peace of our Lord, the eternal word. by whom all things were made, and all for his sake, who took our humanity in the Womb of the intirely holy Virgin; and without grudging did offer himself in the Temple of the Cross for our sake, Preserve your Lordhips per (on from all Temporal evils, fielding the den of health so on the fleece of your life; as to bring you in safety to that high Dignity to which he hath called you, and to which your Predeceffor could never attain. Your Lordship's Letter when I received it, threw me into such an Extaly of joy, as that the Souls of the Fathers, when they were expecting the Advent of our Saviour, were thrown into, when that Ray of Divinity appeared to them, in (o much that I may (afely (ay, that from my Childhood to this day, I never felt any exultation in my heart equal to that, not being able in the ballance of my heart to weigh the gold of the joy I derived from your Lordship's Letter, which was purified by a strong flame of love, on the arrival rival of your Lordship's Piety ; what shall I return to God, who is flow to anger, and of great mercy ? and who do's not look upon the countenance of my wickedness with the eyes of a vigoaous Justice, though he is a searcher out even of venial Sins; for having prolonged my life to bear the joyful news which I have been many years expecting, the Nerve of my thoughts having for a long time depended and bung on the Tree of your Lord (hip's love; now as God who is intirely good, and of abundant kindness, has made me worthy to bear the news of your Lordship, and has thereby unburdened me of that load of trouble which had for several years lain so heavy upon me for the sake of the boly faith; So he will, I hope, think me worthy to fee your Lord (hip's face, and to kifs your chooes, being brim full of Love and Charity. I must beg your Lordship to make all the haste you can to us, and to bring Multitudes of Fathers with you, that so this Land of Ethiopia, which is at present in the way of corrupt Doctrine, and in the crooked Faith of Dioscorus, and abounding with Errors, may be wafted into the secure harbor of the true faith of St. Leo, the Pope of Rome, and Succeffor of St. Peter, and Pastor of Pastors. This Countrey is very large, and has many Tribes of Heathens in it, who do all defire to receive the Christian faith; and it is not long fince I deftroy'd a prodigious Idol, whose beginning was not known among them, nor the time when it was first Worshipped; it was adored by a great many Tribes of Heathens, called Agus, who fince I burnt it to ashes, have flocked in great numbers to Baptism; and it has been the fame among the Caffres; neither do we want any thing but Fathers to perfect these Conversions; for

for which reason I beseech you a second time to bring great Numbers of them with you, &c.

What it fhould be that made the fefinits et cætera fuch an Original of their Beu-Clerks, if it was not, that in the fuppreffed part of it he writ as vehemently for Portuguese Troops, which they thought would not look well in him at a time when he was upon fuch ill terms with his Brother, as he did in the part they have published, for Fathers, let the Reader discover if he can; but however this were, it is certain, that when he was in difgrace with the Emperor his Nephew, that he writ for fuch Troops at a more vehement rate than he do's here for fefuits.

The Patriarch Lands at Baylar. In May the Patriarch landed at Baylar, from whence he went difguifed to the King of Dancalis Court: The Dancalians, who attended him as his Guard, having heard that there was an Abuna or Patriarch among the Fathers, were ftill enquiring, which was the Patriarch: We told them, faith the Patriarch himfelf, That he died at Sea; meaning the Bifhop of Nice.

The King entertained the Fathers, for the Patriarch was ftill incognito, very courteoufly; and through ignorance refused a Noble Prefent they would have made him, and accepted of a Trifle.

On the 21st. of June the Patriarch arrived at Fremona, having one morning by the way feen a Prodigious Star in the Heavens: Some of the Fathers were of opinion, that it was the Star which Conducted the Wisemen to Bethlehem; but the Patriarch defented from them, and and demonstrated it to be the Figure of the Bleffed Virgin Mary, who being the Star both of the Morning and the Sca, appeared to them to promife them her light; which being agreed to by all, the Hymn, Ave Maria Maris Stella, &c. and the Antiphona, Sub tuum præsidium, were fung to it.

The Patriarch continued at Fremona till November ; the Emperor having fent him word. that fo foon as he had made an end of chaftifing fome Jews that were in Arms against him in the Mountains of Cemen, he should have orders to come to Court; but Raz Cella, who would always out-do his Brother in civility to the Roman-Catholicks, with his Prefent and Complement, fent the Patriarch a ftrong Guard, to wait upon him whereever he went. In December the Patriarch arrived at Gorgora, where he ordained Twenty Priefts, ordaining fuch of them as were in Habaffin Orders, with a Condition ; and permitting fuch of them as were Married, to live with their Wives. Not many days after, he received an Invitation from the Emperor to come to Dancez, where the Court was at that time; and being come within half a League of the Royal Camp, he was met by most of the Officers of the Court in their best Cloaths, and a body of Sixteen Thousand Soldiers; who after having made him a profound reverence, opened to the Right and Left to make a Lane for him. Among the Grandees that went out to meet him, were Basilides, the Emperor's Eldest Son, and his fure Friend Raz Cella Chriftos.

The Church Hiftory

The Patriarch comes to Court. In this State the Patriarch was Conducted to a Tent that was prepared for him without the Camp; where having put on bis Pontificials, the Princes and Grandees all alighted and kiffed bis band. When that Ceremony was over, he Mounted again, and was Conducted to a Tent within the Camp; where having put on his Mytre, he Mounted a flately Horfe richly equipped, that the Emperor had prefented him with; and riding under a fumptuous Canopy, that was fupported by Six Viceroys, he advanced to the Church Jan Jabet, having his Horfe led all the way by Serca Christos the Steward of the Houfhold.

When the Patriarch entered into the Church, he found the Emperor there fitting on his Throne with his Crown on his Head; who when the Patriarch drew near to him, ris up and embraced him with great Affection, the Patriarch having paid his Devoirs to the Emperor, went up to the Altar ; where having fpent some time in Devotion, he feated himfelf in his Pontifical Chair, and begun a Sermon, taking for his Text those words of the Pfalmist, Behold how good and pleafant a thing it is for brethren to live together in unity. His Difcourfe is faid to have been the more applauded, for its having been the first Sermon that was ever preached in Ethiopia by an Abuna : Upon which, as if all Popes and Roman Archbishops were constant and laborious Preachers, and mortal haters of Money; the fesuits triumphed, and made this reflection, That by this, if there had been nothing elfe, the Habaffins might have feens the the difference there was betwixt their Church and that of Rome, their former Abunas having come among it them for no other end, but to get money out of them ; the Patriarch having given the bleffing, was told the Emperor staid for him in the great Hall of the Palace; who when the Patriarch came near, ris up and made him fit down by him in a Chair, that differed nothing from that he himfelf fate on; the Emperor after they were both feated, enquired very kindly about the Patriarch's health, and the length and fatigues of his Voyage; and fome Complements and Ejaculations having paffed on both fides, they fixed the day fubmitting whereon the Emperor and all his Converts were publickly to fwear obedience to the Pope in the hands of the Patriarch.

The day is fixt for the Emperor's himfelf and his Empire to the Pope.

The Eleventh of December, which was the day appointed for the Solemnity, being come, the Emperor and all the Court-Converts repaired to the great Hall of the Palace, in which there were two Chairs of State placed near the Throne, one on the right fide for the Emperor, and another on the left for the Patriarch ; who being feated with his Tiara on his head, and in a Cope of Asperges, he begun a Sermon, taking for his Text, Thou art Peter, O.s. I shall not trouble the Reader with the Sermon, there being nothing in it but the common Roman Mumpfimus upon these words, and the gross fallacy of confounding, the Supremacy the Church of Rome now pretends to, with that primacy of order that was anciently giwen to it purely in confideration of Rome's being Emperor. Zz the

the first City in the Empire; to which purpose the Patriarch quoted a Canon of the Council of Nice, which he told the Habassins they would find in their own Books, which run as follows:

There are four principal Chairs in the World which are as the four Rivers that flow out of Paradise; or as the four universal Winds, or as the four Elements; but above all the Chair of St. Peter has the Dignity and Primacy; and in the second place that of St. Mark of Alexandria; in the third place that of St. John; in the fourth that of Antioch, which was also St. Peter's, from which four all the other Bishops are deriwed.

Now this Canon, befides that it is not a Canon of the Council of Nice, which in its Conflitution relating to the Hierarchy, contradicts it in making Antioch and not Ephefus the third Chair, and Jerusalem the fourth; it overthrows that very Supremacy to which the Habaffins were about to fwear obedience, in giving no other Primacy to the Roman, over the other three Patriarchs than it do's to the Alexandrian over the other two, which was undoubtedly a Primacy only of Order and not of Jurifdiction; for had the Primacy that is here given to these Chairs, been given out of refpect to the Apostles who were their first Bishops, then Antioch must have been the fecond if not the first, and Alexandria the last; but notwithstanding it is not easy to imagine, that that the patriarch should be ignorant of these two great flaws in his Canon, he concluded it with this flourish, See now to whom you ought to give most Credit, to a gross Falsary or Cheat, or to a Decree of Three hundred and eighteen Catholick Fathers.

There was another thing he much infifted upon, which was, That there had been Heretical Bifhops in all the other Chairs, whereas no Bifhop that had fate in the Chair of Rome, had ever been fo much as *fufpeted of any He*refy; which to fay no worfe of it, was a bold word, confidering That Liberius ftands accufed by all his Contemporaries of Arianism; and Honorius, Bifhop of the fame See, was condemned by Name in Two General Councils, as a Heretick. But the Habaffins having little or no Knowledge in Church-Hiftory, encouraged the Patriarch to make fo bold with them.

When the Patriarch had ended his Sermon, the Emperor Commanded the Viceroy of Cemen, who was Lord High Chamberlain, to fpeak in his Name.

There is but one thing remarkable in the Chamberlain's Speech, that is, his faying, That the People of Ethiopia did compel the Emperor much against his will, to take the Crown upon him, and that if they would have let him alone, be would have been much better contented to have lived and died in the Monastery they found him in, than to have been made an Emperor. Now this is very different from the History we have of him, which makes him, during facob and Za Danguil's Reign, to have scoured about with Z 3 a Body a Body of Raperees, and to have fought his way to the Throne.

When the Chamberlain had done speaking, the Emperor turned about to the Patriarch, and told him, Your Lordship is not to think that pubat I am about to do now is a new thing, I having some years ago yeilded Obedience to the Pope, in the hands of the Father Superior, who is here present; nevertheles being willing to do it again with more Solemnity, he took the Book of the Gospels in his hand, and Kneeling down before the Patriarch, made his Submission in the form following:

The Emperor's Submiffion.

W E Seltem Saged, Emperor of Ethiopia, Do Believe and Confess, That St. Peter was Constituted Prince of the Apostles by our Lord Fesus Christ, as also Head of the whole Christian Church, Christ having given him a Principality and Dominion over the whole World, when he faid anto him, Thou art Peter; and when at another time be Commanded him to feed his Sheep. We do also Believe and Confess, That the Pope of Rome, being lawfully Elected, is the true Successor of the Apostla St. Peter in that Government, having the fame Power', Dignity', and Primacy over the whole Christian Church. 'And to the Holy Father Urban, the VIIIth. who is, by the Grace of God, Pope at this time, and our Lord; and to his Successors in the Government of the Church, We do Promife, Offer, and Swear, true Obedience and Subjection, with all humility at his Fect, for our own Perfon and Empire So help us God, and this Holy Golpel.

Upon

Upon this Submiffion the Emperor was reprefented here in Europe, by the Miffionaries as one of the greatest Saints that had ever wore, a Crown : But upon his returning to re-eftablifh the Alexandrian Faith again, which he did, not many years after, we have this great Character recanted, being represented on that occafion, and that by the fame Miffionaries, as a wretch that had never any thing in him that was good. So that Princes are Saints or Devils with some people, as they are Friends or Foes to the Pope, of which Queen Elizabeth, and Mary Queen of Scots, are a home instance.

After the Emperor, the Princes, Viceroys, and The Sub-Ecclesiafticks of the Court made their Sub- miffion of miffions, faying, I. N. do Promife, Offer, and the Swear the fame. So help me God, and thefe Holy Grandees, Gospels. When the Solemnity of Swearing and Ecwas ended, Raz, Cella Chriftos began an ha- clefiarangue, and having talked himfelf into an heat, he drew his Sword, and holding it up naked, faid, what is now is now, and what is past is past, but wholever shall not do his duty hereafter, this, shaking his Sword, shall be his Fudge.

After this, all that were prefent took an Oath to Prince Basilides, as Heir and Succession to bis Father; which Oath, fay the Jefuits, when the Great Raz Cella Christos came to take, he. like a true Son of the Roman Church, took it with a Condition, worthy of his Courage and Christianity, faying, I Swear to the Prince as Heir to his Father in the Empire, and I do promise to Obey him as a Loyal Subject, fo long as he shall Hold, Defend, and Favour, the Holy Catholick Z 4 Faith.

Faith, which whenfoever he shall cease to do, I will be both his first and greatest Enemy: All his Officers and Servants taking the Oath to the Prince with the same Condition.

The Solemnity was concluded with an Excommunication pronounced by the Patriarch, aginft those who should at any time violate these Oaths; and with two Proclamations, the one prohibiting all Habassin Priests to perform any Ecclesistical Office before they had presented themselves to the Patriarch; and the other Commanding all the Subjects of the Empire, upon pain of Death, to embrace Popery, and to discover all such as adhered to their Ancient Religion, Commanding them likewise to observe Lent and Easter according to the Roman Stile.

The next thing to be done, was to fettle a Revenue on the Patriarch, fuitable to the heighth of his Dignity, to which the Lands and Perquifites of the former Abuna's were not reckoned to be fufficient; the Emperor therefore beftowed a great Effate in Land, lying upon the fhoar of the Lake of Dembea, upon him, giving him alfo the Palace of the Emprefs Mariam Eima, and ordering another Palace to be Built for him in Dancaz, where the Court refided for the moft part.

The Patriarch having thus feather'd his own Neft, begun to look abroad, and having got the Emperor to found a College for Sixty Students at Dancaz, he begun to fend his Miffionaries about, and not having Fathers enough for fo great an harveft, he was forc'd to make use of fuch Habaffins as were observed to have the most Zeal for the Roman Church.

And

And as it is common with fome People to reckon a work done before it is well begun, fo when the News of this folemn fubmiffion came to Lisbon, Ethiopia was reckoned to be the Pope's, as fure as Portugal; for in a Book Printed there in the year 1623. by one Vega a Jesuit, the World was told, That the fervour wherewith the Habaffins crowded into the bosom of Mother Church, was too great to be either exprefied or conceived, and that there was nothing to be heard all over that vast Empire, but Praises of the Roman Faith; Old and Young, Rich and Poor, declaring that there was nothing to be compared to it; and that whereas hitherto they had been as blind as Bats, and miserably imposed upon, they do now behold the Light, and are bappily refcued from the Blindness and Cheats of false Teachers, the Roman being the only Faith that deferved to be maintained; and if there should be occasion, that is worth the dying for. Nay, the Patriarch himfelf, as appears from a Letter of his fent to Portugal about this time, was pretty fanguine too, having affured the Fathers of his Society, That he (poke within compass when he faid, an Hundred thouland had been Converted within a Year to the Roman Church ; which, confidering that Ethiopia is no very populous Countrey, was an extraordinary Harvest. And I do well remember, that in the year 1685. he would have been looked upon at Lisbon as one of the greatest lyars in the World, that should have denied that in Eight Months time above Six hundred thousand Protestants had been Christened, for that was the word, in England.

The Jefuits do reckon their work done before it was well begun.

There

Pretty. ftories fent from Habaffia. There were likewife a great many pretty ftories, either fent from Ethiopia or made at Lishon, upon this occasion; I shall only fet down one of them, by which the Reader may judge of the reft.

The Emperor having one day commanded one of his Sons, who was but a Child, to take up the Cudgels for the Roman Church, against one of the most Learned of the Habassin Monks, Bellarmine, for fo the Emperor used to call that Child, took the Monk to task prefently, asking him, without any premeditation, Whether he Believed Christ to have been God before he was Born? The Monk made answer, he did: Bellarmine then asked him, Whether he did not believe God's Nature to be different from Man's Nature? The Monk anfwered, It was undoubtedly : Hold your hand then, Said Bellarmine, fince you acknowledge be was God that took Man's Nature upon him, How can you deny that there must be Two Natures in Christ; with which argument the poor Monk was struck as mute as a Fish. It is no great matter whether this ftory was true or not, it being enough that it was pat for a Sermon upon the Text, Out of the mouths of babes and (ucklings, &c.

But as all other Orders, as we have hinted before, do accufe the Jefuit Miffionaries of magnifying their own Labours and Succeffes thus, beyond all the bounds of Credibility, fo they do complain likewife of their difparaging the Labours of all other Friars in their remote Miffions.

Of which Proud and envious carriage, the Jefuits refident at Agra do, in their Letters of this Year Year to their Superiors at Goa, furnish us with a notable inftance; where, speaking of some Friars, who, I suppose were Carmelites, being come newly to that City, they fay, They were to high-flown, as to pretend to nothing under Raifing the Dead; adding, they have begun to work, but we do not as yet bear, that they have Raifed any that were Dead to Life : We pray God they may prove true Prophets.

But though the Roman Church was thus Triumphant at Court, the whole Body of the Empire, notwithstanding the late bloody Proclamation, was extreamly prejudiced against it, and the whole Court, for its fake, to that the Patriarch's Millionaries, whereever they went, met with but bad entertainment.

Two of them going into a Church in Tigre to fay Mafs, were Commanded, by a Perfon of Honour that lived in the Neighbourhood, to go and fay their Masses somewhere elle, and not in the Church where his Father, who had lived and died in the Alexandrian Faith, lay buried; but the Miffionaries knowing they had the Government on their fide, made answer, That he must not think to terrifie them out of their Duties, for Mais they came to fay there, and Mais they would fay. The Gentleman finding Two Mathey were not to be hindered by Threats, baffin Mifoffered them Money to forbear; and when he found that would not do neither, he threw himfelf down upon his Father's grave, crying in faying the a mighty Paffion, that he would be buried with his Roman Father, rather than fuffer a thing to be done there, which he knew must be offensive to his Ghost. But fionaries are Murthered for Mals.

But the Miffionaries taking no notice of his words, performed their Maffes, which provoked the Gentleman to that degree, that he had them both Murthered next Night in their Beds.

The Emperor and the Court kept the Holy Week and Easter with the Patriarch at the Church of Geneta Jesus, where Raz Cella, the Heroe of the Jesuits Histories, with his Captains, guarded the Sepulcher all Good-Friday at night; and in the proceffion there were several that whipt themselves, after the fashion of Portugal, which was a strange fight in Ethiopia.

The Patriarch having published the Six first General Councils with a Catechifm in the Habassin Tongue, begun a Visitation; but finding himfelf not able to endure the fatigue thereof, he cut it fhort, leaving it to the new Bishop, who was expected daily from the Indies. The Emperor upon his having been told that the Patriarch had demanded no Fees of the Clergy at his Visitation, is faid to have reflected upon the former Abuna's; who not having fo great an Eftate, as he had beftowed upon the Patriarch, did use to take some; faying of them, That they seemed to have held Visitations for no other end but to get Money, the thing in the World the Roman Prelates and Jefuits bate the moft.

In the Year 1627, the Gauls made a great Incursion into Ethiopia; and having surprized the Viceroy Buco, who was a great Stickler for Popery, they put him and his whole Army to the Sword, but they were afterwards drive home home by Raz Cella, who do's all the great things in the Jesuits Histories.

But the ill fuccels of Julius, Joanel, and others who had taken up Arms in defence of their Religion, had not fo far cowed the Zeal of the Habaffins, as to make them fubmit quietly to the Effablishment of Popery; and the difcontented Grandees, which are what no Government ever wanted, knowing the people to be extreamly angry with the Emperor and the Court, are faid to have made use of their Religious refertments for the carrying on of their own private defigns.

And accordingly Tecla Guergis, the Viceroy of Tigre, who was Married to a Daughter of the Emperor's, Published a Proclamation on the Fifth of November; wherein having declared himself of the Alexandrian Faith, and swore to Defend it with the last drop of his Blood against all the world ; He ordered all that were Groifade of the fame faith to bring in all the Crucifixes raifed and Reliques which had been forced upon against the them by the Fathers; and having got great numbers of them into his hands, he made a Bonfire of them all, telling the Monks and Soldiers, who were rejoicing at the fight, That they might fee by this that he was in earnest; and not contented with having given them this affurance of his having abfolutely broke with his Father-in-Law and the Jefuits ; He Murthered his own Chaplain in the fight of the Camp, because he refused to return to the Alexandrian Faith, giving his body afterwards to the Officers of his Army, who with their Cimiters cut it in a thousand pieces.

Emperor.

When

It is routed, and the General of it, who was the Emperor's Sonin-Law, is taken.

When the Emperor heard of this new Croifade, he fent Kebo Chriftus with an Army to Suppressit in the beginning; who having Marched day and night, was up with Guergis fooner than he expected ; Guergis nevertheless trufting to the Zeal and Number of his Forces, accepted of a Battel when it was offered him by Kebo; who having encouraged his men with a fhort Speech, disperfed the Alexandrians with the first shock he gave them, few of them having been killed fighting, befides Twelve Monks. Kebo, who was a Bigotted Papift, made a great flaughter, sparing neither Man, Woman, nor Child; and Guergis, who had hid himfelf in a Cave, being taken three days after the fight, was fent by him under a ftrong Guard to the Emperor, by whom he was condemned to be burnt to Ashes, not for his Treason, but for his Apoftacy, and the Bonfire he had made; who having defired to fpeak with a Roman Prieft before he died, had Father Antonio fent to him by the Patriarch, with full powers to abfolve him from all cenfures in cafe he found him penitent. Guergis, hoping that his turning Roman-Catholick would have helped him to a pardon, told the Father he was extreamly forry for what he had done, and defired nothing fo much as to be reconciled again to the Roman Church, being refolved to die in her Faith. The Father having made him, abjure the Alexandrian Faith; confessed and abfolved him from all the centures he had incurred ; but Guergis perceiving that all that he was like to get by having turned Papist, was only to be hanged in the prison as a Rebel, and not burnt publickly alive as an Heretick; when he was was brought to the place of Execution, he declared openly, That he died in the Alexandrian, and not in the Roman Faith. The Emperor when he heard of this, fent an order to bring him immediately out of prifon, to hang him on a Tree that flood near the Palace.

When the Officers came to the prifon, they found him hanging; and perceiving that he was not quite dead, they cut him down; and carrying him to that Tree, hanged him upon The Emperor carried all the Court-Ladies it. to entertain them with this fad fpectacle; and having commanded them to look on the Dead body, he told them, That from that day forward, they would do well to look to them elves and if they either rejected or forfook the Roman Faith ; not to expect a pardon for it, since he had denied one to his own Son-in-Law for having done it; and to terrify the tender Sex the more, about fifteen days after, he commanded Adivato, a Lady of great Quality, to be hanged before them upon the fame Tree; for whole pardon, when the Empress and all the Ladies of the Court had thrown themfelves at his feet, he shaked them off, faith Father Anthony, with the following Noble Fable.

There was upon a time a very ancient man, who A Lady is being told that a Child was dead, made answer, Children are tender Creatures, and a small matter carries them off; and being told afterwards there was a Young man dead, be faid, Confidering the rafiness of Youth, that was no wonder; but when be was told that an Old man was dead, he wrung his hands, and cried as if the world had been at an end,

end, imagining death ftood ready to arrest him; So, faith the Emperor, you could see Guergis and his Companions suffer without speaking a word in their behalf, but now one of your own Sex is to suffer, you are all in an uproar to save her; but I will have you all know, That this Shoeftring of Aba Jacob's, whom Guergis had Murthered for being a Roman Priest, is strong enough to hang this Sow, and all such as the is.

The wonderful change Popery had wrought on the tempers of its Converts.

Father Anthony, who was prefent at all these Executions, has in his Relation of them, made fo true a remark upon the change Popery had wrought on the Emperor's temper, and on the practice of the Habaffins, who feldom or never ufed to put Grandees, and much lefs Ladies. to death, for Treafon, or indeed for any other Crime, that I shall fet it down in his own words; Whofoever, faith he, shall diligently read the History of Ethiopia, and shall observe the want of Vindicative Justice that was therein, and the Clemency Seltem Saged had used before with all that had Rebelled against him, must of necessity reckon his Punishing of Tecla Guergis so severely, to have been one of the greatest Miracles that had happened in many years in Ethiopia. For let the Church of Rome be what She will, as to her working Miracles that are any ways beneficial. to Mankind, they must be very unjust to her that deny her the bonour of working (uch Mira-) cles as these in the tempers of her Converts. But. as we shall see hereaster, these Miracles of Cruelty did the Fathers no great kindness in Ethiopia at long run. Neither were the Cruelties of an unprovoked Per/ecution at this time in Ethiopia, lefs wonderful than those of War; the inhumanity manity of the former being fuch, as to overtake those, who for Confcience fake had forfaken all that they had in the world, and had Buried themselves in Caves and Dens of the Earth; out of which, when difcovered, they were either ferreted to be burnt, if they would not turn Roman-Catholicks, or fmoaked to death in them. The memory of which Barbarities is to this day fo fresh in the minds of the Habaffins, that as they do still continue to have a great Veneration for those Caves wherein their Brethren luffered Martyrdom, fo they cannot hear a Jesuit or a Roman-Catholick fo much as mentioned, but with horror.

The Patriarch and Fathers reckoning themfelves fure of the Emperor, after these miracalous cruelties, for which they believed the Alexandrians would never be reconciled to him, begun to make bolder steps than they had ventured to make before ; and fo the Patriarch having been informed that an 'Ancient Nobleman, who had been of the Council of State, and Chamberlain to the Emperor, had (ome Lands which belonged to the Church in his hands, he first admonished him to restore them to the Church immediately; which the Nobleman having refused to do, the Patriarch seeing him afterwards at Mass, ordered an Excommunication to be pronounced against him ; the Nobleman ha- triarch ving never dreamt of any fuch Thunderclap, Excomis faid to have been to aftonished by its Cur- municates fes and Maledictions, That he fell upon the ground, as if Datham and Abiram; to whom the Excommunication had delivered him, had been coming upon him like two furies to carry him quick A a down down into Hell; but being come to himfelf again, he befeeched the Emperor and the whole Congregation to intercede with the Patriarch in his behalf, promifing to reftore the Lands to the Church immediately; which being done, the Patriarch abfolved him in forma Ecclefix, friking him with a rod all the time the Miferere was Singing. At which exercife of Difcipline, though all the true Romanifts, fay the fefuits, rejoiced, they that were Hereticks in their bearts were mad to fee themfelves fubjected to fuch reproachful punifirments.

In this Year the Foundation of the Patriarchal Church was laid at Dancez ; the Emperor himfelf having laid the first stone, and promifed to build it at his own proper coft; and as an Earnest of his Devotion for our Lady, to whom it was Dedicated, he took a Crown of pure Gold off his Head and gave it to be employ'd in gilding the Seats in our Lady's Chappel; it was to have been a large Church with three Naves, but Popery did not flay long enough in Ethiopia to fee it finished : For at the fame time that its foundations were laid, the Emperor'sjealoufies of his Brother revived again; one Melcha Christos, who was his first Coufin having. affured both the Emperor and the Prince, that Raz Cella was continually plotting with the Patriarch and the Fathers, to bring a Portuguese Army into Ethiopia, to make himfelf Emperor; in which charge Melcha Christos was feconded by one Leffana Christos, who being an Officer of the Army, was fecured by Raz Cella, for foon as he heard of his being one of his accufers, fers, and condemned by him to be put to death immediately as an Apostate to the Alexandrian Faith. Leffana, to prevent the Execution of this Sentence, appealed to the Emperor; and fearing left he might be difpatched out of the way, before he could have an answer from Court, he broke prifon ; but being taken before he could get to the Emperor, he had his head chopped off, not for Herefy, nor for having accufed his General, but for having broke Jayl. But Raz Cella by stopping of Lessana's mouth thus, did open a Thousand against him; and did Confirm the Emperor and the Prince in their former jealousies; it being in every body's mouth, that Raz Cella had murther'd Leffana for no other reafon, but because he was privy to his plotting fecretly with the Patriarch, and was ready to have proved it upon him if he had been suffered to go to Court.

The difcovery of this plot gave a fatal blow to Popery in Ethiopia; every body, but efpecially the Prince, being fatisfied, that confidering how odious Raz Cella had rendered bim/elf to the Habaffins, it could be nothing but his having received fome affurances of a Portuguefe Army, that could have put fuch fumes into his head; fo that after this the Prince never gave over perfecuting the Patriarch and Fathers until he had rid Ethiopia of them, as we fhall fee hereafter.

riam out of the Province, they fent Envoys to a Prince of the Royal Family, who had taken fanctuary among the Gauls, to come and take the Crown of Ethiopia, which belonged to him of right, upon him; promifing to stand by him in Defence of their Religion, with their Lives and Fortunes. This Prince was probably Son either to the late Emperor Jacob, or to Za Danguil, who are both faid to have had Sons; though we hear nothing of them after their Fathers were flain, unless we will believe Zaga Christi, who died at Ruel near Paris in the Year 1629, to have been the Son of Jacob, as he pretended ; and who reported there, that it was with the affiftance of the Portugueles, that Suseneus had Conquered and Murthered his Father, on the account of his being an Enemy to the Roman Faith.

But whofefoever Son this Prince was whom the Agau's had invited to take the Crown upon him, he came to them with the Envoys they had fent to him; and having accepted of the Crown, did swear to defend the Alexandrian Faith against all the world: Upon which the Monks, who were enraged almost to madnefs, by the Emperor's having commanded all his Subjects of what Degree or Quality foever, immeditely to turn Roman-Catholicks, flocked to their Alexandrian Emperor from all Parts, declaring against the Emperor, as another Julian the Apostate; and who was not content with having abandoned the Religion of his Fathers himself, but he would force all the People of Ethiopia to follow his Example. By which tragical Exclamations they raifed the Countrey whereever they came, came, chiefly the Peafants of Lafta, who have the reputation of being the ftoutest Men in the whole Empire. But the Emperor having got together an Army of Twenty five thoufand Foot, and Two thousand Horse, Marched towards the Peafants by the way of Gojam, in the beginning of February, and having attacked the strong Mountain of Lasta on all fides, he was beat back, having befides his General and feveral Perfons of the first Quality, Seven hundred Soldiers flain in the Action. The Peafants flushed with this Success, followed their blow fo clofe, that they obliged the Emperor to Retreat; and had not Kebo Christos come in to him very feasonably with a Body of old Troops, it was thought the Peafants would have gone near to have hemmed him in among the Mountains, which if they had done, they would have had him and his whole Army at their mercy.

The Emperor, though very unwilling to have employed his Brother any more, was forced by the condition of his Affairs to do it, not having a Man, befides him, that knew how to Command an Army; and accordingly he fent to him, to come and take that Command upon him; Raz Cella, who fince his Difgrace had retired into the Countrey of the Agau's, having received this Meffage from the Emperor, yeilded Obedience to it; and having, after he had got into Gojam, placed Guards in all the Paffages the Agau's had into that Province, he repaired to Court, where he was received with great appearances of Refpect and Affection.

of the Agau's being got into the heart of Gojam, which they were plundering at a most unmerciful rate, the Soldiers that had been left by Raz Cella to Guard the Paffages, having all either run home, or gone over to the Agau's fo foon as they approached them, revived Peoples former jealoufies of Raz Cella, it being in every bodies mouth, That he was in a Correspondence with the Agau's, and had placed such Men in the Passes, as he knew certainly would go over to them, or that at least would not oppose them. Whereupon Raz Cella that he might clear himfelf of these sufficients, Marched with all the fpeed he could towards the Agau's; who having advice of his advancing towards them, withdrew, returning home full of the Spoils of that rich Countrey; which the Alexandrians faid confidently, Raz Cella might have prevented if he had had a mind to it. But notwithstanding all these furmifes, and that his having thus obliged the Agau's to leave Gojam, was no argument at all of his having had no hand in letting them into it; the Emperor was, it feems, fo well fatisfied with his Conduct, that he gave him the Viceroyship of that Kingdom again, giving the Chief Command of the Army to the Prince, who was now become a mortal Enemy to the Patriarch and the Fathers.

The Prince abandoins the Roman, and goes intirely into the Aiexaudrimintereft.

The Alexandrians having thus got the Prince intirely in their Intereft, begun to contrive how to rid the Court of all that were Champions for Popery in it; and having perfuaded the Emperor to fend his Brother into Gojam, they they got him likewife to fend Kebo Chriftos, who was the fecond great flickler for Popery, into Tigre, whereof he was Viceroy, pretending his prefence there was neceffary, by reafon of its neighbourhood to the Peafants that were in Arms.

Kebo, though he was fensible upon what defign he was Commanded to his Government, yet not being in a condition to refuse, he pretended to be very willing to leave the Court, giving this for his reason, That he was not able to bear the coldness that increased in it daily for Popery; declaring, That he had much rather be flain by the Pealants of Lasta, Fighting for the Faith, than continue Chamberlain to the Emperor, and be obliged to Persecute those Good Men who had infructed him therein, which he faw plainly the Court would be brought to do in a fort time. Thus Kebo full of fears and difcontents left the Court, and being arrived at Tigre, went immediately to Fremona, where having fpent fome days with the Fathers, only about Ghostly busines, he advanced from thence with a fmall Body into the Kingdom of Amabara, where the Prince had promifed to joyn him with the Army ; but Kebo having been fent thither by the Alexandrians on purpose to be Sacrificed, no Prince came near him ; and having wait- great ed for him till his Provisions were all spent, the Peafants, as he was retreating to Tigre, fent into fell upon his Rear, and having Slain him, as he was Fighting Manfully to have made good his Retreat, his Soldiers, who were all in their hearts Alexandrians, fo foon as they faw Aa 4 faw their General fall, went over to the Peafants as to the Defenders of their Faith.

The Patriarch, who performed a folemn Office for Kebo's Soul, was wonderfully affliéted for the lofs of fuch a Champion; and as Misfortunes do feldom come fingle, his tears were not well dried up for this lofs, before he received the bad News of Tecur Egzi, the Grandee that was to have gone Ambaffador to Poriugal, being killed by the Galls in an inrode they had made into the Kingdom of Damotes.

Upon the fall of thefe Two Pillars of the Roman Church, the Alexandrians about the Court grew bolder every day, and having obferved the Emperor to be Melancholy upon fuch a run of Losses, they all waited upon him in a Body, one of them, in the Name of all the rest, asking him :

Sir, We defire to know how long we are to worry one another thus? The poor Pealants that are in Arms have no Quarrel with your Highness, but only for forcing them to be of the Roman Religion : That Religions may, perhaps, betrue, but it is what they do not understand, neither will they trouble themselves, being well satisfied with their Old Religion, to study a New one; and so being resolved mever to be of any other Faith but that of their Forefathers, they have fet up an Emperor, who bas promiled to defend them in the Profession of it. calling us Turks and Moors for having not only embraced a New Religion our (elves, but for Perlecuting of them because they will not do it. The Empefor the he returned them no answer to these paffionate paffionate Remonstrances, encouraged them by his filence and attention to what they faid, to ply him daily upon that point; defiring him, at least, to leave his Subjects to their liberty of being of which of the Two Religions they liked best.

But as when things are tumbling, every small The Papush bastens their fall; fo there were Two Acti- triarch ons of the Patriarch's which gave Popery a terrible shake, in the tottering condition it was in at Court.

The first was, His having commanded the two in-Corps of an Eminent Monk, who had been for feveral years General of the whole Order of Tecla Haymonot, to be taken out of the Grave, where it lay Buried in a Church, and to be thrown into the open Fields, for his having declared at his Death, That he died in the Alexandrian, and not in the Roman Faith. It is not to be imagined, fay the Jefuits, how great a ftorm this act of Difcipline put the whole Empire into; it being in every Body's mouth, That the Romanists were not fatisfied with Perfecuting People while they were alive, who would not turn to their Religion, but did Persecute them beyond the Grave; which puts a stop to the Rage of all other Nations and Sects of People, by Commanding their Bodies, contrary to the Laws of Humanity, to be taken out of the Earth, and thrown for a Prey to Birds and Wild Beafts.

The fecond was, the Patriarch having committed a Woman to Prison for being a Witch, and, notwithstanding upon his having been informed that there was a Law in Ethiopia which prohibited People to believe that there is any any fuch thing as Witches; the belief whereof, they fay, is founded upon the Error of the Manichees, That there are Two Independent Gods, a Good one, and a Bad one; he commanded her prefently to be fet at Liberty; yet that was not fufficient to ftop the Clamour, or to keep the Alexandrians from accufing the Portugue/es of being Manichees, and who in defiance to the ancient Laws of the Empire, were endeavouring to bring the belief of Two Eternal and Independent Principles in among them.

There was another thing happened at this time too, which, though in it felf ridiculous, made a great noife, and did Popery fome differvice.

A Man, who appeared to be Diffracted, running into the great Hall of the Palace, cried out, He had a Messandrians to deliver to the Emperor; the Alexandrians, who were believed to have made the Farce, having perfuaded the Emperor to hear what he had to fay, he told his Highnels, That it was now Three days fince he was Raised from the Dead, and having fince been carried up to Paradise, was sent by God to deliver the following Message to him:

Hear, O Emperor, I have bore with you for fome Years, expecting that you would have Repented of the great Sin you have been guilty of, in forfaking the Religion of your Forefathers; during all which time the Bleffed Virgin has been on her Knees before her Son to Intercede for you; but I am now to tell you, That in cafe you do not Repent of that Sin; that God will Punish you with a strange Judgment.

Judgment. But notwithstanding, the Emperor Commanded the Fellow to be foundly Whipp'd for his News, the Alexandrians made great use of what he had faid, it being reported over the whole Empire, That an Angel from Heaven had appeared to the Emperor with a Command to him from God to return to his Old Religion. But among other things, the Emperor is faid to have been displeased with himself for having in the first heats of his new Religion settled fo much Land on the Patriarch, which he would gladly have had a pretence to have refumed again, to fettle it upon his Younger Sons; but whatever were the caufe of the Emperor growing every day lefs fond of Popery, the Alexandrians being at him continually for a Toleration, he promifed to fpeak to the Patriarch about it, and accordingly having fent for him, he told him, He had done all that was in his power to have introduced the Roman Faith into his Empire, but he was now (atisfied that it was not to be done by force, it being visible that his People bated it more than ever, fince he Commanded them to embrace it. Besides, there was an absolute necessity of his granting them a Toleration, since if he did not, he would quickly have his whole Empire against him; bis Soldiers that be made use of against the Peasants, being in their hearts no less Alexandrians than the Pealants them lelves. The Patriarch, who was extreamly troubled to hear this from the Emperor, told him, That his Highnefs was miferably mifled by Evil Counfellors, who under pretence of a Toleration Sought the utter Extirpation of the Roman Faith. But the Emperor urging still, That fomething must be done to (atisty fatisfy the minds of his Subjects, the Patriarch was forc'd to promife the Toleration of all such Ancient Habassin Customs as were not contrary to the Faith, but upon condition that such a Toleration should not be Proclaimed; because if that were done, the Habassins, be said, would Triumph so upon it, as to conclude that the Roman Church was about to make Her Exit out of Ethiopia.

While Popery was in this declining flate, Dom Apolinar D' Almeyda, the new Bilhop of Nice, arrived in Ethiopia, bringing a Jubilee with him, and Letters from the Pope to the Emperor and the Prince; which Letters, though I have great reafon to believe they were writ in Ethiopia, in order to rekindle the Emperor's Zeal for Popery, which was flackened fo much of late; I fhall neverthelefs fet them down as they are published by the Jefuits, leaving them to the censure of the judicious Reader.

Pope Urban the VIIIth. To Seltem Saged Emperor of Ethiopia. Health and Apostolical Benediction.

MOST dear Son in Christ; The Stream of the River Nile doth at this time make glad the City of God; Fruits fit for the Banquets of Angels being brought from the thirsty Land of Ethiopia to the Palace of St. Peter; there being nothing that the Mother of Riches, or that Africk, which is so fruitful of Monsters, can bring to Rome, the Mother of Christianity, that is so Precious and wonderful, as your Majesty's Letters, addressed to Gregory the XVth of bappy Memory, to whose place, though unworthy of it, the Holy of ETHIOPIA.

Holy Spirit has been pleased to call us ; when we read them we could not forbear weeping for joy, to bear that the vast Empire of Ethiopia had submitted it self to the Laws of the Roman Pontificate. O happy Prince ! who after having Conquered divers Nations, and triumphed over all your Enemies, have been able to exalt the Trophies of the Cross of Christ upon the Towers of your Provinces: For you do really plant Heaven in your Empire, so long as the favour of so great a King is sought after by the making a profession of the Catholick truth. Go on, my Dear Son, fince God favours you, and Rome by its applauses exalts you to the Society of those Princes, who for having propogated the Kingdown of Heaven, have an immortal memory in the praises of Mankind; for notwithstanding your Majesty's Empire is beyond the anciently known ways of the Sun, the Apostolical Senate which comprehends all the Nations of the Christian Commonwealth beholdeth all your Heroick Actions, giving manifold applauses on the Theatre of the world to your Majesty, and to all that are employed by you, in suppressing the rashness of Rebels, and in breaking the horns of Fiends. We the Vicar of the Almighty Majesty in this Throne, which all Christians do with bended knees adore, have turned the eyes of our Apostolical (olicitude towards your Majefty, praying that the most exalted Arbiter of Princes, may find his Angels to be Soldiers in your Triumphant Armies; we are not ignorant of what Some people drive at, for we behold whole Legions of Devils fighting against the Scepter of Christ, which is the strength of your Majesty's Right-arm; we know the Professors of falle Doctrines do likewije whet their Tongues as a Sword, that fo they may with the poison of their Impiety infect the Bread of Lite Life. Assume a courage therefore worthy of the Race of David, in whom the House of Ethiopia glories as in their Anceftor; who when such people placed their Camps against him, did put his trust in God, and so found by Experience, that the name of the Lord was the Tower of David, guarded by an beavenly Hoft, and praifed by a victorious Army. My most dear Son, it is undoubtedly as you write, that the Pefts of their Countrey, and the Disturbers of the people (hall not; God affifting you, be fuffered to reign. We do most affectionately impart our Apostolical Benediction to your felf, and your best Brother, and to all your Royal Family and faithful People; and (hall pray continually that you may always have the Arms of light from the Sanctuary of the Divinity : and we do here with the keys of the Pontiff open unto you the Treasure of the heavenly Indulgence ; with whose healthful riches we do at this time bles the Ethiopick Church ; we shall likewife be always mindful to follicit the most Powerful King of Spain. to grant you all that you shall defire of the Austrian Houle. Most Dear Son, we do embrace you in the arms of our Apostolical Charity; and carrying you in our hearts, we shall always adorn you with the Patronage of our Pontificate; and while you do with a Royal Piety venerate the Patriarch of Ethiopia, and his Coadjutors, you give Examples to others to honour the Priesthood; and do whet the follicitude of holy Prelates to labour in Ethiopia; we with you joy of the obedience of your people, who to long as a Religious King fights under the standard of Christ, do never Desert him:

Our Most Beloved Son in Christ, Health and Apo-Stolical Benediction.

HE Wealth of Nile floweth to the glory of Urban's your Name; and you the Son of the Ethio- Letter to pick Empire, do grow up in the hopes of a most the Prince. powerful Principality; you do nevertheless understand, God having taught you, how miserable you had been, had you not drank of the streams of the Gofpel, out of the Fountain of the Catholick Church ; and if you had not by adoring St. Peter in the Roman Pontificate, been made the Son of God, whole Possession and Workmanship the whole frame of Heaven and Earth is in the Roman Church. The holy Quire of Reigning Priefs, and of Obedient Nations, do applaud the Heir that is to rule in Ethiopia with Christian Virtue; rejoicing that a Kingdom is prepared for you, out of which your triumphant Father, the Scepter of whole Empire is the Rod of Direction, do's thorough the Divine Affiftance, extirpate the Synagogue of Satan; you having been Educated in the Domestick imitation of Such Splendid virtues; and being in a Post that draws the eyes of Heaven and Earth upon you. Such Councils are expected from your Wildom as are to be like the lights of the Holy Spirit, and the Thunderbolts of the Divine Vengeance. And being it is thus, beloved Son, you must not think of living at ease in your Father's Palace, before you have made all Ethiopia throw it felf at the feet of St. Peter, that fo they may find Heawen in the Vatican : For the Doctrines of the Pope, will not

Now befides that, the Phrafe of thefe Letters do very much refemble that of the Patriarch Mendez, who affected a Tinfil Oratory in every thing he writ: That to the Prince bears Date the fame Month of the fame Year when it was deliver'd.

This Jubilee, notwithstanding it was Laughed at by the Habaffins, who asked by what Authority the Pope pretended to forgive Sins, is faid to have warmed the Emperor's Zeal fo for Popery again, that the Difcourfe of a Toleration feemed to be quite laid afide by him.

The new Viceroy of Gojam, Raz Cella having been quickly turned out of that Government, was fo enraged at this change in the Emperor's mind, that he was for deposing him prefently as an irreconcileable Enemy to their Religion, and for declaring the Prince, who was a hearty Friend to it, Emperor in his room; room; and being encouraged fo to do, by the Monks and Alexandrians that were about him, he proclaimed the Prince Bafilides Emperor of Ethiopia, at the head of his Army ; and having done it, dispatch'd a Courier to thereupon him to acquaint him therewith, and to defire him to join the Army he had the command of, with his, that they might be able to fubdue all the Enemies of their Religion ; but the Prince was fo far from being pleafed with the Viceroy's having proclaimed him Emperor, that to fatisfy his Father of his having had no hand in it, he fent the Courier that had brought him the first news of it to him in chains, to punish him as he should think fit. The Fathers, whofe Church of Collela was but at a fmall diftance from the Viceroy's Camp, were put into fuch a terrible fright by this Proclamation, that they immediately fhut their Gates; and their Convent being built very ftrong, as indeed all their Houses in Ethiopia were more like Caftles than Monafteries; they refolved to defend themfelves until an Army should come from the Emperor to relieve them.

The Emperor's Zeal revived by thisLetter, and a Jabilee.

The Viceroy hearing how much the Fathers were alarm'd, and of their having taken all the Portugueses of the Neighbourhood into their Garifon, he fent them word, That they had no reason to be so affrighted, for seeing they did not come into Ethiopia before they were fent for, no body could blame them for having come, or for what the Emperor had done fince their Arrival; and being extreamly defirous to have wheedled them out of their ftrong-hold, he bid the Meffenger whifper ΒЬ them them in the Ear, That notwithstanding all he had done, he was still a true Roman-Catholick in his heart, having been forc'd to let forth he late Proclamation, to quiet the Minds of the People if it were poffible ; defiring them likewise to fend him the Horses and Muskets that had been left in their Convent by Raz Cella: but the Fathers not believing a fyllable of what he faid, refused to open their Gates, or to deliver their Arms to the Meffenger; which provoked the Viceroy to that degree, that he changed his note, and fent them word, That if they did not deliver the Arms and Horles to him prefently, he would come for them himfelf; and that if they did give him that trouble, he would be at a little more for to teach them better manners, than to difobey his Commands. And he had certainly been as good as his word, had he not been hindered by the news of a great Army advancing towards him apace.

The Monks, who were got in fhoals about the Viceroy, advifed him to do fomething to fatisfy the people, that he was in no Correfpondence with the Court, but was in earneft to defend their Faith; adding, that there was no fuch way of doing that, as by making Examples of fome of thofe, who to pleafe the Emperor, had changed their Religion; the Viceroy approving of their advice, commanded a Monk who was his own first Cousin, to be put to death publickly for having turned Roman-Catholick.

was Marching with all the fpeed he could to join the Pealants of Lasta, croffed the Nile, marchetla and by doing fo, put himfelf betwixt him and against them; and having brought him to an Engagement, had an abfolute Victory over him. After which, that he might fully fatisfy his Fa- He routs ther of the Viceroy's not having had the leaft the Groiencouragement from him to proclaim him Em- Sade and peror, he fent him with feveral of his Chief fends the Officers Prifoners to him, that if he would prifoner give himfelf the trouble, he might examine to his Fathat matter to the bottom. The Emperor, ther. who could not but take this extreamly well of the Prince, having examined the Viceroy and his Officers, commanded Seven of them to be prefently put to death, Six of which are faid to have died Roman-Catholicks; which the Seventh was fo far from doing, that when one of the Fathers told him at the place of Execution, That he would be Damned for him if he were not Damned if he died out of the Communion of the Roman Church; he bid the Father look to bimfelf, that he be not Damned upon his own account, for he was refolued to venture his Soul with the Alexandrian Faith, by dying in it. Behold a Miracle, fay the Jefuits; the Seven bodies being after they were Executed thrown to the Dogs, they all fell prefently upon the Alexandrian body, and eat it up bones and all, without fo much as offering to touch or fmell at any of the Six Roman-Catholicks bodies that lay before them. that was driven into a Tree; and after having hung thereon for fome time, for perfifting in his railing, he had his Tongue cut out ; the Viceroy himfelf being fecretly put to death a few days after. The Emperor having none now to deal with but the Peafants of Lasta, advanced towards them in perfon with a great Army; and having beat them out of three or four of their ftrongest Mountains, was in hopes to have reduced them all to his obedience in a fhort time ; but the fturdy Pealants were fo far from being terrified into a fubmillion by those ill fucceffes, that they fell upon the Viceroy of Begameder in his Quarters; and having made a great flaughter among his men, obliged him to retreat in great diforder. The Emperor, who was grown old and timerons, apprehending the Peafants to have been much ftronger than they were, and fearing left he might be hemmed in by them among the Mountains, retired in a great Confternation, his Rear being clofely purfued by the Pealants for fome Leagues. The Alexandrians observing the Emperor's Spirits to be much dejected by the difgrace of this Campaign, renewed their Remonstrances to him, fome of them asking him, Whether he thought it made a Prince look great in History, to have been continually fighting with his own Subjects, and especially his Pealants? Others telling him plainly, That if he did not speedily grant his Subjects a Toleration, that he would be Deferted by his whole Army, who would fight no longer against their Countreymen, only for defending the Religion of their Forefathers, and which they them elves were of, no less than the Peafarits.

fants. The Emperor promifed them to fpeak to the Patriarch about it; and having accordingly fent for him, he told him again, That he could not but be senfible of his having done all that lay in his power for to have established the Roman Faith in his Empire; and that owhereas he had endeavoured to force his Subjects to embrace it be was now (atisfied that there was no bringing them to it by that Method, it being visible to every body that his having used it had had no other effect but to increase his people's aversion for that Religion. He told him farther, that he had reason to fear, That if he did not quickly grant a Teleration, that he should be Deferted by his whole Court and Army ; but not being willing to do any thing in that matter without his confent, he had therefore fent for him to advife with him about the manner of it ; adding, Something must be done, and that speedily, to quiet the minds of the people. The Patriarch, who was extreamly troubled to hear the Emperor fpeak of a Toleration again, made answer, That bis Highness was milerably mified by evil Counfellors, who under pretence of a Toleration, defigned the utter Extirpation of the Roman Faith ; but the Emperor urging still the necessity there was thereof, the Patriarch was forc'd to promife to give way to the Toleration of all such Habaffin Customs as were not contrary to the Roman Faith ; but upon condition that the faid Toleration (hould not be proclaimed, that fo it might look more like a Connivence than a Toleration : Whereupon it was concerted betwixt them, that the Haba(fins should be Tolerated as to Three things, one was the observation of Saturday; the Second, the Bb 3 Faft-

He fpeaks to the Patriarch about it, and will not be deni'd. Fasting on Wednesdays and not on Saturdays; and the third was, that they might use their ancient Offices according to his Emendations of them.

The Alexandrians being acquainted by the Emperor with what the Patriarch was willing to grant them, feemed to accept of it very thankfully; only they told him it must be proclaimed, for if that were not done, it would have no effect at all on the minds of the people ; which was the only end for which they had defired it; and not for their own fakes, who pretended to be fo abundantly fatisfi'd with the Doctrines and Cuftoms of Popery, as to with the people could without diffurbing the Peace of the Empire, be brought to embrace it. And to having prevailed with the Emperor that it should be proclaimed; proclaimed it was, and that with extraordinary Solemnities; first in the Camp, and afterwards over the whole Empire, to the great Joy of the people; they that understood how it truly was, reckoning it however a good beginning; but for the generality they believed it to be a Toleration of the whole of their Religion.

The Toleration is proclaimed.

The Patriarch's proteftation against it.

The Patriarch hearing of the Toleration having been preclaimed, and of the people rejoicing at it, as a Toleration of their whole Religion, he immediately drew up the following protestation against it, and fent it to the Emperor.

Otwithstanding I told your Highnes, That your Subjects might be allowed to fast or Wednesdays instead of Saturdays, and might use use their Office's, as by me amended; and excepting Easter and the Festivities depending thereon, that they might observe their Holidays as formerly; nevertheles I declared to your Highness at the same time, that it was not to-be done by Proclamation, which as he that publisheth them, publisheth them as he thinks fit ; fo all that hear them, do understand and interpret them as they like best, as we see it has happened in the prefent cafe; for though I am fatisfi'd that your Highness designed to grant no more by your Proclamation', but what' was agreed on between us; yet as I am told, all the news every where is, that your Highness hath by a Proclamation commanded all your Subjects to return to the Alexandrian Faith ; upon which conceit there have been extravagant rejoicings in your Highnes's own Camp, to the great Mortification of all true Catholicks. Whatever it was that induced your Highness to do this, know you certainly, that God will one day call you to a strict account for it. And that I and the Bishop to whom the Holy Ghost bath committed the Government of this Church, which Christ purchafed with his blood, as it is faid in the Acts of the Apostles, may not be partakers of the Same Condemnation, We do jointly declare to your Highness, That in this Proclamation you have not observed that order that you ought to have done, which being a business of an Ecclesiastical nature, the publication thereof did not belong to your Highness, but to 215.

Your Highness would do well to remember what the high Priest Azarias said to King Ozias, in the Twenty Sixth Chapter of the second Book of Chronicles; O Ozias, it is not your Office to offer Incense to the Lord, but it is the Office of the B b 4. Priests Priests and the Sons of Aaron, who were Confecrated to that Ministry. Therefore come forth of the Sanctuary, and despife not, for this thing will not be for your Honcur in the fight of God. Your Highnels would do will likewile to remember the punishment which immediately befel that King thereupon. And fince it was not thought sufficient to have these Proclamations published only in the Church, but it must be done also in the Camp, your Highness before you ordered that, ought to have confulted with Some of the Fathers, or Some other of your Chaplains, or with some person authorized by us to that purpole, who would have taken care to have prevented the offence that it has given; for we are informed by some that were present at the Solemnity, that the people after the Proclamation were heard to (ay openly, That now they were to have all their old Offices egain without our amendments of them; and. were to observe all their old Holidays, not excepting Easter and the Festivities that depend thereon; and that they were not left to their liberty, but were commanded not to fast on Saturdays, but on Wedneldays. Wherefore, that the last error may not be worse than the first, your Highness must let forth a Second Proclamation with all necessary Explanations of your mind, at the framing whereof I do appoint Father James Mattos to be present in my place; and whereas it is not convenient that it should be done without the concurrence of Abeto Basilides; I do in the name of God require your Highnels to acquaint him with it; and I do farther admonifi you to pray to the Father of Light for Light, that so you may not fix your eyes so much on an Earthly Kingdom which is transitory, as to loje that of Heaven which is Eternal, and that on Earth likervile. O. Patriarcha. The

The Emperor, though nettled with this Protestation, complied fo far with the Patriarch's defires, as, with the concurrence of Father Fames, to publish a fecond Proclamation, wherein he declared, That there was nothing he defired (o much, as to have all his Subjects of the Roman Faith, and that his intention in his former Proclamation, was only to Tolerate Three Cuftoms that were not contrary to that Faith, and that be would never have done that, had not the Patriarch given his confent to it. Neverthelefs, he reckoned he was bound in Honour to return a sharp Answer to the Patriarch, for his having made fo bold with him in his Protestation, which he did in the following Letter.

The Letter of the Emperor Seltem Saged, cometh to the Patriarch with the Peace of God, who is Bleffed for ever.

H E A R: We have received a Paper from The Em-Your Lordship, and do understand all that is peror's ancontained therein, relating to the matters your Lord- fwer to Ship gave us leave to do, in order to put a stop to Re- the Patribellions, and to quiet the minds of our People, that they may no longer fight against the Faith : The particulars were, That they might Fast on Wednesdays, and observe their Festivities as formerly, and use their old Offices with your Corrections: And being at Dancas, we were defired by our whole Camp, fince your Lordship had been pleased to Dispense with our People as to those Cuftoms, to acquaint them therewith by our Proclamation; which we consented to, the rather, that that the Rebels might not think that they had frighted us into such a compliance with them, which they would have done had we delayed the publishing of it any longer; but being now informed that their minds are pretty well quieted by what I have done, I have published a second Proclamation, according to your Directions; neither in this whole matter have we done any thing but what was concerted between us: As to what your Lordship. faith, of their publishing what they pleafe that publish Proclamations; and of their understanding them as they pleafe that hear them; that can proceed from nothing, but from your Lordship's having been misinformed; for, How dare they who publish our Proclamations, publish them any. otherways than as they are; or they that hear them, understand them otherwise? So that I cannot imagine, that any body fould have the impudence to (ay, That I had changed the Faith to the great mortification of Catholicks; when it is fo plain that I have not made the least alteration therein; neither did the Hereticks rejoyce fo much as you (peak of, they baving been all told before, that they were not to use their former Offices without your Emendations of them: They must therefore have been People of Factious Spirits and of Ill defigns, that have put fuch stories in your bead, fince we have done nothing but what your Lordship had agreed to; neither did they, who published our Proclamation, either add or diminish any thing. Things being thus, your Lord hip might very well have spared your bidding us Remember Ozias, and comparing us with one who was Punished by God with the Leprofie for having taken the exercise of the Prieftly Function upon himfelf; which as be be ought not to have done, fo we have never offered to do it ; baving only published a Proclamation, wherein there was nothing that you had not agreed to when the Roman Faith first took footing in Ethiopia; it was neither introduced into it by the Preaching of the Jefuits, nor by any Miracles that were wrought by them, nor by no other means, but by our being convinced, that your Faith agreed with our Books, and that the Church of Ethiopia must therefore be in an Error; it was this induced us to Establish the Roman Faith by our Commands and Proclamations, contrary to the Humour of our People, because we believed it to be true; all which we did of our own accord, despising a visible Kingdom in hopes of one that is invisible. As to your Lordship's admonishing us to fix our Eyes not on a Temporal but on a Heavenly Kingdom; How many Subjects have I had Slaughtered? And how many Provinces have I loft for having done fo? I need not tell you their Numbers, you know them as well as I do my felf; fo that I cannot for my life fee, wherein I have offended God in this whole matter. Had we been forced to have embraced your Faith, you might then have had some cause to be jealous that we have a mind to for fake it, but having voluntarily embraced it, we cannot undo what we have done, nor destroy what we have built. I would The Emtherefore advise your Lordship for the future, not to bave your Ears open to falle and wicked men, that put such things into your head.

This Letter, though it gave the Patriarch feveral Reprimands, as it did alfo his whole Order, in denying that any of them had ever ever wrought any Miracles in Ethiopia; which is very firange, confidering how many they pretend to work on all fuch occasions: Yet for the notice it gave him of a fecond Proclamation, and the affurance of the Empeperor's refolution to continue stedfast in the Roman Faith, he was fo well fatisfied with it, that he judged all things to be fet pretty well to rights again; and refuming his ancient courage thereupon, ventured to do a thing, which gave a terrible blow to his Patriarchal Authority. The cafe was this; A certain Judge having turned Monk, denied to pay a yearly Penfion, which fome Lands which he kept still in his hands were charged with, to a certain Parish Prieft; of which the Prieft having complained to the Patriarch, he prefently commanded the Monk to pay the Prieft his dues; but the Monk, instead of obeying, denied that he had any Jurifdiction over him, appealing from him to the General of his Order, as the proper Prelate in all fuch cafes; and the Caufe coming to be Tried at Court; the Patriarch was caft, the Judges having given their Opinion, That the Patriarch having no more Power than their former Abuna's, had no Authority over the Monks, which the Patriarch had hitherto pretended to, and had conftantly exercifed; having in this, and an hundred things besides, extended his Jurisdiction beyond what any of the Abuna's had done.

The Jefuitsnever wrought any Miracles in Ethiopia.

The Patriarch is baffled in a great point of Jurifdiction.

The Country being put in a pretty good humour by the Toleration, which, according to the Patriarch's fears, was every where extended beyond its intention, the Emperor fets about about raising a great Army to go against the Peafants; who would not be fatisfied with any thing under the Re-establishment of their Old Religion, and the Banifbing the Patriarch and the Fathers out of Ethiopia, as the Caufes of all the Blood that had been fhed in it for feveral Years. But the raifing of fuch an Army as the Emperor defigned, requiring time, his Brother, by the advice of the Alexandrians, was fent before to streighten them with a Flying Army. Raz Cella upon his being denied his Old Troops, which were intirely at his devotion, would fain have been excufed from going on this Expedition; but the Emperor preffed him fo hard, that he faw he must either break with him, or do it; and as his heart mifgave him all the way he went, fo his Succefs was anfwerable to his forebodings, for he was no fooner got among the Mouniains, than he was fallen upon by a Body of Twenty thousand Pea- Raz Cella fants; and being Deferted by his own Men, moft of, which went over to the Enemy, he narrowly escaped being made Prisoner. The Alexandrians, who it is probable had fent him against the Peafants on purpose to be beat by them, could not conceal their joy on the occafion of this Defeat ; the blame whereof they laid wholy at his door,' which funk him fo low, that he was never able to rife again to do the Roman Church any fervice. The Emperor fearing least the Peafants might upon this advantage have advanced towards Dancas, retired from thence to Gojam, to be at a greater diftance from them; where having made up an Army, that confifted chiefly of Gauls,

The Emperor marcheth againft them.

He obtains a great Victory.

Gauls, being afraid to truft his own Subjects any longer, he went to offer the Peafants a Battel; who fince their late Victory over Raz-Cella, had ventured down into the Low Countries, reckoning themfelves ftrong enough to Fight any Army the Emperor could bring against them. The Two Armies having looked each other in the face for fome Hours, the Emperor, who had placed a flout Body of Gaulish Horfe in the Front, ordered them to fall on, which they did fo furioufly, that at the first Onfet, which is commonly the last too with the Habaffin Armies, they broke through the Peafants main body, which Difperfed immediately, and Throwing down their Arms, fled towards the Mountains; the Gauls purfued them till night came on; fo that though few or none of them were killed Fighting, there were Eight thoufand of them found dead next morning; whereas had they had the Courage to have fought it out, they might, with half that lofs, have had a Victory; for had they but routed the Gauls, who charged them first, it is certain the Imperial Habaffins would either have gone over to them, or have thrown down their Arms. The Court-Alexandrians, though they were extreamly mortified by this great blow, yet did fo manage the matter, that they gained their point by it; for having perfuaded the Emperor to go next morning to view the Field, which was covered all over with dead bodies, and observing him to be touched with fo direful a fight, they came about him, and with Tears in their eyes evestold him, Sir, You fee how many dead bodies are lying bere; Whofe were all these? Were they the Bodies of Mahometans or Heathens? No. not fo much as one of them, but they were all to a man your Highness's Natural-born Subjects, and our own Blood and Kindred; we do therefore beg of your Highness to confider, That this is a War in which, whether you Conquer or are Beat, you thrust a Sovord into your own Bowels. Neither overe these poor ouretches, you see lying here, disatisfied with your Highness for any thing, but for forcing a New Religion upon them : How many Thoulands have already lost their Lives in this Quarrel? and how many Thousands more must be Maffacred before Popery can be established in Ethiopia? Wherefore, for God's Sake, Sir, let your People alone with the Religion of their Fathers; which you must either do, or refolve to destroy your Empire with your own bands. We mult tell your Highness farther, That the very Gauls and Heathens do condemn us for what we are doing, calling us Apostates and Renegado's for, baving forfaken the Religion of our Anceftors. And that they might clinch the matter, the Prince and Amana Christos, had got the Gauls; as the Emperor paffed by them, to cry out, That they would ferve him no longer, being quite weary of Cutting poor Mens Throats for no other reason but because they would not leave the Religion they had been Born and Bred in. The Empress interposed likewife, and defired him for God's fake, and his own, and his Posterities, not to go on destroying his Subjects at such a merciless rate; and to consider that in all his Wars with them, he did, as it were, but cut off his left hand with with his right; and whether any thing could be more difhonourable, than for a Prince to employ Foreigners and Heathens to Maffacre his Christian Subjects; and all this to introduce a Religion into Ethiopia, which it was plain to all the World, it would never be reconciled to?

These passionate Remonstrances one upon the neck of another, together with the fad fight of fo many dead bodies, did affect the Emperor fo much, that instead of returning to Dancaz in triumph after fo great a Victory, he returned thither fo extreamly disconfolate, that he did not care to see or speak with any body.

The Patriarch, Bishops, and Fathers, hearing how things went, hastened to Court, not to Congratulate the Emperor upon his late Victory, for that their Friends had told them, he could not bear, but to fee if they could get him out of the hands of the Alexandrians, who at prefent were in full possession of him, the Champions of the Roman Faith being all either Dead, or in Difgrace at Court.

We are not told what pafied betwixt the Emperor and the Patriarch at his firft Audience; but whatever it was, a great Council was called a few days after, to confider the flate of the Empire, and by what means the Peace thereof might be reftored; in which it was quickly agreed, That there was no other way of doing it, but by reftoring all the Alexandrian Rites and Cuftoms, and by leaving People to their Liberty to be of which of the two Religions they pleafed. This Refolution is faid to have been oppofed by one Abithaca Johanes, a Nephew of the Empeperor's, ror's, who told the Council boldly, That all the Mileries of Ethiopia were owing to their Sins, and not to Popery's having been Established in it. To whom the Council gave no other answer, but that something must be done to restore the Empire to its former peace; and that there was nothing would do it, but what they had agreed to do. The Patriarch being alarm'd with this refolution of the Council, fent immediately to demand an audience of the Emperor; and having obtained one with fome difficulty, he went on the Fathers Twentieth of June 1632, attended by the Bi- wait upon shop of Nice, and Five Fathers, to wait upon him; to whom lying in Bed very penfive, he deliver'd the following Speech, the Bishop and Five Fathers standing behind him.

CIR, I thought we had had the Victory in the J last Fight, but I now begin to understand that we had the worft on't; for notwithstanding in reality the design of the Rebels was to have taken your Crown from you, nevertheless what they gave out was, that they fought only to have the Religion of their Fathers restored; fo that if they should gain that point, though they were beat, they may be reckoned to have been Victorious; but as before the Engagement was the proper time for the making of Vows and Promises, so now is the time for fulfilling them. In order to Engage God to confer more such mercies upon you, who by this last Victory has as it were set his seal to all the former, and that for no other end but to oblige your Highness to advance his holy Faith, under the banner whereof you obtained it. Besides, it was the Catholicks that are in your Army that did the work, and who are not fo few as your Highness is told they are. The reason why they do not appear to be numerous, is becaule they have. no favour hew'd them; whereas if your Highness would but be pleased to call them about your Perfon, and bestow all Offices of Honour and Trust upon them, you would quickly see bow they would multiply, and how by that means both your Empire and the faith would flourish; whereas of late they bave been kept from coming near you, none but Serpents having been admitted, into your Councils ; a. whole Neft of which Serpents did on Friday last assemble together in the Hall of your Palace, where they treated no longer about the out-works of Religion, but laid the ax to the root, confulting together how they might deftroy the Catholick Faith ; which they agreed at last, to put to the Vote, by leaving the People and Soldiers to be of which Religion they like best; who whenever they are asked whether they will have Christ or Barabbas, will certainly prefer Barabbas, for having been of their own Office and Profession. Sir, Matters of Faith are not to be treated in such a manner, but are to be setled by Councils confisting of great numbers of Rishops, where they may be had, or elfe of Grave and Learned Priefts and Friars: For though in Matters of State, these very men do not think fit to confult with every body, but only with perfons of known Prudence and Experience; neverthelefs in Matters of Religion, the Otadores, Gauls, Mahometans and Heathens, are reckoned to be good Counsellors; and are all called in by them to determine which is the true, and which is the falle faith. I would have your Highness call to mind the many mercies God hath conferred on you lince you embraced embraced the Roman Faith ; and though it is true there have been many Rebellions, which is a Plague Ethiopia never was, nor never will be free from, until the Faith is deeply rooted therein ; yet God has always been fo kind to you, as to lay the Rebels at your feet, and particularly in the last Fight, when your affairs were come to a criss; so that your Arm is not fortned, but extended. Remember likewife, that you did not for fake the Faith of Ethiopia out of fear, the Fathers being in no condition to oblige you to do it by force of Arms, but you did it purely upon your being convinced of its fallhood, and cf the truth of that of Rome : Neither must you forget, that I did not come to you of my own head, but was fent by the Roman Fontiff , and your Brother the King of Portugal, upon your having writ to them feveral time to fend you a Patriarch and some Bihops; in which affair if there was any delay, it was occasioned by the jealousy they had of the ficklenels of the Habaffins, which we now begin to experience; and which the King of Portugal had formerly had experience of. when he (ent Don Chriftopher De Gama bither with a ftout body of Troops, by whom this Empire was refcued out of the hands of the Mahometans ( who had Conquer'd it) and that not with an intention of keeping it to themselves, but of restoring it to your Ancestors, as they did : Neither had the King of Portugal ever any other view, nor did be expect any other reward for what he did for you, but only your Friendship, and the union of this Empire with the Roman Church ; to which end I and the Bishop that is here behind me were fent by his Holine's and his Majesty to you : Neither did we come among you as Beggars, but well stored with Books, and Pontifical Vestments Cc2 and and Ornaments, they not being willing to charge your Highness with so much as the Maintenance of our persons. Confider, Sir, how just cause those Princes will bave to be displeased with you; and though they may be at too great a diftance to have due [atisfaction, God neverthele(s, who is every where, will not fail to require it of you : Consider likewise, what a blot this will be in the Scutcheon of the Lion of Judah, and what an eternal stain both to your own and your Empire's honour, and how many Souls you will ruin by your Apostacy; which, that I may not live to see, nor the Divine Judgments that will befal you thereupon, let me beg it of your Highness to command my head to be here struck off before you. At these words the Patriarch, Bifhop, and Five Fathers, threw themfelves at the Emperor's Feet, to receive his answer. At which fight, notwithstanding the By-standers feemed to be all touched, the Emperor himfelf did not appear to be in the least affected with it, in fo much that the Patriarch faith those Verses of the Poet were very applicable to him.

Only making a fign with his hand that they should rife, he asked the Patriarch with what face he could fay that he had not showed favour to the Catholicks, fince he had favoured none elfe but fuch? but the Hereticks, faid he, are numerous, and all that have rebelled against me, have given no other reason for their doing it, but my having changed the Religion of my Country. How many many Thousands have I killed already in order to introduce Popery? And how many Thousands more must I kill before I shall be able to do it? My People are all weary of cutting one another's Throats, and are all upon the point of deferting me; I can do no more than I have done. Besides, We are not medling with the Faith, but only with some Customs; or if any are about changing it, they bave not acquainted me with it; if you are told otherwise abroad, you must inquire abroad whether it be so or not. For my own part, I do here Promile, That I will never Decree any thing about Religion, without first Confulting with your Lordship: The Emperor ftopping here, The Patriarch Replied, That as to the Customs of Fasting on Wednesdays, and of using their Old Offices as he had mended them, and of Observing the Festivities as formerly, which were all that his Highness had defired of him, he had granted them all already, and was ready to grant them every thing that was in his Power, and not contrary to the Faith ; wherefore since his Highness did not intend that there (hould be any Alteration made in Matters of Faith, he befeeched him to put forth a Proclamation, declaring, That as he was of the Roman Faith himself, so it was his Will and Pleasure, That all his Subjects should be of the same; and that as to matters of Custom he was ready to comply with them therein, so far as the Faith would permit him: In which request the Bishop and Five Fathers feconded him with great earneftnefs, but to no purpose, the Emperor telling them plainly, That he could do no more for Popery than be had done.

The

The Patriarch, who was for leaving no ftone unturned, went from the Emperor to wait upon the Prince, and having told him the fame ftory he told his Father, the Prince feemed to be furprized with the news, and returned fuch Anfwers as would have impofed upon a weak Man; but the Patriarch knowing him to be Mafter of a moft profound Diffimulation, and an inveterate Enemy to the Roman Church, gathered from his ambiguous Anfwers, That without a Miracle the Roman. Faith could not be much longer fupported in Ethiopia. So they all returned to the Patriarch's Palace defperately afflicted with the prefent fad profpect of their Affairs.

The Alexandrians, that they might bring the Emperor under a necessity of executing what had been agreed on in Council, had induftrioufly fpread a report, That on St. John Baptife's day their Ancient Faith was to be reftored to them ; which report having brought all the Countrey to the Camp to be prefent at the Solemnity, they then told the Emperor, That there was no remedy but he must either Restore to his People the Religion of their Fathers, or run a great bazard of his Crown, fince the Pecple, who were come in such vaft multitudes in hopes of having it done, if they were difappointed would be thrown into fuch a Fury, that no body could tell where it might end : The Emperor made anfwer, That he was willing his good Subjects (hould enjoy their Old Religion; but that he might not be worfe than his word to the Patriarch, he commanded fome of his Servants to go and wait upon him, and acquaint quaint him with the neceffity there was of gratifying his People with a Toleration of the Alexandrian Faith.

Za Mariam, who was in the number of those that were commanded to carry this Meffage to the Patriarch, being admitted to speak with him, told him in the Emperor's Name and words, We have embraced your Faith, and have been at much pains about it, but our People do not care for it; jo, though it was really out of batred to Raz Cella, that Julius took up Arms, nevertheless the pretence that helped him to an Army, was, that he would defend the Old Religion : who, with vast multitudes of People that had flocked in to him, was destroyed : Cabrael and Guergis used the fame pretence, and had the fame succels : And Cerca Chriftos, and the Peafants who are now in Arms, bave no Quarrel with me, but for baving prohibitel them the exercise of their Religion. The Faith of Rome is not bad; but as I bave told you formerly, my People do not understand it, and are very well contented to live and die in the Religion they were brought up in : I am resolved therefore, since they are so fond of it, to let them alone with it; and if there are any that are inclinable to the Roman Faith, they hall have free Liberty to Profess it, as the Portugues, who have been among us ever fince the Reign of Afnaf Saged, have had. When Mariam had done fpeaking, the Patriarch asked him, Whether it was by the Emperor's Express Order that he bad delivered him that Meffage? Mariam told him it was : The Patriarch made no other reply, But that Ethiopia had never been without Wars before the Roman Faith was known in it, C.c.4 and

and that be would return an Answer to the Emperor after be had advised with his Brethren: Who having confulted together, drew up the following Manifesto, which they fent to the Emperor by Father Manuel.

The Patriarch's Manifesto against it. OUR Highness has sent me word, That being upon the point of hosing your Empire for your Zeal to establish the Roman Religion, you are resolved to let your People alone with their Old Faith, and that you will at the same time grant Liberty to all that shall have a mind to embrace Popery.

Sir, My Affection for you is nothing inferior to that I have for the King of Portugal; being as ready to condescend to every thing that is for the Interest of your Kingdoms, as you can desire, provided it, do not clash with the Purity of the Faith; for as whatever is a Sin can never be for the good of any Kingdom, fo neither can I grant any fuch thing, neither ought your Highness to defire it of me. There are two things to be observed in this great Affair; the one concerns the Pealants, who having never embraced the Roman Faith, your Highnels may for lome time wink at their living in the Herefie of their Fathers; the other, concerns thefe who have embraced the Roman Faith, and Communicated with that Church, and not only fo, but have obliged themselves by Oaths to be always Obedient to ber : Now to these your Highness cannot Say, You may, if you please, live in the Faith of your Fathers, fince it would be a prievous Sin against God in you to do jo, as it would be in me likewife if I should either advise you to it, or confent to your doing it : And were it lawful for one that is a Foreigner, Foreigner, to meddle with your Government, or to give advice about it, I would tell you, that it is my Opinion, That your Highness will certainly Ruin your Empire by granting Liberty of Conscience, which must necessarily fill it with Dissertions and Civil Wars; For what but Blood and Wars can follow, upon one part of your Subjects being for the Roman, and the other part for the Alexandrian Faith? And must not the baving of an Abuna for one Party, and a Patriarch for the other, infallibly end in Two Kingdoms, and Two Kings?

Whether the Patriarch believed the Popish Party to be fo Numerous in Ethiopia as to have made a confiderable division therein upon a Toleration, or talked fo only to terrifie the Emperor; it is certain, that the Toleration was no fooner published, than the whole Body of the Court and Countrey returned to their Old Religion; infomuch that Father Manuel happening, after he had delivered the Patriarch's Manifesto to the Emperor, to tell him, That by granting Liberty of Conscience he would undoubtedly Ruin his Kingdom; the Emperor taking him up fhort, asked him, How that was possible, since he had no Empire left to Ruin? And fo difmiffed him. And whereas formerly the Fathers, when they left the Emperor, used to be conducted out of the Court with Ceremony, there was no body now took the least notice of Father Manuel, unlefs it were to make Faces at him as he paffed through the Rooms; but the Father was not got out of the Court, when the Drums beat for the Publishing of the Proclamation mation which he came to have put a ftop to ; the Proclamation was as followeth:

The Proclamation for refloring the Alexandrian Religion.

394

H E A R, Hear: We formerly gave you the Roman Faith, believing it to be true; but innumerable multitudes of my People having been flain upon that account, under the Command of Julius, Guergis, Cerca Chriftos, &c. as now alfo among the Peafants; We do therefore Restore the Religion of your Fathers to you, fo that your Priests are to take Possefion of their Churches again, and to officiate therein as formerly.

Exceffive Joy and Feftivities thereupon.

Never was any Proclamation received with greater expressions of Joy than this was, there being nothing to be heard in or about the Camp for fome Hours for the noife of the Trumpets, and of innumerable multitudes of People continually ecchoing each other from all quarters of the Camp with acclamations and shouts of, God Bless the Emperor, and let the Alexandrian Faith Flourish. At Night the whole Camp and Countrey was Illuminated with Bonfires; into which most, if not all of the Popish Converts threw the Beads and Reliques that had been given them by the Fathers; and that with fo much Contempt and Indignation, as abundantly manifested that they had never had any inward Respect for their New Religion, but had only profess'd it out of fear.

The Patriarch and Fathers, though mortified to the laft degree by this fudden change of things, nevertheless fince the publick Exercife of the Roman Worship was not prohibited, they went on faying their Masses as formerly;

and

and on the Sunday following the Proclamation, the Patriarch himfelf Preached in the Camp, with some Passages of whole Sumon, (for he could not forbear reflecting feverely upon what had been done) the Alexandrians were fo much inraged, that he was advised by his Friends to forbear Preaching, till the florm the late Proclamation had raifed, was a little abated, which, they faid, it would be the fooner for its being fo extreamly violent.

But the Alexandrians, who could not prefently forget how hard they had been rid by the Patriareh and Fathers when they were in the faddle, were never fatisfied till they had all their Churches and Lands taken from them; and had obtained a fecond Proclamation, which Commanded all the People of have all Ethiopia to be of the Alexandrian, and of no other Faith. The Emperor did not long furvive this Revolution, dying the September following of an Hectick Fever, in the Sixty first year of his Age. The Fathers will have him to have died in the Communion of their-Church. But however that were, it is certain, he was buried by the Habaffin Monks, and with their Offices, in the Church of Ganeta Fefu, which they had taken from the Fathers.

The Prince Bafilides being Proclaimed Emperor fo foon as the breath was out of his Father's Body, Raz Cella coming amongst the rest of the Grandees to Swear Allegiance to him, was received by him with all the marks of Honour and Affection that his near Relation to him could pretend to; the Emperor, among other other kind things, telling him, That hereafter be should look upon him, and treat him as his Father, rather than as his Uncle.

But whatever was the matter, this kindnefs betwixt the Nephew and Uncle was not longliv'd; the Fathers pretend that Raz Cella's conftant Zeal for their Religion, was the caufe of it; and particularly, his having acinited the Emperor with his Father's having appeared to him, and commanded him to tell him, that it was a madnefs to lofe an Eternal Kingdom, to fecure one that was Temporary : But what is certain is, that the Emperor giving no credit to his Uncle's Vision, had him arrefted and committed to Prifon as a Traytor, difarming the Patriarch and Fathers at the fame time, and commanding them from all parts of the Empire, to Fremona in Tigre, the Viceroyship of which Kingdom he had bestowed upon one who he was certain would enter into no Cabals with them. The Order run thus :

He fends for the Patriarch and Fathers Arms, and Banifheth them all to Fremona.

E A R, My Lords, what We fay and write unto you; You cannot be ignorant of our being ingaged in a War with the Peafants of Lafta, and of our Empires not having had one hours Reft fince this War begun: You must therefore fend us the Muskets and Carabines, and all your other Arms; together with all the Powder and Bullets that you have in your keeping: We have fent Daniel and Miferata Christos to receive them, to whom you must not fail to deliver them; and when the War is over, they shall all be restored to you again; or if you are willing to fell them, they of ETHIOPIA.

they will give your your price for them. There is an Alexandrian Abuna arrived here, he has been for fome time Incognito in the Kingdom of Narea; and who when I defired him to Confer holy Orders, made me anfwer, He could not do it fo long as there was a Roman Patriarch about us; for which reafon we command your Lordship to repair to Fremona, and to take all your Fathers, and Books, and Goods with you; we shall take care to appoint a Captain to attend you thither with a strong guard; with which Orders the Messegers carried a werbal Instruction, which was, That if any opportunity for the Indies should offer, the Patriarch, Bishop, and Fathers, had free leave to make use of it.

The Patriarch when he was ferved with this Order, complained the Emperor was very hard upon them, and that he could not judge otherwife but that his defign in taking their Arms from them at the fame time he banished them to Fremona, was, that they should be all Murthered by the way; as to the Arms, he faid, they owed nothing to Ethiopia, and as he was refolved never to give them away, fo he was no Gunfmith to fell Arms. Neverthelefs if they were refolved to have them from him, they might find them in fuch a place, but that he would declare to all the World that he was robbed of them; but having before the Meffengers had feized the Arms, received advice that Father James was likewife ferved with an order, to deliver all the Cannon, Muskets and Armour for Man and Horfe that were in his Cuflody; He fent fent for the Meffengers and told them, That he now faw plainly what the Emperor's defign was in demanding their Arms, and that he would therefore write to his Highnefs about it before he parted with them ; but the Meffengers being very urgent to have the Arms out of his Cuftody, he agreed that they fhould be deposited in the hands of any perfon they would name, till he had an answer from the Emperor.

The Patriarch's Letter to the Emperor.

The Patriarch's Letter to the Emperor thereupon.

Aniel Miferata Chriftos, and Danaceos, have by Virtue of an Order from your Highnels demanded all my Guns, Muskets, and other Arms; I prefently (hewed them all the Arms I had. and which are now deposited in safe hands, until I have an answer from your Highness. On the lame Ships with these Arms, there came leveral Cannons and Muskets which were all carried back to the Indies; only for the guard of my perfon, the King's Officers gave me Twenty four Muskets, and a few Carabines; of the Carabines I have not one left, baving parted with them all to your Father, and (ome of the Grandees ; and of the Muskets, I gave Fourteen to your Father, Two to Raz Cella Christos, one to Caba Christos, and one to Guergis, keeping Six only for the guard of my own Houle and Perfon ; which, as they are all I have, fo they are all very much at your Highnes's service ; though at the same time I cannot forbear telling your Highnels, that your Father on Several occasions sent Catabines both to me and the Fathers, with which 200

we never did barm to any body, nor were they of any other use to us, but to affright Robbers, and other ill-disposed people. And whereas your Highness is pleased to Banish as to a place, to which we cannot go but thorough vast Deferts, we might rea-Sonably have expected that you would have done us the lame favour; but instead of that, to take the Six Muskets from me which are my whole guard, is in effect to take away all my Church-Ornaments and Books, which are my whole Treasure, if not my Life, this being to give the world to understand, that they have free leave to Murther the Bishop and the Fathers : This I know very well is the defign of those that gave you this advice, though they will not let your Highness know so much ; for though I am sensible how pure an heart lodgeth in your Highness's breast, and bow like you are to your Father; yet you have undoubtedly those about you, that are contriving how they may have us all Murthered; and as there are several things, which they have Extorted from your Highnels by their Importunities; so this of banishing us to Fremona is one of them, which is done by them with an Intention of having us all Murthered, either by the way, or when we are there, of which your Highness is to know nothing until it will be too late to remedy it. The Lion when his Teeth and Claws are broke, becoming the sport of the Monkies; and notwithstanding the guilt of our Blood may lie upon others, the difgrace thereof will fall upon your Highness : For what can the world fay but that you difarmed us on purpose that we might be Robbed and Murthered ; and that after having ty'd us hand and foot, you threw us in the way of Soldiers and Robbers? I am informed likewife, that your Highness has sent the Jame fame Orders to all the Fathers, which is really to treat us as Rebels, none but fuch having their Arms taken from them by the Government; fo that with our Arms you take away our Honour and Lives. Now this being our cafe, your Highnefs would do us a great favour if you would command us all to be flain here, where our bodies will not be devoured by Wolves; or if you would be fo kind, as to command us to be put to death in the Camp; I do promife to come in my richeft Pontificals to undergo that Blow which would I hope be precious in the Sight of God. May the fame God preferve your Highnefs.

O. Patriarcha.

The Emperor renews his orders for banifhing and difarming them.

This Letter having had no effect upon the Emperor, whom the Patriarch for all his giving him fuch fweet words, and throwing all the blame of things upon his Counfellors, knew to be the most inveterate Enemy the Roman Church had in Ethiopia; Miserata Chrifos was fent back with a verbal Order, commanding the Patriarch immediately to furrender his Arms, and to declare upon Oath that he had delivered all he had. The Patriarch took this fo heinoufly, that he told the Meffenger, That he neither could nor would take any fuch Oath, Bishops being prohibited by the Sacred Canons to Swear : adding, His Highnels might venture to take his Muskets from him, who being a Clerk was to make use of no other than spiritual Arms; but that it was more than be durst do to a private Portuguese Centinel, who do not use to part with their Arms, but with their Lives. The Meffenger perceiving the Patriarch arch was not to be perfuaded to Swear to the Delivery of the Arms, defired that Two of the Fathers might do it; which being granted, the Fathers delivered all their own and the Patriarchs Arms, declaring upon Oath that they had delivered all they had; but when the Meffenger urged the Patriarch after he had Difarmed him, to begin his journey to Fremona; He made answer, That he would neither go, nor promise to go thither, before he had an Anfwer to a Letter he defigned to write to his Highnefs.

The Patriarch's Letter to the Emperor.

DAniel Miferata Chriftos, and Danaceos, The Pa-have in your Majesty's name commanded me triarch's and all the Fathers, to go (traightways into the Province of Tigre; and have given us the reason why your Highness has thought fit to banish us to that ror. Kingdom : My Answer to them was, That I would neither go, nor promife to go thither before I had your Highnefs's Anfwer to this Letter.

Sir, I did not come into Ethiopia of my own head, but was fent hither by the Roman Pontiff, who is the Supream Governor of the Church; and by your Brother the King of Portugal, after your Father had intreated him by several Letters to send a Patriarch; and as it was at your Father's request that I was sent, so when I arrived here, I was received by him and the whole Empire as their Pastor and Father, all of them Swearing in my bands to be always obedient to the Roman Church. I have Dd fecond Letter to the Empe-

I have ferved you all now these Seven Years, as Jacob kept the flock of Laban, according to the Talents God has best owed on me, by Preaching, Administring the Sacraments, and visiting Churches, as is known to all the world by (everal Books that have given an account thereof; and now all of a fudden you are for removing me from the Post God and your felf placed me in; and for banishing me to Tigre, and from thence in a (hort time to the Indies or Portugal, there to be affronted by every body that shall (ee me, fince they cannot but think, that I who was so kindly entertain'd in Ethiopia, must have done fome very ill thing, to deferve to be thus banifbed from thence. But Supposing you should not fend me to the Indies, but should suffer me to have my grave at the foot of the Patriarch Don Andrew D' Oviedo's Tomb in Fremona; all the Indies and Europe, nay all the world, when they shall come to hear of my being banished thither, will and must conclude that it is for some great Miscarriage that I have been guilty of. Wherefore, that I may be able to give some account of my felf to the world, I do in the name of God and Truth beg and re-quire it of your Highness, and of all your Nobles, That you would be pleased to let me have the reasons in writing why you have thought fit to banish me the Court ; whether it be for my baving preached any falfe Doctrine, or for having been guilty of any Jcandalous Crime ; or for not baving punctually complied with the obligations of my Pastoral function, or for having been Insolent in my words, or too rigorous in punishing, or for baving been flothful or careless, or for what other cause. Your Highness may remember, that when your Father defired that his Subjects might be permitted to

to return to some of their ancient customs, that I gratify'd bim fully in that matter; and that he happening at the end of our Treaty, to mention some other customs that he had not spoke of before; I told him, That I was ready to yield to every thing that was not contrary to the Law of God, one thing only excepted, which was the giving the Cup to the Laicks ; which, though not contrary to the Lanv of God, the concession thereof being referved to the chief Roman Pontiff, the Succeffor of St. Peter, and Chrift's Vicar upon Earth, it was not in my power to grant it; I promised nevertheless, at the same time to write to bis Holiness about it, and to lay the whole matter before him with great fincerity, that so he as a faithful and prudent Steward might Ordain what was most profitable. What I did then offer to your Father, I do now again offer to your Highness, and do declare, That if your Highness and your Empire will but continue in the Obedience of the Roman Church, the head of all Churches, and will but follow her faith, that I will grant you all that I can with a good Conscience in the form afore faid. Finally I do befeech your Highnefs before you fend me away, to assemble all your Learned men, to Treat and Di/pute with me about their doubts in Matters of Faith; for confiding in the Mercy of God and their good Judgments, I do not in the least doubt but that I shall be able to convince them of their being in several errors, and to oblige them to confess, that the Chair of St. Petor is juch, That the gates of hell can never prevail against it. This in my opinion would be the best course you could take to quiet the minds of your people; for that if this should not be yielded to, what can the common people say, but that the Dd 2 Learned Learned men of Ethiopia were afraid to appear before the Light of the Roman Doctors; but having (but their eyes, do throw them(elves into utter darkness. What is offered in justification of their not yielding to this, to wit, that they shall incur an Excommunication if they do it, is intolerable; since the Patriarch of Alexandria, no nor the Pope himfelf, bas not power to lay an Excommunication upon his Subjects on that account; and the reason is, because such an Excommunication would tend to the Destruction of the Faith, which is known and made manifest by the Disputations of Learned men. It is likewife contrary to the express command of God, and his Apostles, St. Peter and St. Paul; Christ baving commanded bis Disciples, and in them bis whole Church to go and teach all Nations, Jews, Gentiles and Hereticks ; and again, to feek and they should find, knock, and it should be opened unto them. And how is truth (ought, or how are its gates knocked at, but by Disputations? It is allo contrary to what St. Peter ordered, who commands all Christians to be always prepared to give satisfaction to all that should desire a reason of the hope that is in them; and in the last place, it is a contradiction to St. Paul, who told his Disciple Timothy, that a Bishop ought to be a Doctor; and writing to Titus, he declares wherein that Doctor-(hip confifts, and that it does, in being to powerful in found Doctrine, as to be able to convince Gainfayers. Wherefore if your Learned men do think that we contradict the truth, why do they not endeavour to convince us of it, and not seek to excuse their not endeavouring it, by pretending that by ingaging in a Disputation with us, they should fall under the Excommunication of Three hundred and Eighteen Fathers, thers; there being no manner of foundation for that pretence, fince Hofius, Victor, and Vincentius, the Prefidens of that Council, were all the Legates of Pope Sylvester, the Master of Constantine the Great; who undoubtedly never drew the Sword of Excommunication against themselves to thrust it into their own Bowels; wherefore to flee to Excommunication in such a case, is to trust to a covering that cannot hide the ignorance of him that seeks to cover bimself with it.

Since your Highness has been pleased to take all my Arms from me, if I must go to Fremona, I defire the favour of you, to let my Servants have the Muskets to Guard me thither, and they sholl be sent back to you again; and if this should be denied, I hope your Highness will appoint a strong Guard of Portuguese Soldiers with Fire-Arms, to see me out of danger.

O. Patriarcha.

Though one cannot but be touched to fee a Person, who but a few Months before was in fo high a Post, treated thus rudely; yet at the fame time one can fcarce forbear finiling to find a Roman Prelate advancing the Principle of the Seekers fo high, as to make it to be destructive of Religion, and contrary to the Commands of Christ and his Apostles, to forbid People under pain of Excommunication, to dispute about Matters of Faith, denying it to be in the Pope's Power to rob People of this Liberty; notwithftanding he could not but be fenfible that it is what the Pope does every where ; and that there is no Doctrine whatfoever for which the Inquifition would fooner Burn a man, than for Dd 3 main-

The Principle of the Seekers is advanced by the Patriarch. maintaining (nch a liberty of Inquiry into the truth of Doctrines of Faith, to be the undoubted Privilege and Duty of every Christian. But this is not the only inftance we have of the Jesuits affirming, That the very same Doctrine may be true in one Countrey, and falle in another. The Patriarch's Letter having been read in the Council, it was Debated therein, Whether they should gratifie him with a publick Disputation; and though that was carried in the Negative, it was judged convenient, however, that an Anfwer in the Emperor's Name should be returned to it: Which was as followeth.

The Letter of Seltem Saged, cometh to the Patriarch, with the Peace of God.

My Lord,

The Emperor's answer to the Patriarch.

E A R what we fay and write to you : We have received your Letter, and do understand all that it contains: As to your desiring to know why we have turned you out of the Fost wherein God and the Emperor had placed you: Your Lordship cannot but be sensible, that so long as we were under our Father the Emperor, we never disobeyed him in any one thing; nor did we ever so, much as open our mouth against any thing that he did ; but were fo submillive to bim in all things, that we never laid, I will have this, or I will have that; or I like this, or dislike that; informuch, that I do not remember, that during hislife, I ever did any thing of my own head, but did still what be Commanded me. As to the business of your Religion, our Soul never entered into its Councils, neither neither did we ever joyn with any Counfellors either to build it up, or destroy it. We need not be told that the Emperor sent for your Lordship, and that the Fathers likewife came with his Confent; as we need not, that ever fince your coming he has been continually embroiled in Wars for endeavouring to establish your Faith; Fighting Sometimes with his Sons, and at other times with his Slaves, whom he had railed from the dunghil to great honours : Infomuch that from the first hour we were able to bear Arms, we have never done anything, but fight in obedience to our Father's Commands, which we always obeyed. After the Battel I had in the beginning of this Winter with Ognadega, our Learned Monks and People baving affembled themselves together in the Camp, took the confidence to tell my Father their thoughts freely in the following words; Sir, How long are we to be plagued thus, and to tire our felves about things that are good for nothing? We defire to know, When we are to give over fighting with our Kinsfolk and Brethren; or cutting our right hand off with our left ? What great difference is there betwixt the Roman Faith and ours? For do they of Rome teach, That there are Two Natures in Christ; and bave not we always believed and taught the fame, in affirming that our Lord Christ is perfect God and perfect Man; perfect Man as to bis Humanity, and perfect God as to his Divinity? But whereas those his Two Natures are not separated, his Divinity being United to the Flesh, and not separated from it, and his Flesh to the Divinity; we do not for that reason affirme them to be Two, but One; being made so out of two Caufes, and that not jo as to Confound and Dd 4 -Mix

Mix those Natures in their Beings; but on the account of their being one and the same Principle, we call them by the name of that Union ; (o that our Controversie with them in this matter is of [mall importance : Neither was it the caule of our having had so much fighting, but it was because they denied us the Blood in the Communion, notwithstanding Christ has told us positively in his Gospel, that unless we eat the fiesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, you shall not inherit eternal Life. And notwithstanding that Christ himself, when he Instituted the Sacrament, after having given his Body to bis Disciples, and received it himself, did not say, The blood is in my flesh which I have given you; but on the contrary, be laid, Take and drink, and divide it among you : His Disciples doing as he Commanded them, and as he gave them to understand by faying, Do this in remembrance of me. Neither was this the only thing that discontented the People; but moreover the prohibiting them to Fast on Wednefdays; which St. Peter and St. Paul, and no fewer than Eight Synods, had Commanded them to do, upon pain of Excommunication. Neither was that all, but because they saw us Eat and Drink in the first week of Lent; Eating on the Morning of Good Friday ; from which time till Easter they do never taste any thing : They heard likewife, that we received the Sacrament in the Morning on Fasting-days; and that the Roman Church permits People on Fasting-days to eat Milk and Butter, and to drink Water; baving changed all the Festivities of the Year, and suffering Men and Women promiscuoully to enter into the Church, without keeping any out for being unclean. But the the things of all others for which they abhorred us the most, was for saying, That they Baptized themselves as if they were Heathens and Publicans; whereas, in truth, there is no great difference betwixt the Romanists and them as to that point: And because the Romanists treated their Priefts and Deacons, as if they had not been in Holy Orders, giving them Priefthood upon Priefthood, and Diaconate upon Diaconate; and for burning (ome of their Altars for no other reason, but because they were made of Wood, and Confecrating those again that were made of Stone, as if they had been Profane before; The Monks were allo inraged against the Romanists for not living like Monks, who are not to be left to their liberty whether they will Fall or not; and because the Fathers took state upon them, and did not visit them according to the Custom of Monks.

For these and divers other reasons, the People far and near were much discontented, and said to the Emperor, Hear what we have to fay, and either give us leave to live quietly, or knock us on the head, fince the War does thicken upon us daily. When the Emperor was told this by all his People, he, without our joyning with them in it, finding that there was no other way to quiet their minds, and that he would not be able to punish them much longer, commanded his Counsellors to advise together what was best to be done; who after a serious consult came to this Resolution, That they must all return to their Ancient Religion and Customs.

Your Lordship in being acquainted with this, will know the reason why you are turned out of your Place, which God and the Emperor had bestowed

The Church-Hiftory

stowed on you; and that the very same Emperor that fent for your Lordship, and gave you your Authority, was the Person that deprived you of it: Wherefore fince an Alexandrian Abuna is on his way hither, and he has sent us word, that he cannot be in the same Countrey with a Roman Patriarch and Fathers; we have ordered you to Repair to. Fremona, and there to remain. As to what your Lordship now offers, which is, That if the People of Ethiopia will but continue in the Obedience of the Roman Church, that you will dispense with them as to all matters which are not contrary to the Faith; that comes too late now; for how is it possible for them to return to that which they have not only forfaken, but do abominate, now they have had a tafte of their Old Religion again? For can a grown Man be born. again, or enter a fecond time into his Mother's womb? Your Lordship further desires, That we would assemble our Learned Men to Dispute with you before you depart, about matters of Faith : This ought allo to have been done in the beginning; befides, Is that Caufe like to be fupported by Arguments, which has been maintained hitherto only by Force and Violence? By taking Eftates from fome, and throwing others into Prison, and Punishing others more feverely; and that for no other reafon, but becaufe they would not embrace your Faith? And as if that had not been sufficient, you have dragg'd great multitudes out of the Defarts, who would have been contented to have lived there upon Herbs, and confined them to Prifons; nay, the poor People that would have been glad to have Buried themfelves in Caves, not having

The Cruelty of the Perfecuti-, ons raifed by the Jefuits. having escaped your Perfecution. Now what a Barbarity would it be, to go and tease poor People with Arguments, who have suffered so much in Defarts and Banishments? It would certainly be a very unjust thing, both in the sight of God and Man. As to your Lordship's desiring to have a Portuguese Guard to attend you, that cannot be; but we shall appoint a very Honest Man, and who has a great train of Servants, to convey your Lordship, and all your Goods in safety, to the place whither you are to go.

This Letter gives us a great deal of light into the Affairs of Ethiopia at this time. For First; We fee plainly thereby, that Popery, as to its Perfecuting spirit, is the fame in all Climates; it having no fooner got the Power of the Government of Ethiopia on its fide, than it made the penalty of not embracing it, the loss of Estate, Liberty, and Life; and Herbs were reckoned too high a Diet, and Caves and Defarts too good a Dwelling for those that left all, and fled to them, to preferve a good Confcience. Secondly, That their denying the Cup in the Sacrament to the Laity, and the validity of the Alexandrian Ordinations, and not their believing that there were Two Natures in Chrift, were among the chief causes of the Habaffins having fuch an Aversion for Popery. Lastly, That Popery owed all the footing that it ever had in Ethiopia to Violence; fo that it no fooner loft the affiftance of the Secular Arm, than it came to nothing. There are two paffages likewife in this Letter, which do feem to make it evident, dent, That the Haba/fins do not believe Tranfubftantiation; the one is, where they do abfolutely deny our Saviour's Blood to be in the Element of Bread; and the other is, where they feem to intimate, That our Saviour made his Difciples underftand what he meant, by calling the Bread and Wine in the Sacrament, his Body and Blood, by bidding them Celebrate it in Memory of him.

The Patriarch finding that there was no remedy but that he must go to Fremona, and that the Emperor would neither lend him his own Arms, nor appoint him a Portuguese Guard, did thereupon defire him to charge fome Refponsible Man with the Books and every thing elfe that belonged to the Church; declaring that if that was not done, That he would not take them with him : The Anfwer the Emperor returned to this petition was very thort, which was, That for his part, be did not know how to pack Goods, and that he must therefore e'en do it him(elf, and having done it, be gone with them. And the Patriarch having defired to know who it was that was to be his Convoy; he had word fent him on Holy Thurfday, That they were two Meffengers, and two Nobles, who would go well attended with Servants, and that he must begin his Journey next Morning; which being come, the Patriarch made his Farewel-Sermon; and after that was ended, he took off his Shoes, and having shaked the Dust that was on them in the Air, he put them on again, and begun his Journey; on the Second day whereof he dispatched the following Memorial to the Em-Now peror.

The Patriarch begins his Journey to Fremona.

Now that your Highness's Counsellors do reckon His Methat the fecurity of your Empire dos confift in the Extirpation of the Roman Faith, which is the only true Catholick and Apostolick Faith; and in the Banishment of the Patriarch, Bishop, and Fathers; I for my part, notwithstanding I know your Highness is most miserably abused by those men, do say with Jonas, Take me and throw me into the Sea, it being better that one man should die, than that a whole Nation should perish. However your Highness must know that the Roman Faith can never be destroyed, it not being founded on the mud wherewith the Nile fills Egypt, but on the firm Rock of St. Peter's Confession, to whom Christ hath promifed, that the gates of hell shall never prevail against it ; baving also faid to him at another time, Peter, I have prayed to my Father for thee, that thy faith may not fail. Wherefore being now banished for having preached the Gospel, I can say with St. Paul, I labour even unto bonds, neverthelefs the Word of God is not bound.

Wherefore as Fathers when they come to die, or when they are to part with their Children for any long time, do speak to them as Jacob did to his Twelve Sons, or as old Tobit did to the young one, and as Christ when he ascended into Heaven did to his Disciples; so upon my departure, I will speak to your Highness and your whole Empire all the truths which it imports you to be acquainted with.

In the First place, I do testify to your Highness, before God and Christ Jesus, who is to Judge the quick quick and the dead, That the Church of Rome is the Mother, Mistress, and Head of all Churches, Chrift having commanded her in the perfon of her Founder St. Peter, to confirm his brethren, and feed his sheep; that is, all the faithful of the world, who are all the Sheep of Christ; so that none can have God for their Father, but they who have this holy Church for their Mother, out of which there is no Salvation, no more than there was out of the Ark in the time of the Deluge; and I do farther declare, That your Highness and all that are in your Empire, who have violated the Oath you made in my hands, To live and die in the Faith and Obedience of the Roman Church, have incurred thereby the Excommunication which was pronounced by me and divers Priests in the name of God at that time, and by the Authority of St. Peter and the Roman Pontiff bis Successor, from which you cannot be absolved before you return to the Obedience and Union of holy Mother Church.

In the Second place I do declare, That I, so long as I do live, and am not loosed from that bond of Spiritual Marriage, which I have Contracted with the Church of Ethiopia, am the true Patriarch and Pastor, and Abuna thereof; and that whosever is or shall come from any part, is a stranger, and cannot enter into it by the door, it not being opened to him by the faithful and prudent Steward, to whom Christ has delivered the Keys of his House.Such a one therefore muss be an Adulterer, in taking another man's Wise while her lawful Husband is living. I have been placed in this Chair by the true Successor of St. Peter, and that with the same Authority as St. Peter placed his Disciple St. Mark in the Chair of

of Alexandria; all that are in that Chair, and do deny Obedience to the Pope and his Successors, being Patriarchs only in name, for the branch cannot bear fruit of it felf if it continueth not in the vine.

In the Third place, I am to put your Highness and the whole Empire in mind of those words of St. Paul, Be not deceived, for God, no nor men, will not be Mocked by your pretending that you have not for jaken the Roman faith, but only in some customs; for it is plain you have departed from her by divers Herefies; namely, the using of Circumcifion together with Baptism, the repeating of Eaptism, the keeping Saturday, and the ceremonial Law about Legal uncleannesses, and distinctions of meat; and in disolving Marriages, many of you affirming that Christ is the Son of God by grace only : Others affirming that there are Two persons in Christ; others that he has one person made of Two, and that he has not two Wills nor two Operations; others that he died without his Devinity, others that the Humanity is equal to the Divinity, and is every where. You do affirm likewije, that water jqueezed from dry grapes may be Confecrated, and that the Souls of Children are derived from their Parents, with a great many other things that are repugnant to the holy Scriptures, and have been Condemned and Anathematized in divers Councils.

In the Fourth place, I do befeech your Highnefs by the Precious Blood of Christ, and by the Bosvels of Our Lady the Virgin Mary; and I do in the name of God, and by the Authority which he bath given me by the Pontifical Oil that was poured on my head,

The Church=History

as upon that of Aaron, on the day of my Confecration, command you neither by force nor promifes to endeavour to oblige the Portugueses that shall remain here to renounce the true Roman Faith : Nor to set any Captain over them that is not a Catholick by Descent, and chosen by Catholicks. And I do pronounce the greater Excommunication to be Ipfo facto incurred, and do invocate the Indignation and Curse of Almighty God, and of the boly Apostles, St. Peter and St. Paul, and of St. Thomas, the Patron of India, and of St. James the Great, the Patron of Spain and Portugal, on all that shall any ways offend in this matter, or who shall at any time forsake the Roman Faith.

In the Fifth place, I do advertise your Highness, and all and every one in your Empire, that there is no Nation under Heaven that has the like Obligations to another, as Ethiopia has to Portugal. The Portugueses not having come among you, as the Children of Ifrael went into Egypt with Affes, to have them laden with Provisions to satisfy their bunger; but were moved to it purely out of Charity and Zeal for the faith. It is not above an Hundred years fince they were fent by their King to his great cost laden with Arms and Muskets, and accompanied with a train of Artillery which is at this time in your Camp, with the Royal Arms of Portugal upon them, with their Pockets full of Money, and that not to make them elves Masters of Ethiopia, nor to Conquer it for their King, but to deliver the Habaffins out of a Mahometan Captivity, and to free them from the Yoke which that curfed Sect had laid upon their necks; for which great Service, the they have been fo ill rewarded, that their Children and Grandchildren were reduced to that Penury, that the King of Portugal was obliged to allow them a yearly Maintenance. Wherefore I do befeech your Highnefs, to let them enjoy the Privileges which their Fathers purchased for them with their Blood; and which have been granted them by former Kings for their fervices.

In the Sixth place, I would have your Highness remember, that several of the Fathers of the Society who are Eminent for their Piety and Learning, have come into Ethiopia at divers times, not to feek after Honours or Riches, but to serve God and your people in much humility; and to teach them the true faith, some of them having given the greatest Testimonies of love that are possible, in having laid down their Lives for their Friends; which Three of them did, one after having been several years a pri-Soner at Matzua, and the other two at Adel; and those that are now alive have served your Father with all the fidelity of Doctors, Servants, and Slaves, as he himself has many times told me; all which notwithstanding, after they had built several Churches and Houses, they are now turned out of them all; and that in the midst of Winter their Churches and Goods being all given to the Enemies of the Roman Faith; the Fathers that were at Gorgora having in little more than three Months time been fent from three several places; they that were at Dembea and Gojam having been likewife turned out of all; notwithstanding all which hard ulage, they continue to pray to God to Establish your Highness's Empire for ever; and that he would give you a House; hat has the true faith for its Foun-Ee dation.

dation, and Heaven for its Roof. Furthermore I would have your Highness remember, That your Father defired the Bishop of Rome to send a Patriarch and Bishops into Ethiopia; at whole request be fent me and a Bishop; we were both Masters of Divinity, and Readers of the holyScriptures : Neither did the most Catholick Powerful and Munificient King of Portugal, expect that your Father (hould have remitted Gold to him to defray the charges of our Million', or that he hould have taxed bis Nobles on that account; but he took the whole charge thereof upon himself, which amounted to (everal Thousand Oquea's giving us also many rich pieces to make Presents of, some of which are at this time in your Royal Palace, and in Several great Houses in Ethiopia : Neither did he (o much as charge your Father with the Maintenance of our perfons, having fent me yearly an Hundred Oquea's to support my Dignity. Now all the return you have make to your Brother the King of Portugal, and to the Bishop and me for all the charge and trouble that we have been at, is to throw us out of all at a blow, and to entertain another without knowing who he is, or from whence he comes; threatening us like Caterpillars, against whom when they come, the whole Countrey is up in Arms; fo that according to the word of David, I am caft out like a locust; you, in what you do, fulfilling what Chrift faid to the Jews, I came in my Father's name, and you received me not ; another will come in his own name, and him you will receive; the Children of Ifrael when they went out of Egypt carried not only their own goods, but the Egyptians allo which they had borrowed ; whereas we are forced to leave a great part of our own goods goods behind us; but fince we must leave them all when we come to die, that gives us but little trouble ; but what afflicts us most is that your Highness should fend the same Message to us, which another King delivered with his own Mouth to Mofes and Aaron in the Twelfth of Exodus; Arife and go from among my people; and that with the fame haste as he forced the Jews out of Egypt by night, it being said the Egyptians pressed the Hebrews to depart suddenly, saying, if they do not depart this night, we are all dead men; imputing the death of their First-born to the prefence and detention of the Children of Israel; whereas in Justice they should have attributed it to the batred they bore to the Hebrews, who had been their deliverers, and to their own cruelty, in having thrown their Sons into the Nile. After the same manner Ethiopia ought to impute the just punishments they have received at the hand of God, to the unjust hatred they have for the Portugueses their restorers; and to their Manifold publick and scandalous Sins, some whereof I hall just mention :

Most of their men are for baving several Wives; and their Women are for changing their Husbands. Their Monks care not to have any thing more of Monks than the habit, chusing the Houses of the Court of Ladies for their Monasteries. The Nobles are for making themselves Lords of the Church and her Lands, indulging the flesh in all things, and would have their Pastors to be as so many Statues, in having neither Eyes to see their Sins, nor Mouths to reprove them, nor bands to chastife them.

Now so long as these Sins continue in Ethiopia, the Sword will never depart from it. Open your Eyes, Sir, E e 2 and and follow the truth according to your knowledge thereof, and juffer not the good Nature and Understanding which God has given you, to be ruin'd by evul Counfellors; but do justice to your Subjects, remembering what God bath said by the Ecclesiaflicus, That Kingdoms are Translated from one to another, and from one Family to another, by reason of Injustice. And since we are not to see one another again, before we meet at the Tribunal of God's Justice, I must tell you plainly, That though I should not accuse you there, you will accuse your self; your Empire, the Gospel, the Councils, and the Books of the Fathers, and Doctors of the Church which I brought for your Instruction, and you have rejected, will all accuse you there.

Neverthele(s, I, the Bishops and Fathers, imitating our Master Fesus Christ, who when he was on the Cross prayed for his Murtherers, not attending to the hatred wherewith they persecuted him, but to the precept of his Father's and his own willingness to die for them; do from our hearts pray, that God of his great Mercy would pardon you and your whole Em-pire, and remove from you and it the Scourges of his wrath, which the examples in holy Scripture threaten them withal who will go on in their Sins. And whereas the Gauls fince the time your Ancefors broke the Oath they made to the Portuguefes, That they would receive the Roman Faith, have become Masters of the greatest part of your Empire; (o I pray God, that the remaining part thereof may not be lost on this occasion wherein there have been (o many Oaths and Excommunications, with such a clear knowledge of the truth; infomuch that what Saint Stephen (aid of the Jews, may be truly appli'd to you; You do always refift the holy Spirit Spirit after the Example of your Fathers. May that Divine Spirit, which is the Temple and Fortrefs of Truth, enlighten and strengthen your Highnefs to know and love the Roman-Catholick Faith, which is the true way and life.

Offonso Patriarch of Ethiopia, Banished for Jefus Chrift.

The Patriarch having been rifled by the way by a company of Banditties, arrived at Fremona on the 24th of April; and not being able to think of returning to the Indies to live there as a Private Friar, and where he knew his Conduct would be censured, if for no other reason for its having been unsuccessful; he began to confider whether he might not, in cafe the Emperor should command him to depart his Kingdoms, which he every day expected he would do, find fome Nobles that would undertake to protect him against him; but being fensible that that was not to be done any other way, but by giving affurances, that a Portuguese Army would come in a short time to fuccor them, he immediately difpatched four Fathers to Goa, to Sollicit the Sending of an Army to them, as the greatest Service that could be the radone either to God or the Crown of Portugal ; foon ashe and having done this, he thought he might arrived at very well encourage some of the Grandees to Fremona, take them under their protection by promifes of fends Four a Portuguese Army being ready to embark at the Indies Goa, to come to their affiftance ; and being in- to follicit formed that Prince John Kay, the Heir of their for old friend Bahurnagays, was living, difcontent- Troops. ed.

nous, and not far from the Sea Coaft, he fent two Fathers to him, to try if they could perfuade him to undertake their protection, by promifes of great things the Portugue/e. Army that was coming would do for him. The Envoys managed matters fo, that they brought O Kay to promife to protect them, it being agreed betwist him and them, That wherfoever the Emperor should command the Patriarch and Fathers to leave Ethiopia, that be should fend a Troop of Horse to fetch them from Fremona into his own Lands; where, when he had them once, he promifed to defend them till the Portuguese Army arrived.

This O Kay you must know was one of the chief Leaders in Guergis's Croisade for the extirpation of Popery; which, though the Patriarch knew well enough, yet being fensible that he was discontented with the Emperor and the Court, and believing Ambition to be much ftronger in him than Religion, he thought he might be a man proper enough for his purpofe, the very Peafants of Lafta being made ufe of by the Fathers against the Emperor, as we shall see hereafter. The Emperor, who was too jealous of the Patriarch and the Portuguese, not to have his Spies upon them, having received advice, That the Patriarch was caballing with O Kay, fent an Express with a precife order to the Patriarch and Fathers, immediately to depart his Empire, telling them if they would go to Matzua, there to embark for the Indies, that he would write to the Bashaw of that Fort, to treat them civilly, and help them to a passage.

He fues to O Kay a difcontented Lord for protectionagainft the Emperor.

O Kay undertakes to protect him.

The Emperor hearing thereof, commands the Patriarch and Fathers to leave Ethiopia.

The

The Order they were ferved with, run thus : From the day that Popery came first into Ethiopia, our Empire has never had one day of Peace, which was what it always enjoy'd before. Wherefore fince our Empire is very near baving been ruined by you, we do strictly command you all to depart prefently; which, if you will do quietly, and go to Matzua, we will recommend you to the Bashaw of that place. The Patriarch , whofe business it was to gain as much time as poffible, writ thereupon a very fubmiffive Letter to the Emperor, begging most passionately of him, not to deliver him and the Fathers to the Turks, the most inveterate Enemies both of their Religion and Nation, which he would do if he forced them to go to Matzua,a Port which belonged to those Infidels. But the Emperor was fo far from being prevailed with to revoke his Order, that he renewed it with greater rigor in the following Anfwer to the Patriarch.

The Letter of the Emperor Seltem Saged cometh to the Patriarch, Bishop, Father James, and the rest of the Fathers.

E A R what we say and write : Asma The Em-Guergis, Taca Chriftos, and Melch Christos, have acquainted us with all that you bave laid, and with all your excuses when they commanded you in our name to return to the place depait. from whence you came. In the first place you (ay, You did not come bither of your own accord, but were sent bitber after you had been invited by di-Ee 4 vers peror's Letter to the Patriarch to vers Letters. What, have you forgot the reasons I gave you formerly, why I was obliged to (end you away? and I do much wonder that you (hould offer to give me the trouble of repeating them to you again; I need not tell you what hath happened betwixt you and the people of Ethiopia, and what a struggle you have had with them to oblige them to embrace your Religion; but one thing I must tell you, That if you continue not to regard either the power of God who is above, or of the Emperor here below, that you (hall not live Two and Twenty years, no nor one year, no nor half of one in Ethiopia. There is no need of telling you what Infinite Multitudes of people have lost their lives because they would not turn Papists, or how great Troubles and Persecutions my Father endured for your (ake, fince you cannot but be senfible of them, as you are also of his having given over your Religion, when he faw plainly he was not able any longer to support it; so that as it was be that first introduced it, so it was be that put an end to it. After which he returned to the Foundation of his Fathers, which is the Rock of the Faith of Alexandria, and fortified it so by his Proclamations, that it is never to be removed.

As to your putting us in mind of the valiant Portugueles, who came hither in the time of Afnaf Saged to defend the Faith, it is what we very well know, and we do confess that they did us very good service in helping us to peace; but as they never offered to deftroy the Religion of Ethiopia, which was delivered by the Fathers and the Apostles; so our people never offered them any violence; but as they deferved much for having delivered us out of the hands of the Mahometans, so they were all well rewarded rewarded by the Emperor, having Lands given them where they had no Inheritance; which Lands are enjoyed to this day by their Posterity, none ever asking them the question, What do you make here?

As to what you fay, of your having referved the Abfolution of the Excommunication you have laid upon Ethiopia, so to your self, that none but you can Abfolve her of it; That is easily answered: For when the Fathers began to Preach Popery in Ethiopa, By what means did they oblige the People to embrace it? Was it by Excommunications, or by doing any thing that looked like a Miracle? No, it was by neither of those methods, but it was purely by the force of the Imperial Authority: And did not the same hand that threw them into Prifons, set them at liberty again? Neither can you but be sensible, that there was not so much as one Person in Ethiopia that embraced your Religion voluntarily.

As to what you have faid of Ethiopia being your Wife, it was no where ever Written or Decreed, That a Woman shall be bound to a Husband contrary to her own Conjent, only because her Father and her Mother will have it so; for which reason your Lordship cannot but be sensible that Ethiopia was never your Spouse; since, as we have observed, There was not one Perfon that belonged to her, that embraced your Faith voluntarily. As to the Vow you speak of, it admits of several distinctions; some make a Vow to relinquish their Estates without turning Monks; Some Vow to live and die Virgins; and others, not being Virgins, for the Love of God, to live Chaftly: The force of all which Vows is refolued into their having been voluntary; which, when they are, they Sin that · do do not observe them; the faculties of the Will and Confent being so in the nature of the Soul, as to Govern its animal Powers, which are the Flesh: This is a true account of the nature of Vows. And as to your pretending that you cannot leave Ethiopia, because you are under a Vory to her, that need not trouble your Conscience, since you have not left her, but she has left you; neither do you flee from her, but the flees from you, as a Coward does from a Battel. We are ready to be your Lordship's Witness, that you Loved Ethiopia very much ; as we are ready to be her Witneffes too, that fhe could never endure you, who have given her so many bitter Potions: Wherefore what we have to fay to you, is, in a word, Be gone all of you to your own Countrey in Peace: And we do call God to witness of our baving been no ways accessary to any injuries that you may have (ustained; for as it was the Emperor our Father who invited you hither, so it was he that dismissed you, we having had no hand neither in the one or other; on the contrary, we have hitherto Protected you, and are at this time fighting with the Xague that Robbed you, with an intention of restoring all your Goods to you that we can recover; and as you have no reason to complain of us for your having been plundered, so that you may not be Robbed a Jecond time, we have appointed Za Mariam, and the Nobles of Sararoa and Ameftea. to convey you fafe to Matzua; where, if you please, you may buy a Ship to carry you home; having allo writ to the Bashaw of that Port, in Arabick, to use you kindly, and to suffer you to part in peace. As to the motion you have made, of returning to the Indies by the way of Dancaly, and the Port of

of Bahur, a way, which your felf excepted, none ever yet came; the Fathers and all the other Portugueses, baving come continually by Matzua; we must tell you, that now your Expulsion is determined, it is to no purpose to alledge reasons why you cannot go; and that if you floculd shuffle any longer with our Orders, that it will be your Ruin. Have we taken any thing from you that you have got in Ethiopia, that you flould difobey us, and fay you will not go? this is not right. Be gone therefore, without making any further reply or excuse, your Expulsion being determined, as you will understand by the Order you will receive.

The Patriarch perceiving that if he staid any longer at Fremona, he must either go voluntarily to Matzua, or be fent thither in Chains; the new Abuna who was now got to Court, and who I reckon had the chief hand in all all these severe Orders, having as little compaffim for the Romanists, as they, when they were in Power, had had for the Alexandrians; he dispatched a Messenger to O Kay to acquaint The Pahim with the danger he was in, and to defire triarch him to fend fome Soldiers prefently to help him to make his escape ; fending the Coadjutor and Six of the Fathers at the fame time privately to a difcontented Nobleman in the Saroa, to try if they could perfuade him to joyn with O Kay in protecting them; but though that Grandee, like a Brutal Man as he was, told the Bishop and his Companions, That he would have nothing to do with them; O Kay, according to his promife, fent his Brother with a good Body of Men to a paffage within within a few Leagues of Fremona, whither his Confederate Tecla Mariam, who had been gained likewife by the Patriarch, had undertook to convey them in fafety. The manner of their escape being concerted, the Patriarch and Fathers having put themfelves in a difguife, fo foon as it was dark, stole out at their backdoor; and being come to the place where Tecla waited for them, they were conducted by him to O Kay's Brother, who conveyed them to O Kay, by whom they were received with all testimonies of kindness, and for their fecurity, were lodged by him in an impregnable Mountain in the Province of Bur, where they had not been many days before the Coadjutor and his Six Companions came to them, not having been able to bring any of the Nobles they had visited, into an Allociation to Secure them.

The Emperor was much troubled when he heard of O Kay's having undertaken to Protect the Patriarch and Fathers against him in Ethiopia, and being fensible that nothing but an affurance from them of a Portuguele Army could have tempted one of his Principles, who had on all occasions shewed himself a Zealous Alexandrian, to have done it; he refolved to fend to O Kay, and to grant him every thing he would defire, on condition he would furrender them to him, to dispose of them as he should think fit. O Kay, though overcome by this Proposition when it was made to him, yet had too much Honour to deliver People, who, upon his having promifed to Protect them, had put themselves into his hands, up to the resentments of an an inraged Prince ; neither would he upon any terms yeild to the cutting off of Father Lobo's Head, on which the Emperor infifted much, knowing him to have been the most active promoter of an Affociation against him amongst his O Kay will Subjects : All the Court could bring O Kay to, was to carry the Patriarch, Bishop, and Fathers to Matzua, and there to leave them to shift for themselves as well as they could, and to fuffer them to be notified in the Emperor's Name, to depart Ethiopia in two days upon pain of Death.

The Patriarch, when the Meffenger had notified him, and asked him, Whether he thought he had not been the cause of bloodshed enough already in Ethiopia? Made Answer, That he was under an higher obligation to the Emperor of Heaven not to leave his Sheep; for whom he was ready to lay down his life among devouring Wolves. And having obtained leave to fpeak with O Kay, he asked him, What he intended to do with him and the Fathers now he had them in his hands? He made Anfwer, Not to deliver you to the Emperor, but to convey you in Safety to Matzua, where you will not be long before you will meet with an opportunity of returning to Dio, or some other Port belonging to the Portugueses in the Indies. The Patriarch not at all fatisfied with this Anfwer, after having told him, That it was only to have avoided being jent thither by the Emperor, that they had defired his Protection; and that he had promised them oftener than once, to secure them in his Province until the Postuguese Fleet, which they daily expected, arrived with Succors: Asked bim again, Whether he had determined to violate his his Faith with them? To which O Kay returned this fhort Anfwer, That there was no remedy for it, and that they must prepare them selves to begin their Journey to Morrow. The Patriarch finding there was no good to be done with O Kay, addreffed himfelf to the Company, conjuring them in the Name of God, To confider what a wicked thing it was to be the Executioners of the expulsion of a true Paster and Patriarch, and of the Preachers of the Gospel; and that by having a hand therein, they would all incur the greater Excommunication, from which the Pope only was able to Absclue them. But he could have no other Answer from them, But that they would venture that, being refolved whatever were the Confequence of it, to execute the Emperor's Orders.

In the Morning the Patriarch being fpoke to, to begin his Journey, inftead of that begun an Harangue, which was heard quietly by the Company till he came to inveigh bitterly against the Emperor and his Counfellors for what they had done to him. Whereupon the Habaffins interrupted him, telling him, They would not hear their Prince railed at (o without a caufe, and that he must come away presently, for the Company waited for him to guard him to Matzua, and not to hear him Preach, or rather Declaim against Ethiopia and its Prince. The Patriarch finding there was no ftaying for him in Ethiopia, prevailed with O Kay, who, it feems, had a mind to play a double Game before he began his Journey, to wink at the Coadjutor and Father Facinto ftealing away to Cafla Mariam, and Father Luis and Father Bruno to Cantibazara, who had both promifed to fuffer them to to abfcond in their Lands till a Portuguese Army should come to relieve them; and upon the Journey, he perfuaded O Kay himself by the fame argument, to carry two of the Fathers back with him to abscond in his Territories, promising so foon as he got to the Indies, to hasten the fending of a Fleet that would make them all Princes quickly.

O Kay having conducted the Patriarch to the Gates of Arkico, and delivered him to the Governor of that Port, returned home with the two Fathers that were to abfcond with him; and the Turk having been told that the Patriarch had a vaft Treasure with him, did, in hopes of a great Prey, not only receive him at the Gate with Ceremony, but carried him home with him to his Houfe, where he treated him with a Respect that is not usually paid by Men of his Nation and Religion to Christians of whatfoever Quality they are; but this Complaisance was too unnatural to last long; for upon the Officers, whom he had appointed to fearch the Baggage, returning and whifpering him in the Ear, that they had met with nothing of any value, befides two fmall Silver Chalices, he difmiffed his Guefts very abruptly, commanding them to be carried straitways to the Custom-house to be fearched there; which having been done with lefs fuccefs than the Baggage, there being nothing found upon them befides two fmall Silver Croffes, and a few Revals of Plate, the Governor was put into fuch a rage by the difappointment, that he commanded them to be conveyed immediately to Matzua, where having ving landed about Midnight, they were conducted by the Baneans, the Friends of Mankind in general, to a house which they, upon having received notice that they were coming. had provided for them; but they had not been many hours in their Lodging, before the Governor, who was refolved to fqueeze fomething out of them before they went to Suaghem, ( the Bashaw whereof had, upon the fame Information of their having a great Treasure in Gold and Jewels, fent an Order immediately to bring them before him) arrived the Island; and the Fathers very well in knowing what it was that had brought him thither, went by times in the Morning to wait upon him with a Prefent of Six hundred Pieces of Eight, which they had borrowed of the Baneans; the Governor, though he took the Prefent, did it after fuch a contemptuous manner, as fufficiently intimated that he expected a great deal more from them before he parted But finding there was no more with them. came, he, upon fome pretence or other, ordered a Boy that was in the Patriarch's Train. to be taken up, threatning to fell him to the Arabians if he were not ranfomed with Sixty peices of Eight within half an hour; which Sum was likewife borrowed of the Baneans, and paid within the time. After a Months ftay at Matzua, they were all embarked for Suaghem, where when they arrived, the fately Bashaw would not fo much as fee them; but having ordered their Perfons and Baggage to be fearched, he fent them word, That under Thirty thousand Crowns they were not to think of baving baving leave from him to go to the Indies. Neverthelefs, after much Bartering, the Baneans having brought him down to Four thousand, paid the Money; and having provided a Ship to carry them all to Dio, as they were upon the fhoar ready to have Imbarked, word came from the Bashaw, That he had given leave only to Seven to depart, of which number, the Patriarch was not to be one; pretending to him till he had advice from Dio detain how matters flood there as to their Commerce.

Seven of the Fathers, Two remaining behind with the Patriarch, embarked on the 6th. of August 1624. and after a Voyage of Eight days, during which time they fuffered a thousand affronts from their fellow-Passengers, who were going Pilgrims to Mecha, and who reckoned it to be meritorious to abuse Christian Priest, they were put ashoar at Dio; where two of the Fathers, who were fent by the Patriarch from Fremona to folicit for Troops, were arrived but a few days before, the other two having died in the Voyage, which had been extreamly tedious. By the first opportunity that offered, Father Manuel, and Father Ferom, embarked for Goa; where being arrived, they were at the Viceroy Don Michael de Noronha, day and night, for to fend a Fleet with fome Troops to Ethiopia; representing the taking of the Ports of the Vice. would reap from the Portugueses being Masters thereof. But though there was never any thing preffed with greater heat and zeal than this Expedition was by the whole Clergy of Goa, Secular and Regular, who were all possessed by the Two Fathers, That the Reduction of another Europe to the Obedience of the Church of Rome, would infallibly be the confequence of it; Yet all they could obtain of the Viceroy, was only Commendations of their Zeal, with a general promife of undertaking that work for foon as the posture of his Affairs would allow him to do it. But the Fathers knowing where their businels fluck, endeavoured to obviate all the Political Arguments that could be brought against it, affirming with the greatest confidence, That the conquest of those two Ports would open another Indies to the Portugues; and that the Customs of them alone would do much more than defray the Charges of Conquering and Keeping them; and that there was no reason to think that the Turks would not fit down quietly with the loss of two such important places, since they had lately lost the whole Kingdom of Gemen, and the Ports of Mogha, Odieda, and Cameran, which were all places of greater moment to them than Suaghem or Matzua, without ever so much as attempting to recover them again.

But the Viceroy had neither Ships nor Troops to spare at this time for an Habassian Expedition, he no soner heard of the loss of Momboca, a Port belonging to the Portugueses upon the same Coast with Suaghern, but which is much nigher to Goa, and more in the way of Trade, than he found * Both to fend fend thither; the Hiftory of which lofs was, in short, as followeth.

The Governor of the Citadel of Momboca, a place, faith our Historian, that seemed to have Tyrannical Governors entailed upon it, having upon fome pretence or other, in the year 1614. put the King of that Countrey, who was a Mahometan, to death, he fent the Prince, his eldest Son, who was but a Boy, with his Father's Head to Goa, where being put into the hands of the Auftin Friars, he was Converted by them, and Christened by the Name of Hierom, and after Thirteen years refidence among them, was Married to a Portuguele Lady; and having folemnly Submitted himself. and his Kingdom to the Pope, was fent home with his Queen, with a promife of having his Crown reftored to him again. But the Governor of Momboca, though he allowed Don Hierom the Title of King, treated him much more like a Slave than a Prince, not fuffering him to exercife the least Authority, nor to have a band in any publick business. The Royal Title, without any thing of Power, making Don Hierom uneafie; and having nothing elfe to do, he fole frequently by night to the place where his Father's Corps lay buried; where, after having bitterly bewailed his unfortunate end, he still performed fome Mahometan Ceremonies to bis Ghoft; which having been observed one night by a Portuguese, he went prefently, and acquainted the Governor therewith; who concluding from thence, as well he might, that Don Hierom, though he professed himself a Ff 2 Christian,

Christian, was a Mahometan in his heart, intended to have him apprehended in order to fend him to the Inquisition of Goa, as an Apostate: But the King, having by fome way or other had advice of what the Governor intended, refolved to be beforehand with him. and either to fend him to the Inquisition of Heaven next morning to an wer for his Tyranny, or to lose his Life in the Attempt ; which, knowing what the Inquisition of Goa was, he reckoned to be preferable to being lodged in it; and having, in purfuance of this refolution, by night with great fecrecy got Three hundred of the ftouteft and faithfulleft of the Caffrees together in a Body, he surprized the Citadel betimes next Morning, where having Killed the Governor Peter Leytam de Gambaa with his own hand, he put the whole Garifon, not fparing the Governor's Lady and Daughter, to the Sword; and having done his work in the Citadel, he Marched into the Town, and before night had not left one Portuguele, Ecclesiaftick or Laick, alive that he could lay his hands on. So foon as the Maffacre was over, he went to the Lady Church, where having mounted the Pulpit, and commanded all the Natives who had turned Christians, to be brought before him, he made the following Difcourfe to them.

The King of Momboca'sSpeech to his Subjects after he had Maffacred all the Portuguefe that were in the City.

T HE High Ala hath for many years suffered the Insults of Men; but the time appointed for their period being come, he would endure them no longer; having now in one hour revenged the Crimes of several Ages. The Portugueses came from from the dark shades of the day, into this Countrey, where the true light shines; who after baving destroyed great numbers of African and Assatick Kingdoms, and having been Pyrates in both Seas, had the impudence to pretend that they had no other busines with us, but to teach us Policy for the Earth, and to instruct us in the way to Heaven. As if either Divine or Human Laws did direct the destroying and robbing of men on purpose to bring them to embrace true Doctrines; is not this wonderful Dostrine, to put a Cross into our Hands, that they may take our Scepters out of them, and our Crowns from off our Heads, and to rob us, as they have done all other Nations, of our Liberty?

Their coming at first into these Parts, though drawn bither by nothing elfe but their unsatiable covetousness, and desiring to have a Trade with us, was well enough; but to force us to it, whether we would or not; and instead of helping us to Goods, and Honour, to encourage us to trade with them, to fleece us to our very Souls if we did it, or refused it, is such an Heavenly or earthly Law, as I must own I do not understand. Let us for once grant them, That we are, as they fay, without the Knowledge of the True God; What then? Can there be any such God as shall command us to be Robbed of our Lands, Crozvns, Lives, and Liberties, and of our Wives, Children, Brethren, and Kinsfolk, that so we may be brought to the Knowledge of him? No, most certain it is, that there can be no such God; since to be God, is to be Just : So that the Robberies which we of Africk and Asia do daily suffer at the bands of these enor-Ff 3 mous mous Strangers, are Injustices which will infallibly be punished at his Divine Tribunal; for the very Men that do plunder us, do at the fame time teach us, That when the Son of God (ent his Ministers to Preach his new Law over the World, that one of his Instructions to them was, that they should propole it to the Gentiles, and if some refused to bear them, that they hould go then and tender it to others : For had this work been to have been done by Violence, their Master was sufficiently able to have done one of these two things for his Ministers, either to have endued them with fuch a Divine Power as could not be refifted, but must have obliged all People to have furrendred themfelves to them; or have given them Armies to have forced the World to a fubmiffion. Whereas it is most certain, that those Ministershad no order to take any thing from any body, or to compel any to receive their Doctrines: Which makes me wonder how the Portugueses, who pretend to be such Singular Ministers of those Doctrines, should first force us by War to embrace them, and after we have embraced them, (hould Rob us: What (hall I call fuch People as these? The Preachers of the Divine Law, or the Doctors of Human Coverousnes? Who. call us Barbarians before we hear them, and after we have heard them, make us their Slaves? With what plaufible pretences did they fußt come ashoar here? And how did they afterwards make themselves so far Masters of this City, as to oblige my Ancestors to accept of their own Crown from their hands; and who, after they had served them faithfully, were rewarded by them with Reproaches, Treachery, Violence, and

and Death. But to pass over what is ancient, and to go no bigber than my Father; Who among you, though your Bowels were nefts of Scerpins, or of worse creatures, if there be any, do not lament the Memory of what he suffered at their hands, even to the taking away of his life by barbarous and tyrannical Methods ? I have a thousand times, and a thousand to that, visited the Tomb of my good, but unhappy Father; and I never did it once, but I beard bis blood crying to God for Justice, as also for vengeance upon my Soul; which made me confider, how he had provoked the Portugueses to Murther. him as they did, or what I had done to deferve the same treatment. As to my Father, be was eafily justified; and as to my felf, I am not fensible that I ever did any thing to offend them, unless it were by turning Christian; which, though it may seem strange, yet lively Experience assures us, that it is their common practice to Respect and Reverence us fo long as we continue to profess our own Religion, and to persecute and abominate us fo foom as we are perfuaded by them to profess theirs. I need not tell you, that I was bred up among them at Goa, where I faw so much of their Infolence, that I do much more wonder at their not baving committed greater here, than at their having committed those they have at Goa. I faw the King of Ormus thrown into Jayl, and his Crown taken from him and given to another, only upon a pretence that he was Mad ; though all his Madnefs was, his having refufed to give them as much to let him keep his Crown ; as he to whom they gave it had offered for it; for with them we are Catholicks, or in our Wits, according as we give ; If we give them much, though we Ff 4 are

"are Infidels, they reckon us Chriftians; and though we are Fools, they reckon us Wife; on the contrary, if we give them but little, then let us be never to Wife, we are reckoned Mad; and though Chriftians, are reckoned Infidels; fo that it must be our Purses, and not our Minds, that must justify us with this Nation , which boasts fo much of Politeness and Justice. If their Religion teacheth them these things, it cannot be a good Religion; but if it does not, they then must be very Wicked to dishonour it as they do by their innumerable Infolencies; but however that is, I am certain, we have reason to seek to secure our necks, and either to for fake their Religion as bad, or to abominate them as the worft of men, which I will always be (ure to do, but will at the same time acknowledge, that were their Actions conformable to their Preaching, that they would not be ill men. Nevertheles we have the Law of our own great Prophet to fave us, and which of all other Laws will do it the most effectually: Neither shall I fail to take Severe Vengeance on my felf for having forfaken it for their Law, and that without seeking to excuse my self, by my having been converted by them at an age when I was not capable of understanding their Cheat, or of foreseeing my own ruin thereby. But this I must fay in my own justification, That I discovered the error I had committed at the same time I came to the use of my reason; and retracted it in my heart, though till this day it was not possible for me to do it publickly; but though 1 have been flow in doing it, I do hope the glorious atchievements of this day will abundantly compensate for that my flowness, being confident that our most just Prophet will obtain a pardon for me from the Jublime Ala for

for my having delivered this his people from that hameful flavery they have been so long beld in by vile Portuguese Tyranny, called by its professions the Catholick Church, whole mischiefs are now legible in their sufferings; it being God's property to chastife horrible Infolencies, and to favour regular proceedings; so we see they are all fallen by the edge of our Swords, and the flight of our Arrows; and being tied hand and foot by the enormity of their Crimes, none of them have offered to make the least resistance, neither have any of them escaped. Where was that Courage they fo much boast of, and that Justice which they pretend favours them ? By this you may all see plainly, that we are Superior to them, both as to a righteous Law, and in true Courage; as also that you were cheated by their cunning per-fuafions, to leave the breasts of our true Religion, wherein you had been Educated, in returning to which you shall have me for an example. As to those who have never Apostatized, I have nothing to fay to them upon this point; but what I am now about to fay, concerns you all equally; which is, That you join together to recover your ancient Liberty, and to defend your Ancient Kingdom, reviving the glory of your forgotten Cavalry, which in former ages was famous all over the world. You now know by Experience what the Portugueles are, who when they first Conquered this City, took advantage of our unwarines; but whereever people are watchful, there they are either beat, ordepend on their craft for that, which we expect only from our Arms. Let them come now when they will, and they shall find what their courage or craft will fignify to them; for as I am refolved to believe nothing that they say, so having upon this happy day cleared this place of them, whenever they come, I will I will defend it with more vigor than I attacked it; and how should they be able to retake this City, who when they had it in their possession, were not able to keep it? Wherefore do but observe my Orders, and you shall live in honour and safety, and be freed from Tyranny in your Houses.

The Portuguese Hiftorian, who relates this Speech, makes the following reflections upon it; Thus this blasphemous man harangued his infamous Sect, in which he was become learned, reviling our Religion of which he was not ignorant but was spitefully set against it; but as to all other things mentioned by him relating to the temper and government of the Portugues, they were, faith he, focke by him, and so much is the more. pity, with more of truth than paffion : adding, Neither could this Prince be faid to be Difloyal in having made such an Insurrection; for whereever Tyranny becomes Exorbitant, and is not to be curbed by gentle Methods, it cancels all the Bonds of Allegiance; Self-Preservation, whether Natural or Politick, being a thing that is indispensably necessary ; for would it not be a pleasant thing, that one should load another with infufferable Infolencies, trusting to this, That the injured perfon will not offer to defend himself, for fear, forsooth, of being thought disloyal, though at the same time he has no other way to remedy himself but by being so? For it is undoubtedly a much less fault to be unfaithful to a Tyrant than to establish a Succession of Tyrants by a tame obedience.

But the Viceroy not having the fame thoughts of the Revolution of Momboca as our Historian, fo foon as he heard of it, dispatched

The King of Momboca juftifi'd in part by a Portuguele Hiftorian. ed his Eldeft Son with a Fleet of Sixteen Ships and Five Hundred Soldiers, to recover it, and to chaftife the Renegado King and his Caffrees; but they defended themfelves fo bravely, that after a clofe Siege both by Sea and Land for fome Weeks, they obliged the Portuguefes, after having loft most of their Soldiers, to return to Goa with difgrace.

The Habaffin Solicitors, who had defired the fame number of Ships and Men for Matzua, having put down this lofs in their Book of Judgments, and finding there was nothing to be done for them at Goa, refolved to fend Father Hierom to the Courts of Lisbon, Madrid, and Rome, to fee what could be done there; as alfo to give fuch a Narrative of the Change in Ethiopia, as would vindicate the Jesuits Conduct in that Empire, which they had reafon to fear would be blamed for it in Europe.

Father Hierom, after a tedious Voyage from Goa to Angola, and from Angola to Brafil, and from Brasil to Cartbagena in the West-Indies, and from Carthagena to Cales, arrived at last at Lisbon on the Eighteenth of December, 1626; where having given in a Memorial to the Infanta Dona Margaret, who was Governess of Portugal at that time, and finding there was nothing to be had at that Court, on the Twentieth of January he begun his Journey to Madrid, where the King and the Conde Duke having given his long ftory the hearing, fent him back to Lisbon with fome, though fmall hopes of doing fomething for Ethiopia; but being returned to Lisbon, he found a Letter from

from the Portuguele Affistant of the Feluits at Rome, commanding him to repair thither with all poffible expedition; a true narrative of the late Revolution in Ethiopia being a thing their Order food in great need of at that Court. The Father being got to Rome ', gave his General' Mutio Vitelleschi a full account of that whole affair ; and after that, was admitted to kifs the Pope's foot, to whom he delivered a long Memorial of all that had paffed in Ethiopia, and of all that was to be done for the recovery of it; and the Pope having laid that whole bufinefs before a Junto of Cardinals, the Father folicited them continually to come to fome effectual refolution about it, but to little purpofe, he being able to obtain nothing of them but good wishes and bleffings, of which the Pope himself too is faid to have been very liberal. But the Father, who was a great Traveller, knowing that Matzua and Suaghem, as weak as he had reprefented them to be, were not to be taken by fuch Ordinance; and finding that there was no other to be expected from that fpiritual Court, trudged back again to Madrid, where by his Inceffant Sollicitations he obtained a Letter to the Viceroy, recommending the bufinels of Ethiopia to him, fo foon as the affairs of the Government would permit; with which Letter, which fignify'd just nothing, the Father returned to Goa; upon whole ill fuccels, Father Tellez makes the following Exclamation; This was an occasion wherein all the precious Fervels of Spain ought to have been fold, and all the facred Treasures of Rome to have been opened; but for our Sins, those fervors of Christianity which discovered themselves in the Croifado's Sado's which were undertaken for the recovery of the Holy Land, and the Zeal of Converting the world, and of reducing Ethiopia, are now in a manner extingiufhed.

But what reflected the most on the Devotion of the State of the Indies, was their taking no care to Ranfom the poor Patriarch and Fathers, who remained Slaves still at Suaghem; and who finding they were forgot at home, were forced at last to give Commission to the Baneans to treat with the Bashaw about their Ranfom; who having brought him down to Four thousand pieces of Eight, they advanced the Money, and embark'd the Patriarch and his two Companions on a Ship that was bound for Dio; where being arrived after a months Voyage, and finding a Ship ready to Sail for Goa, they went on Board, and being got thither, revived the business of Ethiopiaagain, but with no better fuccefs than its former Solicitors.

But to caft our Eye back upon Ethiopia, O Kay, in whofe Lands the Bifhops of Nice and the three Fathers had absconded for near five Years, finding the Promifes of a Portuguele Army he had been fo long fed withal, came to nothing, he treacheroufly deliver'd them all into the hands of the Emperor, who having ordered them to be brought in Chains to the Camp, they were all four try'd and condemn'd to Death as Traytors. But it not being the Cuftom of Ethiopia, fay the Jefuits, to put People to Death, though condemned to it, for Treafon, (they should have excepted the time when they govern'd the Court, for then no Body was try, to the fpared that was convicted of it); that Sentence was changed into Banishment, a Favour that was but of little use to them; for being fent into the Country of the Agaw's, the Mob ris upon them, and hanged them all four upon one Tree, pelting them furiously with Stones as they hung.

But notwithstanding Father Hierom's Narrative of this Revolution, which was undoubtedly favourable enough to his Order ; there did not want those at Rome, who imputed it chiefly to the rafh and furious Conduct of the Portuguele Jesuits, who they fay by not following Father Peter's Example of introducing Popery by degrees, but having got the Emperor and his Brother on their fide, were for doing it in a day, had ruin'd that whole Defign by their Precipitation. Neither was it only the Enemies of that Order, of which it never yet wanted good ftore among the Clergy that talked thus; the Cardinals De propaganda fide, having themfelves declared, That they had the fame thoughts of it, by taking that Million out of the hands of the Portuguele Jesuits, and committing it to French and Italian Capuchins. Neither were the Cardinals much miltaken in this matter; for in truth, the thing that ruined the Interest of Popery in Ethiopia, was the Portuguese Fathers, even when they were most in favour with the Emperor, caballing ftill with Princes and Governors, who were their Converts, to Canton Ethiopia into feveral Independent Kingdoms; together with their prefuming, that with four or five Hundred Portuguele Soldiers, they should be able at any time to reduce Ethiopia to the Roman Church, which conceit conceit made them the lefs fearful of committing Errors, or of precipitating things. This defign of breaking the Habaffin Empire into feveral Independent Principalities, however they might condemn it at Rome for not having fucceeded, they could not in general condemn it either as impolitick or finful; it being visible to all the World, that the great Fabrick of the Papacy was erected and established by the fame courfe; that is, by its having broke the Roman Empire into a great many Independent Kingdoms; for which reafon, the keeping of those Kingdoms from ever confolidating again into one great Monarchy,' is visibly the chief care of the Court of Rome; which, let the most Catholick, or the most Christian, express never fo much Zeal for their Religion, immediately turns their Enemy, whenever they begin to think of being Universal Monarch.

Now, though I cannot fay, That the great Palafox, Archbishop of La Pueba de los Angeles had the milcarriage of this Miffion in his eye, when he called upon Innocent the 10th in his fecond Letter to him, bearing date the 8th of Fanuary, 1649. to weigh the Services and Differvices the Jesuit Order had done the Church in an equal Ballance; neverthelefs, confidering how the Fathers by caballing with Princes, and plunging themfelves over head and ears into Politicks in Ethiopia, did, as it were, in one day deftroy all the Effects of their long and great Labours in that Empire, what that Learned and Pious Prelate has faid, is fo very pat on this occasion, that I shall lay it before the Reader. I do

The Church=Hiftory

As I do voluntary confess, faith Palafox, about the middle of the Letter, That the Jesuits have by their Virtues, no lefs than their Writings, and both by their Words and Examples, done great Service and Honour to the Church of God; fo I do affure your Holinefs, that by fome troublefome Qualities, not to fpeak of Defects which belong to them, they have done the Church more harm than good; it is therefore your Holinefs's businefs to weigh the one against the other in your Apostolical Balance, to fee which does preponderate. For, as a Prebend or Benefice is unprofitable to him that injoys it, when its Charges exceed its Revenue; fo a Religious Order may be faid to be prejudicial to the Church, when it brings more damage than profit to it; and especially, when there are other Orders and Ecclefiafticks, who may be as ferviceable to the Church, without being prejudicial to her.

Suppofe all the Jefuits to labour hard in the Service of the Church, yet what do all their labours fignify, if they themfelves deftroy all the effects of them, or make them groan under the feet of the Grandure and Authority they have ufurped to themfelves? What advantage can a Bifhop derive from their Affiftance, if they diffionour and perfecute him, whenever he does any thing that they do not like? What fruit can the People reap by their Inftructions, if they raife Troubles and Commotions among them? Of what advantage is it to Parents to have their Children taught by them, if they rob them of their fweet Company, pany by taking their Children from them, and afterwards throwing them many times off shamefully for trivial reasons? Furthermore, What advantage have Ministers of State, Grandees and Princes, by being fometimes well-ferved by them in their Courts, if the greater part of them are fo far from being ingaged by neceffity, in fuch Affairs, that they intrude themselves into them of their own accord with a Prefumption, which is prejudicial to the State, and does very much diminish that efteem Spiritual Ministers ought to be had in, rendering themfelves thereby odious to the Laity, by entering into all the Intrigues and Secrets of Families, which they pretend to govern no lefs than the Mafters thereof; and all this under the colour of the Spiritual Government of their Confciences, tumbling no lefs fcandaloufly than pernicioufly from Spiritual to Politick Matters, from Politick to Prophane, and from Prophane to Criminal.

What does it fignify, that the Jefuit is more flourishing than any of the other Orders, if out of a fecret jealoufy, it darkens and oppreffes all its Credit, and all its Power, Riches, Learning, and Pens, by publishing Books that do it? And what is the Church profited by its Books, if at the fame time she is disturbed by the many dangerous Opinions introduced by its Fryars, who have transformed, if not deftroy'd the Wifdom which is truly Christian, and have rendred the truth of Chriflianity it felf doubtful. What the Apostle teacheth being certainly true, which is, That the Knowledge of those who will learn things Gg which which do not belong to them, is defructive. Which leffon ought to teach both them and us, not to feek after a Knowledge that will not be governed by Charity. In a word, If it pleafe your Holinefs, what other Religious Order has ever been fo prejudicial as this to the Catholick Church, or has filled all Chriftian Countrys with fo great Commotions?

The Cardinals De propaganda fide, being refolved, it feems, That neither the Portuguse Jesuits nor Government should have any thing more to do with the Conversion of Ethiopia, named fix French Capuchins to go thither; who having by their King's Intereft at the Port, obtained Letters of Safe Conduct from the Grand Signior to pass through Egypt; four of them repairied thither, the other two being ordered to try if they could find a paffage into - Ethiopia by the way of Magadaxo and Pale; but those two having, as the Jesuits tell us, more Fervour than Experience, came friort home, and were murthered by the Caffrees fo foon as they came among them; two of the four that went to Egypt, having got into the Kingdom of Tigre, by the way of Matzua, in the Habit of Merchants, upon their being difcovered to be Popish Priests, were prefently put to Death; the Emperor having made a Law, requiring those that discovered any to be Popish Priests or Fryars, immediately to kill them, without troubling his Court with them. The other two who had landed at Suagher, finding there was no getting into' Ethiopia, from thence returned to Matzua, where hearing of the Death of their two Companions, they thought it was better to flay where they were, than to go any further; fo that the French Capuchins, as the Jefuits, who I doubt were not over-well-pleafed with their being employ'd, tell their ftory, made a very fhort bufinefs of their Habaffin Miffion.

But though they would fend no more Jefuits from Rome to Ethiopia; there were two of the old Fathers remaining still in the Country, and who had ever fince the Patriarch's Departure absconded in the Lands of Za Mariam, the Prince of Dembea, a Province in the Kingdom of Tigre; and who, now John O Kay had ferved them fuch a dirty Trick, was to be King of Tigre, when the long-look'd for Portuguese Fleet and Army came; they were Father Bruno an Italian, and Father Luis Cardegra a Portuguese; the Court having had intelligence that Za Mariam nothwithstanding he was in Arms in Confederacy with the Peafants of Lasta to defend the Alexandrian Faith, which they still pretended was in danger, had two Jesuits in Roman Priefts concealed in his Country; fent to Za Mariam, either to deliver them up to the Emperor, or to put them to Death himfelf, hoping by this difcovery to make the Peafants of Lasta jealous of him, as a fecret Friend to the Roman Church, notwithstanding all his high Pretensions to the contrary; and upon Za Mariam having denied that he had any fuch Priefts in his Country; the Viceroy of Tigre to spoil the Double Game he was playing, writes a Letter to the Monks, that were among the Peafants, to let them know what Gg 2 a Chama Champion for the Alexandrian Faith they had in Za Mariam, who had for feveral years kept two Roman Priefts concealed about him, in hopes that a Portuguese Army would be fent to conquer Ethiopia; to prove the truth of which, if they would not take his word for it, he offered to fend them two unqueftionable Witneffes; the one an Habaffin, who had been bred among the lefuits; and the other a Portuguese, whom he had intercepted, coming with a Meffage from the Indies to Za Mariam : But as God would have it, fay the Jefuits, notwithfanding it was all true, that the Viceroy had writ to the Monks; yet Za Mariam having lodged the two Fathers privately in the Mountain of Amba Salama, did face it down fo, as a Trick of the Viceroy's to break the Confederacy; that the Peafants and Monks not believing a word of it, continued still to look upon Za Mariam as a true Alexandrian, and on the Emperor and the Court as still Popishly affected, for having attempted to create a mifunderstanding betwixt him and them : Now, this was a pleafant turn enough for to bring the Peafants of Lasta, when they could get none elfe to do it, to serve the ends of Popery, the thing in the World. they hated the most, and which they thought they were then fighting against.

The Emperor finding the Peafants were not to be undeceived, ordered the Viceroy of Tigre to march against them with a numerous Army, who having brought them to a Battel, routed them totally; and their Head, Za Mariam, being taken the day after the Fight, was cut in pieces by the Soldiers, who were fo inraged by their General's being kill'd, that they gave no Quarters: In Za Mariam, fay the Jesuits, the last Pillar of the true Faith, and the Foundations of all our hopes in Ethiopia fell to the ground.

The two Fathers having loft their Protector, were quickly difcovered, and being put into the hands of one Leffano, a violent Alexandrian, he carried them to a great Fair that was in the Neighbourhood, where he hanged them both in the Market-place, after whofe Death there was not a Jefuit of any Nation left in Ethiopia.

In the Year 1646. the Congregation De propaganda fide fent two Italian Capuchins to Ethiopia, who having got to Suaghern by the way of Grand Cair, they found one of the French Fryars of the former Million there, and having confulted together, what courfe they were to take, the wife Italians were for writing to the Emperor for leave to come into his Country to preach the Gospel in it; which being agreed to, they writ a Letter to him, wherein, contrary to the course that had been taken by the Portuguese, who were still for making the difference betwixt the Alexandrian and Roman Faith as wide as they could poffibly; they were for perfuading the Emperor that he and they were of the fame Faith, and that being fo, they hoped his Highnefs would not be against their coming into Ethiopia to preach the fame Faith that his Highness profeffed.

But the Emperor was fo far from being leav overcome by this Capuchin Complement, his G g 3 which try.

which contradicted all the Jefuits had told him of their Herefies; that upon reading the Letter, he roared out as if he had been mad, faying, What is it not enough, that I have been persecuted for so many years for my Religion by Portuguele from the East, but that I must have Italians come from the West to persecute me for it afresh. And instead of returning any Answer to their Letter, he writ to the Bashaw of Suaghern, who valued himfelf much upon his being a Renegado Christian, To ease him of these, and all the Fryars that should come to his Port at any time, complaining that he could not have one days quiet for them in his Kingdom; and that baving rooted out the Portuguese, a new let of People were come to disturb him with new pretences.

The Bashaw being glad of the opportunity of at once gratifying the Emperor, and his own Renegado Zeal, commanded the two Italians to be murthered in his Prefence, and the French Fryar who had a Passport from the Grand Signior, to be affaffinated, fending their three Heads to the Emperor, who as a Reward, made him a Prefent of three Bags of Gold Duft; promifing him as many Bags of Gold Duft, as he should at any time fend him Heads of Roman Fryars. Upon which Correspondence betwixt the Emperor and the Governor of Suaghem, a report was railed of Bafilides having turned Mahometan not long after he had banished the Patriarch.

The Patriarch being extreamly defirous to revive, if it were poflible, the Jefuits loft intereft in the Habaffin Miffion, in the year 1646. fends and Dedicates a Book he had writ on the Six First General Councils, and a Catechism he had made in Ethiopia for the use of that Church, to the Congregation de Propaganda fide; from whom, the year following he received the following Answer.

Most Illustrious and most Reverend Lord :

THE Books composed by your Grace, with the frequent testimonies of Scripture which are in them ) together with your most Elegant Epistle Dedicatory to this Holy Congregation de Prepaganda fide, have been received by the most Eminent Fathers of the faid Congregation, with a joyful mind; and who have ordered two things concerning them, the one is, That the faid Books be delivered to the Portuguese Affiftant of the Jesuits Order, that so all that is in them relating to the Habaffin Errors, and all that your Grace has writ in Confutation of them, may be noted, and being digested into a Book, may be Printed in the Press of the said Holy Congregation, for the use of the Missionaries of Ethiopia. The other is, That some Persons, Secular or Regular, of which there is great plenty in this City, be deputed to Examine them, and give in their Opinion of them.

All which, with their Thanks for having Dedicated those Books to them, the said most Eminent Fathers have ordered to be imparted to your Grace: Which I here do in their Name, and in their Presence, with great chearfulnes; as I do also G g 4 offer offer you my own Service, befeeching Christ to prosper you.

Your Grace's most Affectionate Brother,

Aloyfius, Cadinalis Caponius.

At Rome the 14th. of October, 1647.

This Letter, though very civil, did not anfwer the Patriarch's defign in his Prefent; for notwithstanding there is mention in it of an Habaffin Miffion, there is not one fyllable of restoring it to the Jesuits.

In the year 1648. the Patriarch, who continued ftill at Goa, fufficiently mortified by the Congregation de Propaganda fide reflecting fo much upon his Conduct, as to take the bufinefs of his Church out of the hands both of his Order and Countrey, notwithftanding he had complied fo far with what was ordered at Rome, as not to fend a Portuguese; yet he ventured to fend an Italian Jefuit to Suaghem to try if he could get into Ethiopia to fend him intelligence how matters flood there.

Father Torquato, which was the Jefuit's name that was fent, having put himfelf into the habit of a Merchant, embarked upon an English Ship at Surat that was bound for Suaqhem, which having touched at Mogha; the Father, who was fent to Ethiopia chiefly for Intelligence, pretended to meet with the News there, of Basilides having declared himfelf a Mahometan, and of his having fent into Arabia for Priefts Priefts of that Sect to come and inftruct his people therein.

This News put Father Torquato into fuch a paffion, that he refolved without using any precautions, to run prefently into E: biopia to Father confound those Infidel Priefts, before they had time to fpread their contagion there. But being on the wrong fide of the Sea, and fearing that he had not Faith enough to crofs it upon his Coat, as many a Friar had done a greater Sea, Basilidis and when they had not half fo much busines; he refolved when he came to Matzua, to be governed by Father Anthony, the French Capuchin, whom he expected to have found there, as to his going on that Errand. But whether there were any colour at that time for this ftory of Basilides being about to turn Mabornetan, if he was not turned already; it is no news for Monks and Friars to throw fuch fcandals on Princes that have any ways vexed them; witness their stories of the Iconaclasts Emperors being fometime turned Jews, and fometimes Mahometans; and of our King Fohn having offered the Emperor of Morocco, if he would affift him, to be of his Religion; and of Charles Martel's Soul being fome years after his Death seen in Hell for his Sacrilege.

On the 6th. of May, the English Ship the Father was on Board, failed from Moqua, and on the 12th. touched at Dela, the biggeft Island in the Red-Sea, it being Twelve Leagues in Length, from whence they failed directly to Suaghem; where being come to an Anchor, the Master fent alhoar for pratick, which Torguate meets with the News at Moqua, of being turned Mahometan.

At Suaghem he hears of the three Capuchins having been Murthered.

which he had fent to him at first word, with a Prefent of fresh Provisions from the Governor. The Father, who walked upon the Deck as if he had been the Supercargo, having enquired of the Watermen that came aboard, How the Christians that were in Suaghem did ? They made Anfwer, That they knew of none that were there ; some that were there formerly being gone into Ethiopia. Next day the Father went alhoar with the Master to enquire farther about the Friars, but was not able to learn any thing concerning them, only he was told by some of the Baneans , That the Fathers that were there had been for (ome time dead : But the Master of the Ship having obferved that the Father was much troubled that he could learn nothing of his Brethren, told him, He needed not enquire any farther after them, for he could assure him they had been all Three Murthered by the Order of the Bashaw; which was afterwards confirmed to him by a Banean, who told him farther, That the Bashaw had strictly forbid all People to Speak of it.

The Father being now fatisfied that the Friars were all Murthered, his next bufinefs was to get their Bodies, or fome part of them at leaft, to carry with him to Goa; which, with the fory of Bafilides being turned Mahometan, he reckoned would make him welcome there; but here he was at a greater lofs than he was before, confidering the batred, fay the Jefuits, that the English Hereticks bave for all Sacred Relicks; neverthelefs, being refolved to carry fomething home befides his Moqha News, for I do not find that it was confirmed at Suaghem, he ventured to speak to an English Sailer, the Mafter having forbid him to go any more afhoar, for fear of bringing the Ship into trouble, to go to a certain Island, that lay but a little way off, and if he found any dead bodies there, to bring them to him, promifing to pay him well for his pains; the honeit Sailer told him be would do bis best, and going alhoar be picked up Two Skulls and a Bone, and having brought them privately aboard, delivered them to the Father; who, though he had never feen any of the Friars, knew the Skulls at first sight to be the Heads of the Two Italians that came last; and which was altogether as difficult, he knew the Bone to be the Bone of Father Antony's right Arm; which was as lucky as could be, for had it happened to have belonged to either of the Skulls, which were both visibly Italian, he must then have either fent his Sailer ashoar again to have busked for more Bones, which was not to be done without danger, or which would have been a fad thing, he must have gone home without a Relick of the French Friar.

With this rich Treafure, and his Moqba News, Father Torquato returned well fatisfied to Goa, where he was made welcome by the Patriarch, and was reckoned by all, but efpecially the Capuchins of that City, to have made a good coafting Voyage. The Patriarch having paid his devotion to the Relicks, did, contrary to the cuftom of his Order, to encourage the Capuchins in their New Miffion, part with this noble Treafure to them, but upon condition, that if the Congregation de Pro-

He is fortunate in finding the Skulls of the two Italian Friars, and a Bone of the French. The Patriarch is fo kind as to give thefe Sacred Reliques to the Capuchins of Gue.

Propaganda fide fhould at any time demand what Evidences they had of their being true, that they fhould remit an exact information thereof to it. The Patriarch hoping, it is like, by this means to fatisfie the Congregation, that the Jefuits, for all their having reprefented the Capuchin Conduct in the Habaffin Miffion to have been one continued blunder, were fo far from their being difpleafed with their being folely employed therein, that they hazarded their lives to help them to the Relicks of their Martyr'd Brethren.

I have not been able to learn, whether the abovenamed Congregation did ever give it felf the trouble of enquiring into the truth of these reliques; but most certain it is, that if it did, that their want of natural Evidences was abundantly fupply'd by fuch as were Miraculous ; for they having been, as all new-found reliques are, undoubtedly much prayed to, if Ten out of a Thousand that pray'd to them when they were fick did but happen to recover, there were just fo many fubstantial Witnesses of their having a Miraculous Virtue in them to demonstrate them to be true; and for the faithlefs Nine hundred and ninety that died, their unfuccefsful Prayers were never heard of to confront the Teftimony of Ten living Witneffes; and being thus attefted, the Congregation could not have deni'd them its Approbation, fuch Teftimonies as these being all the Evidence the Church of Rome has for the greatest part of her Sacred Reliques : Neither would its having been afterwards difcovered, as it was, that the Heads of those Three Friars were were fent by the Bafhaw who cut them off, as a Prefent to the Emperor of Ethiopia, have been any argument at all against the truth of those which were lodged at Goa, there being nothing more common in the Church of Rome, than to have the fame individual Reliques, and especially Heads, at the fame time in feveral Countries, and all of them working Miracles in Confirmation of their being genuin.

The Patriarch that he might not lie at Goa, doing nothing for his Title of Illustrifimo, in the Year 1650, fent a Banean and an Habaffin, who were both Romanists, with a Commiffion to one Bernard Nogueiro an Habaffin Priest, but of Portuguese Extraction, to be his Vicar-General in Ethiopia, during the time of his abfence from it.

The Banean and Habaffin having got to Mogha, were detained there a whole Year by the War that was broke out betwixt a King in Arabia, and the Bashaw of Suaghem; but the Envoys that they might do fomething for their Money, fent the Patriarch fome News, which ral. notwithstanding it did not agree very well with that Father Torquato, had picked up at the fame place not long before, they knew would be pleafing to him. The News was, That his Successor Mark had been Deposed, for baving been guilty of all the Crimes that they could think of; namely, for having Danced frequently with his Gatar in his hand, thorough the Streets with publick Strumpets; and that a Monk, whole name was Michael, was made Abuna in his place. In October 1651, the two Envoys having got to Matzua

The Prieft accepts of it, and writes for Portuguéfe Troops.

Matzua, stole by night from thence to a place in Ethiopia called Engana, from whence having fent an Express to Father Bernard, he was with them in a few days; and having gladly accepted of the Commission they brought to him, he wrote by them to the Patriarch, complaining that the Portugueles feemed to have forgot that there was any fuch Countrey as Ethiopia; where they had been expecting fuccors from them till they were weary, telling a lamentable Story of what Raz Cella Christos had fuffered becaufe he would not turn Alexandrian, and how his Gout, though extreamly violent, did not torment him half fo much, as the difappointment of the Portuguese Troops he had been to long promifed. But we have that Prince telling his own Story in the following Letter, which came to Goa about this time.

Most Illustrious Bishops and Governors of the Indies.

The Letter of Raz Cella Christos cometh with Peace and Health in our Lord Jesus Christ, To all most Christian Catholicks, and to all the faithful of the true Church of our Lord.

Raz Cella writes paffionately for Troops. T O tell you the Truth, I do not know with what Tongue or Words to begin to relate to you, the Persecutions of our Mother which I am at this time lamenting. O Holy and most Merciful Christ Jesus, nailed to the Cross, do Thou reckon them up, and make them to be known known to all the Friars, Rectors, Prelates, Bishops, Archbishops, Viceroys, Kings, Princes and Governors, that Rule on the other fide of the Sea; I never in the least doubted, but that you would so far have concerned your felf for the Catholicks that are here, as to have delivered them from the Tyranny of this Perverse and Barbarous Nation, and that the doing thereof would not have been fo long delayed but for my Sins which are Infinite : You feem to have been all diffemblers; formerly when there was not so much as the name of a Church, or of a Catholick in Ethiopia, the Portuguese came to our Affiftance, and delivered us out of the hands of the Mahometans; but now notwithstanding there is an Infinite number of faithful people in it, there is no body feems to remember us, all our Brethren, and all those whom the Zeal of the House of the Lord did eat up, seeming to be dead.

What, is the Pope, our true Pastor and most beloved Father, removed from the immoveable Foundation of the Roman Church? if he is not, Why does be not stretch forth his Rod and Staff of Consolation to these his Sheep, before we depart this Miserable Life, or before we are eat up by the Alexandrian Hereticks. Is it possible that there is not one Prince left in Portugal, that has the Zeal of Don Christopher Da Gama for Christianity, no nor so much as one Prelate left to procure some remedy for us either from Heaven or Earth ; I can fay no more, but though my Mouth is ftopt, my Tears are not; but being cuvered with Sackcloth and Ashes, I do most humbly beg succor from all the Faithful, and that with all Expedition, before all be lost. I am at this time in Chains in a Prison, and am daily tempted with promiles of liberty, if I will but return to the Alexandrian drian Faith ; the Hereticks seeking in me to deftroy all the Catholicks in Ethiopia, and to Extirpate the Roman Faith out of it.

Wherefore if there be any Christians left beyond Sea, or any that have a Zeal for God, let them know and understand that we are their Brethren in Christ fesus; and that we shall then, and not before, believe that they have us in their hearts, when they shall deliver us out of the hands of Hereticks, and out of this our Egyptian Bondage.

Raz Cella is put to death. This Unfortunate Prince is faid to have fuffered Death not long after this, for his Religion, or rather for holding a Correspondence with the Portugues, for whom the Emperor was possed with fo ftrong an Aversion, that he made it Death for any of that Nation, or for any of the Roman Faith to come into Ethiopia.

The Patriarch is named to the Archbifhoprick of Goa, but was dead before his nomination arrived.

In the Year 1656, the Patriarch was nominated by the King of Portugal, to the Archbishoprick of Goa; which Dignity he did not live to take possible for the did not live to take possible for the did not departed this life on the Twenty ninth of June before the arrival of the Fleet, by which the nomination was fent. He died in the Seventy Seventh Year of his Age, having been Sixty Three Years a Friar of the Society; of whom though his Brethren the Jesuits have wrote great things, the poor Etbiopick Church might justly apply to him what Moses's Ethiopick Wife faid to him in a passion, Thou has been an Husband of blood to me.

Basilides

Bafilides having by a total extirpation of Popery out of his Empire, quieted the minds of his Subjects, fet about recovering the Provinces his Infidel Neighbours had during the Habaffin broils about Religion, tore from his Predeceffors; and was fo profperous in his Wars as to regain most of them, having, if Morad the Habaffin Ambaffador at Batavia, did not ftretch, extended his Empire Northward to the confines of Nubia, and Southward to Hadeca, the people of which Kingdom were converted by him to the Chriftian Faith.

Basilides having Reign'd Two and Thirty Years, was after his Death fucceeded by his Son Aelaf Saged, in the Year 1665. Aelaf fwayed the Ethiopick Scepter Fifteen Years, without doing any thing that was Memorable, only having heard of the greatness of the Dutch power in the Indies, he fent one Morad, an Armenian, his Ambassador, in the Year 1672, to the Governor of Batavia.

Aelaf dying in the Year 1681, was fucceeded by his Son Jajo Adian Saged, who fent H Morad a Second time to the Governor of Batavia in the Year 1689. The account Morad gave of his Master, was, That he was exceeding tall of Stature, had a fierce Countenance, and was very brave and wife, and of indefatigable application to business; and as to his affairs both at home and abroad, he affirmed them to be in a most flourishing condition. The Letters of those Embassies, together with the Datch Governors answers to them, are published by the great Mr. Ludolphus at the end of H h

Baflides having extirpated Popery; recovers moft of his loft Provinces;

After a happy Reign of Thirty Two years is fucceed. ed by his Son Aelaf Saged.

Aclaf is fucceeded by his Soni Adjam Saged, the prefent Emperor of Ethiopid, his Commentaries, as are also the Answers which were given by the faid Ambassador, to the Questions which that Learned Person had fent some Years before to the Indies, for which I refer the curious Reader to that Learned Book.

SHORT ACCOUNT

OFTHE

Dominican History of Ethiopia.

Composed by Father Lewis De Uuretta, a Dominican; and Printed at Valentia in the Year 1610.

N the Year 1316, Eight Dominican Friars, with a Holy Sifter, Santer'd from Rome to Jerusalem, where having Visited the Holy Sepulcher, taking Betblebem in their way, they went down into Egypt, and from thence to Ethiopia; and having there Learned the Language of the Countrey perfectly in a few days, they begun to preach to the Aftonishment of that whole Empire, confirming the truth of all they taught by Miracles. Prester. John the Emperor hearing of those wonderful Preachers, sent to bid them welcome into his Empire, and to let them know they had free liberty to build Convents enough H h 2 therein therein to hold all Europe, and to exercife their power of Inquisitors upon all his Subjects ; and that he would allow them all the fame Privileges and Immunities that they enjoy in the Latin Church. The Fathers overjoy'd at this news, begun prefently to make use of the liberty that was granted them; and having penetrated Six Hundred Leagues into Ethiopia, they came at last to the Lake of Cafates, on the other fide of the Equinoctial, where the head of the River Nile rifeth, where upon the Mountains of the Moon, and in the Kingdom of Gojam, and among the Caffres, and in the Provinces bordering on the Cape of Goodhope, they built feveral Convents, filling them all prefently with Friars of their own Order, moft of which came afterwards to be as famous for their Learning and Piety as they were for their Miracles; but the topping man of all those Novices was one Tecla Haymonot, the only Child of King Sacalab, and Queen Sarab; who having wrought divers Miracles in his Infancy, when he came to be a Man preferred the Dominican habit to a Crown, and came afterwards to be the Chief Glory of his Order, having had the Honour done him, whenever he faid Maß; to have the Wafer and the Wine brought down from Heaven to him by an Angel; and whenever he went to any City to Preach, he was conftantly attended by all the Lyons, Tygers, Wolves, Snakes, and Serpents in the Neighbourhood, who never left him till he difmified them with the bleffing; for which they all expressed themfelves very thankful; and who having founded a Monaftery nastery for Nine thousand Dominican Friars, obliged the Devil to do all the fervile work thereof for Seven Years; which he did alone fo exactly, that the Convent has never been fo well ferved fince, which made an Emperor when he was told of it fay, That Tecla Hamonot was to blame, for not having made the Devil ferve the Convent as long as it food. While the Friars were thus employed, the Holy Sifter was not idle, who as if the had intended to have taken the Emperor at his word, built a Monastery, wherein she placed Five Hundred Dominican Benta's of the third Rule. This great Nunnery was at first called Bado Nagh, but at this time Santa Clara; the Hiftory of all which Convents is to this day curioully Painted in the Cloifters of the Plurimanos, whither any, who are fo unreasonable as to doubt of the truth of them, may go and be fatisfied.

The Monastery of Plurimanos, in which there are Nine thousand Dominican Friars, was founded by Tecla Haymonot ; It is four Leagues in Compass, and hath Eighty Dormitories, which have all the great Church at one end, and the Refectory at the other. Some of these Dormitories have One hundred and twenty, fome One hundred and fifty, and fome Two hundred Cells. Every Dormitory has a particular Chappel and Library belonging to it. The great Church is Six hundred paces long, and fo it had need, fince all the Friars repair to it together on Sundays and Holidays. The Second great Dominican Convent in Ethiopia, is that of the Allelujab, which Hh 2 was was built by Bartholomew de Tiroli, a Dominican Friar, who was Confectated Bishop of the City of Dangola at Rome; it has but Seven thousand Friars, who on high Days Dine all together in the Refectory.

From thefe two Convents, there are vaft numbers of Miffionaries fent once a year to Arabia, Bengala, Siam, Pegu and China; as alfo to Congo, Monopatata, and the Cape of Goodhope, by fome of which Miffionaries the King of Congo and Angola, was Baptized in the Year 1580. Thefe Miffionaries do all return home at Whitfuntide; and our Hiftorian being fenfible that that was more than flefth and blood could well do, very difcreetly prevents the objection, by telling us they came back nothing but Skin and Bone.

These two Monasteries have been the greateft Seminaries of Martyrs that have ever been in the world, above Three hundred thousand of their Friars having suffered Martyrdom infeveral parts, which is more than any other Order besides the Dominicans can boast of. For in the Empress Helena's time, who was her felf a Dominican Beata, Eight hundred Friars of the Alelujah alone fuffered death in feveral Provinces for preaching the Gofpel; at which the good Beata was fo much troubled, that the fent to all the Mahometan and Heathen Merchants that were within her Empire, to let them know that they should Trade no longer in Ethiopia, if they did not take more care to preferve her Friars lives in their Miffions.

The

The Priors of thefe two Convents are by, the Pope's Letter Conflituted the *chief Inqui*tors of Ethiopia, where the Inquifition is more rigorous than in Spain; for it relaxeth all Hereticks and Apoftates to the Secular Arm for their firft fault, though never fo penitent; who being relaxed, are always thrown, without mercy, to the Lyons.

But the wonder of the world is the Emperor's Library founded by Queen Saba, upon the Mountain of Amara, where the Convent of the boly Cross stands; its Foundress handfelled it with Solomon's own Works, and the other Books he Prefented her withal, among which are the Books of Enoch, Noah, Abraham, Fob, &c. And the Emperors have been ever fince buying all the Books they could hear of to put into it; fo that at prefent it contains above a Million of Books all very fairly written, and richly Bound, an hundred and Thirteen thousand of which are Hebrew and Arabick : Neither is there any Book whofe lofs is bewailed here in Europe, but what is to be met with there ; of which Gregory the Thirteenth being informed, he fent Antonio Grico and Lorenco Cremones into Ethiopia to fee whether that Library was fo great and rich as it was reported to be; who having feen it, found it much greater than Fame had made it; and returning home, brought the Talmud and Cabala with them to compare them with those the Jews of Italy had in their hands. It is not very well ftored with Latin Ecclefiaflical Authors, having none of the Ancients, beside St. Hierom and Saint Ambrose, translated Hh4 into into Greek, and St. Auftin translated into Arabick ; and of the Moderns, only Thomas Aquinas, St. Antonio, the Directory of the Inquisitors, and Lewis de Granada, who were all Dominicans; and if our Author fent them his Hiftory, the Librarians, who are Two hundred, if they did not give it one of the beft places in their Library, were very unjust to him; fince if it had not been for him, their Library, in all probability, had never been heard of in Europe; the two unworthy men who had been fent to vifit it by Gregory the XIIIth. having made no noife at all of it when they returned. The Key of this Library, as of the Richeft Treasure in Ethiopia, is always put into the Emperor's hand when he is Crowned, who delivers it to the Abbot of the Monastery of Sancta Cruz, with a ftrict charge to look carefully after it as the chief Jewel of his Empire.

The Emperor's Treafury, which may very well be reckoned the fecond, if not the first Wonder of the World, is upon the fame Mountain, into which ever fince Queen Sheba's time, they have been amaffing vast quantities of Gold and Silver, and Precious Stones; without having at any time taken one Farthing out; fo that if the whole world were to be fold, there is more Money in this Treasury than would buy the Feefimple of it.

Ethiopia has but Twelve Archbishops and Seventy two Bishops; which finall number confidering the vastness of the Empire, they cannot be perfuaded to increase, because it reprefents prefents that of the Twelve Apostles, and Seventy two Difciples ; fo in all their Cathedrals likewife, they have never more nor fewer than a Dean and Twelve Canons, who do all live in Community with their Bishop, who has the whole Tithes of his Diocefs ; when a Canon dies, he is fucceeded by the Eldeft Prieft of the Diocefs, and the Bishop when he dies, by the Eldest Canon, and the Archbishop by the Eldest Bishop of the Province; the Eldeft Archbishop is always the Pope's Legat, that Office having been annexed to that Dignity by Clement the VIIth. Befides thefe they have a great number of Titular Archbishops and Bishops, who are all named by the Emperor, Empow'red thereunto by feveral Popes Briefs. The Archbishops and Bishops visit their whole Provinces every Sixth year, whole Excommunications are fo formidable, that none can defpife them longer than they can fast, fuch as are Excommunicated not being fuffered to eat or drink any thing before they have made their fubmiffion.

Their Churches, namely that of the Allelujab, which was built by Queen Sheba in imitation of Solomon's Temple, in form of a Crofs, and is now Dedicated to St. Humphrey; and that which was built by Queen Candace mentioned in the  $A \partial t s$  of the Apoftles, and Dedicated by her to the Virgin Mary, are exceffively Rich and Magnificent, fome of them having Three, fome Five Naves, and all richly adorned with various Pictures and precious Stones, but chiefly Granata's.

Aş

As to the Doctrine of the Habaffin Church, in all matters of Faith they are and were ever, or at leaft fince the time that the Eight Dominican Friars went among them, the very fame with those of the Church of Rome; all that has been reported within these Two hundred years by the Jefuits and Portugueles of their being Hereticks, being notorioufly false.

The occasion of which false Reports was as followeth :

Most of the Four hundred Portugues who went into Ethiopia with Gama, being Jews in their hearts, were not long there before imagining themfelves to be out of the reach of the Inquifition, they openly professed Judaism, to the great scandal of the Portuguese Nation, but they quickly found themfelves deceived ; for the Dominican Inquisitors having heard of this Apostacy, did with great fecrecy order them all to be apprehended by their Familiars; but the Jews having their Familiars too, our Author upon this occasion affirming the whole race of them to be all Magicians, and in Confederacy with the Devil, made their escape before the Inquisition or its Familiars could lay their hands on them, fome of them running into the Kingdom of Berno ; where notwithstanding they taught the Natives how to make Gunpowder; it had been well that they had all gone, for then there would have been none left to have run to Goa, to have raifed fuch lyes of the Habaffins, as those who went thither did, who purely to juffify themfelves, and to be revenged on the Habaffin

Habaffin Inquisitors, reported that the Habaffins were all Mortal Enemies to the Pope and bis Supremacy, and did hold feveral Herefies, which was the reafon why they did not care to live amongst them any longer. Here our Historian falls into a most violent fit of Railing against those Portuguese Jews, and for their fake against their whole Race, calling them an Impious, Cruel, Malicious, Peftilent, Contagious, Infamous, Vile, Nasty, Loathsome Generation; and at last defires all the Devils in Hell to fetch the whole Race of them, for having dared to report fuch impudent lies of an Empire that was much more Catholick than France, in having received both the Inquisition, and the Council of Trent, which was what France could never yet be perfwaded to do; he likewife blames the old Christians among the Portuguese for having been fo eafy as to give Credit to fuch malicious and groundless Reports; and as to what the Popes, and the Kings of Portugal have faid and done upon supposition of the Habaffins being Enemies to the Roman Church, he faith, they had been miferably imposed upon by the ftories which were raifed by those Villanous Jews; as they were also in the case of the Patriarch Oviedo, who at the fame time that he was revoked by the Pope, becaufe there was no hopes of his doing any good in Etbiopia, by reason of the Emperor and the Peoples obstinacy in the Alexandrian Faith, was reverenced by all the Habaffins as a Saint, and beloved by them as a Father, and liftned to as a wife Man, and reckoned as an Apostle fent

fent by God to them; and was fo far from being in Difgrace with the Emperor, that he was President of his Latin Council. It is true, the Portuguele Patriarchs and Fathers having done feveral indifcreet things, whereby they had difobliged the Habaffin Clergy, grew fick of Ethiopia quickly, and returned to the Indies. The Portuguele, faith he, being a People who cannot live long out of their own Country, or at least from among their Countrymen; whereas Bishop Andre Oviedo being a Spaniard, and one who weighed and confidered things, would neither leave his Flock, nor quarrel with them about Trifles, and fo lived and died in Ethiopia with great Honour, his Memory being precious amongst them to this day; of the truth of which the Pope was quickly afterwards fully fatisfied ; for the Habaffins of St. Stephen's Colledge at Rome, understanding how their Church was misrepresented, sent one of their Body immediately to acquaint the Emperor Menna, who fucceeded Claudius, therewith; who was put into fuch a Rage by the news of his being reprefented not to be a Roman-Catholick by the Portuguese Jews, that he prefently made a Law, prohibiting all Portuguese upon pain of Death to come into Ethiopia without a Certificate of their being Old Christians, from the Inquisitions of Lisbon and Goa: He writ alfo immediately to Goa, Lisbon, and Rome, to difabufe those Courts, and to let them know, that none but rafcally Jews would have had the Impudence to have reported, That he and his Empire were not true Roman Catholicks: He writ alfo to the Colledge Colledge of Cardinals, and particularly to the Protector of his Empire, obliging his Council of State to do the fame, with paffionate Declarations of their great Zeal for the Roman Faith; and to give the Pope yet further fatisfaction, he made a new Submiffion of himfelf and his Empire to him. Alexander the Third, who fucceeded Menna in the Empire, reckoning that his Predeceffor had not done enough in fending only one Ambaffador to the Pope, fent an Embaffy to Rome, which confifted of Twenty four Priefts, and Two Gentlemen, to yield Obedience in his Name to the Holy See.

So much of the Dominican Hiftory of Ethiopia. In which, though it is an Octavo of 1120 odd Pages, and a small Print, there is not one fyllable of truth from the beginning to the end; yet notwithstanding that, I do not know that I ever faw an Hiftory in any Language that had more of the Magisterial Air of Truth in it, the Author feeming every where to value himfelf extreamly upon his Fidelity, and his care of fetting down nothing without being first well assured of its Truth; appealing conftantly to Authentick Records, though a great way off, for fuch falfhoods as had the leaft of the Colours of Truth in them; infomuch, that in the beginning of his Book, he faith with the greatest affurance imaginable, That none could doubt of the truth of any thing he had reported in his Hiftory, but Scepticks, who called the truth of all things into question ; as in another place he reflects feverely upon the the Jefuits, Maffenis and Mariana, accufing them both of not having had that facred regard for Truth in their Writings, which all who write Hiftories ought to have; and as if he had a mind to impose his Fictions upon God, as well as Man, for Truths, he concludes his Legend of the Lives of feveral Habaffin Dominican Saints, fome of which we have reason to believe were never in Nature, or if they were, were undoubtedly neither Dominicans, nor Papists, with the following Prayers to them.

MOST Glorious, Illustrious, and Holy Saints, who being now in the Cælestial Palaces, cloathed with Robes of Immortality, do enjoy the clear Vision of the most Holy Trinity; and being difarmed of your bodily Weapons, wherewith you fought so manfully in the World, are now feated under the Shades of the Victorious Palms, and of the Triumphant Laurel, in the Pavillions and Tabernacles of Glory; Pardon me all my Faults; pardon all my, Errors; pardon my weak Capacity; pardon the Injury I have done the height of your Triumph, worthy of all Immortal Trophy, by my rude Pen; and pray for us, O most Glorious Saints, who in Company of the Angelical Spirits, and in the Cælestial Quire of God, do Sing the Sanctus of the Mass of the most Holy Trinity, and are perpetually employed in the Praises of God; pardon the unpolishedness, shortness, and grossies of my Tongue, your Prowesses being so Great, your Works fo Heroick, and your Victory (o Glorious, that nothing but the Tongues of Angels are fit to celebrate them. Pray for us, O high exalted Princes, who do do live as Grandees in the Palace of the King of Glory, and are as Cavaliers of the Golden Key in the Cabinet of God, being always in his Presence. Pardon that little that I have writ of your Feats, your Glories being fo great that no Pen, without it be taken from the Wings of Archangels, is fit to celebrate them. Pray for us. Most Glorious Stars of Heaven, most Resplendent Meteors of the Earth, Golden Artizans of the Church, and the bright Light of the Predicant Order, who out of the Pulpits did aftonish the World like Thunder, confounding Hereticks and Pagans, and converting Souls to God. Pardon me, if the brightness of your Virtues is eclipfed by the little I have faid of them, and pray for us. Apostolical Preachers, who are in Glory about the Father of Light, pardon me if your Travels, Millions, Peregrinations, Sermons, and Labours, Virtues and Prodigies, or if the Glory of your Glory is not aggrandized as it ought to be. And pray for us, Valiant Martyrs, who with your Blood confirmed the Truth of the Gofpel, conquered Tyrants, triumphed over Wild Beafts, and with your hands full of Palms, and your Heads crowned with Laurels are entered into the Palaces of Heaven; pardon my Ignorance, and pray for us.

Sacred Virgins, shiming Religious, the Glory of the World, the Honour of Heaven, the Beauty of Humane Nature, and the singular Ornaments of the Order of St. Dominick, pardon all the Defects of this Book, in relation to your Praises, and pray for us. Amen.

After this fludied Prayer, (which is a fufficient Indication of the Romantick Genius of the the Man) he, imagining I suppose, that Protestants, notwithstanding all his Apologies, and begging of Pardons for having faid fo little of his Heroes, would not be fo civil as to believe one half of what he has faid of them, falls foul upon them, and thanks God that he did not write these things to Luther and Calvin, or any other excommunicated Hereticks, who do ignorantly, brutally, rashly, and blasphemously deny the profitable Interceffion of the most glorious Saints with God; but to most Catholick Spaniards, whole Cridulity having never been tainted with the Herefies of their Neighbours of France and England, he hoped would fwallow his Book of Prodigies without chewing; and especially coming recommended to them by all its Licenfes, as a Book of wonderful Edification to all pious Souls, most of them vouching likewife for the truth of it.

Its Licenfers and Vouchers being no lefs Men, than Don Batafar de Boria, Doctor of Law, Archdeacon of Xativa, Canon of the Church of Valentia, and Vicar-General and Official of the Archbishoprick of Valentia. Juan Pafqual, Rector of the Church of St. Martin, and Licenfer of the Patriarch of Antioch, and Archbishop of Valentia. Fryar Raphael Riphez, Prior Provincial of the Dominicans in the Kingdom of Arragon.' Fryar Lupero de Huette, and Fryar Jeronymo Mos, Licenfers of the Tribunal of the Holy Office of the Inquisition; who do all in their Licenfes give great Commendations, both to this Hiltory and its Author.

But

But this Hiftory having been written chiefly to blaft the riling-Reputation of the Jefuits, and the credit of all their Reports; its having fo many, and fo great Vouchers for its Truth, and the Master of the Sacred Palace likewife, to whom it is Dedicated, for its Patron, was not enough to hinder the Jesuits from expofing it, fo foon as ever it crept out of its cell, to the world in its true colours; whole Battalions of them falling upon it at once at fuch an unmerciful rate, that, as I have been told. they made the Dominicans fo much ashamed of this Romance, which they had endeavoured to have obtruded upon the world for a true Hiftory, that they have laboured ever fince to get all the Copies of it into their hands to deftroy them; for which reafon I shall do all that I can to preferve that which I have, by giving it to a Library, which, next to that of the Emperor of Ethiopia's, is the greatest in the World.

But this is not the only pious fraud the Dominicans have mifcarried in after having promifed their Order great honour from them; but above all is that of the Nun at Lisbon, the the Lisbon Hiftory whereof I shall here fet down more at length, than I have feen it any where in one Book.

Maria, of the Annunciation, was Born at Lisbon, and at the age of Thirteen was put into the Deminican Convent of the Annunciation in that City; in which, fo foon as the was of age to do it, the profetted her felf a Nun; which she had not done long, before the begun to have Miraculous Visions, and to be daily visited by Christ in Person; whom whom the ftill faluted with the Doxology thus, Glory be to the Father, and to Thee, and to the Holy Spirit. Whenever the received the Sacrament, her Soul was in a Rapture, and was honoured with the Vision of the Heavenly Coire of Angels; and when the embraced the Crucifix, which the ftill called her Husband, it conftantly darted out beams of Light much brighter and ftronger than those of the Sun.

One day as she was at her Devotion, Christ appeared to her, and made her a promise to visit her again upon St. Thomas Aquinas's day, and thereon to do her the greatest honour that any Creature was capable of.

Maria having acquainted Antonio de la Cerda, the Provincial of her Order, who upon her Name being fo high for Miracles, was become her Confellor, with the Promife had been made her, fhe was directed by him how to prepare her felf for the reception of fo great a favour; whose Directions she punctually observed, for never was any creature more submissive to a Confessor.

Thomas Aquinas's day being come, and all the Nuns and Friars being affembled to Mattins, while Maria was in a moft profound fit of Devotion, Chrift Crucified appeared to her; and in the fight of the whole Congregation, printed all the Wounds of his Head, Side, Hands, and Feet, upon the fame parts of her Body; fhe had Two and thirty Wounds (fuch as Thorns ufe to make) on her Head, and in her Side a Gafh a Gash that refembled a Wound made with a Spear, and on her Hands and Feet the Wounds were of a Triangular Figure, as if made by a Nail; and in order to excite the Devotion of the abfent as well as prefent, the Rags she laid to the Wounds on Thur (days, had always the Five Wounds of Chrift printed on them in the form of a Crofs; and happy was the Roman Catholick Prince or Princefs who could obtain fome of those Sacred Rags. The Pope he had one, and the King of Spain, who was ftrangely devoted to her, had another; and the Empress had one fent her against she lay in; neither was there a Roman Catholick Prince or Princels in Europe, but what had obtained one of them by fome interest or other. Paramus, in his Hiftory of the Inquisition, faith, That he being at that time an Inquisi-tor in Sicily, saw one of them which had been sent to the Viceroy Don Henrique de Gusman's Lady, who, he faith, adored it as the most Sacred Relick in the World. And Philip the IId. to fatisfie the World that he firmly believed all that was reported of the Sanctity and Miracles of the Lisbon Nun, had the Royal Standard of the Armada, which came against England in the year 1588. Bleffed by her.

The Inquisition, whose business it is to enquire severely into the truth of things which are reported to be Miracles, having summoned her Confessor, and all the rest I i 2 of

of the Friars who belonged to the Convent, to appear before them, was fully fatisfied by their Depositions and Oaths, as Eye-Witneffes, of the Truth of the whole matter, as it was reported. Whereupon Gregory the XIIIth. writ her a very Godly Letter, exhorting her to Humility, Thankfulnefs, and Perfeverance in her Devotions; and as there was no Roman Catholick that did in the leaft doubt of the truth of what was reported of her by her Confeffor, who published a large account of her Miracles; So the poor Protestants were triumphed over strangely on that occasion, as the most perverse Hereticks that ever were in the World, for neither believing those reports, nor going to Lisbon where their own eyes would convince them of the truth of them. So Petrus Matheus in a Bullary he Printed in France at this time, and which I have now by me, after a long encomium of the Lisbon Nun, adds, Nikil est quod possit bujus Historia veritati in ficiari, vivit enim beata Virgo vivunt Sorores testes, locus visitur, & clarifimorum Theologorum Oculato testimonio probatur & confirmatur: that is, Nothing can be offered in contradiction to this fory, for the bleffed Virgin is still living, as are the Sifters also who are ber Witneffes; the Place is visited, and the whole is prov'd and confirmed by most eminent Divines, who were Eye-Witness to it. After all this, one would little have expected. that this fraud could have mifcarried, orat least fo far as to have been Owned. and and Condemn'd as a meer. Cheat, by the Inquisition it felf: But fo it was; for the Lady Abbess (which for her greater Mortification the Nuns and Friars had forced her to be) when the wanted nothing but to have Died to have been Canonized a Saint for her extraordinary Piety and Miracles, finding all that fhe faid was received by every body as an Oracle; fhe begun to mutter, That it was revealed to her that Philip the IId. had no Title to the Crown of Portugal, but that the right thereof was in the Duchels of Braganza : The confequence whereof being, That Philip must either refign that Crown, or the Title of the Most Catholick, or look upon her, he had express'd fo great a veneration for, as an Impostor; he chose the latter; the Inquisition striking the Oracle Dumb fo foon as it began to Antiphilipife :. For the Inquisition having thereupon ordered her Wounds, and other Pretensions, to be The Imfearched to the bottom, they were at postor difit quickly; her Wounds being found not covered. to lye to deep as her Skin; and upon examination to be nothing elfe but marks made thereon very artificially with Red Lead. Whereupon the was Condemned by the Archbilhop of Braga and Lisbon, the Bishop of Guarda, and the Apostolical Inquifitors, of whom at that time the Cardinal Archduke of Austria was the Chief, as an Hypocrite and Impostor, upon the Eighth day of December 1588. being in the Thirty fecond Year of her

1ft. She was to be a Prifoner during her Life, in fome Nunnery out of Lisbon, and which must not be of the Dominican Order.

2<sup>d</sup>. For Five years after the day of her Sentence, the was not to have the Sacrament Administred to her, excepting on the Feafts of Easter, Whitsuntide, and Christmas, or unless the receiving thereof should happen to be necessfary to the partaking of the Benefits of a Jubilee.

3<sup>d</sup>. On every Wednefday and Friday of the Year fhe was to be brought into the Chapter-house of the Nunnery, and there to be Whipped publickly before all the Nuns, all the time the Miserere Mei Deus was Reading.

4th. At Meals fhe was not to be fuffered to fit at a Table, but must have her Meat given her fitting on the Pavement of the Refectory; neither must any Perfon eat what fhe leaves; and both before and after Meat fhe must lie a-cross the door of the Refectory, where the Nuns must tread upon her as they come in and go out.

 $5^{\text{th}}$ . She must, during her Life, keep the Ecclesiastical Fast, and must never be chose Abbess, nor bear any Office in the Nunnery, but must always be the Lowest in the Convent.

 $7^{\text{th}}$ . All the Rags flained with Blood which had been diltributed by her, and all her falfe Relicks, and all Pictures of her, must be brought into the Inquisition; or where that cannot be done conveniently, must be carried to the next Prelate.

Lastly, She must never be fuffered to cover her Head with her Veil; and on all Wednesdays and Fridays of the Year, must be Fed with nothing but Bread and Water; and must every day in the Refectory make a publick Confession of her Crime before all the Nuns.

Unhappy Nun! had'ft thou but let alone Princes Titles, and had'ft made no other use of thy Impostures, but to have confounded Protestants and their Dostrines, thou might'ft have died with the Honour of thy Wounds, and have been Worshipped upon an Altar, and have wrought a Thousand Miracles before this time; and that very Court which condemned thee to all these shareful Punishments for pretending to them, would have Condemned all of Impiety and Heresse who should have prefumed to have called the Truth of any of them in question!

I could never learn what was done to the Provincial her Confessor, and the other Friars, among whom was the great Lewis de Granada, for having imposed such a Cheat on the Pope, the Inquificion, and the whole Roman Catholick World; however, it is plain from the first Penance mentioned in the Sentence, that the King of Spain did not care to trust fo dangerous a Tool any longer in the hands of the Dominican Friars.
